Conditions of employment, pension rights and compensation

57. Machinery for settling terms and conditions of employment of staff, etc.—(1) Except so far as they are satisfied that adequate machinery exists for achieving the purposes of this section,—

(a) it shall be the duty of the Gas Council to seek consultation with any organization appearing to them to be appropriate with a view to the conclusion between the Gas Council and that organization of such agreements as appear to the parties to be desirable with respect to the establishment and maintenance of machinery for the settlement by negotiation of terms and conditions of employment of persons employed by Area Boards and the Gas Council, with provision for reference to arbitration in default of such settlement in such cases as may be determined by or under the agreements; and

(b) it shall be the duty of each Area Board and of the Gas Council to seek consultation with any organization appearing to them to be appropriate with a view to the conclusion between that Area Board or the Gas Council, as the case may be, and that organization of such agreements as appear to the parties to be desirable with respect to the establishment and maintenance of machinery for the promotion and encouragement of measures affecting the safety, health and welfare of persons employed by the Board or Council and the discussion of other matters of mutual interest to the Board or Council and such persons, including efficiency in the operation of the services of the Board or Council. [1521]

(2) It shall be the duty of every Area Board to comply with any agreement made by the Gas Council under paragraph (a) of the preceding subsection. [1522]

(3) The Gas Council and every Area Board shall send to the Minister and the Minister of Labour and National Service copies of any agreement made by them under this section and of any instrument varying the terms of any such agreement. [1523]

General note.—This section corresponds to s. 53 of the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 474).

Gas Council.—As to the Gas Council generally, see ss. 2 and 5, ante.

Area Boards.—As to Area Boards generally, see ss. 1 and 5, ante.

Safety, health and welfare.—See also s. 1 (7), ante, as to the duties of Area Boards in this respect.

The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 74 (1), post).

Definition.—For definition of " employed ", see s. 74 (1), post.

58. Provisions as to pension rights.—(1) The Minister may make regulations for all or any of the following purposes, that is to say—

(a) for providing pensions to or in respect of persons who are or have been in the employment of an Area Board, the Gas Council or a Gas Consultative Council, or persons who have been employed by any undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies or have been employed whole-time for the purpose of administering undertakings or parts of undertakings of such undertakers, but who have not been taken into the employment of an Area Board or the Gas Council as aforesaid ;

(b) for the establishment and administration of pension schemes and pension funds for the purposes of the preceding paragraph, for the continuance, amendment, repeal or revocation of existing pension schemes relating in whole or in part to the like purposes and of enactments relating thereto and of trust deeds, rules or other instruments made for the purposes thereof, for the transfer in whole or in part, or for the extinguishment, of liabilities under any such existing pension schemes, and for the transfer in whole or in part, or winding up, of pension funds held for the purposes of any such existing pension schemes, so, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall be construed as authorising the diversion of any such funds to purposes other than those of the preceding paragraph ;

(c) for making any provision consequential on any such provision as aforesaid including provision for the dissolution or winding up of bodies, whether incorporated or not, the continued existence whereof is unnecessary having regard to the regulations. [1524]

(2) Where provision is made by any such regulations for the amendment, repeal or revocation of any existing pension scheme or of any enactment relating thereto or any trust deed, rules or other instrument made for the purposes thereof, or for the transfer or extinguishment of any liability under any pension scheme or for the transfer or winding up of any pension fund held for the purposes of any such scheme, the regulations shall be so framed as to secure that persons having pension rights under the scheme, whether such persons are mentioned in paragraph (a) of the preceding subsection or not, are not placed in any worse position by reason of the amendment, repeal, revocation, transfer, extinguishment or winding up :

Provided that this subsection shall have effect subject to such limitations as may be prescribed for meeting cases in which, in connection with any provision made by this Act or in anticipation of the making of any such provision, pension rights have been created otherwise than in the ordinary course. [1525]

(3) Regulations made under this section shall not be invalid by reason that in fact they do not secure that persons having pension rights are not placed in any worse position by reason of any such amendment, repeal, revocation, transfer, extinguishment or winding up as is mentioned in the last preceding subsection, but if the Minister is satisfied or it is determined as hereinafter mentioned that any such regulations have failed to secure that result, the Minister shall as soon as possible make the necessary amending regulations.

Any dispute arising as to whether or not the said result has been secured by any regulations made under this section shall be referred to a referee or board of referees appointed by the Minister of Labour and National Service, after consultation with the Lord Chancellor or, where the proceedings are to be held in Scotland, after consultation with the Secretary of State, for his or their determination thereon, and the decision of that referee or board shall be final. [1526]

(4) Without prejudice to the generality of the preceding provisions of this section, regulations made under this section may contain provisions authorising any person who, being a participant in any pension scheme to which the regulations relate, becomes a member of an Area Board or the Gas Council, being treated as if his service as a member of the Board or Council were service in the employment of the Board or Council, and the pension rights of any such person resulting from the operation of any such provision shall not be affected by any provision of this Act which requires that the pensions, if any, which are to be paid in the case of members of the Board or Council are to be determined by the Minister with the approval of the Treasury. [1527]

(5) Subject to any regulations made under this section, the provisions of this Act under which liabilities and obligations of an undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies are vested in an Area Board or the Gas Council shall apply in relation to customary obligations of the undertaker in respect of pensions, notwithstanding that the undertaker was under no legal obligation in respect of those pensions, and if any question arises as to the existence or extent of any such customary obligation the question shall, in default of agreement, be referred to a referee or board of referees appointed by the Minister of Labour and National Service, after consultation with the Lord Chancellor, or where the proceedings are to be held in Scotland, after consultation with the Secretary of State, and the decision of that referee or board shall be final and the Area Board or the Gas Council shall give effect to that decision. [1528]

(6) Nothing in this section, and in particular nothing in subsection (2) thereof, shall be taken to derogate from the power conferred by subsection (4) of section sixty-nine of the National Insurance Act, 1946, to make regulations providing for the modifying or winding up of pension schemes in connection with the passing of that Act. [1529]

(7) Regulations made under this section may contain such supplementary and consequential provisions as the Minister thinks necessary, including provisions as to the manner in which questions arising under the regulations are to be determined and provisions adapting, modifying or repealing enactments, whether of general or special application. [1530]

(8) The original regulations made under this section shall be made within twelve months after the vesting date, and any regulations made under this section may be made so as to have effect from a date prior to the making thereof, so, however, that so much of any regulations as provides that any provision thereof is to have effect from a date prior to the making thereof shall not place any person other than an Area Board or the Gas Council in a worse position than he would have been if the regulations had been made to have effect only as from the date of the making thereof. [1531]

General note.—This section, which applies to gas and coke associations by virtue of s. 62 (2), post, corresponds to s. 54 of the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 475).

The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 74 (1), post).

Definitions.—For definitions of "enactment", "pension fund" and "pension scheme", see s. 74 (1), post.

59. Co-partnership Schemes.—(1) Where any scheme in force immediately before the vesting date provides for enabling persons employed by any undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies, other than an undertaker to whom section eighteen of this Act applies, or any class of persons so employed, to participate in the profits of the undertaking, provision shall be made by regulations for continuing the scheme (including any provisions of the scheme relating to welfare or amenities or the management of the scheme) for such period after the vesting date as may be specified in the regulations, with such adaptations and modifications as appear to the Minister to be necessary or expedient.

The regulations made under this subsection shall be made not less than one month before the vesting date but without prejudice to such variation of any of those regulations as may subsequently appear to the Minister to be necessary. [1532]

(2) If an Area Board or the Gas Council enter into an agreement with any organization with whom they seek consultation under section fifty-seven of this Act for the making of arrangements by the Board or Council in place of any such scheme as aforesaid, or arrangements for continuing any such scheme with modifications and adaptations, regulations shall make such provision (if any) as may be necessary to give effect to those arrangements and, in particular in the case of arrangements made in place of any such scheme, to enable assets held under the said scheme for the benefit of persons to whom the arrangements are to apply to be transferred and held for the benefit of those persons under the arrangements. [1533]

(3) Where any such scheme as aforesaid ceases to have effect, regulations shall make provision for the distribution of any assets held for the purposes of the scheme to the persons beneficially entitled thereto, not being assets transferred and held for the benefit of persons to whom arrangements made under the last preceding subsection apply, and otherwise for winding up the said scheme and for repealing any local enactment relating thereto. [1534]

General note.—The possible eventual winding-up of co-partnership schemes under this section will not affect any associated arrangements. Where, for example, co-partnership is linked with a pensions scheme, the latter is safeguarded by s. 57, ante, and where co-partners are entitled to perquisites such as cheap gas and appliances, such rights will either be continued or a claim for compensation for their loss under s. 60, post, will lie.
The vesting date.—May 1, 1949; see S.I. 1949 No. 392, made under s. 17, ante.
Undertaker to whom Part II applies.—See s. 15, ante. For the excepted undertakers to whom s. 18, ante, applies, see s. 18 (1), ante.
Regulations.—See the Gas (Co-partnership) Regulations, 1949 (S.I. 1949 No. 475).
The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 74 (1), post).

Gas Council.—As to the Gas Council generally, see ss. 2 and 5, ante.
Definitions.—For definitions of "employed" and "local enactment", see s. 74 (1), post.

60. Compensation to officers.—(1) The Minister shall by regulations require every Area Board and the Gas Council to pay, in such cases and to such extent as may be specified in the regulations, compensation to officers of any undertaker some or all of whose property, rights, liabilities and obligations vest by virtue of this Act in the Board or Council and officers employed wholetime for the purpose of administering undertakings or parts of undertakings of undertakers to whom Part II of this Act applies, being officers who suffer loss of employment or loss or diminution of emoluments or pension rights in consequence of the vesting, or in consequence of the subsequent transfer from one Area Board to another or from the Gas Council to an Area Board or the subsequent disposal in any other manner, of any such property, rights, liabilities or obligations, or in consequence of anything done under the last preceding section. [1535]

(2) Regulations shall provide for the payment by the Minister out of moneys provided by Parliament of compensation, in such cases and to such extent as may be specified in the regulations, to any or all of the following persons, that is to say—

(a) persons employed whole-time as inspectors of meters under section four of the Sale of Gas Act, 1859;

(b) persons whose whole-time employment is made up of employment as inspectors of meters under the said section four and of other employment by a local authority;

(c) persons who assist such inspectors as aforesaid and are employed whole-time by a local authority;

(d) persons employed whole-time as gas examiners under section thirteen of the Gas Undertakings Act, 1934; and

(e) persons whose whole-time employment is made up of employment as gas examiners as aforesaid and of other employment by a local authority, being persons who suffer loss of employment or loss or diminution of emoluments or pension rights in consequence of the passing of this Act. [1536]

(3) Regulations made under this section shall, in such cases and to such extent as may be specified in the regulations, extend to persons who would have been within this section but for any war service in which they have been engaged.

In this subsection the expression "war service" means service in any of His Majesty's forces and such other employment as may be specified in the regulations. [1537]

(4) Different regulations may be made under this section in relation to different classes of persons, and any such regulations may be so framed as to have effect as from a date prior to the making thereof, so, however, that so much of any regulations as provides that any provision thereof is to have effect as from a date earlier than the making thereof shall not place any person other than an Area Board or the Gas Council in a worse position than he would have been in if the regulations had been made to have effect only as from the date of the making thereof. [1538]

(5) Regulations made under this section—

(a) shall prescribe the procedure to be followed in making claims for compensation, and the manner in which and the person by whom the question whether any or what compensation is payable is to be determined; and

(b) may in particular contain provisions enabling appeals from any determination as to whether any or what compensation is payable to be brought, in such cases and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by the regulations, before a referee or board of referees appointed by the Minister of Labour and National Service, after consultation with the Lord Chancellor or, where the proceedings are to be held in Scotland, after consultation with the Secretary of State; and where any such provision is made as is specified in paragraph (b) of this subsection, the decision of the referee or board of referees shall be final. [1539]

(6) No regulations shall be made under this section unless a draft thereof has been laid before Parliament and has been approved by resolution of each House of Parliament, and a draft of the first regulations proposed to be made under this section shall be laid before Parliament not later than six months after the vesting date. [1540]

General note.—This section corresponds to s. 55 of the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 476).

The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 74 (1), post).

Regulations.—As to regulations generally, see s. 71, post. No regulations under this section had been made at the date of going to press.

Area Boards.—As to Area Boards generally, see ss. 1 and 5, ante.

Gas Council.—As to the Gas Council generally, see ss. 2 and 5, ante.

"Some or all of whose property, etc., vest."—This wording brings officers of composite companies within the section. As to composite companies, see s. 18 (1), ante.

Definitions.—For definitions of "emoluments", "employed", "local authority", "officer", "pension rights" and "prescribe", see s. 74 (1), post.

61. Additional provisions as to referees appointed by Minister of Labour.—(1) The Minister of Labour and National Service may, with the approval of the Treasury, pay out of moneys provided by Parliament—

(a) to any referee or to the members of any board of referees appointed by him under sections fifty-eight and sixty of this Act such fees and allowances as he may with the consent of the Treasury determine; and

(b) to persons giving evidence before any such referee or board such allowances as he may with the consent of the Treasury determine. [1541]

(2) Nothing in the Arbitration Acts, 1889 to 1934, shall be construed as applying to any proceedings before a referee or board of referees appointed under either of the said sections fifty-eight and sixty by the Minister of Labour and National Service. [1542]

General note.—Sub-s. (1) of this section corresponds to s. 55 (8) of the Electricity Act, 1947, and sub-s. (2) to s. 56 thereof (40 Halsbury's Statutes 478).

Arbitration Acts, 1889 to 1934.—These consist of the Arbitration Act, 1889; the Arbitration Clauses (Protocol) Act, 1924; the Arbitration (Foreign Awards) Act, 1930; and the Arbitration Act, 1934 (2 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 4, 21, 23, 29).

62. Gas and coke associations.—(1) All property, rights, liabilities and obligations which immediately before the vesting date were property, rights, liabilities and obligations of any of the following bodies, that is to say—

(a) the British Gas Council;

(b) the Federation of Gas Employers;

(c) the National Federation of Gas Coke Associations, and every constituent Association of that Federation; and

shall on the vesting date vest by virtue of this Act and without further assurance in the Gas Council. [1543]

(2) Subsections (3) to (8) of section seventeen, section twenty-two, section fifty-eight and section sixty of this Act shall, so far as applicable, apply in relation to every such body as aforesaid as if that body were an undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies, and the said section sixty shall, in its application to any such body, have effect as if for the words "in consequence of the vesting" there were substituted the words "in consequence of the passing of this Act". [1544]

Vesting date.—May 1, 1949; see S.I. 1949 No. 392, made under s. 17, ante.

British Gas Council.—This is a non-statutory body and is not to be confused with the Gas Council established by this Act.

Gas Council.—As to the Gas Council generally, see ss. 2 and 5, ante.

Undertaker to whom this Part applies.—See s. 15, ante.

Gas Arbitration Tribunal

63. Establishment of Gas Arbitration Tribunal.—(1) For the purpose of determining any question or dispute which by any provision of this Act or any regulations made thereunder is expressly required to be determined by "arbitration under this Act", or any matter in respect of which jurisdiction is given to the arbitration tribunal by any provision of this Act, there shall be established a tribunal called the Gas Arbitration Tribunal (in this Act referred to as "the arbitration tribunal") and the arbitration tribunal shall, subject to the provisions of this section, hear and determine every such question, dispute or matter as aforesaid. [1545]

(2) The arbitration tribunal shall, as the Lord Chancellor may direct, either sit as a single tribunal or sit in two or more divisions, and shall, for the hearing of any proceedings, be constituted as follows:—

(a) one member shall be a barrister or solicitor and he shall be the president of the tribunal;

(b) there shall be two other members of whom one shall be a person of experience in business and the other shall be a person of experience in finance:

Provided that, in relation to any proceedings which, under the provisions of this Part of this Act, are to be treated as Scottish proceedings, this subsection shall have effect as if for the words "barrister or solicitor," there were substituted the words "advocate or solicitor who has practised in Scotland". [1546]

(3) The members of the tribunal shall be appointed by the Lord Chancellor, except that any member or members appointed by virtue of the proviso to the last preceding subsection shall be appointed by the Lord President of the Court of Session, and any member appointed by the Lord President shall only act in relation to proceedings which are to be treated as Scottish proceedings. [1547]

(4) The members of the arbitration tribunal shall hold office for such period as may be determined at the time of their respective appointments and shall be eligible for reappointment:

Provided that—

(a) a member may at any time by not less than one month's notice in writing to the Lord Chancellor or the Lord President of the Court of Session, as the case may be, resign his office;

(b) the Lord Chancellor or the Lord President of the Court of Session, as the case may be, may declare the office of any member vacant on the ground that he is unfit to continue in his office;

(c) if any member becomes bankrupt or makes a composition with his creditors his office shall thereupon become vacant. [1548]

(5) Where any such question, dispute or matter as aforesaid arises out of or in connection with the vesting by virtue of this Act of the property, rights, liabilities and obligations of any body, or in connection with any transaction of any body, and the principal place of business of the body is in Scotland, the proceedings before the tribunal in respect of the question, dispute or matter shall, subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act, be treated as Scottish proceedings. [1549]

(6) If any member of the arbitration tribunal becomes, by reason of illness or other infirmity, temporarily incapable of performing the duties of his office, the Lord Chancellor or the Lord President of the Court of Session, as the case may be, shall appoint some other fit person to discharge his duties for any period not exceeding six months at one time, and the person so appointed shall, during that period, have the same powers as the person in whose place he was appointed. [1550]

(7) The arbitration tribunal may, at any stage in any proceedings before them, refer to a person or persons appointed by them for the purpose any question arising in the proceedings for inquiry and report, and the report of any such person or persons may be adopted wholly or partly by the tribunal and, if so adopted, may be incorporated in an order of the tribunal. [1551]

General note.—This section corresponds to s. 31 of the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 457).

Arbitration under this Act, etc.—Matters requiring determination by arbitration under this Act or under regulations made thereunder are specified in the following sections: s. 16 (5), ante (application of Part II of this Act to undertakers); s. 18 (8) (b), ante (determination of questions of the regulations made under that section); s. 20 (2), ante (reserves of composite companies); s. 22 (1), (4), ante (disclaimer of agreements and leases); s. 25 (9), ante (the value of securities for compensation); s. 26 (2), ante (increase of value of securities of companies suffering loss through the 1939–1945 war); s. 30 (2), ante (proportion of revenue of composite companies attributable to gas); s. 31 (2), ante (compensation to ancillary gas undertakers); s. 33 (7), ante (claims against directors for improper payments); s. 36 (2), (3), (5), ante (reopening of transactions resulting in dissipation of assets); s. 38 (4), ante (foreign investments); and s. 54 (9), ante (payments by the Minister for premises and apparatus used for meter reading).

Order of the tribunal.—For the procedure and enforcement of orders of the tribunal, see s. 64, post.

64. Procedure and enforcement of orders of arbitration tribunal.—(1) The arbitration tribunal shall be a court of record and have an official seal, which shall be judicially noticed, and any order of the tribunal shall be enforceable in England and Wales as if it were an order of the High Court. [1552]

(2) The provisions of the Arbitration Acts, 1889 to 1934, with respect to—

(a) the administration of oaths and the taking of affirmations; and

(b) the correction in awards of mistakes and errors; and

(c) the summoning, attendance and examination of witnesses and the production of documents; and

(d) the costs of the reference and award,

shall, with any necessary modifications, apply in respect of any proceedings before the arbitration tribunal, but, save as aforesaid, the said Acts shall not apply to any such proceedings. [1553]

(3) The arbitration tribunal may, and if so ordered by the Court of Appeal shall, state in the form of a special case for determination by the Court of Appeal any question of law which may arise before them, and an appeal shall lie to the Court of Appeal on any question of law or fact from any determination or order of the arbitration tribunal on a claim under section thirty-three of this Act against the directors of a company being an undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies or against a composite company or on an application under section thirty-six of this Act in respect of any transaction. [1554]

(4) The Minister shall have a right to be heard in all proceedings before the arbitration tribunal and proceedings on a case stated by or an appeal from that tribunal. [1555]

(5) Subject to the provisions of this section, the procedure in or in connection with any proceedings before the arbitration tribunal shall be such as may be determined by rules to be made by the tribunal with the approval of the Lord Chancellor. [1556]

(6) In relation to proceedings which, under the provisions of this Part of this Act, are to be treated as Scottish proceedings, this section shall have effect subject to the following modifications—

(a) for subsections (2) and (3) there shall be substituted the following subsections—

"(2) The arbitration tribunal shall have the like powers for securing the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents, and with regard to the examination of witnesses on oath and the awarding of expenses as if the arbitration tribunal were an arbiter under a submission.

(3) The arbitration tribunal may, and if so directed by the Court of Session shall, state a case for the opinion of that Court on any question of law arising in the proceedings, and an appeal shall lie to the Court of Session on any question of law or fact from any determination or order of the arbitration tribunal on a claim under section thirty-three of this Act against the directors of a company being an undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies or against a composite company or on an application under section thirty-six of this Act in respect of any transaction.

An appeal shall lie, with the leave of the Court of Session or of the House of Lords, from any decision of the Court of Session under this subsection, and such leave may be given on such terms as to costs or otherwise as the Court of Session or the House of Lords may determine." ;

(b) in subsection (5) for the reference to the Lord Chancellor there shall be substituted a reference to the Secretary of State, and, in the case of any such proceedings, the tribunal shall, except in so far as for any special reasons they think fit not to do so, sit in Scotland. [1557]

Arbitration tribunal.—See s. 63 (1), ante.

Enforceable as an order of the High Court.—For the constitution of the High Court see the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925, s. 2 (5 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 341), and for the enforcement of its orders, see 19 Halsbury's Laws (2nd Edn.) 269 et seq.

Special case and appeal.—Appeal to the Court of Appeal lies only in respect of claims under ss. 33 and 36, ante. In respect to all other arbitrations under this Act proceedings on questions of law by way of case stated only are permitted.

The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 74 (1), post).

Definition.—For definition of " composite company ", see s. 74 (1), post.

65. Transfer of proceedings from England to Scotland and Scotland to England.—(1) If, at any stage in any proceedings before the arbitration tribunal which would not otherwise fall to be treated as Scottish proceedings, the tribunal are satisfied that, by reason of the fact that questions of Scottish law arise, or for any other reason, the proceedings ought thereafter to be treated as Scottish proceedings, the tribunal may order that they shall thereafter be so treated, and the provisions of this Part of this Act shall have effect accordingly. [1558]

(2) If at any stage in any proceedings before the arbitration tribunal which would otherwise be treated as Scottish proceedings, the tribunal are satisfied that, by reason of the fact that questions of English law arise or for any other reason, the proceedings ought no longer to be treated as Scottish proceedings, they may make an order that the proceedings shall thereafter not be treated as Scottish proceedings, and the provisions of this Part of this Act shall have effect accordingly. [1559]

Scottish proceedings.—See ss. 63 (5), 64 (6), ante.

66. Staff and expenses of arbitration tribunal.—(1) The arbitration tribunal may, subject to the consent of the Treasury as to numbers, appoint such officers as they consider necessary for assisting them in the proper execution of their duties. [1560]

(2) There shall be paid to the members of the arbitration tribunal and to any such officer as aforesaid such remuneration (whether by way of salaries or fees) and such allowances as the Minister may, with the approval of the Treasury, determine. [1561]

(3) There shall be paid to any person to whom proceedings are referred by the arbitration tribunal under the last but two preceding section for inquiry and report such remuneration (whether by way of salaries or fees) and such allowances as the tribunal may, with the approval of the Treasury, determine. [1562]

(4) Any such remuneration and allowances as aforesaid and any other expenses of the arbitration tribunal shall be defrayed in the first instance by the Minister out of moneys provided by Parliament, but the amounts from time to time so paid by the Minister shall be repaid on demand to the Minister by the Gas Council. [1563]

General note.—This section corresponds to s. 33 of the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 459).
Arbitration tribunal.—See s. 63 (1), ante.
The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 74 (1), post).
Person to whom proceedings referred.—This is a person appointed by the arbitration tribunal under s. 63 (7), ante.
Gas Council.—As to the Gas Council generally, see ss. 2 and 5, ante.
Definition.—For definition of "officer", see s. 74 (1), post.

General

67. Power to make safety regulations.—(1) The Minister may make such regulations as he thinks fit for the purpose of securing that the public is so far as practicable protected from any personal injury, fire, explosion or other dangers arising from the distribution of gas by an Area Board or the use of gas supplied by an Area Board. [1564]

(2) Any local enactment which is inconsistent with or rendered redundant by any regulations made under this section shall cease to have effect as from the date on which those regulations come into operation. [1565]

General note.—This section corresponds to s. 60 of the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 482).
The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 74 (1), post).
Regulations.—As to regulations generally, see s. 71, post. No regulations under this section had been made up to the date of going to press.
Area Board.—As to Area Boards generally, see ss. 1 and 5, ante.
As to their duty to supply gas, see s. 1 (1) (a), ante, and Sched. III, paras. 8–12, post.
Definition.—For definition of "local enactment", see s. 74 (1), post.

68. Penalties.—(1) If any person, in giving any information, making any claim or giving any notice for the purposes of any provision of this Act or of any regulation thereunder, makes any statement which he knows to be false in a material particular, or recklessly makes any statement which is false in a material particular, he shall be liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds, or to both such imprisonment and such fine, or on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or to a fine not exceeding five hundred pounds, or to both such imprisonment and such fine. [1566]

(2) Regulations made under any provision of this Act may provide that persons offending against the regulations shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds and, if the default in respect of which he is so convicted is continued after the conviction, he shall be guilty of a further offence and liable in respect thereof on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds for each day on which the default is so continued. [1567]

General note.—This section corresponds to s. 61 of the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 482).
Notice.—As to the service of notices, see s. 70, post.
Summary conviction.—A summary conviction is a conviction by a court having summary jurisdiction under the Summary Jurisdiction Acts; see, generally, 21 Halsbury's Laws (2nd Edn.) 511 et seq., and Stone's Justices' Manual (80th Edn.), pp. 62 et seq.

Indictment.—An indictment is a bill which has been signed by the proper officer of a court in accordance with the provisions of the Administration of Justice (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1933 (5 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1065). For the regulation of forms of indictment, etc., see the Indictments Act, 1915 (5 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 993), and as to indictable offences generally, see the Indictable Offences Act, 1848 (5 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 662).

Regulations.—As to regulations generally, see s. 71, post.

69. Provisions as to prosecutions and as to offences by corporations.—(1) Proceedings for an offence under the last preceding section or any regulation made under this Act shall not, in England and Wales, be instituted except by or with the consent of the Minister or by the Director of Public Prosecutions. [1568]

(2) Where an offence under the last preceding section or any regulation made under this Act has been committed by a body corporate, every person who at the time of the commission of the offence was a director, general manager, secretary or other similar officer of the body corporate, or was purporting to act in any such capacity, shall be deemed to be guilty of that offence unless he proves that the offence was committed without his consent or connivance and that he exercised all such diligence to prevent the commission of the offence as he ought to have exercised having regard to the nature of his functions in that capacity and to all the circumstances.

In this subsection, the expression "director", in relation to any Area Board or the Gas Council or any other body corporate established by or under any enactment for the purpose of carrying on under national ownership any industry or part of an industry or undertaking, being a body corporate whose affairs are managed by the members thereof, means a member of that Board, Council or body corporate. [1569]

General note.—This section corresponds to s. 62 of the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 483).

The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 74 (1), post).

Area Board.—As to the Area Boards generally, see ss. 1 and 5, ante.

Gas Council.—As to the Gas Council, see ss. 2 and 5, ante.

Body for carrying on an industry under national ownership.—See, for example, the National Coal Board established by the Coal Industry Nationalisation Act, 1946, s. 1 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 256), and the British Transport Commission established by the Transport Act, 1947, s. 1 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 925).

70. Service of notices, etc.—Any notice or other document required or authorised to be given, delivered or served under this Act or regulations or orders made thereunder or under any enactment applied by or incorporated with this Act may be given, delivered or served either—

(a) by delivering it to the person to whom it is to be given or delivered or on whom it is to be served; or

(b) by leaving it at the usual or last known place of abode of that person; or

(c) by sending it in a prepaid letter addressed to that person at his usual or last known place of abode; or

(d) in the case of an incorporated company or body, or the arbitration tribunal, by delivering it to the secretary or clerk of the company, body or tribunal at their registered or principal office or sending it in a prepaid letter addressed to the secretary or clerk of the company, body or tribunal at that office; or

(e) if it is not practicable after reasonable enquiry to ascertain the name or address of a person to whom it should be given or delivered, or on whom it should be served, as being a person having any interest in premises, by addressing it to him by the description of the person having that interest in the premises (naming them) to which it relates, and delivering it to some responsible person on the premises, or affixing it, or a copy of it, to some conspicuous part of the premises. [1570]

General note.—This section corresponds to s. 63 of the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 483).

Notice or other documents.—For occasions of giving notice, see s. 15 (3), ante (treatment as gas holding company); s. 15 (4), ante (special business of ancillary gas undertaker); s. 16 (1), (2), ante (application of Part II of this Act); s. 18 (1), proviso, ante (exemption from section of composite companies); s. 18 (3), ante (questions arising under that section); s. 21 (2), ante (notice of sale or lease to local authorities and others with a right of pre-emption); s. 22 (1), ante (disclaimer of agreements); s. 30 (6) (a), ante (requiring issue of British Gas Stock); s. 52 (2) ante (taking of surplus gas by Area Boards from gas manufacturers).

71. Provisions as to regulations and orders.—(1) Any power conferred by this Act to make regulations or orders shall include power to provide by those regulations or orders for the determination of questions of fact or of law which may arise in giving effect to the regulations or orders and for regulating (otherwise than in relation to any court proceedings) any matters relating to the practice and procedure to be followed in connection with the determination of such questions, including provision as to the mode of proof of any matters and provision as to parties and their representation and provision for the right to appear and be heard (as well in court proceedings as otherwise) of the Minister or other authorities, and as to awarding costs of proceedings (other than court proceedings) for the determination of such questions, determining the amount thereof and the enforcement of awards thereof. [1571]

(2) Any power conferred by this Act to prescribe by regulations or orders a period within which things are to be done shall include power to provide by those regulations or orders for extending the period so prescribed. [1572]

(3) Any power conferred by this Act to make orders or regulations shall be exercisable by statutory instrument which, except in the case of an instrument which is required to be laid before Parliament in draft or is subject to special parliamentary procedure, shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament. [1573]

(4) In the case of orders defining or varying the areas for which Area Boards are established under this Act, copies of the maps by reference to which those areas are defined by the orders shall be made available, during the period for which the orders or drafts thereof are laid before Parliament, for inspection by members of each House of Parliament. [1574]

(5) Any order made under any such power may be revoked or varied by a subsequent order made in the like manner and subject to the like conditions. [1575]

General note.—This section corresponds to s. 64 of the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 484).

The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 74 (1), post).

Statutory instrument.—As to statutory instruments, see the Statutory Instruments Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 783), which came fully into force on January 1, 1948, by virtue of S.I. 1948 No. 3. S. 5 thereof deals with annulment by negative resolution.

Instrument to be laid before Parliament in draft.—This requirement is prescribed for orders under ss. 6 (2), (4), 51 (7), and 60, ante.

Special parliamentary procedure.—This is prescribed in respect of orders made under s. 56 (4), ante. For this procedure, see the Statutory Orders (Special Procedure) Act, 1945 (38 Halsbury's Statutes 441).

Orders defining or varying areas.—For the order defining the areas of Area Boards, see the Gas (Areas of Area Boards) Order, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 2773), made under s. 6, ante.

72. Expenses of the Minister.—Any administrative expenses incurred by the Minister or any other Minister of the Crown or Government department under this Act shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament, and any sums received by the Minister or by any other Minister of the Crown or Government department under or by virtue of this Act shall be paid into the Exchequer. [1576]

The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 74 (1), post).

73. Inquiries.—(1) The Minister may cause an inquiry to be held in any case when he deems it advisable to do so in connection with any matter arising under this Act, and subsections (2) to (5) of section two hundred and ninety of the Local Government Act, 1933, shall apply to any inquiry held by the Minister in pursuance of this section, and shall have effect as if the expression " department " included the Minister :

Provided that no local authority shall be ordered to pay costs under subsection (4) of the said section two hundred and ninety in the case of any inquiry unless they are a party thereto. [1577]

(2) Subsections (2) to (9) of section three hundred and fifty-five of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947, shall apply to any inquiry held under the preceding subsection in Scotland in lieu of the enactments therein mentioned :

Provided that no local authority shall be directed under subsection (8) of the said section to pay any part of the expenses incurred in relation to any inquiry unless the authority are a party thereto. [1578]

General note.—This section corresponds to s. 66 of the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 485).
The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 74 (1), post).
Local Government Act, 1933, s. 290.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 459.
Definition.—For definition of " local authority ", see s. 74 (1), post.

74. Interpretation.—(1) In this Act, except where the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say—

" ancillary gas undertaker " has the meaning assigned to it by section fifteen of this Act ;

" appropriate Board ", except as is otherwise expressly provided, means—

(a) in relation to any gas holding company, the Gas Council ; and

(b) in relation to any other undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies, the Area Board in whom property, rights, liabilities and obligations of the undertaker vest by virtue of this Act ;

" arbitration tribunal " means the tribunal established under section sixty-three of this Act ;

" Area Board " has the meaning assigned to it by section one of this Act ;

" calorific value " means the number of British thermal units (gross) produced by the combustion of one cubic foot of gas measured at sixty degrees Fahrenheit under a pressure of thirty inches of mercury and, except as may be otherwise directed by the Minister in relation to gas supplied from any gasworks or group of gasworks specified in the direction, saturated with water vapour ;

" coke fittings " means apparatus and appliances designed for use by consumers of coke for heating, motive power, gas production or other purposes for which coke can be used ;

" company " means a company incorporated by any enactment and a company within the meaning of the Companies Act, 1948 ;

" composite company " has the meaning assigned to it by section eighteen of this Act as modified by the proviso to subsection (1) of that section ;

" Electricity Board " has the same meaning as in the Electricity Act, 1947 ;

" emoluments " includes any allowances, privileges or benefits, whether obtaining legally or by customary practice ;

" employed " means employed as an officer and " employment " shall be construed accordingly ;

" enactment " means any provision of a public general Act, of a local, private or personal Act, of a provisional order confirmed by an Act or of any regulation or order made under an Act ;

" final dividend " includes any dividend paid by an undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies in respect of any such part of a financial year as ends with the financial year ;

" financial year "—

(a) in relation to any Area Board and the Gas Council, means a period of twelve months ending with a day to be prescribed, so however that the first financial year shall be the period beginning with the passing of this Act and ending with the first occurrence after the vesting date of the prescribed day, and, in the case of any alteration of the prescribed day, the duration of the financial year as to which the alteration is first to have effect shall be shortened or extended as may be prescribed, by not more than six months, so as to end on the new prescribed day ; and

(b) in relation to any undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies, means the period for which the accounts of the undertaker are made up for the purpose (in the case of a company) of being laid before the company in general meeting :

Provided that, in relation to any such undertaker whose accounts are normally made up twice a year, the said expression means any period consisting of two consecutive periods for which the accounts of the undertaker are made up and ending with a date falling within the period of six months immediately preceding the twenty-third day of January, and, in relation to any such financial year, the annual rate of dividend shall be deemed to be the sum of the rates paid on the two periods making up that year ;

" functions " means duties and powers ;

" gas fittings " means gas pipes, fittings, meters, apparatus and appliances designed for use by consumers of gas for lighting, heating, motive power and other purposes for which gas can be used ;

" gas holding company " has the meaning assigned to it by section fifteen of this Act ;

" gas undertaking " means an undertaking for the supply of gas in Great Britain, but the business of operating a coke-oven plant shall not be deemed to be a gas undertaking ;

" gasworks " means works for the manufacture of gas and gas holders and any works used in connection with such works or holders ;

" holding company " shall be construed in accordance with the definition contained in the Companies Act, 1948 ;

" interim dividend " includes any dividend paid by an undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies in respect of any such part of a financial year as ends before the end of the financial year ;

" lease " includes an agreement for a lease and any tenancy agreement ;

" loan " in relation to a local authority means a loan raised by the issue of securities or by a mortgage created under Part IX of the Local Government Act, 1933, or any similar enactment, and a loan advanced by the Public Works Loan Commissioners on the security of a mortgage ;

" local authority " means the council of a county borough, county district or metropolitan borough, and the common council of the City of London, and includes, in section nine and section seventy-three of this Act, the council of a county, and also includes in any other provision of this Act except the said section nine any joint board of local authorities having functions as statutory undertakers and also other functions ;

" local enactment " means any enactment except a provision of a public general Act and also includes any provision of the Metropolis Gas Act, 1860, and the Metropolis Gas Act, 1861 ;

" metallurgical coke " means coke produced in coke ovens and of a quality primarily and customarily used for the smelting, melting, or refining of ores or metals ;

" Minister " means the Minister of Fuel and Power ;

" net revenue," in relation to any undertaker, means the revenue of that undertaker, after deducting therefrom all charges which are proper to be made to revenue account, including, in particular, proper provision for the redemption of capital and proper provision for depreciation of assets or for renewal of assets, but not including provision for interest on debentures and debenture stock ;

" non-statutory undertaker " has the meaning assigned to it by section fifteen of this Act ;

" officer " includes a managing director and a director whose functions are substantially those of an employee but not any other director, and also includes a servant ;

" pension," in relation to any person, means a pension whether contributory or not, of any kind whatsoever payable to or in respect of him, and includes a gratuity so payable and a return of contributions to a pension fund with or without interest thereon or any other addition thereto ;

" pension fund " means a fund established for the purposes of paying pensions ;

" pension rights " includes, in relation to any person, all forms of right to or eligibility for the present or future payment of a pension to or in respect of that person, and any expectation of the accruer of a pension to or in respect of that person under any customary practice and includes a right of allocation in respect of the present or future payment of a pension ;

" pension scheme " includes any form of arrangements for the payment of pensions, whether subsisting by virtue of an Act, trust, contract or otherwise ;

" plant " includes any equipment, apparatus and appliances, except gas fittings and coke fittings ;

" preference stock " means any stock or shares in respect of which rates of preferential dividend are fixed but which give no other rights to participate in the profits ;

" prescribed " means prescribed by regulations ;

" private company " has the same meaning as in the Companies Act, 1948 ;

" regulations " means regulations made by the Minister ;

" securities ", in relation to a body corporate, means any shares, stock, debentures and debenture stock of the body corporate, and also includes any mortgages of the body which were quoted in the Stock Exchange Official Daily List (within the meaning of section twenty-five of this Act) on all six of the dates in the year nineteen hundred and forty-seven mentioned in subsection (2) of that section ; and " holder of securities ", in relation to any undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies, means, except in the provisions relating to the appointment of the stockholders' representative, a person who immediately before the vesting date was the holder of securities of that undertaker, or his successor in title ;

" statutory undertaker " shall be construed in accordance with section fifteen of this Act ;

" subsidiary " shall be construed in accordance with the definition contained in the Companies Act, 1948 ;

" therm " means one hundred thousand British thermal units ;

" vesting date ", subject to any special provision made by or under this Act in relation to a particular undertaker, shall be construed in accordance with subsection (1) of section seventeen of this Act. [1579]

(2) References in this Act to any other enactment shall be construed as references to that enactment as amended by any other enactment including this Act. [1580]

Financial year.—See the Gas (Financial Years) Regulations, 1949 (S.I. 1949 No. 743).

Sections 25, 43 SECOND SCHEDULE

ISSUE OF BRITISH GAS STOCK IN SATISFACTION OF COMPENSATION

PART I

Provisions applicable to securities with values determined before the vesting date

1. This part of this Schedule shall apply to securities in respect of which compensation is payable under Part II of this Act and the values of which are declared by order of the Minister to have been determined under the said Part II before the vesting date.

2. The holders of any securities to which this Part of this Schedule applies shall, by virtue of this Act, become instead on the vesting date the holders of the respective amounts of British Gas Stock to which they are entitled, and all securities to which this Part of this Schedule applies shall, by virtue of this Act, be extinguished on the vesting date.

3. The interest on the said stock shall begin to accrue as from the vesting date.

4. The regulations to be made under Part III of this Act by the Minister with the approval of the Treasury for prescribing the terms on which and the provisions in accordance with which British Gas Stock is to be issued, transferred, dealt with and redeemed, shall include provisions whereby any stock or share certificate or other document of title in force immediately before the vesting date in relation to any securities to which this Part of this Schedule applies shall be treated as applicable to any British Gas Stock created and issued by way of compensation in respect of those securities until the corresponding document is issued with respect to that stock.

5. Where the holder of any securities becomes, under this Part of this Schedule, instead the holder of British Gas Stock, he shall hold that stock in the same right and on the same trusts and subject to the same powers, privileges, charges, restraints and liabilities as those in, on or subject to which he held those securities, and any provision of any deed, will, disposition or other instrument, and any statutory provision as to what is to be done by the holder of the securities or the redemption moneys thereof, shall, with any necessary modifications, have effect in relation to the said stock or the redemption moneys thereof as it would have had effect in relation to the securities or the redemption moneys thereof if they had not been extinguished :

Provided that—

(a) any beneficial interest of any undertaker to whom Part II of this Act applies, other than a composite company or an ancillary gas undertaker or an undertaker who is not a body corporate, in any of the said securities shall be treated as having passed to the appropriate Board and the preceding provisions of this paragraph shall have effect accordingly ;

(b) nothing in this paragraph shall limit the powers of the Minister under Part III of this Act as respects the making, with the approval of the Treasury, of regulations in relation to British Gas Stock.

6. Nothing in this Part of this Schedule affects the making of any payment or distribution by a stockholders' representative, in accordance with the provisions of Part II of this Act relating to the final payment of dividends and interest, to the holders of securities of any undertaker to whom the said Part II applies. [1586]

PART II

Provisions applicable to other securities

1.—(1) The provisions of this Part of this Schedule shall apply to such of the securities in respect of which compensation is payable under Part II of this Act as are not securities to which Part I of this Schedule applies.

(2) In this Part of this Schedule, the expression " the conversion date " means, in relation to any securities, such date as may be specified in relation thereto by order of the Minister, being a date as soon as conveniently may be after the compensation payable in respect of those securities has been determined.

2. During the period beginning with the vesting date and ending immediately before the conversion date, the securities to which this Part of this Schedule applies shall, notwithstanding the dissolution of the bodies by whom the securities were issued, continue to exist and may be transferred, and the Gas Council shall keep the registers or other records of the holders of those securities, but the only rights which shall attach to those securities shall be—

(a) the right to have instead British Gas Stock which attaches to the securities by virtue of the next following paragraph ; and and all other rights attaching to the securities shall, by virtue of this Act, be extinguished on the vesting date.

3. The holders of any securities to which this Part of this Schedule applies shall, by virtue of this Act, become instead on the conversion date the holders of the respective amounts of British Gas Stock to which they are entitled, and all securities to which this Part of this Schedule applies shall, by virtue of this Act, be extinguished on the conversion date.

4. Interest on the said stock shall begin to accrue as from the vesting date.

5.—(1) The Gas Council shall, on such dates as the Minister may direct, make to the persons who are, at such times as may be specified in the direction, holders of any securities to which this Part of this Schedule applies, payments of interest not exceeding the amount which, in the opinion of the Gas Council, will be found to have accrued on the British Gas Stock ultimately issued under paragraph 3 of this Part of this Schedule in satisfaction of compensation payable in respect of those securities.

(2) If the amounts paid by the Gas Council under this paragraph in respect of any securities are equal to or greater than the amount of interest which is found to have accrued, for the period beginning with the vesting date and ending immediately before the conversion date, on the British Gas Stock created and issued as aforesaid in satisfaction of compensation payable in respect of those securities, the interest so found to have accrued shall be treated as discharged.

(3) If the amount paid as aforesaid in respect of any securities is less than the amount found to have accrued as aforesaid on the British Gas Stock created and issued as aforesaid in satisfaction of compensation payable in respect of those securities, the amount so found to have accrued shall be treated as discharged to the extent of the amount so paid and the balance shall be added to and treated as part of the interest (being interest accruing on and after the conversion date), which first falls to be paid after the conversion date on that stock.

(4) Any amount payable under sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph which has not been paid by reason that it has not been possible to discover the person entitled thereto or that the title thereto has not been established or that a cheque or warrant issued for the purpose of making payment thereof has not been encashed shall, for the purposes of sub-paragraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph (but not for any other purposes) be treated as paid.

6. Paragraphs 4, 5 and 6 of Part I of this Schedule shall apply for the purpose of this Part of this Schedule as if—

(a) any reference therein to that Part of this Schedule were a reference to this Part of this Schedule; and

(b) the reference in the said paragraph 4 to the vesting date were a reference to the conversion date. [1587]

General note.—This Schedule corresponds to Sched. III to the Electricity Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 497).

Vesting date.—May 1, 1949; see S.I. 1949 No. 392, made under s. 17, ante.

Securities with values determined before the vesting date.—See the Gas (Security Values) (No. 1) Order, 1949 (S.I. 1949 No. 750), and the Gas (Security Values) (No. 2) Order, 1949 (S.I. 1949 No. 812).

British Gas Stock.—See s. 43, ante.

Regulations under Part III.—As to regulations under Part III of the Act prescribing the terms of issue, etc., of British Gas Stock, see s. 43 (2), ante. As to regulations generally, see s. 71, ante.

Section 56

THIRD SCHEDULE

CODE OF PROVISIONS RELATING TO GAS SUPPLY

Laying of pipes

1. Power to break up streets.—(1) An Area Board, under such superintendence as is hereinafter specified, may, within their area or for the purpose of supplying gas outside their area to any person whom they are entitled to supply, or of receiving outside their area a supply of gas in bulk from any person, open and break up any street or bridge, and open and break up any sewers, drains or tunnels within or under any such street or bridge, and place pipes, conduits, service pipes, pressure governors and other works, and from time to time repair, alter or remove them and also make any sewers that may be necessary for carrying off the washings and waste liquids which may arise in the manufacture of gas, and for the purposes aforesaid may remove or use all earth and materials in or under any such street or bridge, and may in any such street erect any pillars, lamps and other works, and do all other acts which the Area Board from time to time think necessary for supplying gas in their area or for supplying or receiving gas outside their area as aforesaid, doing as little damage as may be in the exercise of the powers hereby conferred and making compensation for any damage done in the exercise of those powers.

(2) For the purposes of this paragraph, where any street forms or abuts on the boundary of the area of an Area Board, the whole of the street shall be deemed to be within that area.

(3) Nothing in this paragraph shall empower an Area Board to lay down or place any pipe or other works into, through or against any building or in any land not dedicated to the public use, without the consent of the owners and occupiers thereof:

Provided that—

(a) an Area Board may, for the purpose of giving a supply of gas to any premises in their area which abut on a street laid out but not dedicated to the public use, exercise in relation to that street the powers conferred by the preceding subparagraphs, and for the purposes of the following provisions of this Schedule, the authority who would, if the street had been so dedicated, have been the highway authority in relation thereto shall be deemed to be (in addition to any other person) the person having the control or management of the street;

(b) an Area Board may, after giving notice in writing to the owners and occupiers of the land or building not less than seven clear days before the entry, enter upon any land (not being a street to which proviso (a) to this subparagraph applies) or building for the purpose of placing a new pipe in the place of an existing pipe which has already been lawfully placed or of repairing or altering any pipe lawfully placed, so, however, that entry may be made without such notice in cases of emergency arising from defects in any pipes, but notice shall then be given as soon as possible after the occurrence of the emergency. [1588]

2. Notice to person having control of street.—Before an Area Board proceed to open or break up any street, bridge, sewer, drain or tunnel, they shall give to the person under whose control or management it may be, or to his clerk, surveyor or other officer, notice in writing of the Board's intention, not less than seven clear days before beginning the work, except in cases of emergency arising from defects in any pipes or other works, and then as soon as possible after the occurrence of the emergency. [1589]

3. Superintendence of work.—No street, bridge, sewer, drain or tunnel shall, except in the cases of emergency aforesaid, be opened or broken up except under the superintendence of the person having the control or management thereof or of his officer, and according to such plan as may be approved of by that person or his officer, or in the case of any difference arising with respect to the plan, then according to such plan as may be determined by arbitration; and the arbitrator may, on the application of the person having the control or management of any such sewer or drain or his officer, require an Area Board to execute such temporary or other works as the arbitrator considers necessary for preventing any interruption of the drainage during the execution of any works which interfere with any such sewer or drain:

Provided that, if the person having such control or management as aforesaid, or his officer, fails to attend at the time fixed for the opening or breaking up of any such street, bridge, sewer, drain or tunnel after having had notice of the Area Board's intention as aforesaid, or fails to approve or propose any plan for the opening or breaking up thereof, or refuses or neglects to superintend the carrying out of the work, the Area Board may carry out the work specified in the notice without the superintendence of the said person or his officer. [1590]

4. Protection for British Transport Commission and other railway and navigation authorities.—(1) Except in cases of emergency arising from defects in any pipes or other works, a street or bridge which is under the control or management of, or maintainable by, the British Transport Commission or any other railway or navigation authority shall not be opened or broken up without the consent of the Commission or authority, but that consent shall not be unreasonably withheld, and any question whether or not consent is unreasonably withheld shall be determined by arbitration.

(2) Where an Area Board propose to open or break up any street which forms a level crossing, or crosses over or under any works of the British Transport Commission or other railway or navigation authority, and which is not under the control or management of the Commission or authority, the Board shall give to the Commission or authority the like notice as they are required by the last but one preceding paragraph to give to the person having the control or management of the street and, if and in so far as the proposed work is likely to affect the structure of any bridge or other works belonging to the Commission or authority, shall carry out the work to the reasonable satisfaction of the engineer or other authorised officer of the Commission or authority in accordance with plans approved by him; and any question arising under this subparagraph between the Area Board and the British Transport Commission or other railway or navigation authority shall be determined by arbitration. [1591]

5. Reinstatement.—When an Area Board open or break up any street, bridge, sewer, drain or tunnel, they shall with all convenient speed complete the work, fill in the ground, and reinstate or make good the street, bridge, sewer, drain or tunnel, and carry away the rubbish occasioned thereby, and shall at all times, while any street or bridge is so opened or broken up, cause it to be fenced or guarded, and cause a light sufficient for the warning of passengers to be set up and maintained at night against or near the street or bridge, and keep the street or bridge in good repair for three months after making it good, and for such further time, if any, not being more than twelve months altogether, as the soil broken up continues to subside. [1592]

6. Penalty for default.—(1) If an Area Board open or break up any street, bridge, sewer, drain or tunnel without giving such notice as aforesaid, or otherwise than under such superintendence as aforesaid and in accordance with a plan approved or determined as aforesaid, except in cases in which an Area Board are authorised to perform any such work without any superintendence or notice, or if an Area Board fail to comply with any other requirement imposed by or under paragraph 3, paragraph 4 or paragraph 5 of this Schedule in connection with the opening or breaking up of any street, bridge, sewer, drain or tunnel, they shall be liable, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding five pounds for every such default, together with an additional sum of five pounds for each day during which the default continues after the Board have received notice thereof.

(2) If any such default of an Area Board consists in delaying or omitting to carry out any work, the person having the control or management of the street, bridge, sewer, drain or tunnel in respect of which the delay or omission occurs, may cause the work to be carried out, and any expenses incurred in so doing may be recovered from the Area Board. [1593]

7. Power to lay pipes for ancillary purposes.—An Area Board may within their area place, repair, alter or remove pipes, conduits and other works for the purpose of procuring, conducting or disposing of any oil or other materials used by them in, or resulting from, the manufacture of gas or any products of or derived from such manufacture, and for any other purpose connected with the exercise and performance of the functions of the Board, and the preceding provisions of this Schedule shall apply, with the necessary modifications, to the placing, repairing, alteration and removal of pipes, conduits and works for those purposes:

Provided that no pipe, conduit or work shall be placed in any street under this paragraph without the consent of the persons having the control or management of the street or being responsible for the repair thereof, but such consent shall not be unreasonably withheld and any question as to whether such consent is unreasonably withheld shall be determined by arbitration. [1594]

Laying of pipes.—The provisions of paras. 1–7, supra, are derived, with the necessary adaptations, from the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, ss. 6–12 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 1217–1220) (which Act is repealed as from the vesting date by s. 76, ante, and Sched. IV, post), as applied to private streets by the Public Health Act, 1925, s. 80 (13 Halsbury's Statutes 1152). Cases decided under the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, ss. 6–12, are, therefore, largely applicable to the provisions of these paragraphs; see the notes to these sections in Michael and Will's Law relating to Gas and Water (Gas Volume) (8th Edn.), pp. 182 et seq.

Area Board.—As to Area Boards generally, see ss. 1 and 5, ante.

Street.—For definition, see para. 46, post.

Tunnels.—This word is used to suggest something ejusdem generis as "sewers and drains"; see Schweder v. Worthing Gas Light and Coke Co., [1912] 1 Ch. 83.

Breaking up of streets.—To break up a street without parliamentary authority is a nuisance at common law, punishable on indictment. An offence may also be committed under the Highways Act, 1835, s. 72 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 86). An injunction restraining the unlawful breaking up of streets may be granted if the nuisance is substantial and permanent; see A.-G. v. Sheffield Gas Consumers Co. (1853), 3 De G. M. & G. 304; A.-G. v. Cambridge Consumers Gas Co. (1868), 4 Ch. App. 71; R. v. Longton Gas Co. (1860), 2 E. & E. 651; Edgware (or Edgeware) Highway Board v. Harrow District Gas Co. (1874), L. R. 10 Q. B. 92.

Injuries to pipes.—For injuries to lawfully laid pipes, by steam-rollers of excessive weight used in the repair of highways, an Area Board may both sue for damages and, in the appropriate case, seek an injunction: see Gas Light and Coke Co. v. St. Mary Abbott's, Kensington Vestry (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 1.

"Doing as little damage as may be."—For the meaning of these words, see R. v. East and West India Docks and Birmingham Junction Rail. Co. (1853), 2 E. & B. 466, and Fenwick v. East London Rail. Co. (1875), L. R. 20 Eq. 544. The Area Board will be liable under this provision for the negligence of its servants; see Hornby v. Liverpool United Gas Light Co. (1883), 47 J. P. 231 (shop window broken by a flying stone); Crane v. South Suburban Gas Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 33 (over-turning of unguarded fire pail). If damage can be prevented by a reasonable exercise of statutory powers, it is "negligence" not to make such an exercise; see Howard-Flanders v. Maldon Corporation (1926), 135 L. T. 6.

Land not dedicated to public use.—As to dedication generally, see 16 Halsbury's Laws (2nd Edn.) 217; and as to streets laid out but not dedicated, see the Private Street Works Act, 1892 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 193). The exception of land not dedicated to public use covers only cases in which no part thereof is so dedicated; see Schweder v. Worthing Gas Light and Coke Co. (No. 2), [1913] 1 Ch. 118.

Building.—This includes arches occupied as cellars (Thompson v. Sunderland Gas Co. (1877), 2 Ex. D. 429); bridges (Taff Vale Rail. Co. v. Cardiff Gas Light and Coke Co. (1907), 71 J. P. 350); and a tunnel not used as a private footway (Schweder v. Worthing Gas Light and Coke Co., [1912] 1 Ch. 83).

Arbitration.—See para. 40, post.

British Transport Commission.—The British Transport Commission was established under the Transport Act, 1947, s. 1 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 925).

Summary conviction.—See the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 270).

Pipes for ancillary purposes.—These new powers are required by reason of the duties of the Area Boards under s. 1 (1) (c), ante, to develop methods of recovering by-products, and their powers under s. 1 (2) (c) (ii), (iii), ante, to manufacture, supply, etc., the by-products of gas manufacture and products derived therefrom.

Obligation to supply gas

8. Right to demand supply.—(1) An Area Board shall, upon being required to do so by the owner or occupier of any premises situated within the Board's area of supply and within twenty-five yards from any main of the Board through which the Board are for the time being distributing gas, give and continue to give a supply of gas to those premises, and shall furnish and lay any pipe that may be necessary for that purpose, subject to the conditions specified in the following provisions of this paragraph:

Provided that this provision shall not apply in relation to any main used only for the purpose of giving a separate supply of gas for industrial purposes or of conveying gas in bulk.

(2) The cost of providing and laying so much of any pipe for the supply of gas to any owner or occupier as may be laid upon the property of the owner or in possession of the occupier, not being property dedicated to public use, and of so much of any such pipe as may be laid for a greater distance than thirty feet from any pipe of the Area Board, although not on such property, shall be defrayed by the owner or occupier.

(3) The Area Board shall carry out any necessary work of maintenance, repair or renewal of any such pipe which is provided and laid at the cost of the owner or occupier of any premises, and may recover the expenses reasonably incurred by them in so doing from the owner or occupier of the premises.

(4) Nothing in the two last preceding subparagraphs shall be taken as affecting any rights or obligations as between the owner and occupier of the premises in relation to any such pipe as aforesaid.

(5) Every owner or occupier of premises requiring under this paragraph a supply of gas shall—

(a) serve a notice on the Area Board specifying the premises in respect of which the supply is required, and the day (not being earlier than a reasonable time after the service of the notice) upon which the supply is required to commence, and undertaking to pay the charges in respect of gas and meter rent as they become due; and

(b) give to the Area Board (if required by them to do so) security for the payment to them of all money which may become due to them from such owner or occupier in respect of any pipe to be provided by the Board and in respect of gas to be supplied by the Board.

(6) Where an Area Board have given a supply of gas for any premises and the owner or occupier has not given such security as aforesaid, or the security given has become invalid or insufficient, the Area Board may, by notice in writing, require the owner or occupier within seven days after the service of the notice, to give them security for the payment of all money which may from time to time become due to them in respect of the supply, and if the owner or occupier fails to comply with the notice, the Board may, if they think fit, discontinue the supply for those premises so long as the failure continues. [1595]

9. Relief from obligation to supply.—(1) Where a new or increased supply of gas is required under the last preceding paragraph, for purposes other than lighting or domestic use, and the supply cannot be given without the laying of a new main or the enlarging of an existing main or the constructing or enlarging of any other works required for the supply of gas by the Board, the Board shall, notwithstanding the provisions of the last preceding paragraph, not be obliged to give the supply unless the person requiring it enters into a written contract with the Board—

(a) to continue to receive and pay for a supply of gas of such minimum quantity and for such minimum period as the Board may reasonably require, having regard to the expense to be incurred by the Board in laying or enlarging the main or constructing or enlarging the other works, or

(b) to make such payment to the Board (in addition to any payments to be made from time to time for gas supplied) as the Board may reasonably require having regard to the matters aforesaid, and gives to the Board (if required by them to do so) security for the payment of all money which may become due under the contract.

(2) Any question arising under the preceding subparagraph whether a supply can be given without the laying or enlarging of a main or the constructing or enlarging of other works or as to the reasonableness of the minimum quantity or period therein referred to or of the payment required by the Board or as to the nature and amount of the security to be given shall, in default of agreement, be determined by arbitration.

(3) In determining any such question, the arbitrator shall have regard to the following among other considerations, that is to say—

(a) the total annual quantity of gas required by the applicant, the maximum quantity required per hour and the hours of the day during which the Board may be called upon to supply gas to the applicant;

(b) the capital expenditure which the Board would have to incur in the laying of a new main or the enlarging of an existing main or the construction or enlarging of other works for the purpose of giving the supply; and

(c) how far the capital expenditure may become unproductive to the Board in the event of the supply ceasing to be given. [1596]

10. Stand-by supply.—(1) Notwithstanding anything in any enactment a person shall not be entitled to demand or continue to receive a supply of gas from an Area Board for the purposes only of a stand-by supply for any premises having a separate supply of gas, or having a supply (in use or ready for use for the purpose for which the stand-by supply of gas is required) of electricity, steam, or other form of energy, unless he has agreed with the Board to pay them such annual sum in addition to any charge for gas supplied as will give them a reasonable return on the capital expenditure incurred by them in providing the stand-by supply, and will cover other standing charges incurred by them in order to meet the possible maximum demand for those premises.

(2) Any question arising under this paragraph—

(a) as to whether a supply of gas is demanded or received for the purpose only of a stand-by supply; or

(b) as to whether any premises have a separate supply of gas or have a supply (in use or ready for use for the purpose for which a stand-by-supply of gas is required) of electricity, steam, or other form of energy; or

(c) as to the amount of the said annual sum to be specified in the agreement;

shall in default of agreement be determined by arbitration. [1597]

11. Supply to public lamps.—An Area Board shall within their area supply gas to any public lamps within fifty yards from any of the mains of the Board, except any main used for the purpose of giving a separate supply of gas for industrial purposes only or of conveying gas in bulk, in such quantities as the lighting authority may from time to time require to be supplied. [1598]

12. Penalty for default.—If an Area Board fail to give a supply of gas to any owner or occupier of premises entitled to such a supply, or to supply gas to any public lamps to which they are required to supply gas, the Board shall, unless the failure was due to circumstances not within their control, be liable, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding forty shillings for each day during which the default continues. [1599]

Right to demand supply.—This right was first given by the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, s. 11 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 1265), which Act is repealed as from the vesting date by s. 76, ante, and Sched. IV, post. The provisions of sub-paras. (1), (2), (5) and (6) of para. 8, supra, are adapted from that section. Subject to the provisions of this Part of the present Schedule, Area Boards must supply gas to an owner or occupier requiring it. A supply of gas may be refused to a person in default under para. 25, post, and under para. 26, post, and subject to the conditions of that paragraph, power exists to cut off supply in case of default, but the Area Board cannot refuse to supply the succeeding occupier to a defaulting occupier unless the former has made himself liable for the latter's outstanding charges; see para. 23, post. For other examples of power to discontinue supply, see paras. 15 (2), 27 (5), 28 and 29 (2), post.

Area Board.—As to Area Boards generally, see ss. 1 and 5, ante.

Owner or occupier.—This expression is not defined in this Act. It has previously given rise to difficulty in exceptional cases where a defaulting gas consumer has got into financial difficulties. The official receiver, where a receiving order has been made, is not the occupier, the debtor retaining that capacity; see Re Smith, Ex parte Mason, [1893] 1 Q. B. 323. Similarly, the receiver and manager appointed for a business is not the "occupier", he being, by the Law of Property Act, 1925, s. 109 (15 Halsbury's Statutes 291), the agent of the mortgagor. A mortgagee, however, who elects to take possession, becomes the occupier of the premises. Where a debtor is adjudged bankrupt, semble the official receiver or trustee in bankruptcy becomes the "occupier" for the purpose of para. 8; cf. Re Flack, Ex parte Berry, [1900] 2 Q. B. 32.

Necessary work of maintenance.—The provisions of para. 8 (3) and (4) are new. The general duty and power of Area Boards in relation to pipes exist as a necessary part of their obligation to supply gas; see ss. 1 (1) (a), (2) (b), ante.

Notice.—As to the service of notices, see s. 70, ante.

"Reasonable time."—As to "reasonable time", see South Metropolitan Gas Light and Coke Co. v. Noakes (1889), 61 L. T. 556.

Charges.—For methods of charging, see s. 53, ante, and as to recovery of gas charges, see paras. 22–26, post.

Enactment.—For the meaning of this expression, see s. 74 (1), ante. Where this word is used in para. 10 (1), supra, it clearly includes the provisions of para. 8, supra.

Public lamps.—The provisions of para. 11 are based upon the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1847, s. 13 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 1221), and the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, s. 24 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 1268), both of which Acts are repealed as from the vesting date (May 1, 1949) by s. 76, ante, and Sched. IV, post.

Lighting authority.—For definition of this term, see para. 46, post.

Be liable.—Where a case has been stated on a conviction under para. 12, no right of appeal exists from the decision of the Divisional Court, this being a "criminal cause or matter"; see Southport Corporation v. Birkdale Urban District Council (1897), 76 L. T. 319, and the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925, s. 31 (1) (a) (5 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 357).

Where an Area Board become liable to penalties for neglect or refusal, no action will lie for damages and the penalties form the sole remedy; see Atkinson v. Newcastle Waterworks Co. (1877), 2 Ex. D. 441; Clegg, Parkinson & Co. v. Earby Gas Co., [1896] 1 Q. B. 592.

Summary conviction.—See the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 270).

Meters and fittings

13. Consumption of gas to be ascertained by meter.—Every consumer of gas supplied by an Area Board (other than gas supplied to public lamps) shall, if required to do so by the Board, take his supply through a meter duly stamped in accordance with this Act, and the Board shall supply, either by way of sale or hire, to any owner or occupier of premises who requires it a meter for ascertaining the quantity of gas supplied by them and any meter so supplied by the Board shall be either a prepayment meter or an ordinary meter, as the consumer may require:

Provided that the owner or occupier shall, if so required by the Board, before receiving the meter, give to the Board security for payment to them of the price of the meter, if he desires to purchase it, or of the rent of the meter, if he desires to hire it. [1600]

14. Meters to be kept in proper order.—(1) Every consumer shall at all times, at his own expense, keep all meters belonging to him, whereby the quantity of gas supplied by an Area Board is registered, in proper order for correctly registering the quantity of gas, and in default of his so doing the Board may cease to supply gas through that meter.

(2) The Board shall at all times at their own expense, keep all meters let for hire by them to any consumer in proper order for correctly registering the quantity of gas supplied, and in default of their so doing the consumer shall not be liable to pay rent for the meter in respect of the period of the default.

(3) The Board shall have access to and be at liberty to remove, inspect and replace any meter at all reasonable times, and shall, while any such meter is removed, fix a substituted meter on the premises, and, subject to the next following subparagraph, the cost of removing, inspecting and replacing a meter and of fixing a substituted meter shall be defrayed by the Board.

(4) Where a meter is removed for the purpose of being examined by a meter examiner in accordance with this Act, the person at whose request the examination is to be carried out shall, unless the meter is found to register erroneously to a degree exceeding the degree permissible under the regulations for the time being in force, defray the expenses incurred in removing, examining and replacing the meter and fixing a substituted meter, and the said expenses shall, if the meter is found to register erroneously as aforesaid, be defrayed by the owner of the meter. [1601]

15. Placing of meters in new premises.—(1) Every meter to be used in a building not previously supplied with gas or in connection with a new or substituted pipe laid between the main and the meter shall be placed as near as practicable to the main, but within the outside wall of the building :

Provided that, in the case of any building in connection with which there is provided for the meter outside the building a separate meter house or other accommodation reasonably approved by the Area Board, the meter may be placed in such meter house or other accommodation.

(2) If the requirements of this paragraph are not complied with, the Board may refuse to supply gas to the premises until those requirements have been complied with. [1602]

16. Meter to be evidence of quantity of gas supplied.—Where gas is supplied through a meter, the register of the meter shall be prima facie evidence of the quantity of gas supplied :

Provided that where a meter is found, when examined by a meter examiner appointed under this Act, to register erroneously to a degree exceeding the degree permissible under the regulations for the time being in force—

(a) the meter shall be deemed to have registered erroneously to the degree so found since the penultimate date on which the register of the meter was ascertained before the date of the test, except in a case where it is proved to have begun to register erroneously as aforesaid on some later date ; and

(b) the amount of the allowance to be made to, or the surcharge to be made upon, the consumer by the Area Board in consequence of the erroneous registration shall be paid to or by the consumer, as the case may be, and shall, in the case of a surcharge, be recoverable in like manner as charges for gas are recoverable by the Area Board. [1603]

17. Maximum charges for reselling gas supplied by Area Boards.—(1) Every Area Board shall, as soon as practicable after the passing of this Act, fix maximum prices at which gas supplied by them may be resold, and may from time to time vary any prices so fixed, and shall publish the prices so fixed and any variation thereof in such manner as in their opinion will secure adequate publicity therefor.

(2) Different prices may be fixed under this paragraph in different classes of cases which may be defined by reference to areas, tariffs applicable to gas supplied by the Area Board in question, or any other relevant circumstances.

(3) If any person resells any gas supplied by an Area Board at a price exceeding the maximum price fixed under this paragraph and applicable thereto, the amount of the excess shall, if it does not exceed twenty pounds, be recoverable summarily as a civil debt by the person to whom the gas was resold and, in any case, shall be recoverable by him in any court of competent jurisdiction. [1604]

18. Alteration and replacement of burners on change of calorific value.—An Area Board shall, in the case of any alteration in the calorific value declared in respect of any gas supplied by them, take at their own expense such steps as may be necessary to alter, adjust or replace the burners in the appliances of consumers of that gas in such manner as to secure that the gas can be burned with safety and efficiency :

Provided that in the case of any consumer who objects thereto the Board shall not carry out any such alteration, adjustment or replacement except where in the opinion of the Board such alteration, adjustment or replacement is necessary in the interests of safety. [1605]

19. Ascertainment and regulation of gas consumed by public lamps.—(1) The gas supplied by an Area Board to public lamps shall at the option either of the lighting authority or the Area Board, be supplied through a meter duly stamped in accordance with this Act, and, if the gas is so supplied, the Board shall provide and fix the meter, and the cost of the meter and the expense of fixing it shall be defrayed by the party requiring the meter and the meter shall be the property of the party paying the cost thereof.

(2) If the gas is supplied to the public lamps of any lighting authority by average meter indication, the Area Board shall, for securing uniformity of consumption between metered and unmetered lamps, from time to time provide the public lamps of that authority with proper self-acting pressure regulators and burners to the satisfaction of the authority, and the average amount of the indications of all the meters attached to the lamps of that authority shall, except as hereinafter mentioned, be deemed to be the amount consumed by each such lamp. [1606]

20. Street lamp governors.—Where gas is supplied to public lamps, the lighting authority or the Area Board may, at their own expense, cause to be affixed to each lamp the instrument known as a street lamp governor, and the Board or the authority (as the case requires) shall be entitled to have access thereto for the purpose of examining the same. [1607]

21. Settlement of differences.—Any difference which may arise between an Area Board and any lighting authority in relation to the consumption of gas by public lamps maintained by the authority shall be settled by arbitration. [1608]

Meters.—This Part of the Gas Supply code is largely adapted from the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 1263). The provisions of paras. 13 and 14 are based upon ss. 13, 14, 17–19 of that Act, and those of paras. 19–21, relating to the supply of gas to public lamps, are taken from ss. 25–27 of that Act. Para. 16 is adapted from the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, s. 20 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 1267), as modified by the Gas Undertakings Act, 1934, s. 23 (27 Halsbury's Statutes 321). Both these Acts are repealed as from the vesting date (May 1, 1949) by s. 76, ante, and Sched. IV, post.

Area Board.—As to Area Boards generally, see ss. 1 and 5, ante.

Meter duly stamped.—As to the stamping of meters, see s. 54, ante.

Owner or occupier.—See note to paras. 8–12, ante.

Board to supply meters.—This implies an obligation to fix the meter; see Clayton v. Pontypridd Urban District Council, [1918] 1 K. B. 219. For the power of the Area Boards and of the Gas Council to manufacture meters, see ss. 1 (2) (e), 2 (3) (b), ante.

Liberty to inspect.—For power of entry, see para. 34 (1), post.

Recovery of charges.—See paras. 22–26, post.

Lighting authority.—For definition, see para. 46, post.

Arbitration.—See para. 40, post.

Recovery of gas charges, etc.

22. Recovery of charges.—Any charges in respect of gas and any meter rent due to an Area Board and any charges due to an Area Board in respect of the supplying and fixing of any meter or fittings shall, if the amount due does not exceed twenty pounds, be recoverable by the Board summarily as a civil debt and, in any case, shall be recoverable in any court of competent jurisdiction. [1609]

23. New occupier not to be liable for arrears.—If the occupier of any premises, being premises supplied with gas by an Area Board, quits the premises without paying any amount due from him in respect of charges for gas or meter rent, the Area Board shall not be entitled to require from the next occupier of the premises the payment of the amount due, unless that occupier has undertaken with the former occupier to pay or exonerate him for the payment of that amount. [1610]

24. Liability of occupier on quitting premises.—(1) If the occupier of any premises, being premises supplied with gas by meter by an Area Board, quits the premises without giving notice thereof in writing to the Board so that it is received by the Board at least twenty-four hours before he quits the premises, he shall be liable to pay to the Board all charges accruing due for gas supplied by them to the premises and meter rent up to the next date on which the register of the meter on the premises is usually ascertained, or the date from which any subsequent occupier of the premises requires the Board to supply gas to the premises, which ever first occurs.

(2) The preceding subparagraph or a statement of the effect thereof shall be endorsed upon every demand note for gas charges payable to the Board. [1611]

25. Refusal of supply to person in default.—If a person requiring a supply of gas from an Area Board has previously quitted premises at which gas was supplied to him by that Board without paying all money due from him in respect of charges for gas and meter rent, the Board may refuse to furnish him with a supply of gas until he pays the money so due. [1612]

26. Power to cut off supply in case of default.—(1) If any person has not, after the expiration of twenty-eight days from the making of a demand in writing by the Area Board for payment thereof, paid the charges due from him in respect of gas supplied by an Area Board to any premises, the Board, after the expiration of not less than seven days' notice in writing of their intention, may cut off the supply from the premises by disconnecting the service pipe at the meter (whether the pipe belongs to the Board or not) or by such other means as they think fit, and any expense incurred in cutting off the supply shall be recoverable in like manner as charges for gas.

(2) Where an Area Board have cut off the supply of gas from any premises in consequence of any default on the part of the occupier thereof, the Board shall not be under any obligation to resume the supply of gas to the occupier so in default until he has made good the default and paid the reasonable expenses of reconnecting the supply, but subject as aforesaid, nothing in this paragraph shall prejudice or interfere with any rights conferred upon any person by paragraph 8 of this Schedule. [1613]

Gas charges.—For general provisions as to the power of, and machinery for, charging for gas supply, see s. 53, ante.

Area Board.—As to Area Boards generally, see ss. 1 and 5, ante.

Recoverable summarily as a civil debt.—See the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, s. 35 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 342).

New occupier.—The provisions of para. 23 are adapted from the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, s. 39 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 1273), which is repealed as from the vesting date by s. 76, ante, and Sched. IV, post. For the meaning of "occupier", see notes to ss. 8–12, ante. The Area Board may require security from him before giving a supply; see para. 8, ante.

Occupier quitting premises.—Paras. 24 and 25 are derived from the Gas Undertakings Act, 1934, ss. 18, 19 (27 Halsbury's Statutes 318, 319), which Act is repealed as from the vesting date by s. 76, ante, and Sched. IV, post.

Use of antifluctuators and valves

27. Antifluctuators and valves.—(1) Where a consumer of gas supplied by an Area Board uses the gas for working or supplying an engine, gas compressor or other similar apparatus or any apparatus liable to produce in any main of the Board a pressure less than atmospheric pressure (any such engine, compressor or apparatus being hereafter in this paragraph referred to as a "compressor"), he shall, if so required by the Board by notice in writing, fix in a suitable position and keep in use an appliance provided by him which will effectually prevent pressure fluctuation in the supply mains and any other inconvenience or danger being caused to other consumers of gas by reason that they and the first mentioned consumer are supplied with gas from the same source.

(2) Where a consumer of gas supplied by an Area Board uses for or in connection with the consumption of the gas so supplied any air at high pressure (in this paragraph referred to as "compressed air") or any gas not supplied by the Board (in this paragraph referred to as "extraneous gas"), he shall, if so required by the Board by notice in writing, fix in a suitable position and keep in use an appliance provided by him which will effectually prevent the admission of the compressed air or extraneous gas into the service pipe or into any main through which gas is supplied by the Board.

(3) Where a consumer is required by this paragraph to keep in use any appliance, he shall at his own expense keep it in proper order and repair, and repair, renew or replace it if it is not in proper order or repair.

(4) It shall not be lawful for a consumer of gas supplied by an Area Board to use a compressor, or any apparatus for using compressed air or extraneous gas, being a compressor or apparatus installed by him after the first day of October, nineteen hundred and thirty four, unless he has given to the Board not less than fourteen days' notice in writing of his intention to do so.

(5) If a consumer makes default in complying with any provision of this paragraph, the Board may cut off the supply of gas to him and shall not be required to resume the supply until the default has been remedied to their reasonable satisfaction.

(6) An Area Board shall give notice of the effect of the preceding provisions of this paragraph to persons becoming consumers of gas supplied by them, on the first such demand note delivered to that person after he has become a consumer.

(7) An Area Board shall have access at all reasonable times to any premises supplied by them with gas upon which the Board have reason to believe that a compressor or compressed air or extraneous gas is being used, in order to ascertain whether the provisions of this paragraph are being complied with.

(8) An Area Board shall have power to disconnect, remove, test and replace any appliance which a consumer of gas supplied by them is required by this paragraph to keep in use, and any expenses incurred by the Board under this subparagraph shall, if the appliance is found in proper order and repair, be paid by the Board but otherwise shall be paid by the consumer. [1614]

Antifluctuators.—The provisions of this paragraph replace the similar ones of s. 25 of the Gas Undertakings Act, 1934 (27 Halsbury's Statutes 822), which is repealed as from the vesting date (May 1, 1949) by s. 76, ante, and Sched. IV, post.

Area Board.—As to Area Boards generally, see ss. 1 and 5, ante.

Notice.—As to the service of notices, see s. 70, ante.

Penalties

28. Improper use of gas.—If any person supplied with gas by an Area Board improperly uses or deals with the gas so as to interfere with the efficient supply of gas by the Board to any consumer, the Board may, if they think fit, cease to supply gas to that person. [1615]

29. Injury to pipes and fittings and interference with meters.—(1) If any person wilfully, fraudulently, or by culpable negligence, injures or suffers to be injured any pipes, meter or fittings belonging to an Area Board, or alters the index to any meter, or prevents any meter from duly registering the quantity of gas supplied or fraudulently abstracts, consumes or uses gas of the Board, he shall (without prejudice to any other right or remedy for the protection of the Board or the punishment of the offender) be liable for each offence on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

(2) The prosecution of any such offence shall not prevent the Board from recovering the amount of any damage caused to them by the offence, and, if the offence involves any injury to or interference with any pipes, meter or fittings belonging to the Board, the Board may also, until the matter has been remedied, but no longer, discontinue the supply of gas to the person so offending (notwithstanding any contract previously existing).

(3) The existence of artificial means for causing an alteration of the index to any meter or the prevention of any meter from duly registering, or for abstracting, consuming or using gas of the Board, when the meter is under the custody or control of the consumer, shall be prima facie evidence that the alteration, prevention, abstraction or consumption, as the case may be, has been fraudulently and wilfully caused by the consumer using the meter. [1616]

30. Reconnecting of service pipe.—If any person, without the consent of the Area Board, reconnects with a meter a service pipe which has been disconnected by the Board, he shall for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds, and to a further fine not exceeding two pounds for each day during which the pipe remains connected with the meter after conviction and the Board may again disconnect the pipe at the meter. [1617]

31. Notice of connection or disconnection of service pipe.—No person shall connect any meter with a service pipe through which gas is supplied by an Area Board or disconnect any meter from any such pipe, unless he has given to the Board not less than twenty-four hours' notice in writing of his intention to do so, specifying the time and place of the proposed connection or disconnection, and if any person acts in contravention of this provision, he shall be liable for each offence on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two pounds. [1618]

32. Pollution of inland waters.—(1) If an Area Board cause or permit to be brought or to flow into any river, stream, aqueduct or inland water or drain communicating therewith any waste product or other substance produced in making or supplying gas, or wilfully do any other act connected with the manufacture or supply of gas whereby the water in any river, stream, aqueduct or inland water is fouled, the Board shall be liable—

(a) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds and to a further fine not exceeding ten pounds for each day during which the act constituting the offence continues after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the service of notice on the Board that it is being committed; or

(b) on conviction on indictment, to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds and to a further fine not exceeding twenty pounds for each such day as aforesaid.

(2) If any water is fouled by the gas of an Area Board, they shall be liable, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, and an additional sum not exceeding ten pounds for each day during which the act constituting the offence continues after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the service of notice on the Board that it is being committed.

(3) Nothing in this paragraph shall apply to any water undertakers to whom Part XIV of the Third Schedule to the Water Act, 1945, applies. [1619]

33. Escape of gas.—Where any gas escapes from any pipe of an Area Board, they shall, immediately after receiving notice thereof in writing, prevent the gas from escaping, and if they fail within twenty-four hours from the service of the notice effectually to prevent the gas from escaping, they shall be liable, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding five pounds for each day during which the gas continues to escape after the expiration of the said twenty-four hours. [1620]

Area Board.—As to Area Boards generally, see ss. 1 and 5, ante.

"Improperly uses gas."—Proceedings for improperly using gas cannot be taken when the gas is supplied by meter; see Falkirk Corporation v. Russell, [1911] S. C. (J.) 99.

Fittings belonging to an Area Board.—For the meaning of "gas fittings", see s. 74 (1), ante. As to the right to supply fittings, etc., on hire, see s. 1 (2) (d), ante, and as to the hire of meters, see para. 13, ante.

Fraudulently uses gas.—There is nothing in the nature of gas to prevent it being the subject of larceny; see R. v. White (1853), 3 Car. & Kir. 363; R. v. Firth (1869), L. R. I. C. C. R. 172.

Summary conviction.—See the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, s. 51 (1) (11 Halsbury's Statutes 350).

Meters not to be connected or disconnected without notice.—Para. 31 replaces with the necessary adaptations s. 15 of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 260), which is repealed as from the vesting date (May 1, 1949) by s. 76, ante, and Sched. IV, post.

"Causes."—See Moses v. Midland Railway (1915), 84 L. J. (K. B.) 2181 ("negligent causation").

"Is fouled."—See Millington v. Griffiths (1874), 30 L. T. 65, and Granby (Marquis) v. Bakewell Urban District Council (1923), 87 J. P. 105.

"Water fouled by gas."—See Batcheller v. Tunbridge Wells Gas Co. (1901), 84 L. T. 765. See also para. 42, post.

Water Act, 1945, Sched. III, Part XIV.—38 Halsbury's Statutes 564.

General

34. Entry for purposes of inspection.—(1) Any officer authorised by an Area Board may at all reasonable times on the production of some duly authenticated document showing his authority, enter any premises in which there is a service pipe connected with the gas mains of the Board, in order to inspect the meters, fittings and works for the supply of gas, or for the purpose of ascertaining the quantity of gas consumed or supplied, except in a case where the occupier of the premises has applied in writing to the Board for the disconnection of the service pipe from the mains and the Board have failed to disconnect it within a reasonable time.

(2) The powers of inspection aforesaid shall, in relation to any premises or part of any premises which are or is wholly occupied as a factory within the meaning of the Factories Act, 1937, extend only to the inspection of—

(a) such of the meters on the premises, or on that part of the premises, as the case may be, as are used by the Board for measuring gas supplied by them ; and

(b) the pipes and other fittings and works by which those meters are connected with the gas mains of the Board. [1621]

35. Entry for purposes of removing pipes, etc., on discontinuance of supply.—(1) Where—

(a) a person occupying premises supplied with gas by an Area Board ceases to require such a supply ; or

(b) a person entering into the occupation of any premises previously supplied with gas by an Area Board does not take a supply of gas from the Board or hire such of the pipes, meters, fittings or apparatus on the premises as belong to the Board ; or

it shall be lawful for an officer authorised by the Board after twenty-four hours' notice to the occupier under the hand of an officer so authorised, or if the premises are unoccupied to the owner or lessee of the premises, to enter the premises at all reasonable times for the purpose of removing and to remove any pipes, meters, fittings or apparatus, through which the supply was given to the first-mentioned premises.

(2) The notice required to be given by the last preceding subparagraph may, in the case of unoccupied premises, the owner or lessee of which is unknown to the Area Board and cannot be ascertained after diligent inquiry, be given by affixing it upon a conspicuous part of the premises not less than forty-eight hours before the premises are entered.

(3) Where an Area Board have reasonable cause to suspect that gas is escaping in any premises it shall be lawful for an officer authorised by the Board to enter the premises for the purpose of inspecting the gas fittings and preventing the escape and to inspect such fittings and carry out any work necessary to prevent such escape. [1622]

36. Premises to be left secure and damage to be made good.—Where, in pursuance of any powers conferred by this Schedule, entry is made on any premises by an officer of an Area Board, the officer shall ensure that the premises are not left less secure by reason of the entry, and the Board shall make good or pay compensation for any damage caused by the officer in entering the premises, in carrying out any inspection or work therein or in making the premises secure. [1623]

37. Penalty for obstruction.—If any person obstructs any officer exercising powers under either of the three last preceding paragraphs or any other power of entry conferred by this Schedule, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds. [1624]

38. Gas fittings not to be subject to distress.—Any gas fittings let for hire by an Area Board and marked or impressed with a sufficient mark or brand indicating the Board as the owners thereof—

(a) shall not be subject to distress or to the landlord's remedy for rent or be liable to be taken in execution under process of any court or any proceedings in bankruptcy against the person in whose possession they may be ; and

(b) shall not be deemed to be landlord's fixtures, notwithstanding that they may be fixed or fastened to any part of the premises in which they may be situated. [1625]

39. Provisions as to security.—(1) Where any security is required by the provisions of this Schedule to be given to an Area Board, the security may be by way of deposit or otherwise, and of such amount as the person required to give the security and the Board may agree on or as, in default of such agreement, may be determined by arbitration.

(2) Where any money is deposited with an Area Board by way of such security as aforesaid, the Board shall pay interest at such rate as may from time to time be fixed by order of the Minister made with the approval of the Treasury, on every sum of ten shillings so deposited for every six months during which it remains in the hands of the Board. [1626]

40. Arbitration.—Where under any provision in this Schedule the determination of any question is referred to arbitration, the reference shall be to a single arbitrator to be appointed by agreement between the parties or, in default of agreement, by the Minister. [1627]

41. Copies of enactments to be available for inspection.—Every Area Board shall keep in their principal office copies of all local enactments which apply to the Board, and they shall be available for public inspection at all reasonable hours and any person shall be entitled during those hours to take copies thereof and extracts therefrom. [1628]

42. Nuisance.—Nothing in this Act shall exonerate an Area Board from any indictment, action, or other proceeding for any nuisance caused by them. [1629]

43. Saving for 57 Geo. 3, c. xxix.—Nothing in this Schedule shall be deemed to exempt an Area Board from the provisions of an Act passed in the fifty-seventh year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Third intituled an Act for better paving, improving and regulating the streets of the metropolis and removing and preventing of nuisance and obstructions therein. [1630]

44. Restriction on works in, under or over the sea and other waters and foreshore.—An Area Board shall not construct any works in, under or over the sea or any tidal waters or navigable river, or the seashore below the high water mark of ordinary spring tides, except with the previously obtained consent in writing of the Minister of Transport, which may be given subject to such conditions as the Minister of Transport may think fit; and if any Area Board contravene the provisions of this paragraph the Minister of Transport may remove any works so constructed and the expenses incurred in so doing shall be recoverable by him from the Board. [1631]

45. Justices and judges not to be disqualified.—No justice of the peace or judge of any court shall be disqualified from acting in cases arising under this Schedule by reason only of his being liable to the payment of any charges for gas or other charges under this Act. [1632]

46. Interpretation.—In this Schedule the expression "street" includes any square, court, alley, highway, road, lane, thoroughfare, or public passage or place;

the expression "lighting authority", in relation to any public lamps, means the public or local authority by or for whom the lamps are maintained;

the expression "navigation authority" means any person or body of persons, whether incorporated or not, authorised by or under an enactment to work, maintain, conserve, improve or control any canal or other inland navigation, navigable river, estuary, harbour or dock; and the expression "railway authority" means any person or body of persons, whether incorporated or not, authorised by an enactment to construct, work or carry on a railway. [1633]

47. Application to Scotland. [1634]

Area Board.—As to Area Boards generally, see ss. 1 and 5, ante.

"At all reasonable times."—A collector calling to empty a slot meter in the temporary absence of the occupier of the house, who opened the latch and entered, has been held liable in trespass; see Birdsell v. Wakefield Gas Co. (1901), in the Journal of Gas Law, December 17, 1901, p. 1604.

Factories Act, 1937.—9 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 996. For the meaning of "factory", see s. 151 thereof (9 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1113), and Cox v. Cutler & Sons, Ltd. and Hampton Court Gas Co., [1948] 2 All E. R. 665, C. A., post.

The Minister.—The Minister of Fuel and Power (s. 64 (1), ante).

Summary conviction.—See the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, s. 51 (1) (11 Halsbury's Statutes 350).

Distress.—As to the remedy of distress for rent generally, see 10 Halsbury's Law (2nd Edn.) 442 et seq., and as to statutory privilege from distress, 466 et seq.

Execution.—For execution generally, see 14 Halsbury's Law (2nd Edn.) 1 et seq.

Nuisance.—Para. 42 adapts the provisions of the Gasworks Clauses Act, 1871, s. 9 (8 Halsbury's Statutes 1264), which Act is repealed as from the vesting date (May 1, 1949) by s. 76, ante, and Sched. IV, post.

Act passed in fifth-seventh year of George III.—This is the Act generally known as the Metropolitan Paving Act, 1817 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 838).

ORDERS, CIRCULARS AND MEMORANDA

GAS CHARGES ORDER, 1947

S. R. & O., 1947, No. 2242

October 17, 1947

General note.—This order was amended as from January 5, 1948, by the Gas Charges (No. 2) Order, 1947 (S. R. & O., 1947, No. 2832), post. See also the Gas Charges Order, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 300), post. As from May 1, 1949, the vesting date for the purposes of the Gas Act, 1948 (see S.I. 1949 No. 392), these three orders are revoked by the Gas (Price and Charges) (Revocation) Order and Direction, 1949 (S.I. 1949 No. 791).

In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by Regulations fifty-five AA, fifty-five AB and fifty-six of the Defence (General) Regulations, 1939, as having effect by virtue of the Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945, as extended by the Supplies and Services (Extended Purposes) Act, 1947, and of all other powers him enabling, the Minister of Fuel and Power (in this Order referred to as "the Minister") hereby makes the following Order :—

1. Restriction on increase in price of gas in certain cases.—(1) Save as provided in the following paragraphs of this Article, no undertaker shall, except under the authority of a permit, increase any price charged by him at the date of the coming into force of this Order in respect of any supply of gas.

(2) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (3) of this Article, and the next following Article, any such price may be increased by the proportionate amount of any net increase in the cost to the undertaker of production of the gas supplied due to any one or more of the following, that is to say :—

(a) any increase in the delivered price of coal by reason of an increase in :—

(i) the pithead price thereof of four shillings per ton on the first day of September, nineteen hundred and forty-seven ;

(ii) the railway rate for carriage thereof taking effect on the first day of October in that year ;

(b) any increase in the net cost to him of gas oil by reason of :—

(i) an increase in the price thereof of one and one half pence per gallon on the first day of September aforesaid ;

(ii) the termination of any subsidy paid to him by the Minister on the oil used by him ;

after making due allowance for any additional sums received by him :—

(c) in respect of sales of coke by reason of :—

(i) an increase in the price thereof of six shillings per ton on the fifteenth day of September in that year ; and

(ii) any increase on the first day of October aforesaid authorised by the Minister in the delivered or ex-works price thereof :

Provided that where any of the factors specified in sub-paragraphs (a) or (b) of this paragraph has been relied upon by any undertaker applying for a permit under Article one of the Gas Charges Order, 1942, and any increase in price has thereupon been authorised, the part of that increased price appropriate to that factor shall be deducted from the proportionate amount calculated as aforesaid.

(3) Any undertaker who, by virtue of the preceding paragraph, increases the price charged by him in respect of any supply of gas shall forthwith give notice to the Minister of any such increase stating the amount thereof and the date on which it takes effect ; and shall, in relation to every such increase, supply all such information, and supplementary information, as the Minister may at any time require.

(4) Nothing in this Article shall restrict any undertaker from increasing the price charged by him in respect of a supply of gas furnished :—

(a) to any person in pursuance of a contract between the undertaker and that person the terms whereof provide for variation, as there specified, in the price charged for gas supplied by reference to the cost of coal to the undertaker or to the quantity of gas supplied during any period to that person, by any amount in accordance with that contract ; or

(b) in any period to any person carrying on a factory (not being another undertaking), if, during the year immediately preceding that period, the quantity of gas so supplied for consumption in that factory was not less than one hundred and fifty thousand cubic feet, and if previous notice in writing of any proposed increase, and of the amount thereof, has been given to the Minister by the undertaker, by any amount, so however that the Minister may at any time direct that, in any such case as aforesaid, as from a specified date any specified undertaker shall not, except under the authority of a permit, increase the price charged by him in respect of the supply of gas to any specified person.

(5) A direction under sub-paragraph (b) of the last preceding paragraph may, notwithstanding anything contained therein, be given so as to apply to any class or description of undertakers or persons as aforesaid. [1636]

2. Reduction in price in case of subsequent reduction in cost.—(1) Where the price charged in respect of any supply of gas is increased by virtue of paragraph (2) of the preceding Article, and thereafter any of the increases specified in sub-paragraphs (a) or (b) of that paragraph is not maintained, or the allowance to be made under that paragraph is varied, and by reason thereof the net increase in the cost to the undertaker of production calculated as provided in the said paragraph is at any time less than at the date of the said increase in price, that undertaker shall, as soon as practicable, reduce the price charged by him in respect of that supply by an amount proportionate to the said reduction.

(2) The provisions of paragraph (3) of the said Article shall apply in relation to any reduction in price as they apply in relation to an increase therein. [1637]

3. Relaxation of, and saving for statutory maximum price.—Where any Act or instrument determining the functions of an undertaker prescribes any price with respect to any undertaking (being a public utility undertaking) as the maximum price which that undertaker may charge in respect of gas supplied by him, the obligations and limitations imposed by, or by virtue of, every such Act or instrument are, if not previously relaxed to the extent requisite for any increase by virtue of paragraph (2) of Article one of this Order in any price charged by that undertaker in respect of any supply of gas, hereby to that extent relaxed; but save as aforesaid nothing in this Order shall affect the maximum price prescribed for any undertaker by any applicable enactment or Order. [1638]

4. Permits.—(1) Any permit under this Order may be granted subject to such conditions as the Minister may deem necessary.

(2) Every such condition shall be complied with by every person, or by every person of the class or description, in whose favour the permit was granted; and the breach of any such condition shall be an offence against this Order.

(3) The Minister may vary or revoke any permit granted under this Order; and, if any such permit is revoked, the holder thereof shall forthwith deliver it up as directed by the Minister. [1639]

5. Interpretation.—In this Order, and (unless the contrary intention appear) in every permit granted and direction given under the provisions thereof, the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them respectively, that is to say:—

"the Minister" means the Minister of Fuel and Power;

"permit" means a permit granted by or on behalf of the Minister;

"undertaker" means any person carrying on an undertaking;

"undertaking" means any undertaking (whether or not a public utility undertaking) involving the supply of gas to the public. [1640]

6. Revocation and consequential amendment.—(1) The Gas Charges Order, 1942, is hereby revoked.

(2) Any permit granted or direction given under the provisions of the Gas Charges Order, 1942, effective at the date of the coming into force of this Order shall be deemed to have been granted or given under the corresponding provision of this Order; and shall have effect accordingly.

(3) The Gas (Maximum and Standard Prices) Order and General Direction, 1942, shall have effect subject to the modification that in Article one thereof there shall be substituted for the reference to the Gas Charges Order, 1942, a reference to this Order. [1641]

7. Commencement and citation.—This Order shall come into force on the first day of November, nineteen hundred and forty-seven, and may be cited as the Gas Charges Order, 1947. [1642]

* * * * *

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

1. This Order revokes, and re-enacts with an amendment, the Gas Charges Order, 1942, which prohibited increases in the price charged for gas except under a permit.

2. The amendment introduced allows an increase without a permit to cover any net increase in the cost to the undertaker of the production of gas due to increases in September and October, 1947, in the delivered price of coal, and the price of gas oil, and to the termination of the subsidy on gas oil, after allowing for increases in the price of coke sold. All increases must be notified to the Minister.

3. Statutory limitations on the maximum price of gas are relaxed to the extent necessary for this increase.

4. If any of the factors involved ceases to apply, prices are to be correspondingly reduced as soon as practicable.

5. Nothing in the Order affects charges where either :—

(a) a contract contains a sliding scale for prices based on the cost of coal or the quantity of gas supplied; or

(b) a factory consumes more than 150,000 cubic feet of gas per annum.

GAS CHARGES (NO. 2) ORDER, 1947

S. R. & O., 1947, No. 2832

December 31, 1947

General note.—This order is revoked, as from May 1, 1949, the vesting date for the purposes of the Gas Act, 1948 (see S.I. 1949 No. 392), by the Gas (Price and Charges) (Revocation) Order and Direction, 1949 (S.I. 1949 No. 791).

The Minister of Fuel and Power in pursuance of the powers conferred upon him by Regulations fifty-five AA, fifty-five AB, fifty-six and ninety-eight of the Defence (General) Regulations, 1939, as having effect by virtue of the Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945, as extended by the Supplies and Services (Extended Purposes) Act, 1947, hereby orders as follows :—

1. Amendment of Gas Charges Order, 1947.—The Gas Charges Order, 1947, shall have effect subject to the modification that the following paragraph shall be substituted for paragraph (2) of Article one, that is to say :—

" (2) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (3) of this Article, and the next following Article, any such price may be increased by the proportionate amount of any net increase in the cost to the undertaker of the gas supplied in the period to which the charge relates due to any one or more of the following, that is to say :—

(a) any increase in the delivered price of coal on or after the first day of September, nineteen hundred and forty-seven ;

(b) any increase in the net cost of gas oil by reason of :—

(i) any increase in the price thereof on or after the said first day of September ;

(ii) the termination of any subsidy paid by the Minister on such oil ;

after making due allowance for any additional sums received by him by reason of any increase in the price of coke on or after the said first day of September :

Provided that where any of the factors specified in sub-paragraphs (a) and (b) of this paragraph has been relied upon by any undertaker applying for a permit under Article one of the Gas Charges Order, 1942, or under the last preceding paragraph, and any increase in price has thereupon been authorised, the part of that increased price appropriate to that factor shall be deducted from the proportionate amount calculated as aforesaid." [1643]

2. Commencement and citation.—This Order shall come into force on the fifth day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-eight; and may be cited as the Gas Charges (No. 2) Order, 1947. [1644]

* * * * *

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

This Order amends Article 1 (2) of the Gas Charges Order, 1947, ante (which authorised increases in the price charged by gas undertakers to take into account net increases in cost due to increases in prices of coal and oil in September and October 1947) to cover increases in cost due to increases in the price of coal and gas oil at any time on or after September 1, 1947. Verbal amendments are also made to clarify the application of that paragraph to undertakers who receive supplies of gas in bulk.

GAS FUND (CONTRIBUTION) ORDER, 1948

January 12, 1948

The Minister of Fuel and Power (in this Order referred to as "the Minister") in pursuance of section seven of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920 (in this Order referred to as "the Act"), as amended by the Gas Undertakings Act, 1934, hereby prescribes as follows:

1. Rate of contribution for 1948.—The rate of contribution to the Gas Fund for the year nineteen hundred and forty-eight shall be:—

(a) for each five thousand therms in the form of gas sold during the year nineteen hundred and forty-seven (excluding gas sold to other undertakers in bulk for distribution and gas supplied separately for industrial purposes only), eight pence;

(b) for each five thousand therms in the form of gas supplied separately for industrial purposes only during the year nineteen hundred and forty-seven, four pence. [1645]

2. Contribution payable to the Minister.—The said contribution shall be paid to the Minister at Heyhouses Lane, Lytham St. Annes, Lancashire, on or before the first day of April, nineteeen hundred and forty-eight, by all gas undertakers with respect to whom an Order under the Act shall have been made or to whom subsection (3) of section seven of the Act applies by virtue of any public general Act, special Act or Special Order. [1646]

3. Contribution payable by cheque.—Payment of the said contribution shall be made by cheques payable to the Minister and crossed "Bank of England". [1647]

4. Citation.—This Order may be cited as the Gas Fund (Contribution) Order, 1948. [1648]

GAS CHARGES ORDER, 1948

February 19, 1948

General note.—This order is revoked, as from May 1, 1949, the vesting date for the purposes of the Gas Act, 1948 (see S.I. 1949, No. 392), by the Gas (Price and Charges) (Revocation) Order and Direction, 1949 (S.I. 1949 No. 791).

The Minister of Fuel and Power (in this Order referred to as "the Minister") in exercise of the powers conferred upon him by Regulations fifty-five AB and fifty-six of the Defence (General) Regulations, 1939, as having effect by virtue of the Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945, as extended by the Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945, as extended by the Supplies and Services (Extended Purposes) Act, 1947, hereby orders as follows :—

1. Notwithstanding anything in relation to any public utility undertaker in any Act or other instrument determining his functions, no undertaker shall in respect of the supply of gas :—

(a) reduce any price charged by him immediately before the coming into operation of this Order ;

(b) introduce any discount or rebate not allowed by him immediately before that date ; or

(c) increase any discount or rebate allowed by him immediately before that date ; whether by altering the incidence of any such price, discount or rebate or otherwise, except :—

(i) in pursuance of Article two of the Gas Charges Order, 1947 ; or

(ii) under the authority of a permit granted by the Minister. [1649]

2. In this Order :—

"undertaker" means any person carrying on an undertaking (whether or not a public utility undertaking) involving the supply of gas to the public. [1650]

3. This Order shall come into operation on the twenty-third day of February, nineteeen hundred and forty-eight, and may be cited as the Gas Charges Order, 1948. [1651]

* * * * *

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

This Order prohibits, with respect to supplies of gas, reductions in prices, introduction of new discounts or rebates and increases of existing discounts or rebates.

GAS METER (FEES) (AMENDMENT) ORDER, 1948

May 26, 1948

The Minister of Fuel and Power in pursuance of the powers conferred upon him by section eleven of the Gas Regulation Act, 1920, and of all other powers him enabling, hereby makes the following Order :—

1. Amendment of Schedule.—The following Schedule shall be substituted for the Schedule attached to the Gas Meter (Fees) Order, 1922, as amended by the Gas Meter (Fees) (Amendment) Order, 1936 :—

For all meters with a measuring capacity up to 50 cubic feet per hour (as indicated on the meter by the maker)	1	6
For each additional 100 cubic feet or part thereof in the case of a dry meter		9
in the case of a wet meter	1	1½
For a meter which by means of a mechanism appropriate to the declared calorific value of the gas registers in terms of therms and multiples and fractions thereof, in addition to the above fees		9

[1652]

2. Commencement and Citation.—This Order shall come into operation on the first day of June, nineteen hundred and forty-eight, and may be cited as the Gas Meter (Fees) (Amendment) Order, 1948. [1653]

CASES

Factory—"Place" used for purpose other than processes carried on in factory—Gas works—Reconstruction of gas holder on site separate from gas works—Site in exclusive possession of contractors—"Article"—Coal gas—Factories Act, 1937 (c. 67), s. 151 (1) (a), (c), (xiii), (6).

A gas company carried on its undertaking on two parcels of land separated by a public road. The east site contained all the buildings, machinery and equipment necessary for the manufacture of the gas and also two gas holders, while the west site contained one gas holder only, which was connected with the main site by means of underground pipes. The gas holder on the west site was destroyed by enemy action and the connecting pipes sealed up. Contractors were employed by the gas company to reconstruct the damaged gas holder, and by the terms of the contract were given exclusive possession of the west site for the period of reconstruction. On a frosty day a steel erector in the employ of the contractors, while engaged in rivetting the framework 20 ft. above the pit, which was floored with a concrete dumpling, was in the act of moving a board, which served him as a platform, when he slipped and fell on to the concrete dumpling, thereby sustaining serious injuries. No staging or other means was provided to prevent such an accident occurring. In an action for damages the contractors and the gas company were held jointly and severally liable, the contractors for negligence at common law, and the gas company for breach of s. 26 (2) of the Factories Act, 1937. The gas company appealed:—

Held: coal gas was an "article" within s. 151 (1) (a) and (c) of the Factories Act, 1937, so that any premises in which it was made or adapted for sale were a "factory" within that Act; even if the gas holder on the west site had been part of the actual gas factory and had come within s. 151 (1) (xiii) of the Act, it had ceased to be so when the enemy destroyed it, because thereafter it neither held nor could hold gas, and a fortiori when the contractors took exclusive possession of the site; and, in any event, the gas company were protected by s. 151 (6) of the Act which provides that a place situate within the close, curtilage, or precincts forming a factory and solely used for some purpose (here, at the material date, for the purpose of engineering construction) other than the processes carried on in the factory is not to be deemed part of the factory.—COX v. CUTLER & SONS, LTD. An Act to amend the law relating to Exchequer grants to local authorities and other bodies and grants by local authorities to other local authorities or other bodies, and the law relating to rating, valuation for rating and precepts to rating authorities; to provide for payments for the benefit of local authorities by the British Transport Commission, the British Electricity Authority and the North of Scotland Hydro-Electric Board; to amend the Railway Freight Rebates Enactments, 1929 to 1943, section two hundred and eleven of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947, the law relating to the payment of expenses and other allowances to members of local authorities and other bodies and the law relating to the manner in which certain securities of local authorities and other bodies may be transferred; to extend the powers of local authorities in certain respects; and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid. [1655] [24th March 1948]

MISCELLANEOUS

* * * * *

127. Transfer to county councils of property and liabilities relating to county roads.—Where by virtue of Part III of the Local Government Act,

1929 (which relates to the vesting, repair and maintenance of county roads) and whether before or after the passing of this Act—

(a) any road within the area of a borough or urban district council has, since the appointed day for the purposes of the said Part of the said Act, become a county road and the council have not, within the time specified in the said Act, claimed to exercise the functions of maintenance and repair with respect to that road; or

(b) a borough or urban district council, having or being deemed to have claimed as aforesaid with respect to a county road in their area, have since the said appointed day relinquished the aforesaid functions with respect thereto, the borough or urban district council and the county council may agree for the transfer to the county council of such property and liabilities of the borough or urban district council relating to the road upon such terms and conditions as may be specified in the agreement. [1656]

General note.—Part VII of the Local Government Act, 1948, makes amendments to the existing law on a variety of subjects. One of these subjects is the liability for maintenance of certain highways, the provisions of Part III of the Local Government Act, 1929 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 903 et seq.), being modified so to allow agreements to be made between boroughs or urban district councils on the one hand and county councils on the other for the transfer to the latter of property and liabilities in relation to county roads on agreed terms.

Other provisions of the Local Government Act, 1948, are to be found in the titles ELECTRICITY SUPPLY and FINANCE, ante; and MEMORIALS, WAR AND OTHER; MUNICIPAL HOSPITALITY, and RATES AND RATING, post.

Local Government Act, 1929, Part III.—10 Halsbury's Statutes 903 et seq. That Part of the Act originally related both to roads and town planning, ss. 29–30 inclusive being the provisions relating to the former. The provisions of that Part relating to planning were repealed by the Town and Country Planning Act, 1932, s. 54 and Sched. V (25 Halsbury's Statutes 522, 535).

County road.—That is to say, "every road in the county which at the appointed day is a main road, or which would, apart from this section, at any time thereafter have become a main road" and "every other road as respects which a county council become by virtue of this Part of this Act the highway authority" (Local Government Act, 1929, s. 29 (1), in Part III of the said Act; 10 Halsbury's Statutes 903).

Passing of this Act.—March 24, 1948.

Borough or urban district council.—This is a reference to the Local Government Act, 1929, s. 32 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 906), which in terms relates only to urban district councils. At the time of passing of that Act, however, the term "urban district" included a borough (see the Public Health Act, 1875, s. 6; 13 Halsbury's Statutes 628; and the Local Government Act, 1894, s. 21; 10 Halsbury's Statutes 792); hence the revised wording in the present Act accords with ss. 1, 17 and 31 of the Local Government Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 306, 313, 320).

Appointed day.—April 1, 1930 (see the Local Government Act, 1929, s. 134; 10 Halsbury's Statutes 971).

Within the time specified.—See the Local Government Act, 1929, s. 32 (2) (10 Halsbury's Statutes 906), which sets out the times within which claims are to be made.

Claimed to exercise the functions.—Under s. 32 of the Local Government Act, 1929 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 906), urban districts (including boroughs; see the note, supra) with a population of over 20,000 may claim to exercise the functions of maintenance and repair of any county road within their district if their claim is made within a particular time. See also the Restriction of Ribbon Development Act, 1935, s. 18 (1) (28 Halsbury's Statutes 94).

Being deemed to have claimed.—See the Local Government Act, 1929, s. 32 (5) (10 Halsbury's Statutes 908).

Relinquished the aforesaid functions.—See the Local Government Act, 1929, s. 32 (4) (10 Halsbury's Statutes 907). Such relinquishment can only take effect with the consent of the county council.

CASES

Highways—Planting of trees—Branches allowed to overhang carriage way—Injury to passenger in passing omnibus—Liability of highway authority—"Reasonable use" of highway—Roads Improvement Act, 1925 (c. 68), s. 1 (1), (2).

Where a highway authority has caused trees to be planted in a highway under the powers given by the Roads Improvement Act, 1925, s. 1 (1), it has a duty under s. 1 (2) of the Act not to allow the branches of a tree in their natural growth to stretch out over the roadway so as "to hinder the reasonable use of the highway by any person entitled to the use thereof," and, if an accident occurs as a result of a collision between the overhanging branches and a vehicle making a reasonable use of the highway, the highway authority is liable. In the absence of any reason to suspect danger from an overhanging tree or some similar obstruction, a driver who is driving close to the kerb when his vehicle is struck by a branch of the tree is not making an unreasonable use of the highway within the meaning of the Act.—HALE v. HANTS AND DORSET MOTOR SERVICES, LTD., [1947] 2 All E. R. 628; 112 J. P. 47; 92 Sol. Jo. 26; 46 L. G. R. 55, C. A. [1659]

Highways—Obstruction—Air-raid shelter—Street lighting obscured—Lamp on shelter unlit—Liability of local authority.

A motor cyclist driving along a street at night collided with the corner of an air raid shelter and was killed. The shelter jutted six feet into the roadway and although the road was lighted, the shelter had been constructed so close to a street lamp that a shadow was thrown which obscured the projecting corner. The corner was fitted with a red lamp which was strongly protected from interference, but on the night of the accident it was extinguished. The defendants, who were responsible for the shelter, were aware that the lamp was frequently not alight owing to interference by unauthorised persons, but inspections were not satisfactorily carried out, despite the fact that several accidents had occurred in the same place:—

Held: the existence of normal street lighting did not absolve the defendants from their duty to ensure that the shelter was so illuminated or otherwise distinguished that it would not be a danger to users of the highway.

Jo. 41; 46 L. G. R. 136. [1660]

A pedestrian walking along a pavement, or crossing a road on which there is no traffic and taking a step to get on the kerb, is not obliged to keep his eyes on the ground to see whether or not there is any obstacle in his path.

The plaintiff, a pedlar, left his barrow against the kerb on one side of a road to serve a customer on the other side. While doing so he was hailed by a customer at the barrow and re-crossed the road to serve that customer. In getting on to the kerb he tripped over a small pile of slates which did not overtop the kerb and which he had not previously seen. The slates had been left, for collection, by the defendants, who were engaged in demolishing and repairing war damaged property. There was no evidence that the work could not be carried on unless the debris could be put out in the street to be collected:—

Held: (i) while the pile of slates could not be said to cause an obstruction in the sense of preventing or impeding the flow of traffic or the passage of pedestrians the maxim de minimis non curat lex did not apply, and the slates constituted a nuisance.

(ii) a normally careful pedestrian might well overlook such a heap of debris, and the plaintiff was not guilty of contributory negligence.

Principles laid down in Harper v. Haden (G. N.) & Sons, [1933] Ch. 298, not applied.—ALMEROTH v. CHIVERS & SONS, LTD., [1948] 1 All E. R. 53; 92 Sol. Jo. 71, C. A. [1661]

Highways—Offence—Pitching stall—Sale of ice-cream from van—Highway Act, 1835 (c. 50), s. 72.

The appellant was convicted before a court of summary jurisdiction with, being a "person travelling," having pitched a stall on the highway, contrary to s. 72 of the Highway Act, 1835. The appellant was a partner in a firm of ice-cream makers, and on the day in question he stopped a van which he was driving on the highway and sold ice cream from it to purchasers:—

Held: while in certain circumstances a motor van might properly be found to be a "stall," it could not be said that the appellant had "pitched" his van on the highway when he stopped it, and, therefore, he had been wrongly convicted.—DIVITO v. STICKINGS, [1948] 1 All E. R. 207; [1948] L. J. R. 1079; 112 J. P. 166; 64 T. L. R. 92; 92 Sol. Jo. 142; 46 L. G. R. 151. [1662]

Nuisance—Premises adjoining highway—Coke ovens—Smoke and steam escaping across highway.

The second defendants owned and operated coke ovens situate fifty yards away from a road. The process of manufacturing coke involved the production at intervals of clouds of smoke and steam which, under certain conditions of wind and weather, passed low over the road so as to obscure the view of passengers thereon. While one of these clouds was so passing a collision occurred between a motor car and a motor omnibus driven by a servant of the first defendants, both of which vehicles were travelling along the road, two passengers in the car sustaining fatal injuries. It was found that the omnibus was being driven negligently at the time of the accident:—

Held: the discharge of smoke and steam across the road on the occasion of the accident was a nuisance caused by the second defendants, and the second defendants were also guilty of negligence in not posting a man at each end of the area affected to warn approaching vehicles as soon as a discharge was imminent.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS (MEDICAL SUPPLIES) ORDER, 1947

November 13, 1947

His Majesty, in exercise of the powers conferred on him by subsection (1) of section 1 of the Ministers of the Crown (Transfer of Functions) Act, 1946, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered as follows :—

1. Short title, interpretation and commencement.—(1) This Order may be cited as the Transfer of Functions (Medical Supplies) Order, 1947.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies for the interpretation of this Order as it applies for the interpretation of an Act of Parliament.

(3) This Order shall come into operation on the first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-seven. [1664]

2. Transfer to Minister of Health of certain functions of Minister of Supply under Ministry of Supply Act, 1939.—There are hereby transferred to the Minister of Health the functions of the Minister of Supply under sections two, four and five of the Ministry of Supply Act, 1939, as amended by any subsequent enactment exercisable by the Minister of Supply immediately before the coming into operation of this Order, in relation to articles of any description falling within the Schedule to this Order.

Provided that this Article shall not transfer any of the said functions—

(a) under the said section two in so far as their exercise is ancillary only to the exercise of the functions of the Minister of Supply under the said section two which are retained by him,

(b) under the said sections four and five in so far as those functions are exercisable in relation to articles which in the opinion of the Minister of Supply are, or are likely to be, required for or in connection with the production or use of atomic energy or research into any matter connected therewith, or any functions conferred on the Minister of Supply by subsection (1) of section six of the Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945, for securing the orderly disposal of surplus material. [1665]

3. Transfer to Minister of Health of certain functions of Board of Trade under the Transfer of Functions (Various Commodities) Order, 1946.—There are hereby transferred to the Minister of Health the functions transferred to the Board of Trade by the Transfer of Functions (Various Commodities) Order, 1946, in relation to Sanitary towels. [1666]

4. Consequential provisions.—(1) Any enactment in force immediately before the coming into operation of this Order relating to the acquisition of land by the Minister of Supply or the Board of Trade under the Defence Acts shall with the necessary modifications apply, for the purposes only of the functions transferred by Articles 2 and 3 of this Order, to the acquisition of land by the Minister of Health.

(2) In the last foregoing paragraph the expression "Defence Acts" means any of the provisions of the Defence Acts, 1842 to 1935 as amended, extended or applied by or under any enactment, and includes the provisions of section seven of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts Amendment Act, 1860, and of section seven of the Militia (Lands and Buildings) Act, 1873.

(3) There are hereby transferred to the Minister of Health all property and rights held or enjoyed by the Minister of Supply or the Board of Trade immediately before the coming into operation of this Order in connection with any of the functions thereby transferred, and all liabilities then incumbent on the Minister of Supply and the said Board in connection with any of those functions.

(4) In the construction and for the purposes of any judgment, decree, order, award, deed, contract, regulation, byelaw, certificate or other document made before the coming into operation of this Order, any reference to, or which is to be construed as a reference to, the Minister of Supply or his officers or Department, or to the Board of Trade or the Board's officers or Department shall, so far only as may be necessary for the purpose or in consequence of the transfer of functions effected by this Order, be construed as a reference to the Minister of Health or his officers or Department.

(5) The transfer of functions effected by this Order shall not prejudice the operation of any order, regulation, rule, appointment, direction, instruction, approval, requirement or authorisation made or given or other thing done by the Minister of Supply or the Board of Trade in relation to the functions transferred by this Order and before the coming into operation thereof, but any such matter shall, if then in force, continue in force to the like extent and subject to the like provisions as if it had been duly made, given or done by the Minister of Health.

(6) Anything commenced before the coming into operation of this Order by or under the authority of the Minister of Supply or the Board of Trade may, so far as it relates to any functions transferred by this Order, be carried on or completed by or under the authority of the Minister of Health.

(7) Where at the coming into operation of this Order any legal proceeding is pending to which the Minister of Supply or the Board of Trade is a party and the proceeding has reference to any of the functions transferred by this Order, the Minister of Health shall be substituted in the proceeding for the Minister of Supply or the Board of Trade as the case may be, and the proceeding shall not abate by reason of the substitution.

(8) Nothing in the foregoing provisions of this Article shall affect any estate or interest in land or any contract relating to the use of land. [1667]

EXPIRING LAWS CONTINUANCE ACT, 1947

(11 Geo. 6, c. 1)

PRELIMINARY NOTE

This Act, which received the Royal Assent on December 10, 1947, continues in force for a further period of one year (in one case for six months) a number of enactments which would otherwise expire on various dates.

The enactments specified in Part I of the Schedule, which were limited to expire on December 31, 1947, are continued in force until December 31, 1948, these enactments including the Furnished Houses (Rent Control) Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 288) which, by s. 13 (3) thereof, would otherwise have come to an end.

The last previous Act of this nature was the Expiring Laws Continuance Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 790). [1670]

An Act to continue certain expiring laws. [1671] [10th December, 1947.]

1. Continuance of Acts in Schedule.—(1) The Acts mentioned in Parts I and III of the Schedule to this Act shall, to the extent specified in column three of those Parts, be continued until the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-eight. [1672]

(2) The Act mentioned in Part II of the Schedule to this Act shall, to the extent specified in column three of that Part, be continued until the thirty-first day of March, nineteen hundred and forty-nine. [1673]

(3) Any unrepealed enactments which are temporary in their duration shall, in so far as they amend or affect any enactment continued by the foregoing provisions of this Act, be continued in like manner as that enactment whether they are mentioned in the Schedule to this Act or not. [1674]

2. Short title and application to Northern Ireland.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Expiring Laws Continuance Act, 1947. [1675]

(2) This Act shall apply to Northern Ireland in so far as it deals with any enactment relating to a subject with respect to which the Parliament of Northern Ireland has not power to make laws, but, save, as hereinbefore provided, shall not apply to Northern Ireland. [1676]

HOUSING (TEMPORARY ACCOMMODATION) ACT, 1947

PRELIMINARY NOTE

This Act is subsidiary to the Housing (Temporary Accommodation) Act, 1944 (37 Halsbury's Statutes 413), s. 1 of which empowered the Minister of Health to make temporary houses available to local authorities by arrangement made by him with the Minister of Works for the manufacture or construction of such houses and for their erection on land owned by the local authorities. Under s. 8 (1) of that Act, the Treasury were empowered to issue out of the Consolidated Fund sums not exceeding £150,000,000 to defray the expenses of the Minister of Works in the above connection, but that sum proved insufficient for completion of the programme, chiefly because the costs of production proved to be higher than was originally estimated, and the maximum sum was therefore increased by s. 5 of the Building Materials and Housing Act, 1945 (38 Halsbury's Statutes 373), to £200,000,000. Even this sum, however, proved insufficient and s. 1 of the present Act increases it to £220,000,000. Some part of the sum expended on temporary houses will be recouped to the Exchequer through the annual payments made by local authorities to the Minister of Health (see ss. 3 (1), 8 (6) of the Act of 1944; 37 Halsbury's Statutes 415, 419), and through the proceeds of sale of materials when the temporary houses are taken down (see ss. 2, 8 (5) of the Act of 1944; 37 Halsbury's Statutes 414, 419). [1678]

An Act to increase the sums available for defraying expenses incurred by the Minister of Works under section one of the Housing (Temporary Accommodation) Act, 1944. [1679] [10th December, 1947.]

1. Increase of sums available for defraying expenses of Minister of Works under section 1 of Housing (Temporary Accommodation) Act, 1944.—The limit upon the sums which the Treasury may issue out of the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom for the purpose of defraying expenses incurred by the Minister of Works in connection with the manufacture, construction or erection of structures under arrangements made with him by the Minister of Health or the Secretary of State under section one of the Housing (Temporary Accommodation) Act, 1944, shall be increased by twenty million pounds; and accordingly in subsection (1) of section eight of that Act, as amended by section five of the Building Materials and Housing Act, 1945, for the words "two hundred million pounds" there shall be substituted the words "two hundred and twenty million pounds". [1680]

Housing (Temporary Accommodation) Act, 1944, ss. 1, 8 (1).—37 Halsbury's Statutes 414, 418.

Building Materials and Housing Act, 1945, s. 5.—38 Halsbury's Statutes 373.

2. Short title and extent.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Housing (Temporary Accommodation) Act, 1947. [1681]

(2) This Act shall not extend to Northern Ireland. [1682]

ORDERS, CIRCULARS AND MEMORANDA

Circular 155/47

MINISTRY OF HEALTH,
WHITEHALL,
LONDON, S.W.1.
9th October, 1947

To: Rural District Councils (and selected Urban Housing Authorities) (England), County Councils (for information)

SIR,

RURAL HOUSING

ALLOCATION OF TENANCIES

I am directed by the Minister of Health to enclose for the early consideration of the Council a copy of a Memorandum on the subject of the allocation of tenancies of Council houses during the present period of emergency. The Memorandum has been prepared jointly with the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries and in consultation with the Rural District Councils' Association and representative organisations of employers and workers in the agricultural industry.

I am to emphasise what is said in the Memorandum as to the responsibility for the selection of tenants, which rests upon the local housing authority. The object of the procedure outlined in the Memorandum is, however, to ensure that during the present emergency the largest possible number of houses will be allocated to the agricultural population in order to assist in achieving the extended food production essential to national economic recovery. This procedure entails the closest possible liaison between local housing authorities and County Agricultural Executive Committees, and the Minister confidently relies upon the willing co-operation of the Council in carrying it out.

The Minister recognises that in certain districts local authorities will have to cater for the essential housing needs of miners in addition to those of agricultural workers. The Government have decided that an equal measure of priority should be accorded to the housing needs of these two groups. In such districts the Council, in considering the allocation of tenancies as between miners and agricultural workers, will no doubt be guided by all the relevant circumstances.

I am, Sir, etc.

* * * * *

The Clerk to the Authority.

HOUSES FOR THE AGRICULTURAL POPULATION

ALLOCATION OF TENANCIES

1. In view of the vital importance of increased home food production to the national economy it is urgently necessary to increase the numbers of men employed in agriculture and to do all that is possible to retain those now employed in the industry. As local authorities are aware, this need has been emphasised in recent public statements made by the Prime Minister on the Government's proposals for meeting the present economic crisis.

2. It has long been recognised that housing conditions are one of the most important factors in the retention and recruitment of agricultural labour.

3. Arrangements are now being worked out for giving special emphasis and assistance to the completion of houses under erection in rural districts for occupation by agricultural workers, and for considering application for authority to go to tender for new houses in the light of the pressing needs of agriculture for more workers. Inquiries are being made through County Agricultural Executive Committees as to the areas of greatest need and the extent to which these needs are covered by current housing programmes, or how far additional building is required. In the meantime Housing Authorities will wish to have immediate guidance on the Government's wishes as to the letting of houses in agricultural districts in connection with those houses which are now nearing completion.

4. The responsibility for selecting tenants and fixing rents is placed by statute on the shoulders of local housing authorities. There is no intention of interfering with the discretion of local authorities on this important and difficult matter. None the less at the present time when owing to economic circumstances, the letting of fresh contracts is restricted, it is necessary for the Government to ensure that in the national interest labour and materials are used and priorities are given for the erection of houses in such a way as to secure the maximum benefit to agriculture and to industries ancillary thereto.

5. It was with this object in view that arrangements were initiated in January, 1946, for consultation in regard to housing between Rural District Councils and County Agricultural Executive Committees, so as to provide for the guidance of the Rural District Councils information as to the localities in which there existed a need for additional accommodation for the agricultural population in the interests of home food production.

It is important that this consultation should be intensified and in particular, under the arrangements set out below, that County Agricultural Executive Committees should now give positive help to Housing Authorities by putting them in touch with potential recruits to agriculture from outside the district who might be considered for tenancies of new local authority houses. In many areas agriculture can only achieve the increased production required if the local labour force is augmented by recruits brought into the industry from outside, and these recruits will only be obtained if accommodation can be found for them in the district.

County Agricultural Executive Committees will be able to obtain from farmers information as to the number of new workers they would wish to employ if accommodation were available and the approximate dates when they wish to employ them. This information will be passed on to the Rural District Council, to facilitate the planning of the house building programme so as to ensure that the scale and extent of the agricultural needs are taken fully into account.

6. Some of the men to be employed will be single men : for these accommodation on the farm or in lodgings will be required. It will be very helpful if the Rural District Council can encourage their tenants to take in agricultural workers as lodgers when they have spare rooms. The temporary needs of some married agricultural workers who have no children may also be capable of being met in this way.

7. Families whose needs can be met only by a separate house and who are either already living or working in the district or who have a firm offer of employment in the district will no doubt for the most part make application to the local authority for the tenancy of a Council house. Agricultural workers and their families living in the district who have an established need for better accommodation will naturally have first call on new houses provided for such workers. It may well be found, however, in many districts that applications from agricultural workers are relatively few, and that a proportion of the houses required for such workers will need to be allocated to recruits coming from outside the district. In districts where the needs of increased food production call for an increase in the number of agricultural workers and such workers can be obtained if accommodation is available, it is important that all practicable arrangements should be made to facilitate a movement of labour which is of such importance in the national interest. In particular, families from outside the district will be unable to apply for a house in a particular parish until they have an offer of employment in that parish, and it is therefore desirable that C.A.E.C's should be notified well in advance of houses for the tenancies of which applications from outside the district can be considered. In these circumstances Rural District Councils will, it is hoped, make their procedure sufficiently flexible to provide for the letting of houses in suitable cases to agricultural workers not already resident in the district and whose names will not, therefore, already appear on the books of the Council.

8. The following procedure is suggested in such circumstances :—

(1) The C.A.E.C. will, as indicated in paragraph 5, have obtained information from farmers as to the additional workers they require and the dates they require them. The Committee will also be in possession of lists of trainees and the dates when they will have completed their training and be seeking farm work, and will have passed this information on to the local authority.

(2) The local authority should notify the C.A.E.C. when a contract is let for the erection of houses in a parish in which they have been informed that additional agricultural workers are required, and approximately when they expect to be considering applications for the tenancies of those houses. They should also endeavour to give the C.A.E.C. an idea, at least two, and preferably three, months before the houses are ready for occupation, of the number of tenancies which they will be able to allocate to workers from outside the district.

(3) The C.A.E.C. will then obtain the names and full particulars of the individual workers concerned, including such details of their family circumstances as may be required by the Housing Authority for assessment of their housing need. The authority should be consulted as to the precise details that will require to be supplied by the C.A.E.C. to enable preliminary consideration to be given to the matter. This information should be supplied sufficiently in advance of the time when applications for tenancies are being considered by the authority to enable them to make any further enquiries from the worker himself which they may consider necessary. The timing can best be settled informally between the C.A.E.C. and the Rural District Council.

(4) Figures indicating the number of workers for whom employment in the district with farmers would be available, subject to accommodation being provided, should be kept fully up to date by C.A.E.C. They should also notify the Rural District Council if any individual applicant whose name has been submitted by them to the Rural District Council falls out and, where possible, should submit an alternative name.

The detailed procedure may, of course, be varied to suit the requirements of different districts, but it is hoped that there will be the fullest co-operation between C.A.E.C's and Rural District Councils in order to secure the desired results by whatever means are found mutually convenient.

9. The preceding paragraphs have dealt in some detail with the particular problem of fitting into the housing programme some arrangements to provide for the needs of those who have to move into a particular district if food production is to be expanded. There remains the larger and more general problem of the help which can be given by Rural District Councils in the discharge of their functions as Housing Authorities to maintain food production by the allocation to agricultural workers of houses as they are completed. The financial arrangements in the Housing Act had provided for an increased Exchequer subsidy and a lower rate contribution for houses occupied by agricultural workers. This does not, of course, mean that particular houses are earmarked for agricultural workers, but that the special rates of contribution will be payable in respect of the number of houses certified to be occupied by agricultural workers. Applications for houses must be considered by the local authority with a due regard to the housing needs of the various applicants, and even in the most agricultural districts a proportion of the houses will properly be let to other workers. Nevertheless in a large number of rural districts agriculture is so much the predominant industry that a large proportion of the houses should properly be let to agricultural workers, and such lettings will be of great benefit to increased food production. It is suggested that, without making any rigid rules, and consistently with the need to consider the circumstances of individual applicants, each Rural District Council might well have in mind some proportion of houses to be so occupied based on the part at present played by agriculture in their district and any programme for increased production. [1683]

SIR,

REQUISITIONING OF UNOCCUPIED HOUSES

I am directed by the Minister of Health to refer to Circular 178/47 and to say that he does not propose to renew, after the 30th June, 1948, the powers delegated to Clerks of local authorities in Part II of Circular 138/45, as amended by Circulars 5/46 and 141/46. After the 30th June, if it is proposed to requisition an unoccupied house, you should apply to the Minister's Principal Housing Officer who, if he is satisfied that the application should be granted, will issue a delegation authorising you to requisition the particular premises. The delegation will include a statement of the conditions subject to which it is issued. These conditions will be, generally, those already set out in the existing Circulars governing the requisitioning of unoccupied houses. In applying for any delegation in respect of particular premises, you should, of course, include full particulars concerning the premises, and the circumstances in which the delegation is desired. SIR,

HOUSING (FINANCIAL AND MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS) ACT, 1946 REVIEW OF CONTRIBUTIONS

I am directed by the Minister of Health to refer to Circular 116/47 dated 30th June, 1947, regarding the contributions payable under the above-mentioned Act, and to state that the further review mentioned in the second paragraph of the Circular has been made, and that the Minister has now presented a further report to Parliament.

In the report it is stated that, having regard to the increase since 1st January, 1948, in the rate of interest charged for loans, to the latest figures of tender prices and to some preliminary figures of the final costs of houses which were tendered for in 1946, it would appear that the cost of building the 950 sq. ft. standard house will be higher than was estimated at the time when the original contributions were fixed. Accordingly, after consultation with representatives of the Associations of Local Authorities, the Minister has come to the conclusion that he would not be justified in making an order reducing the level of contributions, and that they should remain as at present in respect of houses completed before 30th June, 1949.

Subject, therefore, to the provisions of the Act, contributions of the amounts specified in the Act will be payable in respect of new houses completed before 30th June, 1949.

I am to add that the Minister on a broad view regards the loss to local authorities arising out of the higher current figures as offset for the time being by the lower charges over the last two years or so, and considers that they should look for relief in lower building prices. If, however, loan charges do not fall and the load on local authorities in respect of new houses remains substantially in excess of the original estimate, he will re-examine the position with them.

A copy of this Circular is enclosed for the information of the Chief Financial Officer. [1686]

I am, Sir, etc.

In the case of dwellings for the working classes provided by a local authority, the right of management, including the right to terminate a tenancy by notice, is a power which is expressly given to the authority by the Housing Act, 1936, s. 83, and it is, therefore, a power under an " enactment relating to the housing of the working classes " within the meaning of s. 156 (1) (a) of the Act, so as to exclude the operation of the Rent Restrictions Acts where the authority is seeking to recover possession at the termination of a tenancy.

R. v. Snell, Ex parte Marylebone Borough Council, [1942] 2 K. B. 137, at p. 144 ; [1942] 1 All E. R. 612, at p. 614, criticised.

The power to stay or suspend execution of an order for possession under the Increase of Rent and Mortgage Interest (Restrictions) Act, 1920, s. 5 (2), is a power which affects the right to possession and is among the provisions of the Rent Restrictions Acts excluded by s. 156 (1) of the Housing Act, 1936.

Semble : s. 5 (4) of the Act of 1920 does not give the county court judge power to postpone the operation of an order for possession but merely extends the life of a warrant for delivery of possession so as to cover the period of suspension given by s. 5 (2) of the Act.

Semble : the language of the Small Tenements Recovery Act, 1838, s. 1, whereby justices are given power to make an order for possession if the tenant fails to show " reasonable cause why possession should not be given under the provisions of this Act," refers not to the substance of a claim for possession but to the procedure, and merely entitles a tenant to ask that the case shall not be dealt with by the justices where he can satisfy them that summary procedure is not suitable, and it does not entitle the justices to refuse to make an order e.g., on the ground of hardship.

Landlord and tenant—Rent restrictions—" Bona fide let at rent which includes payments in respect of attendance or use of furniture "—" Attendance " —" Furniture "—" Amount fairly attributable to attendance or use of furniture " —" Substantial portion " of " whole rent "—Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1923 (c. 32), s. 10 (1) (as amended by Sched. I to the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1939)—Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1939 (c. 71), s. 3 (2) (b).

By the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1939, s. 3 : " (2) The principal Acts shall not, by virtue of this section, apply . . . (b) save as is expressly provided in the said Acts, as amended by virtue of this section, to any dwelling-house bona fide let at a rent which includes payments in respect of board, attendance or use of furniture. . . ." By the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1923, s. 10 (as amended by Sched. I to the Act of 1939) : " (1) For the purposes of s. 3 (2) (b) of the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1939 . . . a dwelling-house shall not be deemed to be bona fide let at a rent which includes payments in respect of attendance or the use of furniture unless the amount of rent which is fairly attributable to the attendance or the use of the furniture, regard being had to the value of the same to the tenant, forms a substantial portion of the whole rent."

In the phrase " bona fide let at a rent which includes payments in respect of board, attendance or use of furniture," " bona fide " governs all the words which follow and the phrase amounts to a stipulation that the rent to be paid genuinely includes payments in respect of board, attendance or use of furniture.

" Attendance " means service personal to the tenant performed by an attendant provided by the landlord in accordance with his covenant for the benefit or convenience of the individual tenant in his use or enjoyment of the demised premises. Services common to others (e.g., heating of communal water supply or the provision of a porter or a housekeeper for a block of flats) will not constitute attendance, but a covenant by the landlord to supply someone to carry coals up to a flat or refuse down from it, or to provide a house-maid or valet to discharge duties in connection with the flat, is a covenant to provide attendance.

Dictum of Lord GREENE, M.R., in Engvall v. Ideal Flats, Ltd., [1945] K. B. 205; [1945] 1 All E. R. 230, approved.

A tenant who has contracted to pay rent for attendance which the landlord covenants to supply cannot reduce the proportion of the rent fairly attributable to such attendance by saying that, though he is entitled to have it, he does not want it.

" Furniture " has a statutory meaning which cannot be extended by a stipulation in the lease, and consists of articles in which the landlord has a proprietary interest. They must be commonly regarded as " furniture," and loose articles so regarded will be within the statutory meaning. If, however, the articles are fixed to the fabric of the demised premises, they should be regarded as part thereof unless they can be detached without appreciable damage to or alteration of the fabric or themselves. " Use of furniture " in s. 10 (1) of the Act of 1923 refers to articles provided solely for the use or enjoyment of the dwelling in question. Articles provided in common halls for the use of all the tenants in a block of flats are excluded.

In the phrase " amount of rent which is fairly attributable to attendance or the use of furniture, regard being had to the value of the same to the tenant," the words " amount of rent " are equivalent to " the portion of the whole rent," and the words " of the same " refer to the attendance or to the use of furniture or to both when both are provided. " Tenant " refers to the actual tenant whose lease is under examination, not to the average or normal tenant of that class of property. The judge of fact should take the furniture in the state that it is, and fix a fair rental for it having regard to its value to the tenant, but such value is not to govern the calculation absolutely. " The amount of rent fairly attributable " is not necessarily the amount actually attributed in the lease. It will depend on a number of considerations of which the chief is that, if and so far as the landlord does not provide furniture which the tenant would normally require to use, the tenant would have to provide it himself. It is the value to the tenant of the landlord's covenant which mainly controls the figure to be arrived at, and not the cost of the furniture to the landlord, although the latter may also be relevant.

What is a " substantial portion " of the whole rent must be left to the discretion of the judge of fact in each case, the onus being on the landlord. It must be a considerable part of the whole contractual rent, i.e., more than just enough to avoid the de minimis principle. Where payments are made both in respect of attendance and of the use of furniture, the better construction of s. 10 (1) of the Act of 1923 appears to be that the payments should be added together to determine whether the total forms a " substantial portion " of the whole rent.

" Whole rent " means the entire contractual rent payable by the tenant including the rates if the landlord pays them.

Landlord and tenant—Recovery of possession—Costs—Action in High Court —House within Rent Restrictions Acts—Acts not pleaded in defence—Increase of Rent and Mortgage Interest (Restrictions) Act, 1920 (c. 17), s. 17 (2).

A landlord brought an action for possession of a dwelling-house subject to the Rent Restrictions Acts, on the ground of breach, by the tenant, of a covenant not to sub-let. The tenant was unable to claim the protection of the Acts, which were not pleaded :—

Held: the action was a common law action and not a proceeding " arising out of " the Act of 1920, or " any of the provisions thereof," within the meaning of s. 17 (2), and, therefore, the landlord was not precluded by that subsection from being awarded costs.—JOSLOWITZ v. BURSTEIN, [1948] 1 K. B. 408 ; [1948] 1 All E. R. 40 ; 64 T. L. R. 113. [1689]

Landlord and tenant—Rent restriction—Possession—Short tenancy—House rendered uninhabitable by bombing—Notice to tenant to quit before rebuilding completed—Right of tenant to occupy rebuilt house—Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1939 (c. 71), s. 3 (3)—Landlord and Tenant (War Damage) (Amendment) Act, 1941 (c. 41), s. 1 (6).

On June 24, 1940, the landlords let to the tenant a dwelling-house at a weekly rental. On March 8, 1941, the house was damaged by enemy action and rendered unsafe for habitation and the tenant vacated the premises, but no notices under the Landlord and Tenant (War Damage) Acts were served. Later, the house, except for the foundations, was demolished by the local authority, and in due course there began on the site the construction of a house similar in all respects to the old house, although new materials were employed. On June 10, 1947, the landlords served a valid notice on the tenant to quit on June 21, 1947. The tenant claimed that, on the expiration of the notice, he became a statutory tenant under the Rent Restrictions Acts, and sought a declaration that when the house, which was in the course of construction on the site, was completed, he would be entitled to occupy it :—

Held : (i) the house in the course of erection was not the same house as that which had been damaged by enemy action.

(ii) there could not be read into the Landlord and Tenant (War Damage) (Amendment) Act, 1941, s. 1 (6), a provision that, where property has suffered war damage, the landlord could not determine a short tenancy without satisfying the court that the circumstances are such as to justify him in determining the tenancy.

(iii) the protection of the Rent Restrictions Acts was not applied by the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1939, s. 3 (3), to the site of a dwelling-house which had ceased to exist.

(iv) on the day before the notice to quit expired the tenant was not tenant of a dwelling-house let as a separate dwelling which was at that date being used and occupied as a dwelling-house, and, therefore, on the expiration of the notice, the tenant had no claim to occupy the premises then or at any future time.

A farmer required a stockman employed by him to live in a house on the farm, free of rent and rates, for the proper performance of his duties :—

Held : the holding being a service occupancy by leave and licence of the farmer, there was no tenancy in respect of which an order for possession could be made under the Small Tenements Recovery Act, 1838, s. 1.

Housing—Purchase price—Limitation—House constructed under building licence—House, garden and approach to garage shown on plan—Sale of house and garden for licensed price, but extra sum charged for approach—Building Materials and Housing Act, 1945 (c. 20), s. 7 (1), (3).

In granting to the appellants a building licence, the local authority fixed the price at which the house might be sold at £1,140. The plan, which was required to be submitted to the authority with the application for the licence, was a block plan, and, in the case of the house in question, it showed a plot of land bearing on it a house with a garden in front of and behind it and a strip of land on one side leading to a part of the garden on which a garage could be built. The appellants sold the house together with all the land comprised in the plot, as marked on the plan, for £1,200, the agreement of sale stating that the price of the house and garden was £1,140 and the price of the extra strip of land was £60. Where a house has been constructed under the authority of a building licence which has limited the price for which the house may be sold, it is an offence against the Building Materials and Housing Act, 1945, s. 7 (1), to sell, or offer to sell, the house within four years for a price greater than the permitted price :—

Held : the house was sold for a consideration which consisted of something other than the payment of a money price for the house (i.e., the purchase of the additional land) and the total value of the consideration which was required to be taken as the price under s. 7 (3) of the Building Materials and Housing Act, 1945, was £1,200. There had, therefore, been a breach of the condition of the licence contrary to s. 7 (1) of the Act.—MODERN HOUSING (LEICESTER), LTD. v. GUNNING, [1948] 1 All E. R. 784 ; 112 J. P. 248 ; 64 T. L. Rent control—Furnished letting—" Furniture "—Electric clock—Curtains—Gas cooker—Ascot water heater—Furnished Houses (Rent Control) Act, 1946 (c. 34), s. 2 (1).

In an application to a rent tribunal for a reduction of his rent under the Furnished Houses (Rent Control) Act, 1946, s. 2 (1), the tenant of a flat set out, as the furniture in the flat, curtains in two rooms (which were supplied by the landlord because he wanted uniformity of appearance in the block of flats), a gas cooker and an electric clock. The flat also contained an Ascot water heater which was the property of the landlord. There was no reference to any of these articles in the tenancy agreement :—

Held : as regards the clock and the curtains, the principle de minimis applied ; the cooker and Ascot heater were both part of the ordinary equipment of a dwelling-house ; the flat, therefore, was not let " in consideration of a rent which includes payment for the use of furniture " within s. 2 (1) ; and the tribunal had no jurisdiction to entertain the tenant's application.

B. 60, which had to do with premises let at a rent which included payment for services, the court laid down that the only question was whether the tenant was contractually entitled to receive the services from the landlord, and not whether the landlord, in fact, supplied the same as a matter of grace or convenience. It is possible that different considerations apply in a case where a letting is alleged to be with furniture. The landlord, merely by omitting all reference to furniture in the tenancy agreement, cannot prevent the rent tribunal acquiring jurisdiction if, in fact, what is let is a house " in consideration of a rent which includes payment for the use of furniture."—R. v. BLACKPOOL RENT TRIBUNAL, Ex parte ASHTON, [1948] 2 K. B. 277; [1948] 1 All E. R. 900; 112 J. P. 308; 64 T. L. R. 338; 92 Sol. Jo. 350; 46 L. G. R. 318. [1693]

In considering whether, for the purposes of the Increase of Rent and Mortgage Interest (Restrictions) Act, 1920, s. 12 (2) (i) (as amended by the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1923, s. 10 (1)), the rent attributable to the use of furniture forms a substantial portion of the total rent, the date on which to compare the rent so attributable with the total rent is that on which the original contract of tenancy is made.—JOZWIAK v. HIEROWSKI, [1948] 2 All E. Housing—Working classes—"Insanitary" house—"Fit for human habitation"—General standard in district—Hot water system out of order—Other facilities for heating water—Housing Act, 1936 (c. 51), ss. 9 (1), 188 (4).

A local authority, pursuant to s. 9 (1) of the Housing Act, 1936, served a notice on the owner of a house suitable for occupation by persons of the working classes within s. 9 (1) requiring him to execute certain work in connection with the hot water system in the house. On appeal to the county court the judge found, inter alia, that the hot water system worked by an Ideal boiler was at all material times out of order, but that the house had running water and a gas cooking stove and that gas and electricity were laid on. He also found that 25 per cent. of comparable houses in the district had no hot water system. On those facts he held that the absence of a domestic hot water system did not constitute the house "unfit for human habitation" within the meaning of s. 9 (1) of the Act, having regard, as required by s. 188 (4) of the Act, to the general standard of accommodation for working classes in the district:—

Held: the judge was not bound by the particular proportion which houses of a certain standard in the district bore to houses of a lower standard to say that the house was not up to the general standard, since s. 188 (4) of the Act did not lay down that exclusive regard must be had to that factor, and, there being no dichotomy between houses which were up to the general standard, on the one hand, and houses which were unfit for human habitation, on the other, it did not follow that a house was unfit for human habitation because it was below the general standard, and the judge was, therefore, right in his conclusion.—DALY v. ELSTREE RURAL DISTRICT COUNCIL, [1948] 2 All E. R. 13; 112 J. P. 316; 64 T. L. R. 318; 92 Sol. Jo. 335; 46 L. G. R. 254, C. A. [1695]

Housing—Registration of living accommodation—Exclusion of Rent Restrictions Acts—Householder not in physical occupation of premises at date of registration—Relative dates of letting and registration—Defence (General) Regulations, 1939 (S. R. & O., 1939, No. 927) (as amended by S. R. & O., 1945, No. 1452, and S. R. & O., 1945, No. 1622), reg. 68*CB* (1), (6).

On February 14, 1946, the owner of premises, who was contemplating going abroad, made a provisional agreement, which was not intended to be binding until she received an appointment to employment abroad, to let a part of her premises to the tenant for occupation as a dwelling-house. On February 22, 1946, the owner registered that part of the premises with the local housing authority, under the Defence (General) Regulations, 1939, reg. 68CB (added by S. R. & O., 1945, No. 1452), as living accommodation available for occupation by tenants or lodgers. At that date the only physical occupation which the owner had of the premises was that the rooms other than those registered contained her furniture. Subsequently, she obtained her appointment, and the tenant went into occupation of the rooms. The owner, having served a valid notice to quit, now sought possession of the part of the premises so let, but the tenant claimed the protection of the Rent Restrictions Acts. Regulation 68CB provides: "(1) Where a local housing authority have established a register for the purposes of this regulation, any person having in any dwelling in the area of the authority occupied by him living accommodation which he is willing to make available . . . for occupation by tenants or lodgers, may apply to the authority for registration of the accommodation . . . (6) No accommodation registered for the purposes of this regulation which has been let in accordance with the registered terms and conditions shall, as respects that letting, be treated as a dwelling-house to which the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Acts, 1920 to 1939, apply . . ." :—

Held: (i) at the time of the registration the owner had a sufficient occupation of the premises to allow of registration under reg. 68CB, for the word "occupied" in para. (1) of the regulation related to the kind of occupation which was required for rating purposes and not to the physical occupation which was required in the case of a tenant claiming the protection of the Rent Restrictions Acts.

(ii) since the binding agreement for letting (as distinct from the provisional agreement of February 14, 1946) took place after the registration under the regulation, para. (6) had effect, the premises let were not a dwelling-house to which the Rent Restrictions Acts applied, and the owner was entitled to possession.

Per COHEN, L.J.: so long as a registration under reg. 68CB (1) remains in force, para. (6) of that regulation has effect.

Quære: whether, if premises were registered, the validity of the registration could be challenged in proceedings for possession.—BALDWIN v. GURNSEY, [1949] 1 K. B. 102; [1948] 2 All E. R. 165; [1948] L. J. R. 1800; 64 T. L. R. 465; 92 Sol. Jo. 424, C. A. [1696]

Rent control—Furnished house—Reduction of rent—Reduction below amount of standard rent—Furnished Houses (Rent Control) Act, 1946 (c. 34), s. 7.

The Furnished Houses (Rent Control) Act, 1946, s. 7, provides: "Sections 9 and 10 of the Increase of Rent and Mortgage Interest (Restrictions) Act, 1920 (which relate respectively to limitation on rent of houses let furnished and to penalty for excessive charges for furnished lettings), shall not apply as regards the rent charged for any house or part of a house entered in the register under the provisions of this Act in respect of any period subsequent to such registration, but save as aforesaid nothing in this Act shall affect any provisions of the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Acts, 1920 to 1939."

In 1946 the landlords let unfurnished certain premises which were within the Rent Restrictions Acts, but they provided various services and it was accepted that the premises were within the Act of 1946. The letting was a "first letting" and the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1939, was applicable thereto, as that the contractual rent was the standard rent. The tenant applied to a rent tribunal under the Act of 1946, and the contractual rent was ordered to be reduced:—

Held: the reduction "affected" provisions of the Rent Restrictions Acts within the meaning of s. 7 of the Act of 1946, namely, those under which the standard rent was determined, and, if need be, apportioned, and under which it might, in certain circumstances, be increased, and, therefore, the tribunal had exceeded its jurisdiction.

Decision of the Divisional Court, [1947] 2 All E. R. 15, affirmed.

Per cur. : in a loose sense it is not incorrect to say that a lessor is authorised by the Rent Restrictions Acts to receive the standard rent, because those Acts impliedly recognise and leave undisturbed his right to exact that rent by contract while eliminating his common law right to contract effectively for anything more. Strictly, however, a lessor's right to receive, and, if necessary, enforce, payment of the standard rent is in no way conferred by the Acts. It arises only out of the contractual relations into which he enters with his tenant.—R. v. PADDINGTON AND ST. MARYLEBONE RENT TRIBUNAL, Ex parte BEDROCK INVESTMENTS, LTD., [1948] 2 K. 5. Further extension of certain other emergency enactments.—

(2) The following sections of the Act of 1946, being sections which extend the operation of the enactments therein referred to until the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-seven, shall have effect as if for the references to that date there were substituted references to the tenth day of December, nineteen hundred and fifty, that is to say :—

(d) section eleven (which extends the period after which under subsection (3) of section three of the Guardianship (Refugee Children) Act, 1944, the appointment of guardians and tutors is prohibited. [1699]

General note.—The Guardianship (Refugee Children) Act, 1944 (37 Halsbury's Statutes 334), provides for the appointment of guardians and tutors to certain refugee children. S. 3 (3) of that Act prohibited the making of any appointments after the expiration of the Emergency Powers (Defence) Act, 1939 (32 Halsbury's Statutes 930), for children in respect of whom no earlier appointment had been made, but the operation of the Act was extended to December 31, 1947, by s. 11 of the Emergency Laws (Transitional Provisions) Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 886). The present provisions further extend its operation to December 10, 1950. See also s. 7, supra, as to possible further extensions.

Act of 1946.—This is the Emergency Laws (Transitional Provisions) Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 879) (s. 1 (1) of the present Act). For s. 11 of the Act of 1946, see 39 Halsbury's Statutes 886.

7. Extension of Defence Regulations and enactments by Order in Council in pursuance of an Address of both Houses.—If at any time while any Defence Regulations specified in Part II or Part III of the First Schedule to this Act, or any enactments contained in Part I of the Act of 1946, are in force, an Address is presented to His Majesty by each House of Parliament praying that those Regulations or enactments, or any of them, should be continued in force for a further period not exceeding one year from the time at which they would otherwise expire, His Majesty may by Order in Council direct that the Regulations or enactments to which the Address relates shall continue in force for that further period. [1700]

General note.—This section contains an important power, exercisable by Order in Council in pursuance of Addresses of both Houses, to extend for further periods, not exceeding one year at a time, any of the enactments contained, inter alia, in Part I of the Emergency Laws (Transitional Provisions) Act, 1946, comprising ss. 1 to 14 inclusive thereof (39 Halsbury's Statutes 881 et seq.). This includes s. 11 of that Act which extended the period for appointment of guardians and tutors under the Guardianship (Refugee Children) Act, 1944 (37 Halsbury's Statutes 334).

12. Short title and commencement.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Emergency Laws (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1947. [1701]

(2) This Act, except sections eight, ten and eleven, shall come into operation on the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-seven. [1702]

CHILDREN ACT, 1948

(11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 43)

PRELIMINARY NOTE

This Act is based on the Report of the Care of Children Committee (Cmd. 6922), an inter-departmental committee appointed jointly by the Ministers of Health and Education in 1945 under the chairmanship of Miss Myra Curtis, C.B.E., to inquire into the methods of providing for children deprived of a normal home life. The Act has three main purposes. First, it replaces on more generous lines the former Poor Law provisions with regard to the care of deprived children by local authorities. Secondly, it lays down the administrative arrangements to be adopted by local authorities in discharging their functions, both under this Act and under certain other Acts, in particular the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 168), relating to child welfare. Thirdly, it concentrates in the Secretary of State the central responsibility for the maintenance and care of children, hitherto divided between the Secretary of State and the Minister of Health. In addition, the Act strengthens the control of the Secretary of State over voluntary homes and voluntary organisations, enlarges the child life protection provisions of the Public Health Acts, and contains a number of financial, miscellaneous and general provisions.

The present Act, which received the Royal Assent on June 30, 1948, came into operation on July 5, 1948 (see s. 62 (2)), simultaneously with the principal provisions of the National Assistance Act, 1948, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post, to which it is largely complementary.

Statutory provision for child welfare has developed in a piecemeal fashion, central responsibility being divided among a number of different government departments. The Curtis Committee recommended that while any particular need of deprived children should come within the purview of the department dealing with such needs in regard to normal children, central responsibility for such children, should be placed on a single Minister. While the Act does not quite achieve this, it does, by the transfer of the functions of the Minister of Health as to the care and supervision of children under the Poor Law and the Public Health Acts to the Secretary of State, effect a very substantial measure of unified control. As a result, except for the Ministry of Pensions, only two government departments are now responsible for dealing with the care and maintenance apart from their parents of any considerable number of educable children; these are the Secretary of State, who is responsible for normal healthy children without parents or guardians able and willing to care for them, or from whose care they have been removed by court orders, and the Minister of Education, who is responsible for children boarded out with foster parents or in hostels or schools for educational reasons (see the Education Act, 1944, ss. 8 (2) (d), 50; 37 Halsbury's Statutes 134, 178). In the exercise of his child welfare functions the Secretary of State is to be advised by an Advisory Council on Child Care consisting of persons appointed by him, among whom are to be persons with local government experience (s. 43).

A similar concentration of responsibility is effected at local authority level. The local (or welfare) authorities for the purpose of the following enactments dealing with child welfare are now confined to county councils and county borough councils, or, in the case of London, the London County Council (see s. 38, and note thereto). These enactments are:

(a) The Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, Parts III and IV (26 Halsbury's Statutes 192—223);
(b) The child life protection provisions of the Public Health Act, 1936, Part VII (29 Halsbury's Statutes 460), and the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, Part XIII (30 Halsbury's Statutes 581);
(c) The Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939 (32 Halsbury's Statutes 205); and (d) The present Act.

The Curtis Committee attributed many of the defects in the public care of children to overlapping and confusion of functions among different committees of local authorities. The Act now lays down the general rule that a local authority's functions under the above enactments are to be discharged by a special committee called the Children's Committee which is to deal with no other matters (s. 39). In addition, every local authority must appoint a children's officer (s. 41).

Part I of the Act deals with the duty of local authorities to assume the care of children. The children concerned are, in general terms, those apparently under the age of seventeen for whose welfare the authority's intervention appears to be necessary and who are either orphans, abandoned or lost, or have parents or guardians temporarily or permanently unable or unfit to look after them (s. 1 (1)). Having taken a child into their care, the authority are under a duty to keep him, so long as his welfare appears to require it, up to the age of 18 (s. 1 (2)). The authority are not, however, to keep a child in their care if any parent or guardian desires to take over its care, and are to endeavour to secure that the care of the child is taken over either by a parent, guardian, relative or friend in all cases where this appears to be consistent with the child's welfare (s. 1 (3)).

A local authority is authorised to vest in themselves by resolution the powers and rights of parents with respect to certain children in their care. Notice of the passing of the resolution is to be served on any parent or guardian whose whereabouts are known, and if within one month such person serves a notice of objection, the resolution will lapse after fourteen days unless the matter is brought by the authority before a juvenile court and the court upholds the resolution (s. 2). Apart from this, a resolution of this kind will remain in force until the child reaches the age of eighteen, unless the local authority previously rescind it (which they may do at any time if it is in the child's interest), or it is determined by an order of a juvenile court (s. 4), or the child becomes subject to an approved school order (s. 6 (3) (a)).

Hitherto orders of court under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, ss. 57, 62 (1) (b), 64 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 206, 208, 209), committing a young offender to the care of a " fit person " (which, by virtue of s. 76 (1) thereof, includes a local authority) could only be made if that person were willing to undertake his care. The present Act now makes it obligatory upon a local authority to accept appointment as a " fit person ", except where either a probation or supervision order is in force in relation to the child or the court propose to make such an order. They may, however, unless undue delay would result, make representations to the court before the " fit person " order is made (s. 5).

Special provisions apply in cases where a child taken into a local authority's care is, or later becomes, subject to an order of court (s. 6) or to the Mental Deficiency or Lunacy and Mental Treatment Acts (s. 8), or where the welfare of the child is the responsibility of the Minister of Pensions (s. 7).

Part II of the Act deals with the powers and duties of local authorities in relation to children in their care, whether received by the authorities under the present Act or committed to their care as fit persons under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, supra (s. 11). Their general duty is to further the best interests of the child and to afford him opportunity for the proper development of his character and abilities (s. 12 (1)). In providing for him reasonable use is to be made of facilities and services available for children in the care of their own parents (s. 12 (2)). As regards accommodation and maintenance, the child is preferably to be boarded out, but where this is impracticable or undesirable he is, as a rule, to be maintained either in a local authority home provided under the Act or in a voluntary home. In certain circumstances, however, accommodation provided under the National Assistance Act, 1948, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post, or in hostels (whether provided by a local authority or not) may be used as an alternative (s. 13).

The Act does not deal with what is perhaps the most satisfactory way of providing for permanently deprived children, namely, adoption, since this is to be the subject of separate legislation, but Circular 160/48 issued by the Secretary of State suggests that local authorities should have regard to the value of adoption in all suitable cases.

Local authorities may, and if the Secretary of State so requires, must, provide homes for children in their care. The homes need not, however, be situated inside the local authority's area, and the authority may, instead of providing a home themselves, arrange with another local authority to accommodate the children in a home provided by the latter. A home is to afford separate accommodation for the temporary reception of children (s. 15).

In addition to homes, local authorities may, with the approval of the Secretary of State, provide hostels for persons over compulsory school age but under twenty-one who are, or since ceasing to be of school age have been, in the care of a local authority. In order that they may not be segregated from their more fortunate fellows, the local authority may admit to these hostels other young persons within the same age-groups (s. 19).

It becomes the duty of a local authority to advise and befriend children between the ages of fifteen and eighteen who have formerly been in the care of a local authority or a voluntary organisation, unless the authority is satisfied that the welfare of the child does not require it or that the voluntary organisation will undertake the duty (s. 34).

Other provisions of Part II deal with emigration (s. 17), the burial or cremation of deceased children (s. 18), and financial assistance for persons over eighteen (s. 20).

Part III of the Act deals with contributions towards the maintenance of children in the care of a local authority. Liability is now confined to the parents of a child under sixteen and the child himself, after attaining that age, if he is in remunerative full-time work (s. 24). The provisions for the enforcement of contributions in the case of children subject to approved school or " fit person " orders contained in the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, ss. 86–88 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 223–225), are extended to cover the case of children taken into the care of a local authority under this Act (s. 23). In addition, the power given by the said s. 88 of applying for an order directing payments under affiliation orders to be made to the local authority instead of to the mother, is supplemented by a new power entitling the authority in cases where no affiliation order has been made, itself to apply for an order which may provide for payments thereunder to the authority (s. 26).

Part IV of the Act deals with voluntary homes and voluntary organisations. Hitherto, the Secretary of State has had a power of control over voluntary homes as defined in the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 92 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 230), by virtue of s. 95 of that Act. This is now replaced by a more stringent power embracing a wider range of voluntary homes. As from January 1, 1949, all voluntary homes must be registered in a register to be kept by the Secretary of State. Homes in existence on July 5, 1948, are entitled to be registered, but in all other cases registration is at the discretion of the Secretary of State (s. 29). For the forms in which application for registration is to be made, see the Voluntary Homes (Registration) Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 2408). An appeal from a refusal to register a home or from a proposal to remove a home from the register lies to an appeal tribunal constituted in accordance with Sched. I, Part I (s. 30). Regulations may be made as to the conduct of voluntary homes (s. 31). Regulations may also be made controlling the activities of voluntary organisations, both as regards their child-emigration arrangements and the boarding-out of children (s. 33).

Part V of the Act deals with child life protection. The Public Health Act, 1936, Part VII (29 Halsbury's Statutes 460–470), and the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, Part XIII (30 Halsbury's Statutes 581–588), which provide for protecting children who are maintained apart from their parents for reward, and the Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939, s. 7 (32 Halsbury's Statutes 210), which provides for the supervision of children in certain cases pending adoption, all of which have hitherto been confined to children under the age of nine, are now extended to cover all children up to the limit of compulsory school age (s. 35), and, in some cases, up to the age of eighteen (s. 36). In addition, the class of children protected by the Public Health Acts is enlarged (s. 37).

Part VI of the Act sets out the administrative arrangements to which reference has already been made, and contains, in addition, a number of financial provisions. The Secretary of State, for instance, is enabled to defray or contribute towards the expenses of persons undergoing training in child care, and to make grants towards the cost of courses for such persons (s. 45). In addition, the Secretary of State is empowered to make grants in certain circumstances for the improvement of voluntary homes, and a local authority, with the Secretary of State's consent, may make contributions to child welfare organisations (s. 46). Exchequer grants are to be payable to local authorities, the evident intention of which is to divide equally between the Exchequer and local authorities the cost of providing for deprived children, apart from expenditure in connection with approved schools and remand homes which is grant-aided under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 104 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 237) (s. 47).

The final Part of the Act, Part VII, contains a number of miscellaneous and general provisions. The Guardianship of Infants Act, 1925, s. 4 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 821), is amended so as to enable county courts and courts of summary jurisdiction to appoint a guardian for an infant without a parent or guardian and with respect to whom no person has parental rights (s. 50). Formerly such an appointment could only be made by the Judges of the Chancery Division in the exercise of their inherent powers, a method which was in many cases unduly expensive. Orders for the payment of money under the Guardianship of Infants Acts, which have hitherto been enforceable as orders for the payment of civil debts recoverable summarily (see s. 7 (4) of the Act of 1925; 9 Halsbury's Statutes 823; now repealed by s. 60 (3) and Sched. IV, post), are henceforth to be enforceable in the same way as affiliation orders, i.e. by distress and committal (s. 53). Part VII also contains provisions dealing with the entry and inspection of premises (s. 54), the prosecution of offences (s. 55), the acquisition of land (s. 56), and the transfer, superannuation and compensation of officers (s. 57). Finally, it incorporates Sched. II containing the necessary transitional provisions (s. 60 (1)). [1703]

An Act to make further provision for the care or welfare, up to the age of eighteen and, in certain cases, for further periods, of boys and girls when they are without parents or have been lost or abandoned by, or are living away from, their parents, or when their parents are unfit or unable to take care of them, and in certain other circumstances; to amend the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, the Guardianship of Infants Act, 1925, and certain other enactments relating to children; and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid. [1704] [30th June, 1948.]

DUTY OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES TO ASSUME CARE OF CHILDREN

1. Duty of local authority to provide for orphans, deserted children, etc.—(1) Where it appears to a local authority with respect to a child in their area appearing to them to be under the age of seventeen—

(a) that he has neither parent nor guardian or has been and remains abandoned by his parents or guardian or is lost; or

(b) that his parents or guardian are, for the time being or permanently, prevented by reason of mental or bodily disease or infirmity or other incapacity or any other circumstances from providing for his proper accommodation, maintenance and upbringing; and

it shall be the duty of the local authority to receive the child into their care under this section. [1705]

(2) Where a local authority have received a child into their care under this section, it shall, subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act, be their duty to keep the child in their care so long as the welfare of the child appears to them to require it and the child has not attained the age of eighteen. [1706]

(3) Nothing in this section shall authorise a local authority to keep a child in their care under this section if any parent or guardian desires to take over the care of the child, and the local authority shall, in all cases where it appears to them consistent with the welfare of the child so to do, endeavour to secure that the care of the child is taken over either—

(a) by a parent or guardian of his, or

(b) by a relative or friend of his, being, where possible, a person of the same religious persuasion as the child or who gives an undertaking that the child will be brought up in that religious persuasion. [1707]

(4) Where a local authority receive a child into their care under this section who is then ordinarily resident in the area of another local authority,—

(a) that other local authority may at any time not later than three months after the determination (whether by agreement between the authorities or in accordance with the following provisions of this subsection) of the ordinary residence of the child, or with the concurrence of the first-mentioned authority at any subsequent time, take over the care of the child; and

(b) the first-mentioned authority may recover from the other authority any expenses duly incurred by them under Part II of this Act in respect of him (including any expenses so incurred after he has ceased to be a child and, if the other authority take over the care of him, including also any travelling or other expenses incurred in connection with the taking-over).

Any question arising under this subsection as to the ordinary residence of a child shall be determined by the Secretary of State. [1708]

(5) In determining for the purposes of the last foregoing subsection the ordinary residence of any child, any period during which he resided in any place as an inmate of a school or other institution, or in accordance with the requirements of a supervision order or probation order or the conditions of a recognisance, or while boarded out under this Act, the Poor Law Act, 1930, the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, the Poor Law (Scotland) Act, 1934, or the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, by a local authority or education authority shall be disregarded. [1709]

General note.—This section imposes on a local authority the duty to receive into its care, where it appears that this is necessary in the interests of the child, any child actually present in the authority's administrative area (whether he normally resides there or not) who is under the age of seventeen and has no parents or guardians or who has been abandoned or lost, or whose parents or guardians are temporarily or permanently prevented from providing for him properly.

A child who, immediately before July 5, 1948, was being relieved under the poor law, by relief that was not outdoor relief, is, as a rule, subject to this Act as if the local authority had received him into their care; see para. 1 (1) of Sched. II, post. The provisions of this section are in contrast to the elaborate machinery provided under s. 2, post, where the authority proposes to assume parental rights.

Poor Law Act, 1930.—12 Halsbury's Statutes 968. This Act was repealed by the National Assistance Act, 1948, s. 62 (3) and Sched. VII, Part I, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post, as from July 5, 1948 (see S.I. 1948 No. 1218).

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 168. This Act is amended by s. 63 (3) and Sched. IV, Parts I and II, post.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child", "guardian", "parent" and "relative", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

2. Assumption by local authority of parental rights.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act, a local authority may resolve with respect to any child in their care under the foregoing section in whose case it appears to them—

(a) that his parents are dead and that he has no guardian; or

(b) that a parent or guardian of his (hereinafter referred to as the person on whose account the resolution was passed) has abandoned him or suffers from some permanent disability rendering the said person incapable of caring for the child, or is of such habits or mode of life as to be unfit to have the care of the child.

that all the rights and powers which the deceased parents would have if they were still living, or, as the case may be, all the rights and powers of the person on whose account the resolution was passed, shall vest in the local authority. [1710]

(2) In the case of a resolution passed by virtue of paragraph (b) of the last foregoing subsection, unless the person on whose account the resolution was passed has consented in writing to the passing of the resolution, the local authority, if the whereabouts of the said person are known to them, shall forthwith after the passing of the resolution serve on him notice in writing of the passing thereof; and if, not later than one month after such a notice is served on him, the person on whose account the resolution was passed serves a notice in writing on the local authority objecting to the resolution, the resolution shall, subject to the provisions of subsection (3) of this section, lapse on the expiration of fourteen days from the service of the notice of objection.

Every notice served by a local authority under his subsection shall inform the person on whom the notice is served of his right to object to the resolution and of the effect of any objection made by him. [1711]

(3) Where a notice has been served on a local authority under subsection (2) of this section, the authority may not later than fourteen days from the receipt by them of the notice complain to a juvenile court, or in Scotland the sheriff, having jurisdiction in the area of the authority, and in that event the resolution shall not lapse by reason of the service of the notice until the determination of the complaint, and the court or sheriff may, on the hearing of the complaint, order that the resolution shall not lapse by reason of the service of the notice :

Provided that the court or sheriff shall not so order unless satisfied that the child had been, and at the time when the resolution was passed remained, abandoned by the person who made the objection or that that person is unfit to have the care of the child by reason of unsoundness of mind or mental deficiency or by reason of his habits or mode of life. [1712.]

(4) Any notice under this section may be served by post, so however that a notice served by a local authority under subsection (2) of this section shall not be duly served by post unless it is sent in a registered letter. [1713]

General note.—This section confers power on a local authority to vest in themselves, by passing a resolution in accordance with sub-s. (1), all the rights and powers, but not the duties, of the parents or guardians of the child. No new resolution is necessary if immediately before the passing of this Act a resolution under the Poor Law Act, 1930, s. 52 ; 12 Halsbury's Statutes 994 (now repealed by the National Assistance Act, 1948, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post, which, like the present Act, came into force on July 5, 1948) was in force in respect of the child (see Sched. II, para. 2, post).

Subject to the provisions, etc.—See particularly s. 6 (2), (3), post (children subject to existing orders of court) ; s. 7 (2), post (children in care of Minister of Pensions) ; and s. 8, post (children subject to Mental Deficiency, etc., Acts).

Juvenile court.—As to juvenile courts, see the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 45, and Sched. II (26 Halsbury's Statutes 199, 242).

Definitions.—For definitions of "child", "guardian" and "parent", see s. 59 (1), post ; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

3. Effect of assumption by local authority of parental rights.—(1) While a resolution passed by virtue of paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section two of this Act is in force with respect to a child, all rights and powers which the deceased parents would have if they were still living shall, in respect of the child, be vested in the local authority, in accordance with the resolution. [1714]

(2) While a resolution passed by virtue of paragraph (b) of the said subsection (1) is in force with respect to a child, all rights and powers of the person on whose account the resolution was passed shall, in respect of the child, be vested in the local authority in accordance with the resolution, and subsection (3) of section one of this Act shall not in respect of the child apply in relation to the person on whose account the resolution was passed. [1715]

(3) A resolution under section two of this Act shall not prevent the local authority from allowing, either for a fixed period or until the local authority otherwise determine, the care of the child to be taken over by, and the child to be under the control of, a parent, guardian, relative or friend in any case where it appears to the authority to be for the benefit of the child. [1716]

(4) Where a resolution under section two of this Act is in force in respect of a child and the child has ceased to be in the care of the local authority by whom the resolution was passed, then (without prejudice to the provisions of section one of this Act if those provisions apply) the local authority by whom the resolution was passed shall have power to receive the child back into their care in any circumstances in which it appears to them that their intervention under this subsection is necessary in the interests of the welfare of the child. [1717]

(5) Where a local authority receive a child into their care under the last foregoing subsection, the provisions of this Act, except subsections (4) and (5) of section one thereof, shall apply as if the child had been received into their care under the said section one. [1718]

(6) A resolution under the said section two shall not relieve any person from any liability to maintain, or contribute to the maintenance of, the child. [1719]

(7) A resolution under the said section two shall not authorise a local authority to cause a child to be brought up in any religious creed other than that in which he would have been brought up but for the resolution. [1720]

(8) Any person who knowingly—

(a) assists or induces or persistently attempts to induce a child to whom this subsection applies to run away, or

(b) harbours or conceals a child to whom this subsection applies who has run away, or prevents him from returning to the place from which he has run away, shall on summary conviction be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two months, or to both such fine and such imprisonment.

This subsection applies to any child in the care of a local authority under section one of this Act in whose case a resolution is in force under section two thereof, being a child for whom accommodation (whether in a home or otherwise) is being provided by the local authority in pursuance of Part II of this Act, and references in this subsection to running away shall be construed as references to running away from a place where accommodation is or was being so provided. [1721]

General note.—The effects of the assumption of parental rights under s. 2, ante, are stated in the present section. Where there is no parent or guardian living, the resolution operates to vest in the local authority all rights and powers the parents would have had if living; but if the resolution is passed on account of the incapacity or misconduct of a parent or guardian, it is only the rights of that parent or guardian which vest in the authority (sub-s. (2)).

The assumption of parental rights does not prevent the authority from allowing the child to return, either for a trial period or indefinitely, to his parent or guardian, or some other relative or friend (sub-s. (3)), but the authority may at any time require the child to be returned to their care if it appears to them to be desirable in the child's interests (sub-s. (4)).

Person on whose account the resolution was passed.—See s. 2 (1) (b), ante.

Control.—This expression is not defined in the present Act, but in s. 17 of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 180), it is treated as being synonymous with "possession."

Liability to maintain, etc.—Liability to maintain children was almost unknown at common law and was first created by the Poor Law. Now, under the National Assistance Act, 1948, s. 41, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post, the only persons liable to maintain a child are the parents, and their liability ceases when the child attains the age of sixteen. Liability to contribute to the maintenance of children under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 86 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 223), is also now confined to parents, as a result of its amendment by s. 60 (2) and Sched. III, post. See s. 24, post.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child", "guardian", "parent" and "relative", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

4. Duration and rescission of resolutions under section two.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act, a resolution under section two of this Act shall continue in force until the child with respect to whom it was passed attains the age of eighteen. [1722]

(2) A resolution under the said section two may be rescinded by resolution of the local authority if it appears to them that the rescinding of the resolution will be for the benefit of the child. [1723]

(3) On complaint being made—

(a) in the case of a resolution passed by virtue of paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of the said section two, by a person claiming to be a parent or guardian of the child;

(b) in the case of a resolution passed by virtue of paragraph (b) thereof, by the person on whose account the resolution was passed, a juvenile court, or in Scotland the sheriff, having jurisdiction where the complainant resides, if satisfied that there was no ground for the making of the resolution or that the resolution should in the interests of the child be determined, may by order determine the resolution, and the resolution shall thereupon cease to have effect:

Provided that, if the court or sheriff think fit, they or he may, in lieu of determining the resolution, order that, either for a fixed period or until they or he, or, if the order so provides, the local authority, otherwise direct, the local authority shall allow the care of the child to be taken over by, and the child to be under the control of, the complainant. [1724]

General note.—This section relates to the continuance in force of resolutions under s. 2 (1), ante, for the assumption of parental rights, but is not substantially appropriate in respect of any resolution that lapses under the objection procedure provided in s. 2 (2) and (3), ante. The resolution will remain in force until the child reaches the age of eighteen (sub-s. (1)) unless previously—

(a) the resolution is rescinded by the local authority (sub-s. (2)); or

(b) the resolution is determined by order of the juvenile court (sub-s. (3)); or

(c) the child becomes subject to an approved school order (s. 6 (3), post).

Person on whose account the resolution was passed.—See s. 2 (1) (b), ante.

Juvenile court.—As to juvenile courts, see the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 45 and Sched. II (26 Halsbury's Statutes 199, 242).

Definitions.—For definitions of "child", "guardian" and "parent", see s. 59 (1), post; to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

5. Duty of local authority to act as fit person under the Children and Young Persons Acts.—(1) In any case where, under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, a court has power to commit a person brought before the court to the care of a fit person, the assent of a local authority shall not be required for the making by the court of an order committing him to the care of the authority unless a probation order or supervision order is in force or the court proposes to make such an order at the same time as the order committing the child to the care of the authority, and accordingly the following subsections shall be substituted for subsection (1) of section seventy-six of that Act:—

"(1) The appropriate local authority shall, for the purposes of the provisions of this Act relating to the making of orders committing a child or young person to the care of a fit person, be deemed to be a fit person willing to undertake the care of him, and accordingly orders may be made committing children and young persons to their care, and they shall undertake the care of children and young persons so committed:

Provided that where a probation order or supervision order is in force as respects a child or young person, or the court proposes to make such an order at the same time as an order for committal to the care of the local authority, the last-mentioned order shall not be made unless the local authority consent to the making thereof.

(1A) Before making an order under the last foregoing subsection in any case where the consent of the local authority is not required, the court shall, unless so to do would in the opinion of the court cause undue delay, permit the authority to make representations to the court as to the making of the order and shall, before making the order, consider any representations so made.

(1B) In this section the expression 'the appropriate local authority' means the local authority in whose area the child or young person was resident, or, if his residence is not known or he was resident outside England, the local authority or one of the local authorities within whose area the offence was committed or the circumstances arose (as the case may be) rendering him liable to be committed to the care of a fit person:

Provided that in determining for the purposes of this subsection the place of residence of a child or young person, any period during which he resided in any place as an inmate of a school or other institution, or in accordance with the requirements of a supervision order or probation order or the conditions of a recognisance, or while boarded out under this Act, the Poor Law Act, 1930, the Poor Law (Scotland) Act, 1934, the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, or Part II of the Children Act, 1948, by a local authority or education authority shall be disregarded." [1725]

(2) In the application of this section to Scotland, for references to the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and section seventy-six thereof, there shall be substituted references to the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, and section eighty thereof, for the reference to the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, there shall be substituted a reference to the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and for the word "England" there shall be substituted the word "Scotland." [1726]

General note.—By ss. 57, 62 (1) (b), 64 of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 206, 208, 209) (cf. Children and Young Persons Act, 1938, s. 1; 31 Halsbury's Statutes 366), a juvenile court can commit a child or young person, under the age of seventeen, to the care of any "fit person . . . who is willing to undertake the care of him", and by virtue of s. 76 (1) of that Act a local authority was deemed to be a fit person. Under these provisions the child or young person could only be committed to the care of the fit person with his consent. Under sub-s. (1), supra, a local authority is bound to accept appointment as a fit person, except where a probation order or supervision order is already in force in relation to the child, or the court proposes to make such an order at the same time as the "fit person" order, in which case, in order to prevent any conflict between the probation officer and the local authority, the consent of the local authority to the making of the "fit person" order is still required.

The treatment of children committed to the care of local authorities as fit persons is dealt with in Part II, post.

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 76.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 216. For the sections empowering a court to commit a person to the care of a fit person, see the General note, supra.

Poor Law Act, 1930.—12 Halsbury's Statutes 968. This Act was repealed by the National Assistance Act, 1948, s. 62 (3), and Sched. VII, Part I, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post, as from July 5, 1948 (see S.I. 1948 No. 1218).

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "young person", see the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 107 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 238); as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

6. Application of preceding provisions to children already subject, or becoming subject, to orders of court.—(1) The reception of a child into their care by a local authority under section one of this Act, and the passing of a resolution with respect to him under section two of this Act, shall not affect any supervision order or probation order previously made with respect to him by any court. [1727]

(2) Where an order of any court is in force giving the custody of a child to any person, the foregoing provisions of this Part of this Act shall have effect in relation to the child as if for references to the parents or guardians of the child or to a parent or guardian of his there were substituted references to that person. [1728]

(3) The following provisions shall have effect with respect to approved school orders and orders under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, committing children to the care of fit persons, that is to say:—

(a) where an approved school order comes into force with respect to a child in the care of a local authority under section one of this Act he shall thereupon cease to be in the care of the authority under that section and any resolution under section two of this Act in force with respect to him shall thereupon cease to have effect;

(b) no resolution under the said section two shall be passed with respect to a child while an order is in force committing him to the care of a fit person under the said Act of 1933 or 1937;

(c) save as aforesaid the provisions of subsection (2) of this section shall apply as if the order were an order giving the custody of the child to the managers of the approved school or the person to whose care he was committed by the order, as the case may be. [1729]

(4) Where under section seventy-four of the said Act of 1933 or section seventy-eight of the said Act of 1937, a child is under the supervision of the managers of an approved school or under paragraph 6 of the Fourth Schedule to the said Act of 1933, or paragraph 6 of the Second Schedule to the said Act of 1937, the managers of an approved school by licence permit a child to live away from the school, and in either case it appears to the managers that the child has no home or that his home is unsatisfactory, then with the consent of the managers, in a case falling within the said section seventy-four or seventy-eight, or if the licence so provides, in a case falling within the said paragraph 6, a local authority may (without prejudice to the provisions of section one of this Act if those provisions apply) receive the child into their care; and where they do so—

(a) the provisions of this Act, except subsections (4) and (5) of section one thereof and so much of subsection (3) of that section as requires a local authority to endeavour to secure that the care of a child is taken over by a parent, guardian, relative or friend, shall apply as if the child had been received into their care under the said section one; but

(b) the child shall not for the purposes of the said Act of 1933, or the said Act of 1937, be deemed to have ceased to be under the care of the managers of the school. [1730]

Supervision order.—This is an order placing a person under the age of seventeen "under the supervision of a probation officer or some other person appointed for the purpose by the Court" (see the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, ss. 62 (1) (d); 26 Halsbury's Statutes 208). As to when such orders can be made, see s. 62 of that Act, and s. 64 thereof as amended by the Children and Young Persons Act, 1938 (31 Halsbury's Statutes 366); and the Education Act, 1944, s. 40 (3) (37 Halsbury's Statutes 169) and s. 40 (3A) (inserted by the Education (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1948, s. 11 and Sched. I; 11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 40).

Probation Order.—This is an order consequent on conviction of an offender and made instead of sentencing him, requiring him to be under the supervision of a probation officer for a specified period of not less than one year nor more than three years (Criminal Justice Act, 1948, s. 3; 11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 58); as to the position before the coming into operation of that Act, see the Probation of Offenders Act, 1907, ss. 1, 2 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 365). A probation order thus differs from a supervision order, supra, in that it can only be made in relation to an offender.

Order for custody.—Orders for custody may be made either: (a) under the inherent jurisdiction of the former Court of Chancery which is now vested in the Chancery Division of the High Court (see the Supreme Court of Judicature (Consolidation) Act, 1925, ss. 18 (1), 56 (1); 4 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 347; 13 Halsbury's Statutes 219); or (b) under the Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886, s. 5 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 787), as amended by the Guardianship of Infants Act, 1925, s. 3 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 820).

Approved school orders.—As to when approved school orders may be made, see the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, ss. 57, 62 (1) (a), 64 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 206, 208, 209), and the Education Act, 1944, s. 40 (3) (37 Halsbury's Statutes 169) and s. 40 (3A) (inserted by the Education (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1948, s. 11 and Sched. I; 11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 40).

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 74, Sched. IV, para. 6.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 215, 246.

"Fit person" orders.—As to orders committing children to the care of fit persons, see the General note to s. 5, ante

Definitions.—For definitions of "approved school order", "child", "guardian" and "parent", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

7. Children in care of Minister of Pensions.—(1) Where a child in the care of a local authority under section one of this Act is a child for whose welfare the Minister of Pensions is responsible, that Minister may at any time require that the care of the child shall be transferred to him, and thereupon the child shall cease to be in the care of the local authority. [1731]

(2) Where immediately before the care of a child is transferred to the said Minister in pursuance of the last foregoing subsection a resolution under section two of this Act is in force with respect to the child, the rights and powers conferred on the local authority by the resolution—

(a) shall not thereafter be exercisable against the said Minister or so as to interfere with any arrangements for the welfare of the child made by the said Minister; but

(b) save as provided in the last foregoing paragraph, shall continue to be exercisable by the local authority so long as the resolution is in force. [1732]

(3) References in this section to a child for whose welfare the Minister of Pensions is responsible shall be construed as references to a child such that if he were suffering from neglect or want of proper care it would be the duty of that Minister to make provision for him under section nine of the War Pensions (Administrative Provisions) Act, 1918. [1733]

General note.—The effect of this section is to give the Minister of Pensions, in regard to any child for whom he is responsible under the War Pensions (Administrative Provisions)

Act, 1918, s. 9 (17 Halsbury's Statutes 540), as extended by the War Orphans Act, 1942 (35 Halsbury's Statutes 215), rights which will override the duty conferred on the local authority by s. 1, ante, and, so far as there may be conflict between them, the power to assume parental rights conferred on the local authority by s. 2, ante.

Definitions.—For definition of "child", see s. 9 of the Act of 1918, supra; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

8. Children becoming subject to Mental Deficiency or Lunacy and Mental Treatment Acts.—If a child who is in the care of a local authority under section one of this Act comes under the control of any person or authority under the provisions of the Mental Deficiency Acts, 1913 to 1938, or the Lunacy and Mental Treatment Acts, 1890 to 1930, or in Scotland the Mental Deficiency (Scotland) Acts, 1913 and 1940, or the Lunacy (Scotland) Acts, 1857 to 1919, he shall thereupon cease to be in the care of the local authority under this Act; but where, immediately before he comes under the control of a person or authority as aforesaid, a resolution under section two of this Act is in force with respect to him, the rights and powers conferred on the local authority by the resolution shall, so long as the resolution is in force, continue to be exercisable by the local authority, so however that the said rights and powers shall not be exercisable against the person or authority having control of the child or so as to interfere with anything done by the said person or authority with respect to the child. [1734]

Mental Deficiency Acts, 1913 to 1938.—These are the Mental Deficiency Act, 1913, the Mental Deficiency (Amendment) Act, 1925, the Mental Deficiency Act, 1927 and the Mental Deficiency Act, 1938 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 160, 199, 200; 31 Halsbury's Statutes 421). These Acts were extensively amended by the National Health Service Act, 1946, s. 50 and Sched. IX (39 Halsbury's Statutes 557, 580), as from July 1, 1947 (see S. R. & O., 1947 No. 983). As to the means whereby a person may become subject to these Acts, see the 1913 Act, ss. 3, 4 and 8, as amended (11 Halsbury's Statutes 162, 163, 166).

Lunacy and Mental Treatment Acts, 1890 to 1930.—These are the Lunacy Acts, 1890, 1891, 1908 and 1922 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 17, 144, 151, 198) and the Mental Treatment Act, 1930 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 154). These Acts were extensively amended by the National Health Service Act, 1946, s. 50 and Sched. IX (39 Halsbury's Statutes 557, 580), as from July 1, 1947 (see S. R. & O., 1947, No. 983). As to the means whereby a person may become subject to these Acts, see, inter alia, the 1890 Act, ss. 4 and 108, as amended (11 Halsbury's Statutes 18, 56).

Definitions.—For definition of "child", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

9. Meaning of "parents or guardian".—Save as expressly provided in section six of this Act, any reference in this Part of this Act to the parents or guardian of a child shall be construed as a reference to all the persons who are parents of the child or who are guardians of the child. [1735]

Definitions.—For definitions of "child", "guardian" and "parent", see s. 59 (1), post.

10. Duty of parents to maintain contact with local authorities having their children in care.—(1) The parent of a child who has not attained the age of sixteen and is in the care of a local authority under section one of this Act shall secure that the appropriate local authority are informed of the parent's address for the time being. [1736]

(2) Where under subsection (4) of section one of this Act a local authority take over the care of a child from another local authority, that other authority shall where possible inform the parent of the child that the care of the child has been so taken over. [1737]

(3) For the purposes of subsection (1) of this section, the appropriate local authority shall be the authority in whose care the child is for the time being:

Provided that where under subsection (4) of section one of this Act a local authority have taken over the care of a child from another authority, then unless and until a parent is informed that the care of a child has been so taken over the appropriate local authority shall in relation to that parent continue to be the authority from whom the care of the child was taken over. [1738]

(4) Any parent who knowingly fails to comply with subsection (1) of this section shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds:

Provided that it shall be a defence in any proceedings under this subsection to prove that the defendant was residing at the same address as the other parent of the child, and had reasonable cause to believe that the other parent had informed the appropriate authority that both parents were residing at that address. [1739]

General note.—This section imposes on the parents of a child under sixteen in the care of a local authority under s. 1, ante, the duty of keeping the authority informed of his address.

Summary conviction.—As to summary conviction, see the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, s. 51 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 350). Also see, generally, 21 Halsbury's Laws (2nd Edn.) 511 et seq. and Stone's Justices' Manual (80th Edn.), pp. 62 et seq.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "parent", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

PART II

TREATMENT OF CHILDREN IN CARE OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES

11. Scope of Part II.—This Part of this Act relates to the powers and duties of local authorities in relation to children received by them into their care under section one of this Act and children who by an order of any court under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, have been committed (whether as children or as young persons as defined in the said Act of 1933 or 1937) to their care as a fit person, and references in this Part of this Act to a child in the care of a local authority are references to a child for the time being in the care of the authority under the said section one or for the time being committed as aforesaid to the care of the authority as a fit person. [1740]

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933—26 Halsbury's Statutes 172. Orders for the committal of children and young persons to the care of a fit person, can be made under ss. 57, 62, 64 of that Act (26 Halsbury's Statutes 205, 208, 209).

Definitions.—For definition of "child", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

12. General duty of local authority.—(1) Where a child is in the care of a local authority, it shall be the duty of that authority to exercise their powers with respect to him so as to further his best interests, and to afford him opportunity for the proper development of his character and abilities. [1741]

(2) In providing for a child in their care, a local authority shall make such use of facilities and services available for children in the care of their own parents as appears to the local authority reasonable in his case. [1742]

General note.—This section imposes on the local authority a continuing duty to "further the best interests" of the child, whether received into their care or committed to them by a fit person order, and to afford him "opportunity for the proper development of his character and abilities." The discharge of this duty involves constant attention, and will devolve upon the children's committee, if any (s. 39, post), and the children's officer (s. 41, post).

"Child in the care of a local authority."—See s. 11, ante.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "parent", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

13. Mode of provision of accommodation and maintenance.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, a local authority shall discharge their duty to provide accommodation and maintenance for a child in their care—

(a) by boarding him out on such terms as to payment by the authority and otherwise as the authority may, subject to the provisions of this Act and regulations thereunder, determine; or

(b) where it is not practicable or desirable for the time being to make arrangements for boarding-out, by maintaining the child in a home provided under this Part of this Act or by placing him in a voluntary home the managers of which are willing to receive him. [1743]

(2) Where a child in the care of a local authority is under three years of age, a local authority may provide accommodation and maintenance for him in premises in which accommodation is being provided under the National Assistance Act, 1948, being premises approved by the Secretary of State for the purposes of this subsection which are and have since before the commencement of this Act been in use solely as a nursery.

The approval by the Secretary of State of any premises for the purposes of this subsection shall have effect for such period as he may from time to time determine, but—

(a) the Secretary of State may at any time withdraw his approval notwithstanding that the period for which it was given has not expired,

(b) the Secretary of State shall not give or continue his approval for the purposes of this subsection unless he is satisfied that suitable alternative accommodation is not for the time being available. [1744]

(3) Where a child in the care of a local authority has attained the age of three, the local authority, if it is necessary so to do, may provide accommodation and maintenance for the child in any premises in which accommodation is being provided under the said Act of 1948 :

Provided that a child shall not be accommodated and maintained as mentioned in this subsection for any period exceeding fourteen days except with the consent of the Secretary of State, and—

(a) the Secretary of State shall not give his consent for the purposes of this subsection for a period exceeding eight weeks, but may renew any such consent for a further such period or periods ;

(b) The Secretary of State may at any time withdraw his consent given for the purposes of this subsection notwithstanding that the period for which it was given or renewed has not expired. [1745]

(4) A child in the care of a local authority who is over compulsory school age may be accommodated and maintained in any hostel (whether provided by a local authority or not) which is wholly or mainly intended for persons who are over compulsory school age but have not attained the age of twenty-one. [1746]

(5) Nothing in this section shall be construed as preventing a local authority from making use, in the case of any child, of any such facilities and services as are referred to in subsection (2) of the last foregoing section, and for that purpose arranging for his accommodation and maintenance in any suitable manner not specified in the foregoing provisions of this section. [1747]

(6) Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this section, a local authority may, where it appears to them necessary so to do, accommodate and maintain a child in their care in premises under the control of a local authority other than premises such as are mentioned in the foregoing provisions of this section :

Provided that a local authority shall only exercise their powers under this subsection with the authorisation of the Secretary of State given either generally or as respects particular premises, and subject to such conditions as may be imposed by him. [1748]

(7) Where under this section a local authority provide for a child by maintaining him in a home or hostel not provided by the authority, the terms, whether as to payment by the authority or other matters, upon which the child is so maintained shall be such as, subject to the provisions of this Act, may be agreed between the authority and the persons providing the home or hostel. [1749]

General duty.—The general duty of a local authority is to board out children, as recommended by the Curtis Committee's Report (Cmd. 6922), and it is only if boarding-out is impracticable or undesirable that a local authority may maintain the child in a home provided by them, or by arrangement with another local authority (see s. 15), or in a voluntary home providing the requisite religious facilities (s. 16, post). The general duty to board out is, however, subject to the local authority's power to make other arrangements for accommodation under sub-ss. (2)–6, supra.

"Child in the care of a local authority."—See s. 11, ante.

Boarding out regulations.—See s. 14, post.

Home provided under this Part of this Act.—For the duty of the local authority to provide homes, see s. 15, post.

National Assistance Act, 1948.—See title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post. As to the provision of accommodation by local authorities under that Act, see s. 21 thereof.

Hostel.—As to the power of the local authority to provide hostel accommodation for persons over compulsory school age, see s. 19, post.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child", "compulsory school age" and "voluntary home", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

14. Regulations as to boarding-out.—(1) The Secretary of State may by regulations make provision for the welfare of children boarded out by local authorities under paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of the last foregoing section. [1750]

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the last foregoing subsection, regulations under this section may provide—

(a) for the recording by local authorities of information relating to persons with whom children are boarded out as aforesaid and persons who are willing to have children so boarded out with them;

(b) for securing that children shall not be boarded out in any household unless that household is for the time being approved by such local authority as may be prescribed by the regulations;

(c) for securing that where possible the person with whom any child is to be boarded out is either of the same religious persuasion as the child or gives an undertaking that the child will be brought up in that religious persuasion;

(d) for securing that children boarded out as aforesaid, and the premises in which they are boarded out, will be supervised and inspected by a local authority and that the children will be removed from those premises if their welfare appears to require it. [1751]

Regulations.—Rules in force immediately before the commencement of this Act under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 84 (2) (20 Halsbury's Statutes 222), with respect to boarding out have effect as regulations made under this Part of this Act and apply to children in the care of a local authority under s. 1, ante (see Sched. II, para. 4, post). These rules are the Children and Young Persons (Boarding Out) Rules, 1946 (S. R. & O., 1946, No. 2083).

As to regulations, generally, see s. 58, post.

Inspection.—See s. 54 (2), post.

Definitions.—For definition of "child", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

15. Duty of local authorities to provide homes.—(1) A local authority may, and shall in so far as the Secretary of State so requires, provide, equip and maintain, either within or without their area, homes for the accommodation of children in their care. [1752]

(2) The accommodation provided under the last foregoing subsection by a local authority shall include separate accommodation for the temporary reception of children, with, in particular, the necessary facilities for observation of their physical and mental condition. [1753]

(3) A local authority may discharge their functions under the foregoing provisions of this section by making arrangements with another local authority for the provision in homes provided by that other local authority of accommodation for children in the care of the first-mentioned local authority; and arrangements under this subsection may contain provisions as to payment by the first-mentioned local authority and other terms upon which the accommodation is to be provided. [1754]

(4) The Secretary of State may make regulations as to the exercise by local authorities of their functions under this section and the conduct of homes provided thereunder and for securing the welfare of the children in the homes, and regulations under this subsection may in particular—

(a) impose requirements as to the accommodation and equipment to be provided in homes and as to the medical arrangements to be made for protecting the health of the children in the homes;

(b) impose requirements as to the facilities which are to be given for the children to receive a religious upbringing appropriate to the persuasion to which they belong;

(c) require the approval of the Secretary of State to the construction, acquisition or appropriation of buildings with a view to the use thereof for the purposes of homes, or to the doing of anything (whether by way of addition, diminution or alteration) which materially affects the buildings or grounds or other facilities or amenities available for children in the homes;

(d) provide for consultation with the Secretary of State as to applicants for appointment to the charge of a home and empower the Secretary of State to prohibit the appointment of any particular applicant therefor except in the cases (if any) in which the regulations dispense with such consultation by reason that the person to be appointed possesses such qualifications as may be prescribed by the regulations;

(e) contain provisions for limiting the period during which children may remain in accommodation provided for the temporary reception of children;

and may contain different provisions for different description of cases and as respects different descriptions of homes. [1755]

(5) Where it appears to the Secretary of State that any premises used for the purposes of a home provided under this section are unsuitable therefor, or that the conduct of any such home is not in accordance with regulations made by him under the last foregoing subsection or is otherwise unsatisfactory, he may by notice in writing served on the local authority direct that as from such date as may be specified in the notice the premises shall not be used for the said purposes. [1756]

(6) A direction given under the last foregoing subsection may at any time be revoked by the Secretary of State. [1757]

General note.—The homes provided for children in the care of local authorities are, in general, for children who are not boarded out (s. 13, ante). The accommodation is to be of two kinds, namely, reasonably permanent and temporary, but the two kinds need not necessarily be provided in separate homes. The temporary accommodation seems primarily intended for health observation (see sub-s. (2), supra), since temporary accommodation for the purposes of s. 13 (3), ante, is not provided under this Act, but the temporary accommodation, as also the permanent accommodation, may be used under sub-s. (1) (b) of that section if boarding out is impracticable or undesirable. Homes so provided are also available for use as "places of safety" (s. 51, post). They need not be within the authority's area and may be provided by arrangement with other local authorities (sub-ss. (1), (3), supra).

"Child in the care of a local authority."—See s. 11, ante.

Regulations.—As to regulations, generally, see s. 58, post. No regulations under this section had been made up to the date of going to press.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "functions", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

16.—Accommodation of children in voluntary homes.—(1) Notwithstanding any agreement made in connection with the placing of a child in a voluntary home under this Part of this Act by a local authority, the authority may at any time, and shall if required so to do by the Secretary of State or the managers of the home, remove the child from the home. [1758]

(2) No child in the care of a local authority shall be placed in a voluntary home which does not afford facilities for him to receive a religious upbringing appropriate to the persuasion to which he belongs. [1759]

"Child in the care of a local authority."—See s. 11, ante.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "voluntary home", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

17. Power of local authorities to arrange for emigration of children.—(1) A local authority may, with the consent of the Secretary of State, procure or assist in procuring the emigration of any child in their care. [1760]

(2) The Secretary of State shall not give his consent under this section unless he is satisfied that emigration would benefit the child, and that suitable arrangements have been or will be made for the child's reception and welfare in the country to which he is going, that the parents or guardian of the child have been consulted or that it is not practicable to consult them, and that the child consents:

Provided that where a child is too young to form or express a proper opinion on the matter, the Secretary of State may consent to his emigration notwithstanding that the child is unable to consent thereto in any case where the child is to emigrate in company with a parent, guardian or relative of his, or is to emigrate for the purpose of joining a parent, guardian, relative or friend. [1761]

(3) In the last foregoing subsection the expression "parents or guardian" shall be construed in accordance with the provision of section nine of this Act. [1762]

General note.—This section which replaces, so far as persons under eighteen are concerned, s. 68 of the Poor Law Act, 1930 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 1092), which is repealed by the National Assistance Act, 1948, s. 62 (3), Sched. VII, Part I, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post, authorises local authorities to arrange, subject to suitable safeguards, for the emigration of children in their care.

"Child in the care of a local authority."—See s. 11, ante.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child", "guardian" and "parent", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

18. Burial or cremation of deceased children.—(1) A local authority may cause to be buried or cremated the body of any deceased child who immediately before his death was in the care of the authority:

Provided that the authority shall not cause the body to be cremated where cremation is not in accordance with the practice of the child's religious persuasion. [1763]

(2) Where a local authority exercise the powers conferred to in subsection (1) of this section, they may if at the time of his death the child had not attained the age of sixteen years recover from any parent of the child any expenses incurred by them under the said subsection (1) and not reimbursed under subsection (5) of section twenty-two of the National Insurance Act, 1946 (which enables payments to be made to local authorities out of the National Insurance Fund in respect of the cost of burial or cremation of certain persons). [1764]

(3) Any sums recoverable by a local authority under subsection (2) of this section shall, without prejudice to any other method for the recovery thereof, be recoverable summarily as a civil debt. [1765]

(4) Nothing in this section shall affect any enactment regulating or authorising the burial, cremation or anatomical examination of the body of a deceased person. [1766]

General note.—This section makes provision for the burial or, where it is in accordance with the tenets of the child's religious denomination, the cremation of children who die while in the care of local authorities, and for recovery of the funeral expenses of any such child who is under sixteen. Local authorities are authorised by s. 22, post, to pay the expenses of persons attending the funerals of such children.

"Child in the care of a local authority."—See s. 11, ante.

National Insurance Act, 1946, s. 22 (5).—38 Halsbury's Statutes 443.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "parent", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

19. Provision of hostels for persons under twenty-one.—(1) A local authority may, with the approval of the Secretary of State, provide hostels for persons—

(a) who are over compulsory school age but have not attained the age of twenty-one; and

(b) who are, or have at any time after ceasing to be or compulsory school age been, in the care of a local authority, for their accommodation near the place where they may be employed, or seeking employment, or in receipt of education of training. [1767]

(2) A local authority may accommodate in hostels provided under this section persons who fulfil the conditions specified in paragraph (a), but not the conditions specified in paragraph (b), of subsection (1) of this section, as well as persons who fulfil the conditions specified in both those paragraphs; and a local authority, in determining how much hostel accommodation to provide under subsection (1) of this section, shall have regard to the desirability of facilitating the association of persons who fulfil the conditions specified in both those paragraphs with persons who do not. [1768]

General note.—This section enables local authorities, with the consent of the Secretary of State, to provide hostels for persons over compulsory school age but under twenty-one.

In the case of a child under eighteen who is in the care of a local authority the local authority's duty under s. 13, ante, to provide accommodation and maintenance will prevent any charge being made for residence in a hostel, though contributions towards maintenance may be recovered from the persons mentioned in s. 24, post, who include the child himself if he is over sixteen and engaged in full-time work. After the child attains the age of eighteen the local authority's duty ceases, but the authority has power under s. 20 (1), post, to give financial assistance towards the cost of his maintenance in a hostel.

Definitions.—For definition of "compulsory school age", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

20. Financial assistance towards expenses of maintenance, education or training of persons over eighteen.—(1) A local authority may make contributions to the cost of the accommodation and maintenance of any such person as is mentioned in subsection (1) of the last foregoing section, being a person who has attained the age of eighteen, in any place near the place where he may be employed, or seeking employment, or in receipt of education or training. [1769]

(2) A local authority may make grants to persons who have attained the age of eighteen, but have not attained the age of twenty-one and who immediately before they attained the age of eighteen were in the care of a local authority, to enable them to meet expenses connected with their receiving suitable education or training. [1770]

(3) Where a person—

(a) is engaged in a course of education or training at the time when he attains the age of twenty-one; or

(b) having previously been engaged in a course of education or training which has been interrupted by any circumstances, resumes the course as soon as practicable, then if a local authority are at the said time, or were at the time when the course was interrupted, as the case may be, making any contributions or grants in respect of him under any of the foregoing provisions of this section their powers under those provisions shall continue with respect to him until the completion of the course. [1771]

General note.—This section confers two distinct powers on a local authority:

(a) power to contribute towards the maintenance of persons between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one who at any time since they were above compulsory school age were in the authority's care (sub-s. (1); and

(b) power to make grants towards the expenses of education or training of persons between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one who were in the authority's care immediately before they attained the age of eighteen (sub-s. (2)).

"In the care of a local authority."—See s. 11, ante.

Definitions.—For definition of "compulsory school age", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

21. Allocation of functions as between local authority and local education authority.—The Secretary of State and the Minister of Education, or in Scotland the Secretary of State, may make regulations for providing, where a local authority under this Part of this Act and a local education authority as such have concurrent functions, by which authority the functions are to be exercised, and for determining as respects any functions of a local education authority specified in the regulations whether a child in the care of a local authority is to be treated as a child of parents of sufficient resources or a child of parents without resources. [1772]

General note.—This section empowers the making of regulations for the allocation of concurrent functions between the local authority for the purposes of this Act and the local education authority.

The functions of the local authority under the present Act which overlap with those of the local education authority as such, and with regard to which it is contemplated that regulations will be made, are those under s. 12, ante, and under s. 20, ante.

Regulations.—As to regulations, generally, see s. 58, post. No regulations under the present section had been made up to the date of going to press.

Child of parents of sufficient resources.—This expression is not defined in the Education Acts, 1944 to 1946, or in the present Act. It is, however, an underlying principle of the Education Acts that no sums are to be recoverable in respect of benefits provided for a child if to do so would involve the parents in "financial hardship"; for the use of this term see the Education Act, 1944, s. 52 (37 Halsbury's Statutes 179).

Definitions.—For definitions of "child", "functions" and "local education authority", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

22. Power of local authority to defray expenses of parents, etc., visiting children or attending funerals.—A local authority may make payments to any parent or guardian of, or other person connected with, a child in their care in respect of travelling, subsistence or other expenses incurred by the parent, guardian or other person in visiting the child or attending his funeral, if it appears to the authority that the parent, guardian or other person would not otherwise be able to visit the child or attend the funeral without undue hardship and that the circumstances warrant the making of the payments. [1773]

"Child in the care of a local authority."—See s. 11, ante.

Funeral.—By s. 18, ante, a local authority is empowered to cause the body of any child dying while in their care to be buried or cremated.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child", "guardian" and "parent", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

PART III

CONTRIBUTIONS TOWARDS MAINTENANCE OF CHILDREN

23. Contributions in respect of children in care of local authority.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act, sections eighty-six to eighty-eight of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and sections ninety to ninety-two of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937 (which provide for the making of contributions in respect of children committed to the care of a fit person or sent to approved schools and for the payment to local authorities of sums due under affiliation orders or decrees for aliment) shall apply to children received into the care of a local authority under section one of this Act as they apply to children committed to the care of a local authority as a fit person. [1774]

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act, to the provisions of the said Acts of 1933 and 1937 as to appeals and to the provisions of the said Act of 1937 as to revocation or variation, a contribution order in respect of a child in the care of a local authority under section one of this Act shall remain in force so long as he remains in the care of a local authority under the said section one. [1775]

(3) In the application of the said section eighty-eight to children in the care of a local authority under section one of this Act, subsection (4) of the said section eighty-eight (which relates to the duration of affiliation orders) shall have effect as if for paragraphs (a) and (b) thereof there were substituted—

"after the child or young person has ceased to be in the care of a local authority under section one of the Children Act, 1948." [1776]

General note.—This section ensures that no greater financial burden is placed on a local authority if of their own motion they receive a child into their care pursuant to s. 1, ante, than if the same child were committed to their care by the court under a "fit person order," as to which see s. 5, ante, and notes thereto.

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, ss. 86–88.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 223–225. These sections are amended by s. 60, Sched. III and Sched. IV, Part I, post.

For the provisions as to appeals, see s. 102 (1) (26 Halsbury's Statutes 236), as amended.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "contribution order", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

24. Persons liable to make contributions.—(1) The persons liable under section eighty-six of the said Act of 1933 or section ninety of the said Act of 1937 to make contributions shall be the persons specified in that behalf in the following provisions of this section, and no others. [1777]

(2) The father and the mother of a child shall be liable to make contributions in respect of the child, but only so long as the child has not attained the age of sixteen; and no payments shall be required to be made under a contribution order made on the father or mother of a child in respect of any period after the child has attained that age. [1778]

(3) A person who has attained the age of sixteen and is engaged in remunerative full-time work shall be liable to make contributions in respect of himself. [1779]

General note.—The effect of sub-ss. (1) and (2), supra, is that the only persons liable to make contributions in respect of a child committed to the care of a fit person and sent to an approved school or received into the care of a local authority, are the father and mother, and their liability ceases when the child attains the age of sixteen. This follows the principle adopted in the National Assistance Act, 1948 (see ss. 42, 64 (1) thereof, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post).

Sub-s. (3), supra, makes the child himself liable for contributions after he has attained sixteen if he is engaged in full-time remunerative employment. There is no longer any limit to the aggregate of the weekly contributions in respect of any child (see s. 25, post).

Said Act of 1933.—The Children and Young Persons Act, 1933. For s. 86 thereof, see 26 Halsbury's Statutes 223.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "contribution order", see s. 59 (1), post.

25. Repeal of limit to amount of contributions.—The proviso to subsection (1) of section eighty-seven of the said Act of 1933 and the proviso to subsection (1) of section ninety-one of the said Act of 1937 (under which the aggregate of the weekly amounts payable under contribution orders and certain affiliation orders in respect of any one child may not exceed such sum as may be prescribed by the Secretary of State) shall cease to have effect. [1780]

General note.—The effect of this section is to remove the limit on the amount of a weekly contribution under a contribution order.

Said Act of 1933.—The Children and Young Persons Act, 1933. For s. 87 (1), proviso thereof, see 26 Halsbury's Statutes 224.

26. Affiliation orders.—(1) In England or Wales, where—

(a) an illegitimate child is in the care of a local authority under section one of this Act, or

(b) an order is in force for the committal of an illegitimate child in the care of a local authority as a fit person, or

(c) a local authority are maintaining an illegitimate child in an approved school of which they are the managers or are liable in respect of an illegitimate child to make contributions to the managers of any other approved school under whose care the child is,

and no affiliation order has been made in respect of the child, the local authority whose area includes the place where the mother of the child resides may make application to a court of summary jurisdiction having jurisdiction in that place for a summons to be served under section three of the Bastardy Laws Amendment Act, 1872:

Provided that no application shall be made under this subsection—

(i) in a case falling within paragraph (a) of this subsection, after the expiration of three years from the time when the child was received or last received into the care of the local authority or of another local authority from whom the care of the child was taken over by the first-mentioned authority;

(ii) in a case falling within paragraph (b) or (c) of this subsection, after the expiration of three years from the coming into force of the order mentioned in the said paragraph (b) or, as the case may be, the time when the local authority began to maintain the child or became liable in respect of him, as mentioned in the said paragraph (c). [1781]

(2) In any proceedings on an application under the last foregoing subsection the court shall hear such evidence as the local authority may produce, in addition to the evidence required to be heard by section four of the said Act of 1872, and shall in all other respects, but subject to the provisions of the next following subsection, proceed as on an application made by the mother under the said section three. [1782]

(3) An order made under section four of the said Act of 1872 on an application under subsection (1) of this section shall provide that the payments to be made under the order shall, in lieu of being made to the mother or a person appointed to have the custody of the child, be made to the person who is from time to time entitled under section eighty-six of the said Act of 1933 to receive contributions in respect of the child. [1783]

(4) Where in accordance with subsection (4) of section eighty-eight of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (which limits the duration of affiliation orders) an affiliation order has ceased to be in force, and but for that subsection the order would still be in force, then if the condition specified in paragraph (a), (b) or (c) of subsection (1) of this section is fulfilled, the local authority whose area includes the place where the putative father of the child resides may make application to a court of summary jurisdiction having jurisdiction in that place—and the court may make an order accordingly. [1784]

(a) for the affiliation order to be revived, and

(b) for payments thereunder to be made to the person who is from time to time entitled under section eighty-six of the said Act of 1933 to receive contributions in respect of the child,

(5) Part IV of the said Act of 1933 shall apply in relation to an order made on an application under subsection (1) of this section or to an affiliation order revived under the last foregoing subsection as if it were an affiliation order in respect of which an order had been made under subsection (1) of section eighty-eight of that Act. [1785]

(6) Paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of the said section eighty-eight of the said Act of 1933 (which paragraph provides for the enforcement and variation of affiliation orders where an order under that section is in force) shall have effect notwithstanding anything in paragraphs 5 and 6 of the Second Schedule to the Emergency Laws (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1947 (which contain general provisions for the variation and revocation of affiliation orders). [1786]

(7) The Secretary of State may issue new or altered forms of proceedings as he may deem necessary or expedient for giving effect to the foregoing provisions of this section. [1787]

(8) In Scotland, where the condition specified in paragraph (a) (b) or (c) of subsection (1) of this section is fulfilled and no decree for aliment has been granted in respect of the child—

(a) the local authority shall have the like right as the mother to raise an action of affiliation and aliment concluding for payment of aliment for the child;

(b) where in an action of affiliation and aliment raised under the last foregoing paragraph, the court grants decree against any person for aliment of the child, Part V of the said Act of 1937 shall apply to payments under the decree as if they were payments in respect of which an order had been made under subsection (1) of section ninety-two of that Act;

(c) the local authority or other person in whose favour any such order as aforesaid is made shall have the like right to enforce the decree (so far as relating to the said sums) by diligence, including the right to take proceedings under the Civil Imprisonment (Scotland) Act, 1882, as if the decree were a decree in favour of the authority or person.

In this subsection, references to the local authority include, where the context so requires, references to the education authority, and the reference to paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of this section shall be construed accordingly. [1788]

General note.—The Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 88 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 225), enables a local authority to obtain an order that payments under an affiliation order in respect of an illegitimate child committed to their care as a fit person, or sent to an approved school, be made to them; and the section as applied by s. 23, ante, enables the authority to obtain a like variation of an affiliation order in respect of an illegitimate child received into their care under s. 1, ante. The present section goes a step further, and enables a local authority to apply for an affiliation order in respect of any such child where no such order has been made on the mother's application.

The section is complementary to s. 44 of the National Assistance Act, 1948, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post, which gives a similar power of applying for affiliation orders to the National Assistance Board and to local authorities for the purposes of that Act.

Fit person orders.—See s. 5, ante, and the notes thereto.

Approved school.—As to the circumstances in which an approved school order may be made, see the notes to s. 6, ante.

PART IV

VOLUNTARY HOMES AND VOLUNTARY ORGANISATIONS

27. Provisions as to voluntary homes to extend to homes supported wholly or partly by endowments.—Section ninety-two of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and section ninety-six of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937 (which define the expression "voluntary home") shall have effect as if to the reference therein to a home or other institution supported wholly or partly by voluntary contributions there were added a reference to a home or other institution supported wholly or partly by endowments, not being a school within the meaning of the Education Act, 1944, or the Education (Scotland) Act, 1946. [1789]

Education Act, 1944.—37 Halsbury's Statutes 123. For the definition of "school", see s. 114 (1) thereof (37 Halsbury's Statutes 216).

28. Extension of age limits in provisions relating to voluntary homes.—A person shall not be deemed for the purposes of Part V of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or Part VI of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, to cease to be a young person until he attains the age of eighteen, and accordingly references to young persons in the said Part V or the said Part VI, or any other enactment in so far as it relates to the said Part V or the said Part VI, shall be construed as including references to all persons over the age of fourteen who have not attained the age of eighteen. [1790]

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, Part V.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 230–231.

29. Registration of voluntary homes.—(1) After the end of the year nineteen hundred and forty-eight no voluntary home shall be carried on unless it is for the time being registered in a register to be kept for the purposes of this section by the Secretary of State. [1791]

(2) Application for registration under this section shall be made by the persons carrying on or intending to carry on the home to which the application relates, and shall be made in such manner, and accompanied by such particulars, as the Secretary of State may by regulations prescribe. [1792]

(3) On an application duly made under the last foregoing subsection—

(a) if the home to which the application relates was at the commencement of this Act open for the reception of children, the application shall be granted ;

(b) in any other case, the Secretary of State may either grant or refuse the application, as he thinks fit, but where he refuses the application he shall give the applicant notice in writing of the refusal. [1793]

(4) Where at any time after the end of the year nineteen hundred and forty-eight it appears to the Secretary of State that the conduct of any voluntary home is not in accordance with regulations made or directions given under section thirty-one of this Act or is otherwise unsatisfactory, he may, after giving to the persons carrying on the home not less than twenty-eight days' notice in writing of his proposal so to do, remove the home from the register. [1794]

(5) Any person who carries on a voluntary home in contravention of the provisions of subsection (1) of this section shall be guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds and to a further fine not exceeding two pounds in respect of each day during which the offence continues after conviction. [1795]

(6) Where—

(a) a voluntary home is carried on in contravention of the provisions of subsection (1) of this section ; or

(b) notice of a proposal to remove a voluntary home from the register is given under subsection (4) thereof, the Secretary of State may, notwithstanding that the time for any appeal under the next following section has not expired or that such an appeal is pending, notify the local authority in whose area the home is situated, and require them forthwith to remove from the home and receive into their care under section one of this Act all or any of the children for whom accommodation is being provided in the home ; and the local authority shall comply with the requirement whether or not the circumstances of the children are such that they fall within paragraphs (a) to (c) of subsection (1) of the said section one and notwithstanding that any of the children may appear to the local authority to be over the age of seventeen.

For the purpose of carrying out the duty of the local authority under this subsection, any person authorised in that behalf by the local authority may enter any premises in which the home in question is being carried on. [1796]

(7) Where the Secretary of State registers a home under this section or removes a home from the register, he shall notify the local authority in whose area the home is situated. [1797]

(8) Any notice under this section required to be given by the Secretary of State to the persons carrying on, or intending to carry on, a voluntary home may be given to those persons by being delivered personally to any one of them, or being sent by post in a registered letter to them or any one of them.

For the purposes of section twenty-six of the Interpretation Act, 1889 (which defines "service by post") a letter enclosing a notice under this section to the persons carrying on a voluntary home or any one of them shall be deemed to be properly addressed if it is addressed to them or him at the home. [1798]

(9) Section ninety-five of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and section ninety-nine of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, are hereby repealed as from the first day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-nine. [1799]

General note.—This section which, as from January 1, 1949, replaces s. 95 of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 231), which is repealed as from that date by sub-s. (9), supra, and s. 60 (3) and Sched. IV, Part II, post), imposes a new and much stricter system of control over voluntary homes for children.

As from January 1, 1949, it is unlawful to carry on a voluntary home unless it is for the time being registered in the register of voluntary homes which is kept by the Secretary of State, and heavy penalties may be imposed on those who fail to register.

The section should be read in conjunction with ss. 30–32, post.

Regulations.—See the Voluntary Homes (Registration) Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 2408). These regulations prescribe three different forms of application for registration of a voluntary home according as to whether the home (a) was opened before July 5, 1948 (when the Act came into operation); (b) was opened during the period July 5, 1948—December 31, 1948; or (c) was or is to be opened on or after January 1, 1949.

As to regulations generally, see s. 58, post.

Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 26.—18 Halsbury's Statutes 1002.

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 95.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 231. The section was temporarily amended by s. 60 (2) and Sched. III, post, and is repealed as from January 1, 1949, by sub-s. (9), supra, and s. 60 (3) and Sched. IV, Part II, post.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "voluntary home", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

30. Appeals.—(1) Where under the last foregoing section application for the registration of a voluntary home is refused, or it is proposed to remove a voluntary home from the register, the persons intending to carry on or carrying on the home, as the case may be, may within fourteen days from the giving of the notice under subsection (3) or subsection (4) of that section appeal against the refusal or proposal; and where the appeal is brought against a proposal to remove a home from the register, the home shall not be removed therefrom before the determination of the appeal. [1800]

(2) An appeal under this section shall be brought by notice in writing addressed to the Secretary of State requiring him to refer the refusal or proposal to an appeal tribunal constituted in accordance with the provisions of Part I of the First Schedule to this Act. [1801]

(3) On an appeal under this section the appeal tribunal may confirm the refusal or proposal of the Secretary of State or may direct that the home shall be registered or, as the case may be, shall not be removed from the register, and the Secretary of State shall comply with the direction. [1802]

(4) The Lord Chancellor may with the concurrence of the Lord President of the Council make rules as to the practice and procedure to be followed with respect to the constitution of appeal tribunals for the purposes of this section, as to the manner of making appeals to such tribunals, and as to proceedings before such tribunals and matters incidental to or consequential on such proceedings; and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provisions of this subsection such rules may make provision as to the particulars to be supplied by or to the Secretary of State of matters relevant to the determination of the appeal, and as to representation before such tribunals, whether by counsel or solicitor or otherwise. [1803]

(5) The Secretary of State may out of moneys provided by Parliament—

(a) pay to members of tribunals constituted for the purposes of this section such fees and allowances as he may with the consent of the Treasury determine,

(b) defray the expenses of such tribunals up to such amount as he may with the like consent determine. [1804]

(6) The provisions of the Arbitration Acts, 1889 to 1934, shall not apply to any proceedings before a tribunal constituted for the purposes of this section except so far as any provisions thereof may be applied thereto with or without modifications by rules made under this section. [1805]

(7) In the application of this section to Scotland, for the reference to Part I of the First Schedule to this Act there shall be substituted a reference to Part II of that Schedule, and for the references to the Lord Chancellor and the Lord President of the Council there shall respectively be substituted references to the Lord President of the Court of Session and to the Secretary of State; and rules made under subsection (4) of this section may make provision for a reference to the Court of Session, by way of stated case, of any question of law arising in such proceedings. [1806]

General note.—This section confers a right of appeal to an ad hoc appeal tribunal, constituted in accordance with Sched. 1, post, on a person carrying on or proposing to carry on a voluntary home against a proposal to remove the home from the register kept pursuant to s. 29 (1), ante, or refusal to register the home, as the case may be.

Arbitration Acts, 1889 to 1934.—These Acts are the Arbitration Act, 1889; the Arbitration Clauses (Protocol) Act, 1924; the Arbitration (Foreign Awards) Act, 1930; and the Arbitration Act, 1934 (2 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 4, 31, 23, 29).

Definition.—For definition of "voluntary home", see s. 59 (1), post.

31. Regulations as to conduct of voluntary homes.—(1) The Secretary of State may make regulations as to the conduct of voluntary homes and for securing the welfare of the children therein, and regulations under this section may in particular—

(a) impose requirements as to the accommodation and equipment to be provided in homes, authorise the Secretary of State to give directions prohibiting the provision for the children in any home of clothing of any description specified in the directions, and impose requirements as to the medical arrangements to be made for protecting the health of the children in the homes;

(b) require the furnishing to the Secretary of State of information as to the facilities provided for the parents and guardians of children in the homes to visit and communicate with the children, and authorise the Secretary of State to give directions as to the provision of such facilities;

(c) authorise the Secretary of State to give directions limiting the number of children who may at any one time be accommodated in any particular home;

(d) provide for consultation with the Secretary of State as to applicants for appointment to the charge of a home and empower the Secretary of State to prohibit the appointment of any particular applicant therefor except in the cases (if any) in which the regulations dispense with such consultation by reason that the person to be appointed possesses such qualifications as may be prescribed by the regulations;

(e) require notice to be given to the Secretary of State of any change of the person in charge of a home; and

(f) impose requirements as to the facilities which are to be given for children to receive a religious upbringing appropriate to the persuasion to which they belong, and may contain different provisions for different descriptions of cases and as respects different descriptions of homes. [1807]

(2) Where any regulation under this section provides that this subsection shall have effect in relation thereto, any person who contravenes or fails to comply with the regulation or any requirement or direction thereunder shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds. [1808]

Regulations.—As to regulations generally, see s. 58, post.
No regulations under this section had been made up to the date of going to press.
Penalties.—As to prosecutions, see s. 55, post. A more serious sanction than the fines which may be imposed under sub-s. (2), supra, is provided by the power conferred on the Secretary of State by s. 39 (4), ante, to remove from the register any voluntary home which appears to him not to be conducted in accordance with regulations under the present section.
Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "voluntary home", see s. 59 (1), post.

32. Provisions where particulars to be sent of voluntary homes are varied.—(1) Where the Secretary of State by regulations made under section ninety-three of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or section ninety-seven of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, varies the particulars which are to be sent by persons in charge of voluntary homes—

(a) the person in charge of such a home shall send the prescribed particulars to the Secretary of State within three months from the date of the making of the regulations;

(b) where any such home was established before, but not more than three months before, the making of the regulations, compliance with the last foregoing paragraph shall be sufficient compliance with the requirement of the said section ninety-three or ninety-seven to send the prescribed particulars within three months from the establishment of the home;

(c) in the year in which the particulars are varied, compliance with paragraph (a) of this subsection by the person in charge of any voluntary home shall be sufficient compliance with the requirement of the said section ninety-three or ninety-seven to send the prescribed particulars before the prescribed date in that year. [1809]

(2) Any default in complying with the requirements of paragraph (a) of the last foregoing subsection shall be deemed to be such a default as is mentioned in subsection (2) of the said section ninety-three or in subsection (3) of the said section ninety-seven, as the case may be. [1810]

General note.—S. 93 of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 230), provides that particulars prescribed by regulations with regard to every voluntary home must be sent to the Home Secretary by the person in charge of the home within three months after the commencement of the Act or the establishment of the home, as the case may be, and in subsequent years before such date as may be prescribed. The regulations under this section at present in force are the Children and Young Persons (Voluntary Homes) Regulations, 1945 (S. R. & O., 1945, No. 1196), which provide that in 1945 and subsequent years, the date on or before which the particulars are to be sent to the Secretary of State is to be July 1.
The present section contemplates the making of new regulations varying those now prescribed by S. R. & O., 1945, No. 1196, supra, and provides that the particulars to be prescribed by such new regulations shall be sent in within three months after the regulations are made (sub-s. (1) (a)). Compliance with this obligation is, in the case of a home established within three months before the making of the new regulations, to override the obligation to send in particulars within three months after a new home is established (sub-s. (1) (b)), and in any other case, to override the obligation to send in particulars before the prescribed date in the year in which the new regulations are made (sub-s. (1) (c)).

Newly established homes.—Existing homes which are first brought within the definition of voluntary homes by ss. 27 or 28, ante, are deemed to have been established at the commencement of the present Act (see Sched. II, para. 7, post).

33. Powers of Secretary of State as to voluntary organisations.—(1) The Secretary of State may by regulations control the making and carrying out by voluntary organisations of arrangements for the emigration of children. [1811]

(2) Any such regulations may contain such consequential and incidental provisions as appear to the Secretary of State to be necessary or expedient, including, in particular, provisions for requiring information to be given to the Secretary of State as to the operations or intended operations of the organisation and for enabling the Secretary of State to be satisfied that suitable arrangements have been or will be made for the children's reception and welfare in the country to which they are going. [1812]

(3) The power conferred by Part II of this Act on the Secretary of State to make regulations as to the boarding-out of children by local authorities shall extend also to the boarding-out of children by voluntary organisations:

Provided that in the provisions of the said Part II conferring that power any reference to the supervision and inspection by a local authority of boarded-out children and the premises in which they are boarded out shall, in relation to children boarded out by voluntary organisations, be deemed to be a reference to supervision and inspection either by a local authority or, where it is so provided by or under the regulations, by a voluntary organisation. [1813]

(4) Where any regulation under this section provides that this subsection shall have effect in relation thereto, any person who contravenes or fails to comply with the regulation shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds. [1814]

General note.—This section authorises the making of regulations controlling child emigration arranged through the agency of voluntary organisations (sub-ss. (1) and (2)), and the boarding-out of children by voluntary organisations (sub-s. (3)). Breach of specified regulations may be made punishable by a fine of not more than £50 (sub-s. (4)).

Regulations.—As to regulations generally, see s. 58, post. No regulations under the present section had been made up to the date of going to press.

Emigration.—As to local authorities' powers to assist the emigration of children, see s. 17, ante.

Regulations as to the boarding-out of children.—See s. 14, ante.

Offences.—As to the prosecution of offences, see s. 58, post.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "voluntary organisation", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

34. After-care of children formerly in care of local authorities or voluntary organisations.—(1) Where it comes to the knowledge of a local authority that there is in their area any child over compulsory school age who at the time when he ceased to be of that age or at any subsequent time was, but is no longer,—

then, unless the authority are satisfied that the welfare of the child does not require it, they shall be under a duty so long as he has not attained the age of eighteen to advise and befriend him:

Provided that where in a case falling within paragraph (b) of this subsection the local authority are satisfied that the voluntary organisation have the necessary facilities for advising and befriending him, the local authority may make arrangements whereby, while the arrangements continue in force, he shall be advised and befriended by the voluntary organisation instead of by the local authority. [1815]

(2) Where a child over compulsory school age—

(a) ceases to be in the care of a local authority under section one of this Act and proposes to reside in the area of another local authority, or

(b) ceases to be in the care of a voluntary organisation,

the authority or organisation shall inform the local authority for the area in which the child proposes to reside. [1816]

(3) Where it comes to the knowledge of a local authority or a voluntary organisation that a child whom they have been advising and befriending in pursuance of this section proposes to transfer or has transferred his residence to the area of another local authority, the first-mentioned local authority or, as the case may be, the voluntary organisation, shall inform the said other local authority. [1817]

General note.—This section imposes on local authorities the duty of providing, or arranging for suitably-equipped voluntary organisations to provide, after-care for children in certain circumstances. These circumstances are (i) that the children affected are over fifteen and under eighteen, (ii) that they have ceased to be in the care of a local authority or voluntary organisation, and (iii) that the circumstances of the children is not such as to render after-care unnecessary for their welfare.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child", "compulsory school age" and "voluntary organisation", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, post.

PART V

CHILD LIFE PROTECTION

35. General extension of Child Life Protection provisions to all children below school leaving age.—The following provisions, that is to say—

(a) Part VII of the Public Health Act, 1936, Part XIII of the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, and Part I of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937 (which provide for the protection of children under the age of nine who are maintained apart from their parents for reward); and

(b) section seven of the Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939 (which provides for the supervision of children under the age of nine where arrangements are made through third parties for placing them in the care and possession of persons other than their parents), shall be extended so as to apply to children of compulsory school age who are over the age of nine as they apply to children who are under that age; and subject to the provisions of the next following section reference in the said provisions to the age of nine, and to nursing and maintaining, shall be construed accordingly. [1818]

General note.—This section, which should be read together with ss. 36 and 37, post, extends the period of a child's life during which the child protection provisions of the Public Health Acts, infra, and of the Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939, infra, are to operate. Principally through the agency of child protection visitors, the Public Health Acts provide for protecting children who are maintained apart from their parents for reward. The 1939 Act provides for the supervision by welfare authorities in certain circumstances of children placed in the care of strangers pending adoption. In all cases the provisions of these Acts previously applied only to children under nine years of age, but the present section now extends these provisions to cover children up to the upper limit of the compulsory school age (at present, fifteen years).

S. 36, post, further extends the provisions to cover children up to eighteen if such provisions applied at the time the child ceased to be of compulsory school age; and by s. 37, post, the class of children protected under the Public Health Acts is enlarged to include orphans in respect of whom State allowances are paid to the persons maintaining them.

As to the local authorities for the purposes of the child protection provisions of the above-mentioned Acts, see s. 38, post.

Consequential amendments are made by s. 60 (2) and Sched. III, post.

Public Health Act, 1936, Part VII.—29 Halsbury's Statutes 460–470.

Public Health (London) Act, 1936, Part XIII.—30 Halsbury's Statutes 581–588.

Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939, s. 7.—32 Halsbury's Statutes 210.

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "compulsory school age", see s. 59 (1), post.

36. Extension of certain Child Life Protection provisions to children up to eighteen.—Where any of the provisions specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of the last foregoing section apply in respect of a child at the time when he ceases to be of compulsory school age, the said provisions and the provisions of this Act relating thereto shall continue to apply in respect of him—

(a) until the time when he attains the age of eighteen or ceases to live apart from his parents with the person with whom he was living when he ceased to be of compulsory school age;

(b) if he dies before attaining the age of eighteen and while living as aforesaid, as respects the notice to be given under the said provisions on his death. [1819]

General note.—This section should be read with s. 35, ante, and s. 37, post; see the notes to s. 35, ante.

Notice to be given on his death.—This notice is required to be given within twenty-four hours after the death of a foster child by the foster parent to the coroner (see the Public Health Act, 1936, s. 212 (20 Halsbury's Statutes 468); and the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, s. 204 (20 Halsbury's Statutes 585)).

Definitions.—For definitions of "child" and "compulsory school age", see s. 59 (1), post.

37. Miscellaneous amendments of Child Life Protection provisions.—(1) Where a child one or both of whose parents are dead is being maintained by a person who is not a parent, guardian or relative of his, and by reason of his being so maintained a guardian's allowance under the National Insurance Act, 1946, or a family allowance under the Family Allowances Act, 1945, is payable to that person, the said person shall be treated for the purposes of the provisions specified in paragraph (a) of the last but one foregoing section as having undertaken, on the date hereinafter specified, the nursing and maintenance of the child for reward.

The date hereinbefore referred to is the last of the following dates, that is to say—

(a) the date on which the application for the allowance was granted or, where the application was granted before the commencement of this Act but so as to take effect at a subsequent date not earlier than the commencement thereof, the date on which the allowance became payable;

(b) the date of the death of the first to die of the child's parents;

(c) where it is proved that at the later of the dates mentioned in the foregoing paragraphs the person in question had reasonable cause to believe that both parents of the child were alive, the date on which the said person became aware that one of the child's parents had died. [1820]

(2) A voluntary home shall be exempted from the provisions of Part VII of the Public Health Act, 1936, whether or not it is such a home as is mentioned in paragraphs (a) to (c) of subsection (1) of section two hundred and nineteen of that Act. [1821]

(3) Nothing in the said Part VII, in Part XIII of the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, or in Part I of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, shall apply in relation to any undertaking given by a person with whom a child is boarded out by the Minister of Pensions, by a local authority under Part II of this Act or by a voluntary organisation. [1822]

(4) The provisions of section seven of the Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939, shall not have effect in relation to any arrangements for the boarding-out of a child by a voluntary organisation or in relation to any arrangements in which the Minister of Pensions participates. [1823]

(5) Nothing in any of the provisions mentioned in section thirty-five of this Act shall apply in relation to a child on whom a requirement as to residence is imposed by a supervision order or probation order. [1824]

(6) For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that the references in section two hundred and nineteen of the Public Health Act, 1936, section two hundred and seventy-one of the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, and section eleven of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, to hospitals maintained by a Government department include references to hospitals maintained by Regional Hospital Boards on behalf of the Minister of Health or the Secretary of State. [1825]

General note.—This section, which adds a number of new exemptions from the operation of the child life protection enactments, should be read with ss. 35 and 36, ante; see the notes to s. 35, ante.

Consequential amendments are made by s. 60 (2) and Sched. III, post.

National Insurance Act, 1946.—39 Halsbury's Statutes 412. S. 19 thereof (39 Halsbury's Statutes 439) deals with guardian's allowance.

ADMINISTRATIVE AND FINANCIAL PROVISIONS

38. Local authorities.—(1) In England and Wales, the local authorities for the purposes of this Act and of Parts III and IV of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and the welfare authorities for the purposes of the provisions relating to child life protection of Part VII of the Public Health Act, 1936, shall be the councils of counties and county boroughs, and the local authority for the purposes of Part XIII of the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, shall be the London County Council. [1826]

(2) In Scotland, the local authorities for the purposes of this Act shall be the councils of counties and large burghs. [1827]

General note.—The effect of this section is that county councils (including the London County Council) and county borough councils become the local authorities not only for the purposes of the present Act, but also for the purposes of the provisions of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, infra, relating to children and young persons committed to the care of fit persons or sent to approved schools or remand homes, and of the child life protection provisions of the Public Health Acts, infra. By virtue of s. 16 (2), (3) of the Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939 (32 Halsbury's Statutes 215), the same local authorities are welfare authorities for the purposes of s. 7 of that Act.

Consequential amendments are made by s. 60 (2) and Sched. III, post.

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, Parts III and IV.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 192–229.

Public Health (London) Act, 1936, Part XIII.—30 Halsbury's Statutes 581 et seq.

39. Children's committee.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the next following section, every local authority shall establish a children's committee for the purposes of their functions under the following enactments, that is to say—

(a) Parts III and IV of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or, as the case may be, Parts IV and V of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937;

(b) the provisions relating to child life protection of Part VII of the Public Health Act, 1936, the provisions of Part XIII of the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, or the provisions of Part I of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, as the case may be;

(2) All matters relating to the discharge of the functions of a local authority under the enactments specified in subsection (1) of this section shall stand referred to the children's committee, and except with the consent of the Secretary of State no matter not relating to the discharge of the said functions shall be referred to or dealt with by the children's committee. [1829]

(3) Before exercising any of the said functions a local authority shall, unless the matter is urgent, consider a report of the children's committee with respect thereto, and they may authorise the children's committee to exercise on their behalf any of the said functions except the power to borrow money or to levy or to issue a precept for a rate. [1830]

(4) The children's committee may include persons specially qualified by reason of experience or training in matters relating to the functions of the committee, notwithstanding that they are not members of the local authority:

Provided that at least a majority of the members of the committee shall be members of the authority. [1831]

(5) A children's committee may, subject to any restrictions imposed by the local authority, establish such sub-committees as the children's committee may determine, and any sub-committee established under this subsection shall be constituted in such manner as the children's committee may, subject to any restrictions so imposed, determine, and may include persons specially qualified as aforesaid notwithstanding that they are not members of the local authority or of the children's committee:

Provided that every such sub-committee shall include at least one member of the local authority. [1832]

(6) A sub-committee under the last foregoing subsection may be appointed by the children's committees of two or more local authorities jointly, so however that a sub-committee so appointed shall include at least one member of each of the local authorities. [1833]

(7) The children's committee or committees by which a sub-committee is appointed under this section may, subject to any restrictions imposed by the local authority or any of the respective local authorities, authorise the sub-committee to exercise on behalf of the children's committee or committees, as the case may be, any of their functions. [1834]

(8) The provisions of subsection (2) of this section shall not prevent a local authority from referring to any committee appointed by them other than the children's committee any matter relating to the discharge of their functions under the enactments specified in subsection (1) of this section which, by reason that it relates also to a general service of the authority, ought in the opinion of the authority to be so referred, and the provisions of subsections (2) and (3) of this section shall not apply to any matter which is so referred:

Provided that before deciding on any proposal for a reference under this subsection, the local authority shall receive and consider a report on the proposal from the children's committee. [1835]

General note.—Every local authority for the purposes of this Act, unless excused (see s. 40 (1), post), or concurring in the appointment of a joint committee (see s. 40 (4), post), is required to appoint a children's committee to deal with all matters concerning the authority's functions under specified enactments relating to children deprived of a normal home life (sub-s. (1), supra). Such matters are to stand referred automatically to the children's committee, which, except with the consent of the Secretary of State, is to deal with no other matters (sub-s. (2)), and, except in cases of urgency, the authority must consider a report of the committee before acting (sub-s. (3)). The authority may delegate all its said functions to the committee, other than those which involve borrowing or the raising of a rate (sub-s. (3)); and the committee may establish, or join with the children's committee of other local authorities in establishing, sub-committees with authority to exercise on behalf of the committee any of their functions (sub-ss. (5), (6), (7)). A majority of the members of the committee (sub-s. (4)), and at least one member of each sub-committee, must be members of the local authority, while every joint sub-committee must include at least one member of each local authority appointing the joint committee (sub-s. (6)). Other committee, sub-committee and joint sub-committee members may be specially qualified persons who are not members of the local authority or, as the case may be, of any of the local authorities appointing the joint sub-committee (sub-ss. (4), (5), (6)).

As to the appointment of a children's officer, see s. 41, post, and as to the power of the Secretary of State to control the exercise of functions under the enactments specified in sub-s. (1), supra, see s. 42, post.

40. Modification, in certain cases, of requirements of last foregoing section.—(1) If, before a local authority have appointed a children's committee under the last foregoing section, the Secretary of State is satisfied that owing to special circumstances the authority can better discharge their functions under the enactments specified in subsection (1) of that section without establishing a children's committee, he may direct that the said section shall not apply to the authority. [1836]

(2) If, at any time after three years from the commencement of this Act, a local authority which have established a children's committee satisfy the Secretary of State that owing to special circumstances the authority can better discharge their functions under the enactments specified in subsection (1) of the last foregoing section without a children's committee, the Secretary of State may direct that thenceforth the said section shall not apply to the authority. [1837]

(3) A direction under subsection (1) or subsection (2) of this section may be revoked by the Secretary of State either—

(a) on the application of the local authority concerned; or

(b) without any such application, if the Secretary of State is of the opinion that experience of the arrangements made by the authority for the discharge of their functions under the enactments specified in subsection (1) of the last foregoing section has shown that the arrangements are not satisfactory. [1838]

(4) Nothing in this or the last foregoing section shall be construed as prejudicing the powers conferred by section ninety-one of the Local Government Act, 1933, as to the appointment of joint committees, and references to the appointment of a children's committee by an authority, and to the children's committee of an authority, shall accordingly be construed, as respects England and Wales, as including references to concurrence in the appointment of a joint committee under the said section ninety-one, and to any joint committee so appointed; and the requirement of the last foregoing section that a sub-committee shall include at least one member of the local authority shall, in relation to a sub-committee of any such joint committee, be construed as a requirement that the sub-committee shall include at least one member of each local authority. [1839]

(5) In Scotland, any two or more local authorities may agree to combine in the establishment of a children's committee for the discharge of their functions under the enactments specified in subsection (1) of the last foregoing section, and the provisions of sections one hundred and nineteen and one hundred and twenty-one of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1937, shall apply in so far as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of the last foregoing section. In relation to a sub-committee of any such joint committee, the requirement of the last foregoing section that a sub-committee shall include one member of the local authority shall be construed as a requirement that a sub-committee shall include at least one member of each local authority:

Provided that nothing in this or the last foregoing section shall be construed as precluding a local authority from joining another local authority in establishing remand homes in accordance with the provisions of subsection (1) of section eighty-one of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, and subsections (2) and (3) of the last foregoing section shall not apply to any arrangement so made. [1840]

General note.—This section makes provision for the modification of the requirements of s. 39, ante, in a number of special cases.

41. The children's officer.—(1) For the purposes of their functions under the enactments specified in subsection (1) of section thirty-nine of this Act, a local authority shall in accordance with the provisions of this section appoint an officer to be known as the children's officer. [1841]

(2) A local authority shall not appoint a person to be the children's officer except after consultation with the Secretary of State, and for the purpose of such consultation shall send to the Secretary of State particulars showing the name, age, experience and qualifications of the persons from whom they propose to make a selection, and if the Secretary of State is of opinion that any of those persons is not a fit person to be the children's officer of the authority he may give directions prohibiting his appointment:

Provided that the Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit so to do in the case of the first appointment made under this section by any particular local authority, dispense with compliance with this subsection if the authority are proposing to appoint a person who, on the date of the passing of this Act, was performing as an officer of the authority functions corresponding to those falling to be performed after the commencement of this Act by the children's officer. [1842]

(3) Where the Secretary of State is satisfied that the same person can efficiently discharge the functions of children's officer for two or more local authorities, he may approve the appointment of one person as the children's officer by each of the authorities. [1843]

(4) The children's officer of an authority shall not, except with the consent of the Secretary of State, be employed by that authority in any other capacity. [1844]

(5) A local authority shall secure the provision of adequate staff for assisting the children's officer in the exercise of his functions. [1845]

(6) The provisions as to remuneration and tenure of office contained in sections one hundred and five and one hundred and six of the Local Government Act, 1933, section seventy-five of the London Government Act, 1939, or sections eighty-two and ninety-two of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947, as the case may be, shall apply to children's officers. [1846]

General note.—This section requires every local authority to appoint a children's officer for the purpose of the functions entrusted to the children's committee (as to which see s. 39 (1), ante). The children's officer is intended to be a "field officer", most of whose time will be spent outside the authority's office in making contacts with children, parents, homes and institutions.

42. Powers of Secretary of State with respect to functions of local authorities.—(1) Local authorities shall exercise their functions under the enactments specified in subsection (1) of section thirty-nine of this Act (including any discretion conferred on them thereunder) under the general guidance of the Secretary of State. [1847]

(2) Sections three hundred and twenty-two, three hundred and twenty-four and three hundred and twenty-five of the Public Health Act, 1936 (which make provision for the exercise by the Minister of Health of certain functions otherwise exercisable by certain authorities) shall not apply in relation to any functions of local authorities under Part VII of that Act, being functions relating to child life protection. Definitions.—For definition of "functions", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, ante.

43. Advisory Council on Child Care.—(1) There shall be a council, to be known as the Advisory Council on Child Care, for the purpose of advising the Secretary of State on matters connected with the discharge of his functions in England and Wales under this Act, Parts IV and V of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or any of the enactments specified in paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection (1) of section thirty-nine of this Act. [1849]

(2) The said council shall consist of such persons, to be appointed by the Secretary of State, as the Secretary of State may think fit, being persons specially qualified to deal with matters affecting the welfare of children and persons having such other qualifications as the Secretary of State considers requisite.

Among the persons appointed under this subsection there shall be persons having experience in local government. [1850]

(3) The Secretary of State shall appoint a person to be chairman, and a person to be the secretary, of the said council. [1851]

(4) It shall be the duty of the said council to advise the Secretary of State on any matter which the Secretary of State may refer to them, being such a matter as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, and they may also, of their own motion, make representations to the Secretary of State as respects any such matter as is mentioned in that subsection. [1852]

(5) The Secretary of State may make out of moneys provided by Parliament such payments to the members of the said council in respect of travelling, subsistence and other expenses as he may with the consent of the Treasury determine. [1853]

44. Advisory Council on Child Care for Scotland. [1854]

45. Grants for training in child care.—(1) The Secretary of State with the consent of the Treasury may out of moneys provided by Parliament defray or contribute towards any fees or expenses incurred by persons undergoing training approved by the Secretary of State with a view to, or in the course of, their employment for the purposes of any of the enactments specified in subsection (1) of section thirty-nine of this Act, or their employment by a voluntary organisation for similar purposes, and may defray or contribute towards the cost of maintenance of persons undergoing such training. [1855]

(2) The Secretary of State may out of moneys provided by Parliament make grants of such amounts, and subject to such conditions, as he may with the consent of the Treasury determine towards expenses incurred by any body of persons in providing courses suitable for persons undergoing training as aforesaid. [1856]

General note.—This section authorises the Secretary of State, with the consent of the Treasury, to make out of public funds two distinct kinds of training grants

(a) grants, defraying fees or expenses or cost of maintenance, in respect of students taking courses of instruction with a view to, or in the course of, certain kinds of employment relating to children deprived of a normal home life (sub-s. (1), supra); and

(b) grants for the provision of courses for such students (sub-s. (2), supra).

Definition.—For definition of "voluntary organisation", see s. 59 (1), post.

46. Grants to voluntary organisations.—(1) The Secretary of State may make out of moneys provided by Parliament grants of such amounts, and subject to such conditions, as he may with the consent of the Treasury determine towards expenses incurred or to be incurred by voluntary organisations, in circumstances such that it appears to the Secretary of State requisite that the grants should be made, for improving premises in which voluntary homes are being carried on or the equipment of voluntary homes, or for securing that voluntary homes will be better provided with qualified staff. [1857]

(2) A local authority may, with the consent of the Secretary of State, make contributions to any voluntary organisation the object or primary object of which is to promote the welfare of children. [1858]

General note.—Sub-s. (1), supra, authorises the Secretary of State, in certain circumstances, to make grants towards the improvement of voluntary homes. By s. 47 (1), post, he may deduct a proportion, not exceeding 50 per cent. of this expenditure, from the grants payable to local authorities.

Sub-s. (2), supra, empowers local authorities, with the consent of the Secretary of State, to make contributions to voluntary organisations concerned with child welfare. Such contributions will rank for grant under s. 47 (1), post.

Definitions.—For definitions of "voluntary home" and "voluntary organisation", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, ante.

47. Grants to local authorities.—(1) There shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament to a local authority in respect of expenditure incurred by them for the purpose of the discharge of their functions under any of the enactments specified in subsection (1) of section thirty-nine of this Act, other than expenses incurred as managers of an approved school or in respect of children sent to an approved school or in respect of remand homes,—

(a) such sums not exceeding fifty per cent. of the expenditure as the Secretary of State may with the consent of the Treasury direct, and subject to such conditions as he may with the like consent determine;

(b) such additional sums as he may with the like consent direct as representing the share appropriate to the local authority of sums received under the provisions of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, as the case may be, as to contributions towards expenses, or under subsection (3), or paragraph (b) of subsection (8), of section twenty-six of this Act, and paid over to the Secretary of State, other than such sums so paid over which were received in respect of children sent to approved schools, subject however to the deduction of an amount equal to such proportion not exceeding fifty per cent. as the Secretary of State may with the consent of the Treasury determine of so much of the expenditure incurred by the Secretary of State under the two last foregoing sections as he may with the like consent allocate to that authority. [1859]

(2) No payment shall be made under section one hundred and four of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or section one hundred and seven of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, (which provide for Exchequer grants for certain expenditure under those Acts) in respect of any expenditure in respect of which payments are authorised to be made under the last foregoing subsection. [1860]

General note.—The principle behind the financial arrangements of this section is that the cost over the whole field of care of children deprived of a normal home life is to be shared equally between the Exchequer and the local authorities.

In addition to the grant based on expenditure, local authorities may be allowed a proportion of the sums received by the Secretary of State in respect of contributions towards expenses or under affiliation orders made at the instance of the local authority.

In calculating a local authority's expenditure for grant purposes, expenditure incurred as managers of an approved school, or in respect of children sent to an approved school or in respect of remand homes, is to be ignored. Likewise, in calculating sums received by the Secretary of State in respect of contributions, or under affiliation orders made at the instance of local authorities, sums in respect of children sent to approved schools are to be ignored (sub-s. (1), supra).

Sub-s. (2), supra, prevents the same expenditure from ranking for grants under both the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and the present Act.

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 104.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 237. For the provisions of this Act as to contributions towards expenses, see s. 8 thereof (26 Halsbury's Statutes 224).

Definitions.—For definition of "functions", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, ante.

48. Administrative expenses of Secretary of State.—The administrative expenses incurred by the Secretary of State under this Act shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament. [1861]

49. Accounts of councils of county boroughs.—(1) The council of every county borough shall keep separate accounts of the sums received and expended by them in the exercise of their functions under any of the enactments mentioned in subsection (1) of section thirty-nine of this Act, other than sums received or expended by them as managers of an approved school or in respect of children sent to an approved school or in respect of remand homes. [1862]

(2) The accounts to be kept under this section shall be made up and audited in like manner as the accounts of a county council. [1863]

(3) The enactments relating to the audit of accounts by a district auditor and to the matters incidental to such audit and consequential thereon shall have effect in relation to the accounts which the council of a county borough are required to keep under this section as they have effect in relation to the accounts of a county council. [1864]

General note.—The necessity for this section arises from the fact that although by s. 219 of the Local Government Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 424), all county council accounts are automatically subject to district audit, yet by ss. 237–240 of that Act (26 Halsbury's Statutes 433–436), borough council accounts are not so subject unless there is special statutory provision to that effect or the council so determines.

PART VII

MISCELLANEOUS AND GENERAL

50. Appointment of guardians.—In section four of the Guardianship of Infants Act, 1925, the following subsection shall be inserted after subsection (2):—

> "(2A) Where an infant has no parent, no guardian of the person, and no other person having parental rights with respect to him, the court, on the application of any person, may if it thinks fit appoint the applicant to be the guardian of the infant." [1865]

General note.—This section amends the Guardianship of Infants Act, 1925 (9 Halsbury's Statutes 820), so as to enable a court of summary jurisdiction or a county court to appoint a person on his own application to be guardian of a child if the latter has no parent or guardian living and no one else has parental rights over him. Formerly, although under s. 4 of the Guardianship of Infants Act, 1925, as originally enacted (see infra), the High Court, the county court and a court of summary jurisdiction, all had power to appoint a guardian to act jointly with a surviving parent in cases where there was no testamentary guardian appointed by the deceased parent, there was no statutory jurisdiction to appoint a guardian of an infant who had no living parents or guardian. Such an appointment could be made by the Chancery Division in the exercise of its inherent jurisdiction over infants (see 17 Halsbury's Laws (2nd Edn.) 695), but the expense involved in an application to the High Court deterred persons of small means from seeking the exercise of this jurisdiction.

Guardianship of Infants Act, 1925, s. 4.—9 Halsbury's Statutes 821.

No other person having parental rights.—These words prevent an application for appointment of a guardian being made where a resolution of a local authority assuming parental rights under s. 2, ante, is in force.

51. Provisions as to places of safety.—(1) Local authorities shall make provision, in homes provided by them under Part II of this Act, for the reception and maintenance of children removed to a place of safety under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, the Public Health Act, 1936, the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, or the Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939. [1866]

(2) The provision to be made in pursuance of the last foregoing subsection shall as far as practicable be made in such separate accommodation for the temporary reception of children as is required to be provided by subsection (2) of section fifteen of this Act. [1867]

(3) Where under any of the enactments mentioned in subsection (1) of this section a child is removed to a place of safety not being a home provided by a local authority under Part II of this Act and not being a hospital vested in the Minister of Health or the Secretary of State, the expenses of the child's maintenance there shall be recoverable from the local authority within whose area the child was immediately before his removal. [1868]

General note.—The effect of sub-ss. (1) and (2), supra, is to make homes provided by local authorities pursuant to s. 15, ante, and in particular, wherever this is practicable, temporary reception homes, available for use as places of safety.

Sub-s. (3), supra, makes the expenses of maintaining a child in a place of safety (other than a local authority's home or a State hospital) recoverable from the authority in whose area the child was immediately before removal to a place of safety. It should be noted that there is no obligation on such authority to pay these expenses until they are demanded.

Consequential amendments to the enactments referred to below, are made by s. 60 (2) and Sched. III, post.

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 168. As to the removal of children to a place of safety, see ss. 26, 40, 67, thereof (26 Halsbury's Statutes 190, 197, 210).

Public Health Act, 1936.—29 Halsbury's Statutes 310. As to the removal of children to a place of safety, see s. 212 thereof (29 Halsbury's Statutes 467).

Public Health (London) Act, 1936.—30 Halsbury's Statutes 438. As to the removal of children to a place of safety, see s. 201 thereof (30 Halsbury's Statutes 584).

Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939.—32 Halsbury's Statutes 205. As to the removal of children to a place of safety, see s. 7 thereof (32 Halsbury's Statutes 211).

Definitions.—For definition of "child", see s. 59 (1), post; as to "local authority", see s. 38, ante.

52. Amendment of Family Allowances Act, 1945, ss. 11 and 26.—(1) In section eleven of the Family Allowances Act, 1945, the following subsection shall be substituted for subsection (3):—

> "(3) A child in respect of whom there is in force a resolution of a local authority passed under subsection (1) of section two of the Children Act, 1948, shall not, for the purposes of this Act, be treated as included in any family:
> Provided that this subsection shall not have effect as respects any period during which under the provisions of section three or section four of the said Act of 1948 the child is allowed by the local authority to be, either for a fixed period or otherwise, under the control of a parent, guardian, relative or friend of the child." [1869]

(2) Subsection (1) of this section shall have effect both as respects England and Wales and as respects Scotland. [1870]

(3) For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that references in the said section eleven to an order or resolution made or passed under any enactment include references to an order or resolution which by virtue of any other provision is deemed to be made or passed under the said enactment. [1871]

General note.—The replacement of s. 11 (3) of the Family Allowances Act, 1945, infra, effected by this section is consequential on the replacement of the Poor Law Act, 1930, s. 52

(12 Halsbury's Statutes 994; repealed by the National Assistance Act, 1948, s. 62 (3), Sched. VII, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post), which gave power to a poor law authority by resolution to assume parental rights over certain children, by s. 2, ante, which enables a local authority by resolution to assume parental rights over a similar class of children.

A consequential amendment is made by s. 60 (3) and Sched. IV, Part I, post.

Family Allowances Act, 1945, s. 11 (3).—38 Halsbury's Statutes 348.

53. Enforcement of orders for payment of money under Guardianship of Infants Acts.—An order of a court of summary jurisdiction for the payment of money under the Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886, whether made before or after the commencement of this Act, may be enforced, varied or revoked in like manner as an affiliation order, and the enactments relating to affiliation orders shall apply accordingly, with the necessary modifications. [1872]

General note.—The effect of the present section, which enables orders for maintenance under the Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886, infra, to be enforced, varied or revoked in the same way as affiliation orders, is to make them enforceable by distress and committal (cf. Re Bidie, Bidie v. General Accident Fire and Life Assurance Corporation, Ltd., [1948] Ch. 697; [1948] 1 All E. R. 885), and to apply to maintenance orders the provisions reproducing Regulations 17B, 17C and 17D of the Defence (Administration of Justice) Regulations, 1940, contained in paras. 5–7 of Sched. II to the Emergency Laws (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1947, (40 Halsbury's Statutes 1306), and which are made permanent by s. 2 of that Act. The purpose of those provisions is to enable proceedings for enforcement, variation and revocation of orders to be taken in the most convenient court.

Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886.—9 Halsbury's Statutes 787.

54. Provisions as to entry and inspection.—(1) In section one hundred and three of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and section one hundred and six of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, (which provide for the appointment by the Secretary of State of inspectors for the purposes of the enactments relating to children and young persons) the references to the enactments relating to children and young persons shall include references to this Act. [1873]

(2) Any inspector appointed under the said section one hundred and three or the said section one hundred and six may enter any of the following places, that is to say—

(b) any premises in which under subsection (2) or subsection (3) of section thirteen of this Act accommodation and maintenance are for the time being provided for a child in the care of a local authority;

(c) any place where a foster child within the meaning of Part VII of the Public Health Act, 1936, or Part XIII of the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, is being maintained;

(d) any place where a child in respect of whom a notice is required to be given under Part I of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, is being maintained;

(e) any place where a child is being maintained in pursuance of any arrangements to which subsection (1) of section seven of the Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939 (which relates to arrangements for taking over the care of children effected through third parties) applies; and

(f) any place where a child is for the time being boarded out either by a local authority or by a voluntary organisation,

and inspect the place and any children therein. [1874]

(3) It shall be the duty of local authorities from time to time to cause children in voluntary homes in their area to be visited in the interests of the wellbeing of the children, and any person authorised in that behalf by a local authority may enter any voluntary home in the area of the authority for the purpose of visiting the children in the home. [1875]

(4) Any person authorised in that behalf by a local authority may enter any voluntary home outside the area of the authority for the purpose of visiting children in the home who are in the care of the authority under section one of this Act or are for the time being committed to the care of the authority as a fit person by an order of any court under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 or the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937. [1876]

(5) Nothing in the two last foregoing subsections shall apply to a voluntary home which, otherwise than by virtue of section ninety-four of the said Act of 1933 or section ninety-eight of the said Act of 1937, is as a whole subject to inspection by, or under the authority of, a Government department. [1877]

(6) A person who proposes to exercise any power of entry or inspection conferred by this Act shall if so required produce some duly authenticated document showing his authority to exercise the power. [1878]

(7) Any person who obstructs the exercise of any such power as aforesaid shall be guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds in the case of a first offence or twenty pounds in the case of a second or any subsequent offence. [1879]

55. Prosecution of offences.—(1) In England and Wales, a local authority may institute proceedings for any offence under this Act, the provisions of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, other than the provisions of Parts I and II thereof, or the provisions relating to child life protection of Part VII of the Public Health Act, 1936, or Part XIII of the Public Health (London) Act, 1936. [1880]

(2) Subsection (5) of section twenty-three and subsection (1) of section one hundred and two of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937 shall cease to have effect. [1881]

General note.—Under s. 98 (1) of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 234), as originally enacted, a local education authority or a poor law authority could institute proceedings for an offence under that Act. By s. 60 (2) and Sched. III, post, a new subsection is substituted which empowers the local education authority to prosecute for offences under Parts I and II of that Act, infra, which deal with matters not directly relating to the care of deprived children. By the present section offences under the other Parts of the 1933 Act, as well as under the present Act and the enactments relating to child life protection, may be prosecuted by the local authority, as defined in the present Act (see s. 38, ante).

56. Acquisition of land.—(1) The council of a county borough may be authorised by the Minister of Health to purchase compulsorily any land, whether situated within or outside the area of the council, for the purpose of any of their functions under this Act; and the council of a county or large burgh in Scotland may be authorised by the Secretary of State to purchase compulsorily any land, whether situated within or outside the county or burgh, for the purpose of any of their functions under this Act. [1882]

(2) The Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, shall apply in relation to the compulsory purchase of land under this section by the council of a county borough as, by virtue of subsection (1) of section one hundred and fifty-nine of the Local Government Act, 1933, it applies to the compulsory purchase of land by a county council for the purpose of their functions under this Act; and accordingly for the purposes of the said Act of 1946 subsection (1) of this section shall be deemed to have been in force immediately before the commencement of that Act. [1883]

(3) Section two of the said Act of 1946 (which confers temporary powers for the speedy acquisition of land in urgent cases) shall not apply to the acquisition of land for the purposes of this Act, whether by a county council or by a county borough council. [1884]

(4) The Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) (Scotland) Act, 1947 (other than section two thereof) shall apply in relation to the compulsory purchase of land under this section as if subsection (1) thereof had been in force immediately before the commencement of the said Act. [1885]

Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946.—39 Halsbury's Statutes 53.
Local Government Act, 1933, s. 159 (1).—26 Halsbury's Statutes 392. That subsection was amended by the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, s. 6, Sched. IV (39 Halsbury's Statutes 60, 73).
Definition.—For definition of " functions ", see s. 59 (1), post.

57. Transfer, superannuation and compensation of officers.—(1) The Secretary of State may by regulations provide—

(a) for the transfer to a local authority of officers employed immediately before the commencement of this Act by the Common Council of the City of London or the council of a metropolitan borough or county district solely or mainly for the purposes of functions transferred by this Act from that council to the said local authority ;

(b) for enabling the Common Council of the City of London and the council of any metropolitan borough or county district in the case of any officer of the council who is a contributory employee or local Act contributor within the meaning of the Local Government Superannuation Act, 1937, and is transferred under the regulations to secure, by resolution passed in respect of him not later than three months after his transfer under the regulations, that for the purposes of the said Act of 1937 any non-contributing service of his shall be reckonable as contributing service and, in the case of any such officer on whom if he had remained in their employment a similar benefit could have been conferred by the council on his becoming entitled to a superannuation allowance, that the length of his service shall be deemed for the purposes of the said Act of 1937 or, as the case may be, the local Act in question, to be increased by such period as may be specified in the resolution ;

(c) for granting to persons who immediately before being transferred under the regulations were, by virtue of the employment from which they are so transferred, entitled to participate in superannuation benefits, an option either to participate, by virtue of their employment by the local authority to which they are transferred under the regulations, in superannuation benefits under a superannuation scheme of the local authority specified in the regulations or to retain rights corresponding with those previously enjoyed by them ;

(d) for the payment by local authorities, subject to such exceptions or conditions (if any) as may be prescribed by the regulations, of compensation to persons of such descriptions as may be so prescribed who immediately before such date as may be so prescribed were employed by the Common Council of the City of London, the council of a metropolitan borough or the council of a county district in such full-time work as may be prescribed by the regulations and who suffer loss of employment or loss or diminution of emoluments which is attributable to the passing of this Act ;

(e) for extending any provision made under paragraph (d) of this subsection to persons of such descriptions as may be prescribed by the regulations who, having before such date as aforesaid been employed as aforesaid and being persons who would have been so employed immediately before that date but for any national service (as defined in the regulations) in which they have been engaged, lose the prospect of their re-employment in any such work as a consequence of the passing of this Act;

(f) for such matters supplementary to and consequential on the matters aforesaid as appear to the Secretary of State to be necessary. [1886]

(2) Regulations under this section may provide for the determination by the Secretary of State of all questions arising under the regulations and may make different provisions for different classes of cases. [1887]

Local Government Superannuation Act, 1937.—30 Halsbury's Statutes 385.
Definition.—For definition of "local authority", see s. 38, ante.

58. Regulations and orders.—(1) Any power to make regulations or orders conferred on a Minister by this Act shall be exercisable by statutory instrument. [1888]

(2) Any statutory instrument made in the exercise of any power to make regulations conferred by this Act shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of resolution of either House of Parliament. [1889]

Statutory instruments.—As to statutory instruments generally, see the Statutory Instruments Act, 1946 (30 Halsbury's Statutes 783), which was brought fully into force on January 1, 1948, by S.I. 1948 No. 3.

59. Interpretation.—(1) In this Act, except where the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them respectively:—

"approved school order" has the same meaning as in the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or, as respects Scotland, the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937;

"child" means a person under the age of eighteen years;

"complain" in relation to Scotland means to make an application, and the expressions "complaint" and "complainant" shall be construed accordingly;

"compulsory school age" has in England and Wales the same meaning as in the Education Act, 1944, and in Scotland means school age as defined in the Education (Scotland) Act, 1946;

"contribution order" means in England or Wales a contribution order under section eighty-seven of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and in Scotland a contribution order under section ninety-one of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937;

"functions" includes powers and duties;

"guardian" means a person appointed by deed or will or by order of a court of competent jurisdiction to be the guardian of a child;

"hospital" has the meaning assigned to it by section seventy-nine of the National Health Service Act, 1946, or, as respects Scotland, section eighty of the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947;

"large burgh" has the same meaning as in the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947;

"local education authority" means a local education authority for the purposes of the Education Act, 1944, or in Scotland an education authority for the purposes of the Education (Scotland) Act, 1946;

"parent"—

(a) in relation to a child adopted in pursuance of any enactment, means the person or persons by whom he was adopted, to the exclusion of his natural parents;

(b) in relation to a child who is illegitimate, means his mother, to the exclusion of his father;

" precept for a rate ", in relation to Scotland, means requisition for a rate ;

" recognisance ", in relation to Scotland, means bond ;

" recoverable summarily as a civil debt ", in relation to Scotland, means recoverable as a civil debt ;

" relative " has, throughout Great Britain, the meaning assigned to it by section two hundred and twenty of the Public Health Act, 1936 ;

" voluntary home " has the same meaning as in Part V of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or, as respects Scotland, Part VI of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937 ;

" voluntary organisation " means a body the activities of which are carried on otherwise than for profit, but does not include any public or local authority. [1890]

(2) Any reference in this Act to the functions of a local authority under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 shall be construed as including a reference to the functions of the council of a county or county borough with respect to remand homes. [1891]

(3) References in this Act to any enactment shall, except where the context otherwise requires, be construed as references to the enactment as amended by or under any other enactment, including this Act. [1892]

(4) As respects Scotland any reference in this Act to a county or to the council thereof shall be construed, in relation to counties combined for the purposes mentioned in subsection (1) of section one hundred and eighteen of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947, as a reference to the combined county or the joint county council. [1893]

(5) A small burgh, as defined in the said Act of 1947, shall for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be included in the county in the area of which it is situated. [1894]

Approved school order.—See the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 107 (1) (26 Halsbury's Statutes 238), where this expression is defined as an order made by a court sending a child or young person to an approved school.

Compulsory school age.—See the Education Act, 1944, s. 35 (37 Halsbury's Statutes 165).

Contribution order.—For the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 87, see 26 Halsbury's Statutes 224. The section is amended by s. 60 (3) and Sched. IV, Part I, post.

Hospital.—For the National Health Service Act, 1946, s. 79, see 39 Halsbury's Statutes 571.

Local education authority.—For the meaning of this expression, see the Education Act, 1944, s. 6 (37 Halsbury's Statutes 130).

Relative.—By the Public Health Act, 1936, s. 220 (29 Halsbury's Statutes 470), " relative " is defined as meaning a grandparent, brother, sister, uncle or aunt, whether by consanguinity or affinity, or in consequence of adoption, and in the case of an illegitimate child, a person who would be so related if the child were legitimate.

Voluntary home.—This expression is defined in the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 92 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 230).

60. Transitional provisions, minor amendments and repeals.—(1) The transitional provisions set out in the Second Schedule to this Act shall have effect for the purposes of this Act. [1895]

(2) The enactments specified in the Third Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the amendments specified therein, being minor amendments and amendments consequential on the provisions of this Act. [1896]

(3) The enactments specified in the Fourth Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule :

Provided that the repeal of the enactments specified in Part II of that Schedule shall take effect only on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-nine. [1897]

General note.—January 1, 1949, was named as the date for the repeal of the enactments mentioned in Sched. IV, Part II, post, relating to voluntary homes because on that date the new system of control under s. 29, ante, came into force.

61. Application to Isles of Scilly.—This Act shall, in its application to the Isles of Scilly, have effect subject to such exceptions, adaptations and modifications as may be prescribed by order of the Secretary of State, and any such order may be revoked or varied by a subsequent order. [1898]

62. Short title, commencement and extent.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Children Act, 1948. [1899]

(2) This Act shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, nineteen hundred and forty-eight. [1900]

(3) This Act shall not extend to Northern Ireland. [1901]

July 5, 1948.—This is the date on which a great deal of recent social legislation came into operation, including the principal provisions of the National Assistance Act, 1948, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post, to which the present Act is complementary. July 5, 1948, was originally chosen because it marked the commencement of the national insurance year.

Section 30

FIRST SCHEDULE

APPEAL TRIBUNALS

PART I

CONSTITUTION OF APPEAL TRIBUNALS FOR ENGLAND AND WALES

1. For the purpose of enabling appeal tribunals to be constituted as occasion may require, there shall be appointed two panels, that is to say—

(a) a panel (hereinafter referred to as the "legal panel") appointed by the Lord Chancellor, of persons who will be available to act when required as chairman of any such tribunal; and

(b) a panel (hereinafter referred to as the "welfare panel") appointed by the Lord President of the Council, of persons who will be available to act when required as members of any such tribunal.

2.—(1) No person shall be qualified to be appointed to the legal panel unless he possesses such legal qualifications as the Lord Chancellor considers suitable, and no person shall be qualified to be appointed to the welfare panel unless he has had such experience in children's welfare work as the Lord President of the Council considers suitable.

(2) An officer of any Government department shall be disqualified from being appointed to either of the said panels.

3. Any person appointed to be a member of either of the said panels shall hold office as such subject to such conditions as to the period of his membership and otherwise as may be determined by the Lord Chancellor or the Lord President of the Council, as the case may be.

4. Where any appeal is required to be determined by a tribunal constituted in accordance with this Part of this Schedule, the tribunal shall consist of a chairman being a member of the legal panel and two other members being members of the welfare panel, and the chairman and other members of the tribunal shall be impartial persons appointed from those panels by the Lord Chancellor and the Lord President of the Council respectively. [1902]

CONSTITUTION OF APPEAL TRIBUNALS FOR SCOTLAND [1903]

* * * * *

General note.—This Schedule contains provisions, having effect by virtue of s. 30 (2), ante, for the constitution of appeal tribunals for the purpose of hearing appeals against the refusal of applications for registration of voluntary homes under s. 20 (3) (b), ante, or against proposals to remove homes from the register under s. 29 (4), ante.

The Schedule is modelled on Sched. VI to the Education Act, 1944 (37 Halsbury's Statutes 231), which provided for the constitution of Independent Schools Tribunals.

Section 60

SECOND SCHEDULE

TRANSITIONAL PROVISIONS

1.—(1) Where, immediately before the commencement of this Act, a child was being relieved by a local authority under the enactments relating to the relief of the poor, and the relief was not outdoor relief, the provisions of this Act shall apply to him as if, at the commencement of this Act, he were in the care of the authority under section one thereof:

Provided that if the child has then attained the age of sixteen, or is being relieved as aforesaid together with a parent or other person in charge of him who has attained that age, this paragraph shall not apply if it appears to the authority more appropriate that the child should be treated as a person for whom accommodation is being provided under the National Assistance Act, 1948.

(2) If, immediately before the commencement of this Act, the cost of the relief referred to in the last foregoing sub-paragraph was recoverable by the local authority therein referred to from another local authority, the provisions of subsection (4) of section one of this Act shall apply to the child as if the first-mentioned authority had received him into their care as a child ordinarily resident in the area of that other authority.

2. Where, immediately before the commencement of this Act, a resolution passed under section fifty-two of the Poor Law Act, 1930, was in force with respect to a child, it shall, as from the commencement of this Act, be deemed to be a resolution duly passed and notified under section two of this Act.

3.—(1) Where immediately before the commencement of this Act an order made under subsection (1) of section sixty-one or subsection (2) of section sixty-six of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, or subsection (2) of section thirty-eight of the Education (Scotland) Act, 1946, was in force committing a child to the care of an education authority as a fit person, that order shall as from the commencement of this Act be deemed to be an order committing him to the care of the council of the county, or county of a city comprised in the area of that education authority.

(2) Subsection (4) of section one of this Act shall apply to any such child as aforesaid in like manner as it applies to a child received by a local authority into their care.

4.—(1) Any rules of the Secretary of State in force immediately before the commencement of this Act under subsection (2) of section eighty-four of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or subsection (2) of section eighty-eight of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, with respect to the boarding-out of children and young persons committed to the care of local authorities or, as the case may be, education authorities, under those Acts respectively shall, as from the commencement of this Act, have effect as if—

(a) they were regulations made under Part II of this Act; and

(b) they had been made so as to apply to children in the care of a local authority under section one of this Act in like manner as to children committed to the care of a local authority or education authority as a fit person, and shall continue in force, and may be revoked and varied, accordingly.

(2) Where immediately before the commencement of this Act a child was boarded out under subsection (3) of the said section eighty-four or subsection (3) of the said section eighty-eight, then as from the commencement of this Act the boarding-out shall be deemed to be effected under Part II of this Act.

(3) Anything done before the commencement of this Act under any order made under the Poor Law Act, 1930, or under any regulations made under the Poor Law (Scotland) Act, 1934, being an order or regulations relating to the boarding-out of children and in force immediately before the commencement of this Act, shall be deemed to have been done under the corresponding provision of the said rules.

5. A contribution order made before the commencement of this Act shall not as respects any period after the commencement of this Act operate so as to require the making of any payment which could not have been required if this Act had been in force when the contribution order was made.

6.—(1) Any maintenance order in respect of a child in force immediately before the commencement of this Act under section nineteen of the Poor Law Act, 1930, shall, if at the commencement of this Act the child was under the care of the managers of an approved school, be deemed for the purposes of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and of this Act to be a contribution order made on the sending of the child to the approved school.

(2) Paragraph (a) of subsection (5) of section ninety of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (which contains special provisions as to contributions by poor law authorities to the expenses of approved schools) shall cease to have effect, and for the purposes of subsection (1) of the said section ninety (by which certain local authorities named in approved school orders are required to make contributions to the said expenses) where an approved school order has been made on the application of a local authority, being a poor law authority, in their capacity as poor law authority, the authority shall be deemed to have been named in the approved school order as being the authority within whose district the person to whom the order relates was resident.

(3) Paragraph (a) of subsection (4) of section ninety-four of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937 (which contains special provisions as to contributions by poor law authorities to the expenses of approved schools in Scotland) shall cease to have effect, and for the purposes of subsection (1) of the said section ninety-four (by which the education authority named in an approved school order is required to make contributions to the said expenses) where an approved school order has been made on the application of a poor law authority and no education authority has been named therein the education authority of the area which comprises the area of the poor law authority by whom the application was made shall be deemed to have been so named.

7. Where by virtue of the provisions of Part IV of this Act a home established before the commencement of this Act becomes a voluntary home within the meaning of Part V of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or Part VI of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, the home shall, for the purposes of the said Part V or the said Part VI, be deemed to have been established at the commencement of this Act.

8.—(1) Any land which immediately before the commencement of this Act was held by a local authority solely for the purposes of a children's home shall be deemed to have been appropriated under the Local Government Act, 1933, the London Government Act, 1939, or the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947, as the case may be, for the purposes of a home to be provided under Part II of this Act.

(2) Where a local authority have taken any steps for the compulsory acquisition of land for the purposes of a children's home but the acquisition has not been completed at the commencement of this Act, anything duly done before the commencement thereof in relation to the acquisition shall have effect as if it had been duly done in relation to the compulsory acquisition of the land for the purposes of a home to be provided by the authority under Part II of this Act.

(3) In this paragraph the expression "children's home," does not include any premises provided or to be provided under the Public Health Act, 1936, the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, or the Notification of Births (Extension) Act, 1915.

9. Where in consequence of the passing of the National Health Service Act, 1946, a person became employed by the council of a county or county borough in their capacity as a local health authority and there is conferred on him by any regulations made under that Act an option, exerciseable by virtue of that employment, to retain rights to superannuation benefits corresponding to those previously enjoyed by him, then if in consequence of the passing of this Act that person becomes employed by the said council for the purposes of a home provided under Part II thereof, he shall have the like rights in connection with the option as if his employment for the said purposes were employment by a local health authority.

10.—(1) Where by virtue of section thirty-five or thirty-seven of this Act the provisions of Part VII of the Public Health Act, 1936, Part XIII of the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, or Part I of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, become applicable to a child at the commencement of this Act, those provisions and the following provisions of this Schedule shall have effect as if the child had been received for reward at the commencement of this Act.

(2) Where by virtue of the said section thirty-five or thirty-seven the first mentioned provisions become applicable to a child at, or within one month after, the commencement of this Act, any notice required to be given before the reception of the child may be given within one month after the commencement of this Act :

Provided that nothing in this sub-paragraph shall exclude or postpone, as regards any child, the operation of any provision of the said Part VII or the said Part XIII relating to foster children or of the said Part I relating to children in respect of whom a notice is required to be given.

(3) Where by virtue of the said section thirty-five or thirty-seven the said provisions become applicable to a child at the commencement of this Act, any notice required to be given before a change of residence may, if the change takes place not later than one month after the commencement of this Act, be given at any time before the expiration of the said month, and if such a notice is duly given no notice under the said provisions need be given in connection with the reception of the child.

(4) In the case of a child who at the commencement of this Act and by virtue of the said section thirty-five or thirty-seven becomes a foster child as defined in the said Part VII or the said Part XIII, or a child in respect of whom a notice is required to be given under the said Part I, a person shall not be guilty of an offence against the provisions of the said Part VII, Part XIII or Part I requiring in certain cases the consent of the welfare authority or local authority for the keeping of children if, not later than one month after the commencement of this Act, application for that consent was made and the child in question is not kept after notification has been received of the refusal of the application or after the expiration of such longer period as the welfare authority or local authority may allow.

(5) Where immediately before the commencement of this Act the keeping of any children in any premises was lawful under the provisions of the said Part VII, Part XIII or Part I limiting the number of children who may be so kept, a person shall not be guilty of an offence under the said provisions by reason only that by virtue of this Act the said provisions are extended to children in the premises above the age of nine, or that by virtue of section thirty-seven of this Act a child in the premises becomes a foster-child or a child in respect of whom a notice is required to be given under the said Part I, so long as—

(a) any conditions imposed under the said provisions are complied with, and

(b) no child is kept in the premises who was not kept there immediately before the commencement of this Act.

(6) Where by virtue of section thirty-seven of this Act the provisions of the said Part VII, Part XIII or Part I become applicable to a child after the commencement of this Act by reason of the death of a parent of the child, the provisions of the three last foregoing sub-paragraphs shall apply as if for references therein to the commencement of this Act there were substituted references to the date at which the said provisions become applicable to the child.

(7) Nothing in section thirty-five or thirty-seven of this Act shall affect any contract of life assurance entered into before the commencement thereof.

11.—(1) Where by virtue of section thirty-five of this Act the provisions of section seven of the Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939, become applicable to a child at the commencement of this Act, those provisions and the following provisions of this paragraph shall have effect as if possession of the child had been taken at the commencement of this Act.

(2) Where by virtue of the said section thirty-five the provisions of the said section seven become applicable to a child at the commencement of this Act, no notice under the said section seven need be given in connection with the taking possession of the child.

(3) Where by virtue of the said section thirty-five the provisions of the said section seven become applicable to a child within one month after the commencement of this Act, any notice required to be given before possession of the child is taken may be given within one month after the commencement of this Act.

(4) Where by virtue of the said section thirty-five the provisions of the said section seven become applicable to a child at the commencement of this Act, any notice required to be given before a change of residence may, if the change takes place not later than one month after the commencement of this Act, be given at any time before the expiration of the said month.

12. The transitional provisions of the National Assistance Act, 1948, shall take effect subject to the provisions of this Schedule. [1904]

In section two hundred and twenty, in the definition of " place of safety ", after the word " means " there shall be inserted the words " a home provided by a local authority under Part II of the Children Act, 1948 ".

The Public Health (London) Act, 1936

26 Geo. 5 & 1 Edw. 8, c. 50

Throughout Part XIII references to " a local authority " or " every local authority " shall be construed as references to " the local authority ", and not in accordance with the provisions of Part I of the Tenth Schedule to the National Health Service Act, 1946.

In section two hundred and fifty-seven, in subsection (3), the words " for the district in which he proposes to reside " shall be omitted, in subsection (4), after the words " or is removed " there shall be inserted the words " or removes himself " and after the words " the name and address of the persons " there shall be inserted the words " (if any) ".

In section two hundred and sixty, for the word " nine " there shall be substituted the word " eighteen ".

In section two hundred and seventy-two, in subsection (3), for paragraph (b) there shall be substituted the following paragraphs—

" (b) in pursuance of any arrangement for the boarding out of a child by the Minister of Pensions, by a local authority under Part II of the Children Act, 1948, or by a voluntary organisation within the meaning of that Act ;

(c) with respect to a child on whom a requirement as to residence is imposed by a supervision order or probation order."

In section three hundred and four, in the definition of " place of safety ", after the word " means " there shall be inserted the words " any home provided by a local authority under Part II of the Children Act, 1948 ".

NURSERIES AND CHILD-MINDERS REGULATION ACT, 1948

(11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 53)

PRELIMINARY NOTE

This Act, which received the Royal Assent on July 30, 1948, is, as its long title indicates, designed to provide for the regulation of certain nurseries and of persons who for reward receive children into their homes to look after them. The Act thus fills a gap in the framework of the enactments relating to the protection of children.

Nurseries are within the Act if (a) they are premises where children (i.e. persons below the upper limit of compulsory school age) are looked after for the day or a substantial part of the day, or for longer periods up to six days, whether for reward or not, and (b) they are premises which are not wholly or mainly used as private dwellings and are not within the exemptions for hospitals and other institutions referred to below.

Persons who for reward receive children into their homes to look after them, or " child-minders " as they are termed in the short title to the Act, are within its provisions if the children are under five and are to be looked after for the day or a substantial part of the day, or for longer periods up to six days, but they are not placed by the Act under any obligation unless they receive children to whom they are unrelated and such children number more than two and come from more than one household.

The authorities responsible for the administration of the Act are the local health authorities. Every local health authority is to keep registers (a) of premises in their area, other than premises wholly or mainly used as private dwellings, where children are received to be looked after for the day or a substantial part of the day or for longer periods up to six days, and (b) of persons in their area who for reward receive into their homes children under five to be so looked after. An application for registration may be made by any person receiving or proposing to receive children as just mentioned, and may be refused only as follows: (i) as regards nurseries on the ground that any person employed or proposed to be employed in looking after children at the premises is not a fit person to look after children or, where the premises were not at the commencement of the Act in use for the reception of children as mentioned above, that the premises are not fit to be used for that purpose; (ii) as regards child-minders on the ground that the applicant, or any person employed or proposed to be employed by him in looking after children, is not a fit person to look after children or that the premises in which the children are received or proposed to be received are not fit (whether because of their condition or for any reason connected with other persons therein) to be used for the purpose (s. 1). Registration is, in effect, compulsory as regards nurseries falling under head (a), supra, and, with certain exceptions, child-minders coming under head (b), supra, by virtue of the penal provisions of the Act mentioned later in this Note.

Local health authorities are given a wide power to impose requirements in connection with registration, and such requirements may be imposed either on registration or, in general, at any subsequent time (s. 2).

Where there has been a contravention of, or non-compliance with, a requirement so imposed, or where it appears that circumstances exist which would justify a refusal to register the premises or person in question, the local health authority may cancel the registration. However, there is a saving designed to allow existing nurseries a reasonable time for complying with conditions as to premises (s. 5). Provision is also made for the issue and amendment of certificates of registration and the specification therein of any requirements imposed under the Act (s. 3).

No order refusing an application for registration, cancelling a registration, or imposing a requirement under the Act, may be made unless at least fourteen days' notice has been given to the applicant, to the occupier of the premises to which the registration relates, or to the person registered, as the case may be, and the person notified has been afforded an opportunity to show cause why the order should not be made. Moreover, any person aggrieved by the order may within twenty-one days appeal to a court of summary jurisdiction, and an order cancelling a registration is not to take effect until the expiration of the time within which the appeal may be brought or, where an appeal is brought, before the determination of the appeal (s. 6).

A person authorised in that behalf by a local health authority may enter a nursery at any reasonable time and carry out an inspection of the premises, the children received, as mentioned above, the arrangements for their welfare, and any records relating to them kept in pursuance of the Act (s. 7 (1)). There is no corresponding power to enter the home of a registered child-minder. However, if the authorised person is refused admission to such a home, or if he has reasonable cause to believe that children are being received in a person's home or in any other premises in contravention of the Act, he may apply to a justice of the peace for a warrant authorising him to enter and carry out an inspection (s. 7 (2)). Every person proposing to exercise a power of entry and inspection must, if required, produce some duly authenticated document showing his authority (s. 7 (3)). To obstruct the exercise of a power of entry and inspection is an offence punishable on summary conviction by a fine up to £5 or, in the case of a second or subsequent offence, £20 (s. 7 (4)).

Special provisions are designed to prevent dual inspection of places under the present Act and what the Act calls the " child life protection enactments " or any enactment relating to the boarding-out of children (ss. 9 and 10).

If a child is received in any nursery which is within the Act and the nursery is not registered or any requirement imposed under the Act is contravened or not complied with, the occupier is guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction by a fine up to £25 or, in the case of a second or subsequent offence, by imprisonment up to one month or a fine up to £25 or both. So also is a person who for reward receives into his home children to whom he is unrelated to be looked after for the day or a substantial part of the day or for longer periods up to six days if the children number more than two and come from more than one household and he is not registered or contravenes or fails to comply with any requirement imposed under the Act; but here the maximum fine which may be imposed in the case of a first offence is only £5, and where a registered child-minder acquires a new home, he is not until he has notified the local health authority, to be treated as being registered for the reception of children in the new home (s. 4). These provisions do not, however, apply to nurseries used mainly for the reception of children for more than six days in such circumstances that the " child life protection enactments " apply, or to child-minders who are subject to inspection under those enactments or under any enactment relating to the boarding-out of children (s. 9).

Prosecutions under the Act may be brought by local health authorities (s. 11).

Hospitals and certain other institutions are exempt from all the provisions of the Act (s. 8). [1908]

An Act to provide for the regulation of certain nurseries and of persons who for reward receive children into their homes to look after them; and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid. [1909] [30th July, 1948.]

1. Registration of nurseries and child-minders.—(1) Every local health authority shall keep registers—

(a) of premises in their area, other than premises wholly or mainly used as private dwellings, where children are received to be looked after for the day or a substantial part thereof or for any longer period not exceeding six days;

(b) of persons in their area who for reward receive into their homes children under the age of five to be looked after as aforesaid.

The registers kept under this subsection shall be open to inspection at all reasonable times. [1910]

(2) Any person receiving or proposing to receive children as mentioned in paragraph (a) or (b) of the foregoing subsection may make application to the local authority for registration thereunder, and on receipt of such an application the local health authority shall, subject to the provisions of this section, register the premises to which or person to whom the application relates. [1911]

(3) The local health authority may by order refuse to register any premises if they are satisfied that any person employed or proposed to be employed in looking after children at the premises is not a fit person to look after children, or, where the premises were not at the commencement of this Act in use for the reception of children as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section, if the local authority are satisfied that the premises are not fit to be used for that purpose. [1912]

(4) The local health authority may by order refuse to register any person if they are satisfied that that person, or any person employed or proposed to be employed by him in looking after children, is not a fit person to look after children or that the premises in which the children are received or proposed to be received are not fit (whether because of the condition thereof or for any reason connected with other persons therein) to be used for the purpose. [1913]

General note.—This section makes provision for the registration of what may be widely described as "day nurseries", on the one hand, and child-minders, on the other hand. It must, however, be read in conjunction with s. 8, post, as to the exemption of certain institutions from the provisions of the Act.

It will be noticed that the section itself does not make registration compulsory. But s. 4, post, in effect does so in relation to all premises falling under s. 1 (1) (a), supra, and, with certain exceptions, all persons coming within the purview of sub-s. (1) (b), supra.

Local health authority.—The local health authorities are county councils and county borough councils, but joint boards may be constituted for performing all or any of the functions of local health authorities (National Health Service Act, 1946, s. 19; 39 Halsbury's Statutes 537).

All matters relating to the discharge of the functions of a local health authority under this Act automatically stand referred to the health committee, and the authority may authorise the committee to exercise on their behalf any of these functions (National Health Service Act, 1946, Sched. IV, Part II, paras. 1 and 3; 39 Halsbury's Statutes 577).

Children.—For meaning, see s. 13 (2), post.

Shall . . . register, etc.—For power to impose requirements in connection with registration, see s. 2, post; as to certificates of registration, see s. 3, post; and as to cancellation of registration, see s. 5, post.

May by order refuse.—As to notice of intention to refuse the application and as to appeals, see s. 6, post.

Where the premises were not at the commencement of this Act, etc.—The Act came into force on receiving the Royal Assent, i.e. on July 30, 1948. The "local authority" is, of course, the local health authority.

Note that registration may not be refused on the ground of the unfitness of the premises where the premises were, at the commencement of the Act, used for the reception of children as mentioned in sub-s. (1) (a), supra; but as to the imposition of requirements as to repairs, etc., in this case, see s. 2 (4) (c), (5), (7), post.

2. Power to impose requirements in connection with registration.—(1) The local health authority may by order require that no greater number of children shall be received in premises registered under the foregoing section than may be specified in the order. [1914]

(2) The local health authority may by order require in the case of a person registered under the foregoing section that the number of children received in his home as mentioned in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of that section, together with any other children in his home, shall not at any time exceed such number as may be specified in the order. [1915]

(3) The local health authority may by order made as respects any premises or person registered under the foregoing section require the taking of precautions against the exposure of the children received in the premises to infectious diseases. [1916]

(4) The local health authority may by order made as respects any premises registered under the foregoing section impose requirements for securing—

(a) that a person with such qualifications as may be specified by the authority shall be in charge of the premises and of the persons employed thereat;

(b) that the premises shall be adequately staffed, both as respects the number and as respects the qualifications or experience of the persons employed thereat, and adequately equipped;

(c) in the case of premises which at the commencement of this Act were in use for the reception of children as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one of this Act, that such repairs shall be carried out on the premises, or such alterations thereof or additions thereto shall be made, as may be specified in the order;

(d) that the premises and the equipment thereof shall be adequately maintained;

(e) that there shall be adequate arrangements for feeding the children received in the premises and that an adequate and suitable diet shall be provided for them;

(f) that the children received in the premises shall be under medical supervision;

(g) that records shall be kept in relation to the children received at the premises containing such particulars as may be specified by the authority. [1917]

(5) An order under paragraph (c) of the last foregoing subsection may be made either on registration or at any time within one month thereafter, and any other order under this section may be made either on registration or at any subsequent time. [1918]

(6) An order under this section may be varied or revoked by a subsequent order of the local health authority. [1919]

(7) In the case of premises which at the commencement of this Act were in use for the reception of children as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one of this Act, no requirement shall be imposed under paragraphs (a) to (c) of subsection (4) of this section so as to require anything to be done before the expiration of a reasonable time from the commencement of this Act. [1920]

General note.—This section relates to the imposition of requirements in connection with registration under s. 1, ante (see the notes thereto).

May by order, etc.—Note that no order under this section may be made before registration, but that, by sub-s. (5), supra, the order may be made on registration and, in the case of an order under sub-s. (4) (c), supra, may not be made later than one month after registration.

As to the specification of requirements under this section in certificates of registration, see s. 3, post; as to penalties for breach of such requirements, see s. 4, post; as to the cancellation of registration for contravention of, or non-compliance with, the requirements, see s. 5, post; and as to notice of intention to make an order under this section and as to appeals, see s. 6, post.

Premises which at the commencement of this Act, etc.—As to the commencement of the Act, see the notes to s. 1, ante.

The explanation of the limitation of sub-s. (4) (c), supra, to premises which at the commencement of the Act were in use for the reception of children as mentioned in s. 1 (1) (a), ante, is to be found in the fact that, in the case of premises which then were not so in use, there is a general power to refuse registration on the ground of the unfitness of the premises (see s. 1 (3), ante; and the notes to s. 1, ante).

3. Certificates of registration.—(1) The local health authority shall issue certificates of registration under section one of this Act, and any such certificate shall specify the situation of the premises to which, or the name and address of the person to whom, the registration relates and any requirements imposed under the last foregoing section. [1921]

(2) On any change occurring in the circumstances particulars of which are stated in a certificate issued under this section, the local health authority shall issue an amended certificate. [1922]

(3) Where the local health authority are satisfied that any certificate under this section has been lost or destroyed, the authority shall, on payment of such fee (if any) not exceeding two shillings and sixpence as the authority may determine, issue a copy of the certificate. [1923]

Local health authority.—See the notes to s. 1, ante.

4. Penalties for failure to register and for breach of requirements under section two.—(1) If at any time after the expiration of three months from the commencement of this Act a child is received in any premises as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one of this Act and the premises are not registered under that section or any requirement imposed under section two of this Act is contravened or not complied with, the occupier of the premises shall be guilty of an offence. [1924]

(2) Where at any such time as aforesaid a person receives as mentioned in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section one of this Act children of whom he is not a relative, and

(a) the number of the children exceeds two, and

(b) the children come from more than one household,

then if he is not registered under section one of this Act, or if he contravenes or fails to comply with any requirement imposed under section two thereof, he shall be guilty of an offence. [1925]

(3) Where a person has been registered under section one of this Act and while he is so registered he acquires a new home, then until he has given notice thereof to the local health authority he shall not for the purposes of the last foregoing subsection be treated as being so registered in relation to the reception of children in the new home. [1926]

(4) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty-five pounds or, in the case of a second or subsequent offence, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding one month or to a fine not exceeding twenty-five pounds or to both such imprisonment and such fine:

Provided that in the case of a first offence under subsection (2) of this section the fine which may be imposed shall not exceed five pounds. [1927]

General note.—This section relates to penalties for failure to register under s. 1, ante, and for breach of requirements imposed under s. 2, ante. It must be read in conjunction, not only with s. 8, post (see the notes to s. 1, ante), but also with s. 9, post, which provides for the exclusion of this section in certain cases where provision for entry and inspection is made by or under what the Act calls the "child life protection enactments" or any enactment relating to the boarding-out of children.

Child.—For definition, see s. 13 (2), post. But note that s. 1 (1) (b), ante, applies only to children under five.

Occupier.—This means, it is thought, the person in legal occupation and control of the premises (Bruce v. McManus, [1915] 3 K. B. 1). At any rate, it is clear from s. 6 (1), post, that the occupier is not necessarily the person who may apply for registration under s. 1 (2), ante.

The number of the children exceeds two, etc.—It seems clear that for the purposes of subs. (2) (a) and (b), supra, children of whom the person in question is a relative must be disregarded.

For definition of " relative ", see s. 13 (2), post.

Local health authority.—See note to s. 1, ante.

Sub-s. (4).—As to prosecutions, see s. 11, post.

5. Cancellation of registration.—Where—

(a) there has been a contravention of, or non-compliance with, any requirement imposed under section two of this Act in relation to any premises or person registered under section one thereof, or

(b) it appears to the local health authority as respects any premises or person registered under the said section one, that circumstances exist which would justify a refusal under subsection (3) or subsection (4) of that section to register the premises or person, the local health authority may by order cancel the registration :

Provided that where a requirement to carry out repairs or make alterations or additions has been imposed under paragraph (c) of subsection (4) of section two of this Act, the registration of the premises shall not be cancelled by virtue of paragraph (b) of this section on the grounds that the premises are not fit to be used for the reception of children if—

(i) the time limited by subsection (7) of the said section two for complying with the requirement has not expired, and

(ii) it is shown that the condition of the premises is due to the repairs not having been carried out or the alterations or additions not having been made. [1928]

General note.—This section relates to the cancellation of registrations under s. 1, ante (see the notes thereto).

Local health authority.—See the notes to s. 1, ante.

Circumstances exist which would justify a refusal, etc.—Although under s. 1 (3), ante, the registration of premises may only be refused on the ground of unfitness for use for the reception of children where the premises were not so used at the commencement of the Act, it is clear from the proviso, supra, that, subject thereto, the registration of any premises may be cancelled on that ground.

May by order cancel the registration.—As to notice of intention to do so, as to appeals and as to when the cancellation takes effect, see s. 6, post.

6. Appeals.—(1) Not less than fourteen days before making an order under this Act refusing an application for registration, cancelling any registration, or imposing any requirement under section two of this Act, the local health authority shall send to the applicant, to the occupier of the premises to which the registration relates, or to the person registered, as the case may be, notice of their intention to make such an order. [1929]

(2) Every such notice shall state the grounds on which the authority intend to make the order and shall contain an intimation that if within fourteen days after the receipt of the notice the said applicant, occupier or person informs the authority in writing of his desire to show cause, in person or by a representative, why the order should not be made, the authority shall before making the order afford him an opportunity so to do. [1930]

(3) If the local authority, after giving the said applicant, occupier or person such an opportunity as aforesaid, decide to refuse the application, cancel the registration, or impose the requirement, as the case may be, they shall make an order to that effect and shall send him a copy of the order. [1931]

(4) A person aggrieved by an order under this Act refusing an application for registration or cancelling any registration, or imposing any requirement under section two of this Act, may appeal to a court of summary jurisdiction, or in Scotland the sheriff, having jurisdiction in the place where the premises in question are situated if the order relates to the registration of premises, or in the place where the person in question resides if the order relates to the registration of a person; and an order cancelling any registration shall not take effect until the expiration of the time within which an appeal may be brought under this section or, where such an appeal is brought, before the determination of the appeal. [1932]

(5) Sections three hundred to three hundred and two of the Public Health Act, 1936 (which relate to appeals) shall apply for the purposes of this section as if the provisions of this Act were contained in that Act and that Act extended to London. [1933]

(6) Any notice required to be sent under subsection (1) of this section, and any copy of an order required to be sent under subsection (3) thereof, may be sent by post in a registered letter. [1934]

(7) In the application of this section to Scotland, subsection (5) shall be omitted, and any appeal under subsection (4) shall be brought within twenty-one days from the date of the order to which the appeal relates. [1935]

Local health authority.—See the notes to s. 1, ante.

Occupier.—See the notes to s. 4, ante.

A representative.—No professional qualifications are required for a representative who may, therefore, be any person nominated for the purpose.

May make an order.—Note that under sub-s. (4), supra, an order cancelling a registration is suspended until the expiration of the time allowed for an appeal, or, where an appeal is brought, until the determination of the appeal.

Person aggrieved.—According to the well-known definition of JAMES, L.J., in Re Sidebotham, Ex parte Sidebotham (1880), 14 Ch. D. 458, at p. 465, "a person aggrieved must be a man who has suffered a legal grievance, a man against whom a decision has been pronounced which has wrongfully deprived him of something, or wrongfully refused him something, or wrongfully affected his title to something"; but it must be borne in mind that the expression does not necessarily always have the same meaning, and it is also clear that the test cannot be whether the person in question has in fact been wronged, but can only be whether he has been wronged if the decision itself is wrong: cf. Sevenoaks Urban Council v. Twynam, [1929] 2 K. B. 440, per Lord HEWART, C.J., at pp. 443 and 447–448.

S. 300 provides that an appeal to a court of summary jurisdiction shall be by complaint and shall be brought within twenty-one days after notice of the order appealed against is served on the appellant, and that whenever such an appeal lies against an order the document notifying the person concerned shall state the right of appeal and the time within which the appeal must be brought. S. 301 provides that a further right of appeal against a decision of a court of summary jurisdiction shall lie to quarter sessions; and s. 302 provides that effect shall be given to the decision of any court upon an appeal and in particular that any necessary entry shall be made on any register.

May be sent by post in a registered letter.—These words are permissive only and would appear not to exclude personal service or service by ordinary letter; see Sharpley v. Manby, [1942] 1 K. B. 217; [1942] 1 All E. R. 66, C. A.; and cf. the Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 26 (18 Halsbury's Statutes 1002). It will, however, in all cases be safer to serve all notices under sub-s. (1), supra, and all orders under sub-s. (3), supra, by registered post.

7. Inspection.—(1) Any person authorised in that behalf by a local health authority may at all reasonable times enter any premises in the area of the authority which are used for the reception of children as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one of this Act, and may inspect the premises and the children so received therein, the arrangements for their welfare, and any records relating to them kept in pursuance of this Act. [1936]

(2) If any person authorised as aforesaid is refused admission to the home of a person registered under section one of this Act, or has reasonable cause to believe that children are being received in a person's home or in any other premises in contravention of section four of this Act, he may apply to a justice of the peace or in Scotland to the sheriff, and if the justice or sheriff is satisfied on sworn information in writing that admission has been refused or, as the case may be, that there is reasonable cause to believe that children are being received as aforesaid, the justice or sheriff may grant a warrant authorising the applicant to enter the home or other premises and carry out any such inspection as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section. [1937]

(3) A person who proposes to exercise any power of entry or inspection conferred by or under this section shall if so required produce some duly authenticated document showing his authority to exercise the power. [1938]

(4) Any person who obstructs the exercise of any such power as aforesaid shall be guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds in the case of a first offence or twenty pounds in the case of a second or any subsequent offence. [1939]

General note.—This section provides for control for the purposes of the Act by means of entry and inspection. It must be read in conjunction, not only with s. 8, post (see the notes to s. 1, ante), but also with s. 9, post, which provides for the exclusion of this section in certain cases where provision for entry and inspection is made by or under the "child life protection enactments" or any enactment relating to the boarding-out of children, and with s. 10, post, which extends the operation of this section in certain other cases where the "child life enactments" apply.

Local health authority.—See the notes to s. 1, ante.

Children.—For meaning, see s. 13 (2), post.

Records . . . kept in pursuance of this Act.—Cf. s. 2 (4) (g), ante.

May grant a warrant, etc.—The person named in the warrant may not delegate its execution to another person; but a warrant is clearly unnecessary where entry and inspection are voluntarily allowed.

Sub-s. (4).—As to prosecutions, see s. 11, post.

8. Exemption of certain institutions from provisions of Act.—(1) Nothing in this Act shall apply to the reception of children in any hospital, or in any such home or other institution as is mentioned in section two hundred and nineteen of the Public Health Act, 1936, or section eleven of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937. [1940]

(2) Nothing in this Act shall apply to the reception of children in any school, notwithstanding that they are received to be looked after and not for the purpose of education. [1941]

(3) Nothing in this Act shall apply to the reception of children in a nursery school in respect of which payments are made by the Minister of Education under section one hundred of the Education Act, 1944, or by the Secretary of State under section seventy of the Education (Scotland) Act, 1946, or which is recognised as efficient by the Minister of Education or included in a scheme submitted under section seven and approved by the Secretary of State under section sixty-five of the said Act of 1946, or to the reception of children in any play centre maintained or assisted by a local education authority under section fifty-three of the said Act of 1944, or by an education authority under section three of the said Act of 1946. [1942]

General note.—This section grants total exemption from the provisions of the Act in the case of hospitals, schools and certain other institutions.

Children; Hospital; School.—For meanings, see s. 13 (2), post.

Public Health Act, 1936, s. 219.—29 Halsbury's Statutes 469. That section, as amended by s. 76 of, and Part I of Sched. X to, the National Health Service Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 570, 587), and s. 60 of, and Sched. III to, the Children Act, 1948, ante, so far as material here, is as follows:—

> "(1) The foregoing provisions of this Part of this Act relating to child life protection shall not extend to . . . any person . . . who undertakes the nursing or maintenance of a child boarded out . . . to any voluntary home within the meaning of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or to any . . . convalescent home or other institution, being a . . . home or institution—
> (a) which is maintained by a Government department, county council (including the London County Council), local authority or metropolitan borough council, or any other authority or body constituted by special Act of Parliament or incorporated by Royal Charter; or
> (b) in respect of which a certificate of exemption from the said provisions granted by the welfare authority is in force; or
> (c) which is an institution, house or home certified or approved by the Minister under the Mental Deficiency Acts, 1913 to 1927, and in which no children or young persons who are not mental defectives within the meaning of these Acts are received. . . ."

Sub-s. (2).—This subsection covers the case of school buildings which are open in the holidays for organised games or other activities and where children are admitted to spend the day, as well as nursery classes in schools, as to which, see the Education Act, 1944, s. 8 (2) (b) (37 Halsbury's Statutes 134).

Education Act, 1944.—37 Halsbury's Statutes 123. For s. 100 thereof, see 37 Halsbury's Statutes 207. For s. 53 thereof, as amended by s. 11 of, and Part I of Sched. I, to the Education (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1948, see 37 Halsbury's Statutes 179.

9. Exclusion of sections four and seven of Act where child life protection enactments apply.—(1) Where premises falling within paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one of this Act are used mainly for the reception of children for periods exceeding six days and in such circumstances that the child life protection enactments apply, sections four and seven of this Act shall not apply to the premises and the provisions of the child life protection enactments as to entry and inspection shall extend to all children received in the premises. [1943]

(2) Where a person receives children into his home in such circumstances that apart from this subsection he would be required by subsection (2) of section four of this Act to be registered under section one thereof, then so long as provision for entry and inspection as respects any of those children or any other child received into his home is made by or under the child life protection enactments or any enactment relating to the boarding-out of children,—

(a) sections four and seven of this Act shall not apply,

(b) the said provision for entry and inspection shall apply in relation to all the children aforesaid. [1944]

General note.—This section and s. 10, post, are designed to prevent nurseries and child-minders from being subject to control both under the present Act and under the child life protection provisions of other statutes, which give powers of supervision over persons taking foster children for reward, the principle being that the code applicable to the main user of the premises shall be the one to be applied. Thus, in the case of a nursery which is mainly used for the reception of children for more than six days at a time, the child life protection enactments apply and sub-s. (1), supra, exempts the premises from registration under s. 4, ante, and inspection under s. 7, ante, and extends inspection under the child life protection enactments to all children received in the premises. On the other hand, where the main use of the nursery is for the reception of children for periods of less than six days at a time, s. 10, post, provides that all the children shall be inspected under s. 7, ante, although it will be necessary to comply with the child life enactments as to notification in the case of children received for longer periods.

So far as child-minders are concerned, sub-s. (2), supra, provides that where any children received are subject to inspection under the child life protection enactments, or any boarding-out enactments, all the children will be subject to inspection under those enactments, and the minder will be exempt from the penal scope of s. 4, ante, and his home will be exempt from inspection under s. 7, ante.

For provisions as to entry and inspection, see the Public Health Act, 1936, s. 209 (29 Halsbury's Statutes 465); the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, s. 258 (30 Halsbury's Statutes 582); and the Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939, s. 7 (32 Halsbury's Statutes 210).

Boarding-out.—See the Children Act, 1948, s. 54 (2), ante, as to the inspection of children boarded-out either by a local authority or a voluntary organisation.

10. Exclusion of child life protection enactments where premises registered under Act.—Where premises registered under section one of this Act are used wholly or mainly for the reception of children as mentioned in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of that section, the provisions of the child life protection enactments as to entry and inspection shall not apply in relation to any children received at the premises, and the provisions of section seven of this Act shall apply in relation to all children received thereat. [1945]

General note.—See the notes to s. 9, ante.

11. Prosecution of offences.—In England and Wales, the local health authority may prosecute for any offence under this Act. [1946]

Local health authority.—See the notes to s. 1, ante.

12. Payments out of moneys provided by Parliament.—There shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament any increase attributable to the provisions of this Act in grants payable under any other Act out of moneys so provided. [1947]

General note.—Expenditure incurred by a local health authority in discharging its functions under the Act will automatically increase Equalisation Grants under Part I of the Local Government Act, 1948, title FINANCE, ante, and will attract an Exchequer grant of 50 per cent. under s. 53 of the National Health Service Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 559), as amended by s. 7 of the Local Government Act, 1948, title FINANCE, ante. The present section, therefore, provides for any increase in such grants attributable to the Act to be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

13. Short title, interpretation and extent.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Nurseries and Child-Minders Regulation Act, 1948. [1948]

(2) In this Act the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them respectively, that is to say :—

" child " means a person who has not attained the upper limit of compulsory school age ;

" child life protection enactments " means the provisions relating to child life protection of Part VII of the Public Health Act, 1936, the provisions of Part XIII of the Public Health (London) Act, 1936, the provisions of Part I of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, or the provisions of section seven of the Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939 ;

" compulsory school age ", in England and Wales, has the same meaning as in the Education Act, 1944, and in Scotland means school age as defined in the Education (Scotland) Act, 1946 ;

" hospital " has the same meaning as in section seventy nine of the National Health Service Act, 1946, or, as respects Scotland, section eighty of the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947 ;

" relative " means a grandparent, brother, sister, uncle or aunt, whether by consanguinity or affinity, or in consequence of adoption, and as respects an illegitimate child includes a person who would be so related if the child were legitimate ;

" school ", except in the expression " nursery school ", means an institution of which the sole or main purpose is the provision of education for children of compulsory school age. [1949]

(3) References in this Act to any enactment shall be construed as references to that enactment as amended by any subsequent enactment. [1950]

(4) This Act shall not extend to Northern Ireland. [1951]

Public Health Act, 1936, Part VII.—29 Halsbury's Statutes 460. For the provisions thereo relating to child life protection, see ss. 206 et seq. (29 Halsbury's Statutes 463 et seq.), as amended by the National Health Service Act, 1946, s. 76, Sched. X, Part I (39 Halsbury's Statutes 570, 587), the National Assistance Act, 1948, s. 62, Sched. VII, Part III, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post), and the Children Act, 1948, s. 60, Sched. III, Sched. IV, Part I, ante.

Public Health (London) Act, 1936, Part XIII.—30 Halsbury's Statutes 581. For repeals and other amendments, see the London Government Act, 1939, s. 207, Sched. VIII (32 Halsbury's Statutes 352, 379), the National Health Service Act, 1946, s. 76, Sched. X, Parts I and II (39 Halsbury's Statutes 570, 587, 590), and the Children Act, 1948, s. 60, Sched. III, ante.

Adoption of Children (Regulation) Act, 1939, s. 7.—32 Halsbury's Statutes 210. For amendments, see the National Health Service Act, 1946, s. 76, Sched. X, Part I (39 Halsbury's Statutes 570, 587), and the Children Act, 1948, s. 60, Sched. III, ante.

Education Act, 1944.—37 Halsbury's Statutes 123. By s. 35 thereof (37 Halsbury's Statutes 165), " compulsory school age " is defined as any age between five and fifteen years, but provision is made for raising the upper limit to sixteen by Order in Council at some later date. See also, for provisions for avoiding broken terms, the Education Act, 1946, s. 8 (1), (2) (39 Halsbury's Statutes 127).

National Health Service Act, 1946, s. 79.—39 Halsbury's Statutes 571. In sub-s. (1) thereof " hospital " is defined as meaning any institution for the reception and treatment of persons suffering from illness or mental defectiveness, any maternity home, and any institution for the reception and treatment of persons during convalescence or persons requiring medical rehabilitation, and including clinics, dispensaries and out-patient departments maintained in connection with any such institution or home as aforesaid ; " illness ", in turn, is defined as including mental illness and any injury or disability requiring medical or dental treatment or nursing ; and " medical " as including surgical.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE ACT, 1948

(11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 58)

PRELIMINARY NOTE

The Criminal Justice Act, 1948, which received the Royal Assent on July 30, 1948, is being brought into operation piecemeal by means of Orders in Council, under s. 83 of the Act, fixing different dates for the commencement of various provisions. The Act marks a notable step towards the more scientific treatment of offenders, but though the Act as a whole may be of general interest, considerations of space have made it necessary to select for inclusion in this volume only those provisions which most nearly concern local government officers. Accordingly, selected extracts appear in the present title and in the title SUMMARY PROCEEDINGS, post.

The principal provisions appearing in the present title are of a miscellaneous character: s. 71 amends, in a number of respects, s. 71 of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 213), which relates to the duration of approved school orders and originally reproduced s. 30 (1) and (2) of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1932 (25 Halsbury's Statutes 230). An attempt is made to draw the leaving of approved schools more closely to that of ordinary schools.

Next, the following section amends the procedure where absconders from approved schools and persons at such schools who are guilty of serious misconduct are brought before the magistrates in respect of their act or default (s. 72). In such cases the court may either make a new approved school order or, in ordering the offender back to school under the old order, may extend the operation of that order by up to six months, the court being allowed a discretion within that limit. It is recognised that this involves an increase in the over-all age limit for approved school detention. There is also power to sentence an offender to Borstal training, though this alternative may be discontinued in the future by Order in Council made with prior parliamentary sanction. This section should be read in the light of the additional amendments to s. 82 of the Act of 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 219) effected by s. 79 of, and Sched. IX to, the present Act, and the partial repeals effected by s. 83 of, and Sched. X to, the present Act.

The chief object of s. 74 of the Act is to apply to orders placing children or young persons under the supervision of probation officers or other persons appointed by the court ("supervision orders") certain of the provisions of the present Act as to probation orders, the general effect of these being described in the notes to s. 74. In particular, provision is made for the possible inclusion in supervision orders of such requirements relating to residence or mental treatment as can be included in the case of probation orders; copies of supervision orders are to be given to offenders, the persons under whose supervision they are placed and the person in charge of any institution at which they are required to reside. The "supervisor" must report to the court after six months, and in the light of his report the supervision order may be reviewed and, if desired, amended. This section should be read in conjunction with the new s. 4 of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1938 (31 Halsbury's Statutes 365), substituted by s. 79 of, and Sched. IX to, the Act.

Finally, s. 75 gives the court power to order an offender to be detained in a remand centre where inquiry into his physical or mental condition is desirable, but only if (a) the court has been officially notified of the existence of a remand centre, and (b) the inquiry cannot conveniently be made in a "place of safety". Special provision is made as to unruly and depraved persons.

The other sections and Schedules included in the present title are ancillary. [1952]

PART II

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS AND PROVISIONS AS TO TREATMENT OF PRISONERS, ETC.

* * * * *

71. Amendment of s. 71 of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933.—(1) For subsection (1) of section seventy-one of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, there shall be substituted the following subsection :—

"(1) Where a court orders a child to be sent to an approved school, the order shall be an authority for his detention in an approved school until the expiration of a period of three years from the date of the order or the expiration of four months after he ceases to be of compulsory school age whichever is the later." [1954]

(2) In the said section seventy-one as amended by this section the expression " compulsory school age " has the meaning assigned to it by section thirty-five of the Education Act, 1944; and section eight of the Education Act, 1946 (which provides that a person who attains a particular age during a school term shall be deemed not to have attained that age until the end of the term) shall not apply. [1955]

(3) The provisions of the said section seventy-one shall apply as amended by this section to any approved school order made before the commencement of this Act if the period during which the person to whom it relates could be detained thereunder apart from the provisions of this section has not expired at the commencement of this Act. [1956]

(4) This section shall, in its application to Scotland, have effect subject to the following modifications :—

(a) for references to section seventy-one of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and to subsection (1) of that section there shall be substituted references to section seventy-five of the Children and Young Persons (Scotland) Act, 1937, and to subsection (1) of that section; and

(b) for subsection (2) there shall be substituted the following subsection :—

" (2) In the said section seventy-five as amended by this section the expression ' compulsory school age ' means school age as defined in section thirty-two of the Education (Scotland) Act, 1946 :

Provided that—

(a) subsection (4) of that section (which extends the school age in the case of certain children requiring special educational treatment); and

shall not apply." [1957]

General note.—The object of the new subsection substituted for s. 71 (1) of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 213), appears to be to avoid a young person being released at the age of fifteen from an approved school when, by reason of s. 8 of the Education Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 127), he would still be liable to attend an ordinary school. It is so worded as to apply equally if the school-leaving age is raised (see infra).

Compulsory school age.—Under s. 35 of the Education Act, 1944 (37 Halsbury's Statutes 165), this means, at present, any age between five and fifteen years, though it is expected that the higher age limit will be raised to sixteen when adequate staff and accommodation are available.

Date of commencement.—By S.I. 1948 No. 1840, post, this section came into force on September 13, 1948.

Definition.—For definition of " approved school ", see s. 80, post, and the notes thereto.

72. Powers of court in relation to absconders from approved schools, etc. —(1) Where a person in whose case an approved school order has been made is brought before a court of summary jurisdiction under section eighty-two of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, or paragraph 8 of the Fourth Schedule to that Act (which relate respectively to absconders and persons guilty of serious misconduct), the court may, subject to the following provisions of this section—

(a) in any case, either make a new approved school order in his case, or order him to be taken back to the school and extend the period of his detention under the original order by such period not exceeding six months as the court may determine;

(b) if he has attained the age of sixteen years, sentence him to Borstal training. [1958]

(2) An order under paragraph (a) of the last foregoing subsection extending the period of detention under an approved school order shall have effect notwithstanding any limitation imposed by the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, upon the period for which a person may be detained in an approved school; and in relation to a new approved school order made under that paragraph, sections seventy-one, seventy-three and seventy-four of that Act (which relate to the period of detention under approved school orders and to supervision and recall) shall have effect as if for any reference therein to the age of nineteen years there were substituted a reference to the age of nineteen years and a half. [1959]

(3) Subject as hereinafter provided, His Majesty may by Order in Council prohibit courts of summary jurisdiction from making orders under paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section; and any such Order in Council may be limited to persons of one of the sexes, and, whether so limited or not, may be made so as to apply either to any persons ordered to be detained in approved schools or only to persons ordered to be so detained otherwise than for an offence:

Provided that no Order in Council shall be made under this subsection until the Secretary of State is satisfied that adequate methods, other than Borstal training, are available for dealing with the persons to whom the Order relates. [1960]

(4) A draft of any Order in Council under the last foregoing subsection shall be laid before Parliament, and the draft shall not be submitted to His Majesty in Council unless each House of Parliament presents an Address to His Majesty praying that the Order be made. [1961]

General note.—The provisions as to new approved school orders are themselves new, and apparently enable a court of summary jurisdiction in these circumstances to make a new approved school order in the case of a person who at the time is over seventeen years of age. The new age limit of nineteen and a half in the case of such orders should be noted (sub-s. (2), supra).

The Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, s. 82 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 219), is further amended by the provisions of Sched. IX, post. The absconder can always be taken back to the school, but must not be brought before a court without the authority of the Secretary of State. This restriction already applies in the case of serious misconduct under para. 8 of Sched. IV to the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 247). The new wording of s. 82 (1) also makes it clear that the time limit prescribed by s. 11 of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1848 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 278), does not apply in such cases. See also s. 83 and Sched. X, post.

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, ss. 71, 73 and 74.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 213, 214, 215.

Sub-s. (3).—Up to the date of going to press, no such Order in Council as is referred to in this subsection had been made.

A draft of any Order in Council.—This means that a measure of control is retained by Parliament, though amendments to a draft cannot be made by this procedure: the draft must be accepted or rejected. To this, the so-called "affirmative procedure", ss. 4 to 7 of the Statutory Instruments Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 785 et seq.) are inapplicable.

Date of commencement.—By S.I. 1948 No. 2349, this section came into force on December 27, 1948.

Definitions.—For definitions of "court of summary jurisdiction", "court", "sentence" and "approved school", see s. 80, post, and the notes thereto.

PART III

Supplemental

* * * * *

74. Application to supervision orders of certain provisions relating to probation.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, a supervision order (that is to say an order made under section sixty-two, section sixty-three, section sixty-four or section eighty-four of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, placing a child or young person under the supervision of a probation officer or of some other person appointed for the purpose by the court) may include any such requirement as to the residence of the person to whom the order relates, or as to treatment for his mental condition, as may, by virtue of subsection (4) of section three or by virtue of section four of this Act, be included in a probation order :

Provided that a supervision order containing any such provision shall not be made in the case of a young person unless he consents thereto, and any requirement as to the residence of any person included in such an order shall cease to have effect when that person attains the age of eighteen years. [1962]

(2) The court by which a supervision order is made shall forthwith give a copy of the order to the child or young person to whom the order relates, to the person under whose supervision the child or young person is placed by the order and to the person in charge of any institution in which the child or young person is required by the order to reside ; and subject to the provisions of this section, subsection (7) of section three of this Act shall apply to a supervision order which requires a person to reside in any institution as it applies to a probation order containing such a requirement. [1963]

(3) Subsections (1) to (3) of section five of this Act, and the First Schedule to this Act, shall apply in relation to the discharge, amendment and review of supervision orders as they apply in relation to the discharge, amendment and review of probation orders :

Provided that a supervision order may be amended under the said First Schedule on application made by any person. [1964]

(4) For the purposes of their application to supervision orders under this section, the provisions of this Act specified in subsections (1) to (3) of this section shall have effect subject to the following modifications, that is to say :—

(a) for references to a probation order there shall be substituted references to a supervision order ;

(b) for references to the probation period there shall be substituted references to the period of supervision specified in the supervision order ;

(c) for references to the probationer or the offender there shall be substituted references to the person in whose case the supervision order is or is to be made ;

(d) references to the probation officer shall include references to a person not being a probation officer under whose supervision the child or young person to whom the supervision order relates is placed by virtue of the order ;

(e) for references to the supervising court there shall be substituted references to the court by which the supervision order was made, or any other court authorised under subsection (3) of section four of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1938, to exercise the powers of that court ;

(f) paragraph 2 of the said First Schedule shall not apply, and paragraph 5 of that Schedule shall not apply except where the amending order requires the person to whom the supervision order relates to reside in an institution or to submit to treatment for his mental condition. [1965]

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 168. For ss. 62, 63, 64 and 84 thereof, see 26 Halsbury's Statutes 208, 209, 221.

As to the residence of the person.—The Children and Young Persons Act, 1938, s. 4 (31 Halsbury's Statutes 367), is replaced by a new s. 4 which is set out in Sched. IX, post, and it is provided that any requirement as to residence shall be in accordance with the present section.

As to treatment for his mental condition.—This provision is new.

S. 3 (4) or s. 4 of this Act.—S. 3 (4) of the present Act allows the inclusion in a probation order of requirements as to residence, subject to prior consideration of an offender's home surroundings. Special provision is made for cases where the offender is required to reside in an approved probation hostel, an approved probation home or some other institution. S. 4 of the Act lays down rules relating to probation orders requiring treatment for mental condition.

S. 3 (7) of this Act.—Under this subsection the court is required to give notice to the Secretary of State of the terms of any orders requiring residence in certain institutions.

S. 5 (1)–(3) of this Act, and Sched. I, etc.—S. 5 (1) of the present Act applies the provisions of Sched. I to the Act relating to the discharge and amendment of probation orders, detailed rules being set out in the said Schedule. S. 5 (2) and (3) require probation officers, in cases where institutional residence is required for longer than six months, to report to the supervising court after a period of six months has elapsed, whereupon the court is to review the relevant orders accordingly.

Discharge, amendment and review.—The effect of sub-ss. (3) and (4) (e), supra, together with s. 4 (3) of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1938, as substituted by the present Act (see Sched. IX, post), is to confine to the court which made the order or, if the order so directs, the court in whose area the person under supervision is residing, the power to discharge, amend or review the order.

Under s. 66 (1) of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 210), however, the supervisor may take the person under supervision before a "juvenile court" with a view to his being committed to the care of a fit person or to an approved school.

Para. 2 of Sched. I to the Act.—This relates to the "transfer" of probation orders to other petty sessional divisions on changes of residence.

Para. 5 of Sched. I to this Act.—This paragraph requires that when a probation order is to be amended (otherwise than on the application of the probationer) he shall be summoned to appear before the court except in the cases there specified. In the case of a supervision order it will not be necessary to summon the person under supervision except in the cases specified in sub-s. (4) (f), supra.

Expenses.—Provision for making payments in supervision cases is to be found in para. 3 (1) (d) and (2) of Sched. V to the Act.

Date of commencement.—Up to the date of going to press, no date had been fixed for the coming into force of this section.

Definitions.—For definitions of "supervision order", "probation order", "probation period", "supervising court" and "court", see s. 80, post, and the notes thereto.

75. Power to order detention in a remand centre under s. 67 of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933.—(1) Where the court before which a young person is brought is of opinion that an inquiry ought to be made into his physical or mental condition before it decides whether any and is so what order ought to be made under sections sixty-two to sixty-six of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, then if the court has been notified by the Secretary of State that a remand centre is available for the reception from that court of persons of his class or description, and is satisfied that facilities for such an inquiry cannot conveniently be provided in a place of safety in which he could otherwise be ordered to be detained under subsection (2) of section sixty-seven of that Act, the court may order him to be detained in a remand centre; and the reference in the said subsection (2) to a place of safety shall be construed accordingly. [1966]

(2) If a court which proposes to make an interim order under subsection (2) of the said section sixty-seven in the case of a young person is of opinion that he is of so unruly a character that he cannot safely be detained in a remand home or of so depraved a character that he is not fit to be so detained, and the court has been notified by the Secretary of State that a remand centre is available for the reception from that court of persons of his class or description, a remand centre shall be included among the places of safety in which his detention or continued detention may be ordered under that subsection. [1967]

(3) Where a young person detained in a remand home in pursuance of an interim order made under subsection (2) of the said section sixty-seven proves to be of so unruly a character that he cannot safely be detained in a remand home, or of so depraved a character that he is not fit to be so detained, the court which made the order, or if application cannot conveniently be made to that court, a court of summary jurisdiction having jurisdiction in the place where the court which made the order sat, may, if it has been notified by the Secretary of State that a remand centre is available for the reception from that court of persons of his class or description, revoke the order and order him to be detained in a remand centre. [1968]

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 168. For s. 67 thereof, which relates to the removal or remand of children or young persons to places of safety, see 26 Halsbury's Statutes 210. For ss. 62–66 of the same Act, see 26 Halsbury's Statutes 208 et seq.

Place of safety.—This is defined in s. 107 of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 239), as amended by the National Assistance Act, 1948, title PUBLIC ASSISTANCE, post, as meaning "any remand home, or police station, or any hospital, surgery or any other suitable place, the occupier of which is willing temporarily to receive a child or young person."

Prison is evidently not within this definition, and remand centres (when they become available) will help to solve the problem of the unruly or depraved case who is in need of care or protection or who is beyond control.

Is of opinion that he is unruly, etc.—Sub-ss. (2) and (3), supra, do not require any certificate of unruliness or depravity.

Court.—In this section there is no provision corresponding to that of s. 27 (6) of the Act that "court" is to include a justice of the peace.

Commencement of section.—Up to the date of going to press, no date had been fixed for the coming into force of this section.

Definitions.—For definitions of "remand centre", "court", "remand home" and "court of summary jurisdiction", see s. 80, post, and the notes thereto.

79. Consequential and minor amendments.—The enactments mentioned in the first column of the Ninth Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the amendments specified in the second column of that Schedule (being amendments consequential upon the foregoing provisions of this Act or relating to matters of minor detail). [1969]

Date of commencement.—This section is brought into force at different dates in relation to different enactments in Sched. IX, post; see notes to that Schedule, post.

Definition.—The term "enactment" is widely defined in s. 80, infra, but the definition does not affect its meaning here as the word is merely descriptive of the legislation mentioned in the relevant column of Sched. IX, post.

80. Interpretation.—(1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meaning hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say:—

"Approved probation hostel" and "Approved probation home" have the meaning assigned to them by section forty-six of this Act;

"Approved school" means a school approved under section seventy-nine of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933;

"Court" does not include a court-martial;

"Court of summary jurisdiction" includes examining justices within the meaning of the Criminal Justice Act, 1925;

"Detention centre" has the meaning assigned to it by section forty-eight of this Act;

"Enactment" includes an enactment contained in a local Act and any order, regulation or other instrument having effect by virtue of an Act;

"England" includes Wales;

* * * * *

"Local authority" means, in relation to any probation area, any authority out of whose funds the salary of the clerk to the justices for a petty sessional division or place contained in the probation area is paid;

"Mental hospital" includes a Broadmoor institution;

* * * * *

"Probationer" means a person for the time being under supervision by virtue of a probation order;

"Probation order" has the meaning assigned to it by section three of this Act;

"Probation period" means the period for which a probationer is placed under supervision by a probation order;

"Remand centre" has the meaning assigned to it by section forty-eight of this Act;

"Remand home" means premises established or used by the council of a county or county borough under the provisions of section seventy-seven of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933;

"Sentence" includes an order for detention in a detention centre, an order for custody in a remand home under section fifty-four of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, and an order sending an offender to an approved school, but does not include a committal in default of payment of any sum of money or failing to do or abstain from doing anything required to be done or left undone;

* * * * *

"Supervising court" means, in relation to a probation order, a court of summary jurisdiction acting for the petty sessional division or place for the time being named in the order; and where the probationer was a child or young person within the meaning of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, when the probation order was made, means a juvenile court for that division or place;

"Supervision order" has the meaning ascribed to it by section seventy-four of this Act. [1970]

(2) Any reference in this Act to a previous sentence of imprisonment shall be construed as including a reference to a previous sentence of penal servitude; any such reference to a previous sentence of Borstal training shall be construed as including a reference to a previous sentence of detention in a Borstal institution; and any such reference to a previous conviction or sentence shall be construed as a reference to a previous conviction by a court in any part of Great Britain and to a previous sentence passed by any such court. [1971]

(3) Where the age of any person at any time is material for the purposes of any provision of this Act, or of any Order in Council made thereunder, regulating the powers of a court, his age at the material time shall be deemed to be or to have been that which appears to the court after considering any available evidence to be or to have been his age at that time. [1972]

(4) References in this Act to an offence punishable with imprisonment shall be construed, in relation to any offender, without regard to any prohibition or restriction imposed by or under this Act upon the imprisonment of offenders of his age, but shall not be construed as including an offence for which the court is required to impose a sentence of imprisonment for life. [1973]

(5) For the purposes of this Act, except subsection (6) of section three thereof, where a probation order or an order for conditional discharge has been made on appeal, the order shall be deemed to have been made by the court from which the appeal was brought. [1974]

(6) Where any provision of this Act empowers a court on conviction of an offender to pass a sentence or make an order in lieu of dealing with him in any other manner, the said provision shall not be construed as taking away any power of the court to order the offender to pay costs, damages or compensation. [1975]

(7) References in this Act to any enactment shall, unless the context otherwise requires, be construed as references to that enactment as amended by any subsequent enactment including this Act. [1976]

"Approved probation hostel"; "Approved probation home."—These are premises approved by the Secretary of State for the reception of persons required to reside therein by a probation order or a supervision order. The term "hostel" is appropriate where residents follow outside employment (s. 46 (1) of the Act, title SUMMARY PROCEEDINGS, post).

Criminal Justice Act, 1925.—11 Halsbury's Statutes 395. As to "examining justices", see s. 49 (2) of that Act (11 Halsbury's Statutes 422).

"Detention centre."—This is a place in which persons between fourteen and twenty-one who are ordered to be detained in such centres under the present Act may be kept for short periods under discipline suitable to persons of their age and description (s. 48 (1) (b) of the Act, title SUMMARY PROCEEDINGS, post).

"Probation order."—That is to say, an order requiring an offender to be under the supervision of a probation officer for a period to be specified in the order of, not less than one year nor more than three years (s. 3 (1) of the Act). Transitional provisions as to existing orders are contained in Sched. VIII to the Act.

"Remand centre."—This means a place for the detention of persons between fourteen and twenty-one who are remanded or committed in custody for trial or sentence (s. 48 (1) (a) of the Act, title SUMMARY PROCEEDINGS, post).

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 168. For ss. 54 and 77, see 26 Halsbury's Statutes 204, 216. S. 77 is amended by s. 79, ante, and Sched. IX, post.

"Supervision order."—See s. 74, ante.

S. 3 (6) of this Act.—This subsection relates to the furnishing, by the courts making probation orders, of copies of the orders to probation officers, offenders, etc.

Date of commencement.—By S.I. 1948 No. 1840, post, this section came into force on September 13, 1948.

83. Short title, commencement and repeals.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Criminal Justice Act, 1948. [1977]

(2) This Act shall come into operation on such day as His Majesty may by Order in Council appoint:

Provided that different days may be appointed for the purposes of different provisions of this Act, and any reference in any provision of this Act to the commencement of this Act shall, unless otherwise provided by any such Order, be construed as a reference to the commencement of that provision. [1978]

(3) The enactments specified in Parts I to III of the Tenth Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that schedule but without prejudice to the provisions of subsection (5) of section sixty-one, and of section seventy-eight of this Act; and Regulations 13, 15A and 17A of the Defence (Administration of Justice) Regulations, 1940, shall cease to have effect. [1979]

On such day . . . different days may be appointed.—Up to the date of going to press five days had been appointed for different provisions of the Act, namely, September 13, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 1840, post, and S.I. 1948 No. 2056); December 27, 1948, and April 18, 1949 (S.I. 1948 No. 2349 and S.I. 1949 No. 139); March 14, 1949, and April 1, 1949 (S.I. 1949 No. 139, as varied by S.I. 1949 No. 372).

Date of commencement.—Sub-s. (3), supra, has been brought into force at different dates in relation to different provisions in Sched. X, post. In relation to the relevant enactments, see the notes to that Schedule, post.

Definition.—As to the term "enactment" as here appearing, see the notes to s. 79, ante.

ORDERS, CIRCULARS AND MEMORANDA

CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS (CONTRIBUTIONS BY LOCAL AUTHORITIES) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 36

January 14, 1948

General note.—This order is revoked and replaced, as from April 1, 1949, by the Children and Young Persons (Contributions by Local Authorities) Regulations,1949 (S.I. 1949 No. 53), which provides for a contribution of 50*s.* a week.

In pursuance of the power conferred upon me by subsection (1) of section ninety of the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, I, the Right Honourable James Chuter Ede, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, hereby make the following Regulations :—

1. The contributions to be made by the local authority named in an approved school order to the expenses of the managers of an approved school throughout the time during which the person to whom the order relates is under the care of the said managers and not out on licence or under supervision shall be at the rate of fifty-two shillings and sixpence a week :

Provided that this Regulation shall not apply to a local authority named in an approved school order where the managers having under their care the person to whom the order relates are that local authority or a joint committee upon which that local authority is represented. [1982]

2. The Interpretation Act, 1889, shall apply to the interpretation of these Regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [1983]

3.—(1) These Regulations may be cited as the Children and Young Persons (Contributions by Local Authorities) Regulations, 1948.

(2) These Regulations shall come into force on the first day of April, 1948.

(3) The Children and Young Persons (Contributions by Local Authorities) Regulations, 1947, are hereby revoked. [1984]

CHILDREN ACT (COMPENSATION OF OFFICERS) REGULATIONS, 1948

July 1, 1948

In pursuance of the powers conferred on me by section fifty-seven of the Children Act, 1948, I hereby make the following Regulations :—

Citation, Commencement and Interpretation

1. These Regulations may be cited as the Children Act (Compensation of Officers) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, 1948. [1985]

2.—(1) The Interpretation Act, 1889, shall apply to the interpretation of these Regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament.

(2) In these Regulations the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say :—

" accrued pension ", in relation to a pensionable officer who has suffered loss of employment, means—

(a) if the pension scheme to which the officer was last subject before losing his employment consisted of arrangements for the provision of superannuation benefits in which he had no right to participate but had reasonable expectations of participating, such proportion of the pension of which he had reasonable expectations as the compensating authority consider equitable, having regard to his age, the length of his employment at the date of loss and all the other circumstances of the case ; and

(b) in any other case the pension to which he would have become entitled in respect of his pensionable service according to the method of calculation, as modified by paragraph 18 of the Schedule to these Regulations, prescribed by the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, if at the date on which he ceased to be subject thereto he had attained normal retiring age and complied with any requirement of the said scheme as to a minimum period of qualifying service or contribution.

and includes the annual value as ascertained by an actuary of any contingent right under the scheme in respect of widow's pension or any other benefit which might have become payable to his widow or to his legal personal representatives on his death had he not lost his employment, but does not include any part of such pension as aforesaid which is attributable to any remuneration enjoyed, whether before or after the material date, in consequence of an increase between the nineteenth day of March, 1946, and the material date in the remuneration of any employment, if it can be shown that the increased remuneration was not granted in the ordinary course of that employment or in consideration of the person's assumption of increased responsibilities or new duties in connection with the discharge of the existing functions of the authority employing him ;

" accrued incapacity pension " has the same meaning as " accrued pension " except that the reference to a person's having attained normal retiring age shall be construed as a reference to his having become incapable of discharging efficiently the duties of his employment by reason of permanent ill-health or infirmity of mind or body ;

" accrued retiring allowance ", in relation to a pensionable officer who has suffered loss of employment, means any lump sum payment to which he would have become entitled in respect of his pensionable service according to the method of calculation, as modified by paragraph 18 of the Schedule to these Regulations, prescribed by the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, if at the date on which he ceased to be subject thereto he had attained normal retiring age and complied with any requirement of the said scheme as to a minimum period of qualifying service ;

" the Act " means the Children Act, 1948 ;

" actuary " means a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries or of the Faculty of Actuaries in Scotland ;

" compensating authority ", in relation to a person who immediately before the material date was employed by the Common Council of the City of London or the council of a metropolitan borough, means the London County Council, and in relation to a person who immediately before the said date was employed by the council of a county district means the council of the county including the area of that county district;

"emoluments" means all salary, wages, fees and other payments paid or made to an officer as such for his own use, and includes the money value of any apartments, rations or other allowances in kind appertaining to his employment, but does not include payments for overtime or any allowances payable to him to cover the cost of providing office accommodation or clerical or other assistance, or any travelling or subsistence allowance or other moneys to be spent, or to cover expenses incurred by him, for the purposes of his employment, and also does not include any remuneration enjoyed, whether before or after the material date, in consequence of an increase between the nineteenth day of March, 1946, and the material date in the remuneration of any employment, if it can be shown that the increased remuneration was not granted in the ordinary course of that employment or in consideration of the person's assumption of increased responsibilities or new duties in connection with the discharge of the existing functions of the authority employing him;

"existing officer" means a person who immediately before the material date was employed by the Common Council of the City of London or the council of a metropolitan borough or county district on full-time duties which consisted of, or included, work for the purposes of functions transferred by the Act from that council to a county council and who had devoted the whole of his time for a period of not less than eight years before the material date after attaining the age of eighteen years without a break of more than twelve months at any one time to any one of the following employments, or to any combination of any such employments, that is to say, employment in Great Britain by the governing body of a voluntary hospital, the council of a county, the council of a county borough, the Common Council of the City of London, the council of a metropolitan borough, the council of a county district, an insurance committee, the Ophthalmic Benefit Approved Committee, the Dental Benefit Council, or by any other body for the purposes of the local government service, or by the Crown, or employment under an officer of any such authority or body for the purposes of the functions of such authority or body, or employment by any voluntary organisation which provided services similar to those which local authorities may be required to provide in the discharge of their functions under Part III of the National Health Service Act, 1946, or under the Mental Deficiency Acts, 1913 to 1938, or to any combination of the said employments or to national service undertaken on ceasing to follow any of the said employments or any combination thereof;

"material date" means the fifth day of July, 1948;

"national service", in relation to any person, means war service within the meaning of the Local Government Staffs (War Service) Act, 1939, or employment for war purposes within the meaning of the Superannuation Schemes (War Service) Act, 1940;

"net emoluments", in relation to an officer who suffers loss of employment or diminution of emoluments, means the annual rate of his emoluments immediately before such loss or diminution, after deducting therefrom the like percentage thereof as the percentage of his emoluments which he was then liable to contribute under any pension scheme associated with his employment:

Provided that—

(a) if, for the purposes of the foregoing definition, account is required to be taken of any fees payable to a person as part of his emoluments, the amount thereof shall be taken to be the annual average of the fees paid to him during the three years immediately preceding the loss of employment or diminution of emoluments, or, if the fees were payable in respect of a shorter period, such shorter period; and

(b) any amount by which the annual rate of his emoluments exceeds £4,000 shall be disregarded; and

(c) if the officer was not a pensionable officer, no deduction shall be made on account of pension contributions;

" normal retiring age " means, in relation to an officer in whose case an age of compulsory retirement applied by virtue of any pension scheme associated with the employment he has lost or the emoluments of which have been diminished or by virtue of the conditions of that employment, that age, and, in any other case, the age of sixty-five years if the officer is a male, or sixty years if the officer is a female;

" office " means any place, situation or employment, and the expression " officer " shall be construed accordingly;

" pensionable officer ", in relation to an officer who has suffered loss of employment, means an officer who immediately before the appointed day was subject to a pension scheme;

" pension scheme " means a scheme or arrangements for the payment of superannuation benefits to a person as part of the terms and conditions of any employment held by him, and includes arrangements for the provision of superannuation benefits in which by virtue of any employment held by him a person had reasonable expectations of participating on the nineteenth day of March, 1946, and immediately before the material date;

" service " in relation to a person means any period of whole-time or part-time employment in Great Britain, after attaining the age of eighteen years, under a regional hospital board, a board of governors of a teaching hospital, an executive council, a joint committee of executive councils, or under any such authority or body as is mentioned in sub-paragraph (c) (i) of subsection (1) of section sixty-seven of the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947, or under any authority or body functions of which cease or are transferred in consequence of the National Health Service Act, 1946, or the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947, or under the Crown or any other body for the purposes of the local government service, or under an officer of any such authority or body for the purposes of the functions of that authority or body, or at or for the purposes of any hospital transferred to the Minister of Health by virtue of the National Health Service Act, 1946, or any hospital transferred to the Secretary of State by virtue of the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947, or under the Ophthalmic Benefit Approved Committee or the Dental Benefit Council, and includes any period of national service undertaken on the person's ceasing to hold any such employment as aforesaid, but does not include employment of which account has been taken, or is required to be taken, in calculating the amount of any superannuation benefits to which the person has become entitled. [1986]

Compensation to officers employed immediately before the fifth day of July, 1948

3. Subject to the provisions of the next succeeding Regulation, every person who was an existing officer and who suffers loss of employment or diminution of emoluments which is attributable to the passing of the Act shall be entitled to have his case considered for the receipt of compensation under these Regulations, such compensation to be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Schedule hereto. [1987]

4. Nothing in the last preceding Regulation shall entitle a person to have his case considered for compensation unless—

(a) the cause of the claim to compensation arises not later than ten years after the material date, and the claim is made not later than two years after the date on which the cause of claim arises; and

(b) (i) his office is abolished and he is not offered a reasonably comparable office in the government service or the local government service or under any body constituted under the National Health Service Act, 1946; or

(ii) his appointment is determined because his services are not required or because his duties are diminished (no misconduct being established); or

(iii) his emoluments are diminished:

Provided that for the purposes of this Regulation a person shall not be deemed to have been offered an office which is not reasonably comparable with an office which is abolished by reason only of the fact that the duties of the office offered are duties in relation to the administration of a different service from that in connection with which his office was held or are duties which involve a transfer of his employment from one place to another within England or Wales. [1988]

5. If a person who has claimed compensation under these Regulations is aggrieved by the refusal of the compensating authority to accept his claim or by their failure to come to a decision on his claim within three months after the date on which it was received by them, or by a decision that no compensation should be paid to him or by the amount of compensation awarded, he may, within three months after the refusal or failure or after the date on which he received notice of the decision, as the case may be, refer the matter to the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of State shall consider any matter so referred in accordance with the provisions of these Regulations and determine accordingly whether any, and if so what, compensation ought to be awarded to the claimant, and the compensating authority shall give effect to the decision of the Secretary of State. [1989]

6.—(1) Any compensation to which an officer becomes entitled under these Regulations shall be paid by the compensating authority and shall be payable to, or in trust for, the person who is entitled to receive it, and shall not be assignable.

(2) Any sum payable as compensation to a person by a compensating authority shall be recoverable as a debt due from the authority. [1990]

Officers on national service immediately before the material date

7. Any person (hereinafter referred to as an "officer on national service") who is engaged on national service immediately before the material date and who, if he had continued to be employed until the material date in the capacity in which he was employed before becoming engaged on national service, would have been an existing officer, shall be deemed to be an existing officer within the meaning of these Regulations, and if at the date on which he ceased to be so employed he was subject to a pension scheme, and his national service or any part thereof would be reckonable for the purposes of that scheme if he again became subject thereto on the termination of his national service, he shall also be deemed to be a pensionable officer within the meaning of these Regulations. [1991]

8.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the next succeeding Regulation, if an officer on national service ceases to be engaged on national service and in consequence of the Act—

(a) is not given or offered re-employment in his former office or in any reasonably comparable office, or is not employed or offered employment in any office to which, but for his national service, he would have been transferred by these Regulations, or in any reasonably comparable office; or

he shall be deemed for the purposes of these Regulations, in the former case, to have suffered loss of employment which is attributable to the Act owing to the abolition of his office at the date of the refusal to re-employ him or employ him as aforesaid, and, in the latter case, to have suffered diminution of emoluments which is attributable to the Act.

(2) In relation to an officer on national service to whom the preceding paragraph applies, the compensating authority shall be the authority which would under these Regulations have been the compensating authority if he had continued to be employed until the material date in the same capacity in which he was employed before becoming engaged on national service and under the same authority. [1992]

9. No person shall, by virtue of the last preceding Regulation, be entitled to have his case considered for compensation for any loss suffered by him by reason of his not being re-employed or employed as therein mentioned unless within a period of two months after the date on which he ceased to be engaged on national service he gives notice in writing to the authority by whom he was formerly employed or to the authority to whom he would have been transferred by these Regulations, as the case may be, that he is available for employment:

Provided that if the person is prevented from giving notice within the said period by his sickness or other reasonable cause, the notice may be given as soon as reasonably may be after the expiration of that period. [1993]

10. For the purpose of ascertaining the net emoluments of a person to whom Regulation 8 of these Regulations applies such person shall be deemed to have continued to follow his former employment until the cause of claim arose and to have been entitled to the emoluments thereof. [1994]

11. In relation to a pensionable officer to whom sub-paragraph (a) of paragraph (1) of Regulation 8 of these Regulations applies, the expression "accrued pension" means the pension to which he would have become entitled according to the method of calculation, as modified by paragraph 18 of the Schedule to these Regulations, prescribed by the pension scheme to which he was subject before becoming engaged on national service, if at the date on which he ceased to be engaged on national service he had been serving in his civil capacity and had attained normal retiring age, having complied with any requirement of the said pension scheme as to a minimum period of qualifying service. SCHEDULE

DETERMINATION OF COMPENSATION

I. General

1. A person desiring to make a claim for compensation under these Regulations shall make his claim in a form approved by the Secretary of State for the purpose, and shall deliver his claim to the compensating authority. The claim shall be accompanied by a statutory declaration as to the truth of the statements contained therein.

2.—(1) A claimant, if so required by the compensating authority, by notice sent through the clerk of the authority, shall attend at a meeting of the authority, or of any committee appointed by the authority for the purpose, and answer all questions asked by any member of the authority or committee touching the matters set forth in his claim, and shall further produce all books, papers and documents in his possession or under his control relating to the claim.

(2) A claimant required to attend at a meeting pursuant to sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph may further be required to make a statutory declaration as to the truth of any of the answers given by him to questions asked on the occasion of such attendance touching the matters set forth in his claim.

(3) Such a claimant as aforesaid may be accompanied by a representative who shall be entitled to address the authority or committee before whom the claimant is required to attend touching the matters set forth in his claim. [1996]

II. Compensation for loss of employment

3. On receipt of a claim for compensation in respect of loss of employment, the compensating authority shall consider forthwith whether the claimant satisfies the conditions of eligibility for the payment of compensation set out in Regulations 3 and 4 of these Regulations and, if they are satisfied that these conditions are not fulfilled, shall reject the claim and advise the claimant in writing accordingly within one month after the receipt of the claim.

Interim payments of compensation

4. If the compensating authority accept the claim, then, unless they are satisfied that the claimant has substantially made good his loss by virtue of having obtained other employment, they shall forthwith commence to make interim payments of compensation to the claimant subject to and in accordance with the provisions of the next succeeding paragraph, and shall continue to make such payments until, in accordance with paragraph 6 of this Schedule, they decide whether any further compensation is payable to him under these Regulations.

5.—(1) Interim compensation shall be payable as from the date of claim, and shall be at a rate not exceeding two-thirds of the net emoluments of the employment which the claimant has lost, less two-thirds of any unemployment benefit to which the claimant may be entitled, and less any sum to which the claimant may be entitled by way of compensation under the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, 1944.

(2) In determining the amount of interim compensation, the compensating authority shall have regard to any payments to which the claimant becomes entitled in consequence of the loss of his employment under any contract or arrangement with the authority by whom he was employed (other than payments by way of a return of contributions under a pension scheme).

(3) The payments shall be made at intervals equivalent to those at which the said emoluments were previously payable, and the payments shall be reduced or terminated if the claimant obtains other employment or the compensating authority are satisfied that he is not actively seeking employment or has unreasonably refused suitable employment which has been offered to him.

(4) If the claimant obtains other employment, he shall immediately notify the compensating authority in writing accordingly.

(5) The compensating authority may require, as a condition of making or continuing to make interim payments, that the claimant should be registered for employment at an employment exchange or the Appointments Department of the Ministry of Labour and National Service, at the option of the claimant.

Assessment of compensation

6. Having determined the amount of the interim payments (if any) to be made under the preceding provisions of this Schedule to a claimant whose claim has been accepted, the compensating authority shall, within a period of three months after the date of receipt of the claim, assess the just amount (if any) of the compensation payable under the succeeding provisions of this Schedule, and shall forthwith notify the claimant in writing of their decision.

7.—(1) The compensating authority shall, within a period of two years after the date on which any decision is notified to a claimant under paragraph 6 of this Schedule, or if the claimant has referred any such decision to the Secretary of State under Regulation 5 of these Regulations, within a period of two years after the date of the decision of the Secretary of State, review their decision or the decision of the Secretary of State, as the case may be, at intervals of not more than six months, and on any review the compensating authority may, in the light of any material change in the circumstances of the case, award compensation or increase or reduce the amount of any compensation awarded.

(2) If the claimant obtains other employment within the said period of two years, he shall immediately notify the compensating authority in writing accordingly.

(3) A claimant to whom a decision under paragraph 6 of this Schedule has been notified may, within the like period as is mentioned in sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph, require the compensating authority to review their decision or the decision of the Secretary of State, as the case may be, if he considers that there has been a material change in the circumstances of his case.

(4) The compensating authority shall forthwith notify the claimant in writing of their decision on any review under the preceding provisions of this paragraph, and if the claimant is aggrieved by such decision he may refer the matter to the Secretary of State within three months after the date on which he receives notice of the decision, and the Secretary of State shall determine any matter so referred, and the compensating authority shall give effect to the determination of the Secretary of State.

Compensation payable, subject to earlier cesser in certain cases, until normal retiring age

8. For the purpose of determining whether any compensation, apart from any interim compensation paid under paragraphs 4 and 5 of this Schedule, is payable to any person for loss of employment, and if so the amount of the compensation to be paid, subject to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this Schedule, until normal retiring age, the compensating authority shall have regard to—

(a) the conditions upon which his appointment was made ;
(b) the nature of his office ;
(c) the extent to which he has sought suitable alternative employment, and
(d) all the other circumstances of the case.

9.—(1) Compensation for loss of employment shall be an annual sum, calculated in accordance with the provisions of sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph, and shall be payable, subject to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this Schedule, until normal retiring age, as from the date of loss, if the claim was made within three months thereafter, and in any other case, as from the date on which the claim was made or from such earlier date, not being more than three months before the date on which the claim was made, as the compensating authority may in their discretion allow.

(2) The said annual sum shall, subject as hereinafter provided, be the aggregate of the following sums, namely :—

(a) for every completed year of the claimant's service, one-sixtieth of the net emoluments of the employment he has lost ; and
(b) in the case of a claimant over the age of forty-five years at the date of loss, a further one-sixtieth of the said net emoluments for every completed year of service since he attained the age of forty-five :

(i) where the claimant has undertaken or obtained other work or employment in place of the employment he has lost or has been offered other suitable employment, the said annual sum shall be calculated by reference only to the amount (if any) by which the annual rate of the emoluments of the employment he has lost exceeds the annual rate of the emoluments of the work or employment undertaken, obtained or offered to him as aforesaid ;

(ii) if the said annual sum is required to be calculated in accordance with proviso (i) to this sub-paragraph, it shall be reduced or increased by such amount (if any) as the compensating authority think fit, having regard to the relative security of tenure of the employment lost and the work or employment undertaken, obtained or offered as aforesaid, so however that the said annual sum shall not by virtue of any such increase as aforesaid be greater than if it were calculated without reference to the said proviso (i) and this proviso ;

(iii) the said annual sum shall also be reduced by such an amount (if any) as the compensating authority think fit having regard to the matters to which they are required to have regard by the last preceding paragraph and to any compensation payable to the claimant under the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, 1944, or under or in pursuance of any other enactment ; and

(iv) the said annual sum shall in no case exceed two-thirds of the net emoluments of the employment which the claimant has lost.

10. There shall be deducted from any payments made under paragraph 9 of this Schedule in respect of any period in respect of which interim payments have been made under paragraphs 4 and 5 thereof the amount of such payments, so far as they do not exceed the payments due under the said paragraph 9 in respect of that period.

Compensation payable to pensionable officer on his becoming incapacitated or reaching pensionable age

11.—(1) If the claimant was a pensionable officer, and before attaining normal retiring age—

(a) he becomes incapacitated in circumstances in which if he had continued in the employment he has lost he would have become entitled to a pension under the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, or

(b) he attains an age at which had he continued to serve in the employment he has lost he would have become entitled to retire with a pension on the ground of having attained that age and completed a prescribed period of service, and compensation is not then payable to him under these Regulations, or compensation by way of an annual sum equal to the amount of his accrued incapacity pension or his accrued pension, as the case may be, together with the annual value of his accrued retiring allowance (if any), would be greater than the annual amount of any compensation to which he may then be entitled under these Regulations, he shall be entitled, if he so requests at any time thereafter by notice in writing to the compensating authority, as from the date on which the compensating authority receive such notice, in lieu of any compensation to which he would otherwise be entitled under these Regulations—

(i) in the case mentioned in head (a) of this sub-paragraph, to an annual sum equal to the amount of his accrued incapacity pension, and a lump sum equal to the amount of his accrued retiring allowance (if any) ; and

(ii) in the case mentioned in head (b) of this sub-paragraph, to an annual sum equal to the amount of his accrued pension and a lump sum equal to the amount of his accrued retiring allowance (if any) :

Provided that if in calculating the amount of compensation payable to a person who has given such notice as aforesaid, the compensating authority, by virtue of paragraph 20 of this Schedule, have credited him with additional years of service or contributions, no account shall be taken for the purpose of the foregoing provision of any number of such additional years beyond the number of years which he could have served, had he not lost his employment, before the date on which such notice as aforesaid was received by the compensating authority.

(2) On receipt of a notice under the last preceding sub-paragraph, the compensating authority shall consider forthwith whether the person giving the notice is a person to whom that sub-paragraph applies, and within three months after the date of the receipt of the notice—

(a) if they are satisfied that he is not such a person, they shall notify him in writing accordingly ; and

(b) if they accept the notice, they shall assess the amount of compensation payable to the person and notify him in writing accordingly,

and any such notification shall, for the purposes of these Regulations, be deemed to be a notification by the authority of a decision on a claim to compensation.

(3) A compensating authority may require any such person as is mentioned in head (a) of sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph, who gives a notice under that sub-paragraph, to submit himself to a medical examination by a registered medical practitioner selected by that authority, and, if they do so, they shall also offer the person an opportunity of submitting a report from his own medical adviser as a result of an examination by him, and the authority shall take that report into consideration, together with the report of the medical practitioner selected by them.

Compensation payable to a pensionable officer on attainment of normal retiring age

12. Subject as hereinafter provided, the compensation payable to a claimant who was a pensionable officer (not being a person to whom paragraph 11 of this Schedule has been applied) on his attaining normal retiring age shall be—

(a) an annual sum equal to the amount of his accrued pension, and

(b) a lump sum equal to the amount of his accrued retiring allowance (if any).

Supplementary provisions as to compensation payable to pensionable officer

13.—(1) Where a claimant, after suffering loss of employment, enters employment in which he participates in the benefits of the pension scheme associated with the employment he has lost, or becomes entitled to participate in any other pension scheme, in circumstances in which he is entitled to reckon for the purposes thereof service which falls to be taken into account for the purpose of assessing compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this Schedule, no compensation under either of those paragraphs shall be payable unless the amount of the annual rate of the emoluments of the employment he has lost exceeds the amount of the annual rate of the emoluments to which he becomes entitled on entering such employment as aforesaid by more than five per cent. of the first-mentioned amount, and any compensation payable thereunder shall be calculated by reference only to the amount of the difference.

(2) If a claimant has unreasonably refused a suitable offer of such employment as is mentioned in the preceding sub-paragraph, he shall be deemed for the purposes of that sub-paragraph to have entered the employment so offered to him.

14. The provisions of paragraphs 11 and 12 of this Schedule shall not apply to a person who had been participating in a scheme for providing superannuation benefits by means of contracts or policies of insurance, and who, on losing his employment, continued to participate in that scheme, or became entitled to a benefit or prospective benefit thereunder other than a return of contributions.

15.—(1) If the claimant was a person in respect of whose service a widow's pension might have become payable under the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, then, if he so desires and informs the compensating authority by notice in writing accordingly when making his claim, he may surrender so much of any annual sum which may become payable to him as compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this Schedule as represents the annual value of the contingent right in respect of widow's pension, in consideration of the payment by the compensating authority to the person who as his widow might have become entitled to such widow's pension as aforesaid in the event of her surviving him—

(a) if he dies before attaining normal retiring age, and without having given a notice pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this Schedule, of an annual sum equal to the amount of the pension to which she would have become entitled had he, immediately before he died, became entitled to a pension under the pension scheme on grounds of ill-health of an amount equal to the amount of his accrued incapacity pension, less the part thereof surrendered under the provisions of this paragraph and any part thereof surrendered under the provisions of paragraph 17 of this Schedule; and

(b) if he dies on or after attaining normal retiring age, or after giving a notice pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this Schedule, of an annual sum equal to the amount of the pension to which she would have become entitled in accordance with the method of calculation prescribed by the pension scheme had he, at the date on which he attained normal retiring age, or gave the said notice, become entitled to a pension under the pension scheme of an amount equal to the amount of his accrued pension or accrued incapacity pension, as the case may be, less the part thereof surrendered under the provisions of this paragraph and any part thereof surrendered under the provisions of the said paragraph 17.

(2) In the calculation of the amount of the annual sum payable to a widow under the preceding sub-paragraph, account shall be taken of any additional years of service or additional contributions credited to the claimant under paragraph 20 of this Schedule:

Provided that no account shall be taken of any number of such additional years of service or contributions beyond the number of years which the claimant could have served before his death had he not lost his employment.

(3) Any sum payable to a widow under this paragraph shall cease to be payable or shall be suspended in any circumstances in which a widow's pension under the aforesaid pension scheme would have ceased to be payable or would have been suspended.

16. If under the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, the claimant would have been entitled to surrender a proportion of any pension which might have become payable to him in favour of his spouse or any dependant, then, if he so desires and informs the compensating authority in writing accordingly within one month after becoming entitled to compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this Schedule, he may surrender a proportion of so much of the said compensation as is payable by way of an annual sum on the like terms and conditions and in consideration of the like payments by the compensating authority as if the said annual sum were a pension to which he had become entitled under the said pension scheme.

17.—(1) If the claimant was a person in respect of whose service a death benefit might have become payable to his legal personal representatives under the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, then, if he so desires, and informs the compensating authority in writing accordingly when making his claim, he may surrender so much of any annual sum which may become payable to him as compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this Schedule as represents the annual value of the contingent right in respect of the said benefit, in consideration of the payment by the compensating authority to his legal personal representatives—

(a) if he dies before attaining normal retiring age, and without having given a notice pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this Schedule, of a sum equal to the amount of any death benefit which would have become payable in accordance with the method of calculation, as modified by the next succeeding paragraph, prescribed by the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, had he died immediately before the date on which he lost his employment and complied with any requirement of the said scheme as to a minimum period of qualifying service; or

(b) if he dies on or after attaining normal retiring age or after giving a notice pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this Schedule, of a sum equal to the amount of any such death benefit as aforesaid, less a sum equal to the aggregate amount of any payments made to him by way of compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this Schedule.

(2) In the calculation of the amount of the sum payable under the preceding sub-paragraph, account shall be taken of any additional years of service or additional contributions credited to the claimant under paragraph 20 of this Schedule:

Provided that no account shall be taken of any number of such additional years of service or contributions beyond the number of years which the claimant could have served before his death had he not lost his employment.

18. For the purposes of these Regulations—

(a) the amount of any accrued pension or accrued incapacity pension, if the number of years of service by reference to which the pension is to be calculated is less than any minimum number of years of qualifying service prescribed by the pension scheme, shall, notwithstanding any minimum benefit prescribed by the pension scheme, not exceed such proportion of such minimum benefit as the number of years of pensionable service bears to the minimum number of years of qualifying service ; and

(b) if the amount of any death benefit falls to be ascertained, by virtue of any pension scheme, wholly or partly by reference to the emoluments or average emoluments of a pensionable officer, and the number of years of his pensionable service is less than any minimum number of years of qualifying service prescribed by the pension scheme for the receipt of a death benefit, the said amount shall not exceed such proportion of the emoluments or average emoluments of the officer as the number of years of pensionable service bears to the minimum number of years of qualifying service.

19. If under the pension scheme to which the claimant was last subject before suffering loss of employment the amount of any pension to which he might have become entitled might have been increased at the discretion of the authority administering the pension scheme or of any other body or if under the said pension scheme any additional or supplementary payments might have been made to the claimant on his becoming entitled to a pension, the compensating authority may increase the compensation payable under paragraph 11 or 12 of this Schedule by an annual sum not exceeding the amount by which his accrued incapacity pension or accrued pension might have been increased or the annual value of the payments which might have been made to him by way of addition to or supplementation of his accrued pension.

20. If the claimant had attained the age of forty years at the date on which he lost his employment, the compensating authority in calculating the amount of the compensation payable to him under paragraph 11 or 12 of this Schedule may credit him with additional years of service or additional contributions not exceeding one year of service or one year's contributions for each completed year between the date on which he attained the age of forty years and the date on which he lost his employment, but not in any case exceeding ten years or such number of years as the claimant could have served had he continued in his employment until attaining normal retiring age, whichever is the less.

21. In deciding whether to add any number of years under the last preceding paragraph, the compensating authority shall have regard to the considerations set out in paragraph 8 of this Schedule, and also to the claimant's rights under any pension scheme associated with any employment which he may have obtained in place of the employment he has lost.

22.—(1) If the claimant was such an officer as is mentioned in paragraph 14 of this Schedule, the compensating authority may make such payments to or in respect of him, whether by way of the payment of premiums or otherwise, as are actuarially equivalent to the compensation which could have become payable to him by virtue of paragraph 19 or 20 of this Schedule if he had been a person to whom paragraph 11 or 12 thereof applied.

(2) If the claimant is such an officer as aforesaid, and he becomes entitled to a benefit under such a scheme as is mentioned in paragraph 14 of this Schedule before reaching normal retiring age, the compensating authority may reduce any compensation payable to him under paragraph 9 of this Schedule accordingly.

23.—(1) Compensation shall not be payable or shall cease to be payable under paragraph 11 or 12 of this Schedule to a person who has received any sum by way of a return of contributions under the pension scheme to which he was last subject on his ceasing to be subject thereto, unless forthwith on receiving such sum he pays to the compensating authority an amount equivalent thereto, such amount to be held by the compensating authority subject to the condition that if the pension scheme made no provision for death benefit and he dies before he has received in the aggregate by way of compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this Schedule a sum equal to the amount so paid as aforesaid to the compensating authority, together with compound interest thereon, calculated at the rate of two and a half per cent. per annum, with half-yearly rests, up to the date of his death, as from the first day of April or the first day of October following the half year in which the amount was paid, there shall be paid to his legal personal representatives the difference between the aggregate amount received by way of compensation and the said sum :

(a) if a sum becomes payable to his widow on his death under paragraph 15 of this Schedule and on her death or remarriage the sum ceases to be payable, and the aggregate amount of the payments which were made to her or her husband under these Regulations is less than a sum equal to the amount so paid to the compensating authority by her husband as aforesaid on account of contributions, after the addition thereto of interest thereon as aforesaid, there shall be paid to her or her legal personal representatives the difference between the aggregate amount of the payments made to her or her husband as aforesaid and the said sum ;

(b) this paragraph shall not apply to a person to whom paragraph 13 of this Schedule applies, and in the event of a claimant becoming such a person after having made a payment under this paragraph, the amount of the sum so paid shall be returned to him by the compensating authority ; and

(c) this paragraph shall not apply to a person who has been an officer on national service to whom Regulation 8 of these Regulations applies, and who received a return of contributions before ceasing to be engaged on national service.

(2) A person to whom paragraph 11 or 12 of this Schedule may become applicable shall on or before the date on which the compensation may become payable to him thereunder be entitled, if he so desires and informs the compensating authority in writing accordingly, to receive from the compensating authority in lieu of any such compensation—

(a) if the person has paid any sum to the compensating authority under sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph, an amount equivalent thereto, together with interest thereon, calculated in the manner provided by the pension scheme as from the date of payment of the said sum ; and

(b) if the person has not received a return of contributions under the pension scheme, and if, being entitled to such a return he has relinquished that right, an amount equivalent to the amount of such contributions together with interest thereon, calculated in manner provided by the pension scheme ;

and any liability of the compensating authority under paragraph 15 or 17 of this Schedule shall cease in the event of his giving such notice as aforesaid.

Compensation payable to non-pensionable officer after attainment of normal retiring age

24.—(1) If the claimant was not a pensionable officer, the compensating authority may, on his attaining normal retiring age, if they are satisfied that he would in the normal course have continued in the employment he has lost for a substantial period beyond that age, continue to pay compensation to him for the remainder of his life at half its former rate.

(2) If the claimant was not a pensionable officer and suffers loss of employment on or after attaining normal retiring age, the compensating authority may, if they are satisfied that he would in the normal course have continued in the employment he has lost for a further substantial period, pay compensation to him for the remainder of his life at half the rate to which he would have been entitled under paragraph 9 of this Schedule had he not attained normal retiring age at the date on which he lost his employment. [1997]

III. Compensation for diminution of emoluments

25. On receipt of a claim for compensation for diminution of the emoluments of any employment the compensating authority shall within a period of three months after the date of receipt of the claim decide whether any compensation is payable and, if so, the amount of that compensation, and shall forthwith notify the claimant in writing of their decision.

26. A decision under the last preceding paragraph shall be subject to review in like manner as a decision under paragraph 6 of this Schedule :

Provided that—

(a) no review shall take place after the date on which the claimant loses that employment, except a review as at that date ; and

(b) while the claimant continues to hold that employment, there shall be no limit to the period within which a review may take place.

27. In determining whether compensation is payable and, if so, the amount of that compensation, the compensating authority shall have regard to the conditions upon which the claimant's appointment was made, the nature of his office, and all the other circumstances of the case. No compensation shall be payable where the diminution is less than five per cent. of the net emoluments of the claimant.

28. Compensation for diminution of emoluments shall be an annual sum payable as from the date of loss, if the claim was made within three months thereafter, and in any other case as from the date on which the claim was made, or from such earlier date, not being more than three months before the date on which the claim was made, as the compensating authority may in their discretion allow.

29. Compensation to a person for diminution of the emoluments of any employment shall be payable for the same period or periods as compensation for loss of employment and shall not during any period exceed a sum bearing the same proportion to the maximum amount of compensation which could have been awarded in respect of that period had he lost his employment as the amount by which his net emoluments are diminished bears to their amount before diminution :

Provided that the compensation shall cease if the person voluntarily relinquishes his employment without the consent of his employer otherwise than on reaching pensionable age.

30. A person entitled to compensation for diminution of emoluments shall have the like rights in relation to such compensation as are conferred by paragraphs 15, 16 and 17 of this Schedule upon a person entitled to compensation for loss of employment. [1948]

IV. Miscellaneous

31. Any dispute as to who are the compensating authority for the purposes of these Regulations shall, in default of agreement, be determined by the Secretary of State.

32. A notification of a decision by a compensating authority to a claimant for compensation under these Regulations shall contain a statement directing the attention of the claimant to his right, if he is aggrieved by the decision, to refer the matter to the Secretary of State.

33. For the purpose of determining the amount of any compensation payable in respect of the loss of a whole-time office or of any two or more offices which in the aggregate involved the whole-time employment of an officer, any previous period of part-time employment shall be treated as though it were whole-time employment for a proportionately reduced period.

34. For the purpose of making any calculation under these Regulations in respect of the service of an officer all periods of his service shall be aggregated, and if the aggregated service includes a fraction of a year, that fraction shall, if it equals or exceeds six months, be treated as a year, and in any other case be disregarded.

35. If in determining the amount of any compensation payable to a person under these Regulations account is taken of any employment prior to the first world war and that person was temporarily absent from that employment during that war whilst serving in His Majesty's forces or the forces of the allied or associated Powers, either compulsorily or with the sanction or permission of the authority in whose employment he was immediately before such temporary absence, such period of temporary absence shall be reckoned as period of service :

Provided that, in the case of a person who after the eleventh day of November, 1918, voluntarily extended his term of service in such forces, no period of absence during any such extension shall be reckoned.

36.—(1) Where a person to whom compensation is payable under these Regulations for loss of employment has become or becomes entitled to a pension in respect of the employment he has lost otherwise than on losing such employment or where a person to whom compensation is payable under these Regulations for loss of employment or diminution of emoluments has become or becomes entitled to a pension in respect of any employment the remuneration of which was payable out of public funds and which he had obtained in place of the employment he had lost or in place of or in addition to the employment the emoluments of which were diminished, and in calculating the amount of such pension account is taken of any service which was taken into account in calculating the compensation payable, then, if the compensation does not exceed such part of the pension as is attributable solely to that service, the compensation shall cease to be payable, and if it exceeds such part of the pension as aforesaid, it shall be reduced by an amount equal to that part.

(2) Where a claimant's widow to whom an annual sum is payable under paragraph 15 or 30 of this Schedule has become or becomes entitled to a widow's pension in respect of any employment of her husband the remuneration of which was payable out of public funds and which he had obtained in place of the employment he had lost or in place of or in addition to the employment the emoluments of which were diminished, and any part of such widow's pension is attributable to service of her husband of which account was taken in calculating his accrued pension or accrued incapacity pension by reference to which the said annual sum was calculated, then if the said annual sum does not exceed such part of the pension as is attributable solely to that service, the said annual sum shall cease to be payable, and if it exceeds such part of the pension as aforesaid, it shall be reduced by an amount equal to that part.

(3) Where a claimant's legal personal representatives to whom a sum is payable on the claimant's death under paragraph 17 or 30 of this Schedule have become entitled to receive a death benefit under a pension scheme associated with any employment of the claimant the remuneration of which was payable out of public funds and which he had obtained in place of the employment he had lost or in place of or in addition to the employment the emoluments of which were diminished, and as one of the factors in the calculation of the amount of such benefit account fell to be taken of any service which fell to be taken into account as one of the factors in the calculation of the said sum, the said sum shall be reduced by an amount equal to such proportion of the amount of the death benefit as the number of years of the said service bears to the total number of years of service of which account fell to be taken as aforesaid in the calculation of the death benefit.

(4) Where any compensation, annual sum or lump sum is reduced in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this paragraph, such compensation, annual sum or lump sum shall be further reduced by an amount equal to such part thereof (if any) as is attributable to any additional years of service or contributions credited in accordance with paragraph 20 of this Schedule and by an amount equal to such part thereof (if any) as is attributable to any minimum benefit prescribed by a pension scheme.

(5) This paragraph shall not apply to or in respect of a person in whose case paragraph 18 of this Schedule has been applied, except to the extent to which the amount of the pension, widow's pension or death benefit to which the person, his widow or his legal personal representatives have become or becomes entitled as aforesaid is attributable to annual emoluments of a greater amount than the amount of the annual emoluments to which the person became entitled on entering the employment referred to in that paragraph.

(6) This paragraph shall not apply to or in respect of a person to whom compensation is or was payable for diminution of emoluments and who has become entitled to a pension in respect of employment which he had obtained in place of the employment the emoluments of which were diminished or whose widow has become entitled to a widow's pension or whose legal personal representatives have become entitled to a death benefit in respect of such employment, except to the extent to which the amount of the pension, widow's pension or death benefit is attributable to annual emoluments of a greater amount than the amount of the annual emoluments of the person's former employment after their diminution.

37.—(1) If a person receiving compensation for loss of employment obtains other employment in place of the employment he has lost and the remuneration thereof is payable out of public funds, he shall not, so long as he holds that employment, be entitled to receive any greater sum by way of compensation in respect of such loss than would make up the amount (if any) by which the net emoluments of that employment fall short of the net emoluments of the employment he has lost.

(2) If a person receiving compensation for diminution of the emoluments of any employment loses that employment in circumstances in which he does not become entitled to compensation in respect of that loss and thereupon or thereafter he obtains in place of that employment other employment the remuneration of which is payable out of public funds, he shall not, so long as he holds that employment, be entitled to receive any greater sum by way of compensation than would make up the amount (if any) by which the net emoluments of that employment fall short of the net emoluments of the former employment before diminution.

38.—(1) If a person becomes subject to the provisions of either of the two last preceding paragraphs, he shall immediately notify the compensating authority in writing accordingly.

(2) A person who has become subject to the provisions of the last preceding paragraph shall also notify the compensating authority in writing of any increase in the remuneration of the employment he has obtained in place of the employment he has lost.

39.—(1) Notwithstanding the preceding provisions of this Schedule, if the annual sum which has been or might be awarded under those provisions does not exceed twenty-six pounds, the compensating authority may at their discretion discharge their liability in respect thereof by the payment of a lump sum representing the capital value of the annual sum, and if any lump sum has been or might be awarded in addition to such annual sum under the provisions of paragraph 12 of this Schedule, the compensating authority may likewise discharge their liability in respect thereof by an immediate lump sum payment.

(2) If the annual sum which has been or might be so awarded exceeds twenty-six pounds and the claimant is not entitled to any lump sum in respect of accrued retiring allowance under these Regulations, the compensating authority, if so requested by the claimant, may discharge their liability in respect of one quarter thereof by the payment of a lump sum representing the capital value of one quarter of the annual sum :

Provided that if the remaining three-quarters thereof does not exceed twenty-six pounds, the compensating authority may discharge their liability as aforesaid in respect of the whole of the said sum.

(3) Any lump sum payable under the preceding provisions of this paragraph shall be of such amount as shall be certified by an actuary to be appropriate. [1999]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Regulations provide for the payment under certain conditions of compensation to persons who having been employed immediately before the 5th July, 1948, by the Common Council of the City of London, the council of a metropolitan borough, or the council of a county district, or who would have been so employed but for national service as defined in Regulation 2, suffer loss of employment or loss or diminution of emoluments by reason of the passing of the Children Act, 1948. A claimant must have served for eight years in local government service or certain other employments (see definition of "existing officer" in Regulation 2). A person losing employment who has not refused a reasonably comparable office (see Regulation 4) will be eligible for a period of three months for "interim" payments equal to two-thirds of his net emoluments, deductions being made if he obtains other employment or unemployment benefit (paragraphs 4 and 5 of the Schedule). All claims will be assessed within a period of three months after receipt thereof, and compensation will be payable till the normal retiring age and will be an annual sum based on a percentage of net emoluments and on length of service. The amount can be adjusted having regard to the circumstances of the case and to other emoluments which have, or could have, been obtained. The award will be subject to review for a period of two years. In a case where the claimant was pensionable in his former employment provision is made for payments based on his accrued pension rights as from the age at which he would have retired, and account will be taken of certain rights, including widow's pension and other matters, that may have existed under the pension scheme (see paragraphs 11, 12, 15, 16 and 17 of the Schedule). Provision is made in paragraph 20 of the Schedule for an addition in the case of persons over forty having regard to their loss of future pensionable service. If the claimant was not pensionable, compensation will ordinarily cease at normal retiring age. Provision is made in paragraphs 36 and 37 of the Schedule to avoid overlap with pension or remuneration from public funds. Provision is made for appeal from the decision of a compensating authority to the Secretary of State (Regulation 5).

CHILDREN ACT (TRANSFER AND SUPERANNUATION OF OFFICERS) REGULATIONS, 1948

July 1, 1948

In pursuance of the powers conferred on me by section fifty-seven of the Children Act, 1948, I hereby make the following Regulations :—

PART I

General

1. These Regulations may be cited as the Children Act (Transfer and Superannuation of Officers) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, 1948. [2000]

2.—(1) In these Regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say :—

"the appointed day" means the fifth day of July, 1948;
"the Act" means the Children Act, 1948;
"the Act of 1937" means the Local Government Superannuation Act, 1937;
"contributory employee", "contributing service", "non-contributing service", "local Act contributor" and "local Act scheme" have the same meanings respectively as in the Act of 1937.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, shall apply to the interpretation of these Regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2001]

PART II

Transfer of Officers

3. All officers who immediately before the appointed day were employed by the Common Council of the City of London or the council of a metropolitan borough or county district solely or mainly for the purposes of functions transferred by the Act from that council to a county council shall on that day be transferred to and become officers of the county council to whom those functions are transferred. [2002]

4. Any question arising under the last preceding Regulation shall be determined by the Secretary of State. [2003]

PART III

Superannuation

5.—(1) Where an officer transferred from the employment of a council by these Regulations was a contributory employee immediately before being so transferred, that council may, within a period of three months after his transfer, resolve that the whole or any part of his non-contributing service (if any) shall be reckonable as contributing service, and if the officer was a female nurse, midwife or health visitor to whom subsection (1) of section sixteen of the Act of 1937 applied and who had not completed, and could not before attaining the age of sixty years complete, forty years' service, that council may, within the said period, resolve that a number of years not exceeding five shall be added to the number of years which the officer has actually served in the aggregate.

(2) Where an officer transferred from the employment of a council as aforesaid was a contributory employee or local Act contributor immediately before being so transferred, and any local Act modifying the Act of 1937 or the local Act scheme confers a discretion on that council, in calculating the amount of any superannuation allowance to which the officer might have become entitled, to add a number of years to the number of years which the officer has actually served in the aggregate, that council may, within a period of three months after the transfer of the officer, exercise that discretion in relation to him, notwithstanding that he had not become entitled to a superannuation allowance on ceasing to be employed by the council. [2004]

6. Every officer transferred by these Regulations who was a contributory employee or local Act contributor immediately before his transfer shall, if the council to the employment of which he is so transferred are administering the Act of 1937, be a contributory employee while in their employment if, apart from this provision, he would not be entitled to be such an employee, and, if the said council are administering a local Act scheme, be a local Act contributor while in their employment if, apart from this provision, he would not be entitled to be such a contributor:

Provided that if the rights he would enjoy by virtue of the foregoing provisions of this Regulation are not the same as those previously enjoyed by him, then, if he notifies the said council in writing within three months after his transfer that he desired to retain rights corresponding with those previously enjoyed by him, the Act of 1937 or the local Act scheme shall apply to and in respect of him with such modifications as are necessary to ensure that he shall make the like contributions as he would have been liable to make and that he shall enjoy rights corresponding with those which he would have enjoyed if he had remained subject to the Act of 1937 or the local Act scheme previously applicable in his case. [2005]

7.—(1) Any number of years added to a person's service under any of the provisions of these Regulations shall be deemed to be a number of years which was reckonable immediately before the date of transfer as contributing service for the purposes of the Act of 1937 or as service for the purposes of the local Act scheme.

(2) Where the amount of any transfer value is increased in consequence of the exercise by a council of any power conferred upon them by these Regulations, the council shall repay the amount of the said increase to the superannuation fund out of which the transfer value is payable. [2006]

8. Any question which may arise between a county council and any other council as to the rights and liabilities of either council under this Part of these Regulations in relation to an officer transferred to the employment of the former council by Part II thereof and any question which may arise between a county council and an officer so transferred to their employment—

(a) whether the officer is a contributory employee or, as the case may be, local Act contributor,

(b) whether as such an employee or contributor he is entitled to enjoy rights which are not the same as those previously enjoyed by him, and

shall be determined by the Secretary of State. [2007]

* * * * *

These Regulations are consequential on the transfer of functions under the Children Act, 1948, from one class of local authority to another and provide for the transfer and superannuation of officers employed by those local authorities from whom functions are so transferred.

CASES

Intoxicating liquors—Transfer of licence—Production of documents—" Agreement or assurance " under which licence to be transferred and held—Mortgage of licensed premises by proposed transferee to owners—Jurisdiction of justices to make production order—Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910 (c. 24), s. 25 (2).

By s. 25 (2) of the Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910 : " In the case of an application for the transfer of a justices' licence . . . the agreement or other assurance, if any, under which the licence is to be transferred and held shall be produced to the licensing justices. . . ."

At the hearing of an application for the transfer of an off-licence, the proposed transferee, in pursuance of s. 25 (2), produced a lease of the licensed premises to herself and an assignment of the interest and goodwill of the transferor, and, in answer to a questionnaire, she disclosed that she had mortgaged the premises to the owners, a brewery company. The licensing justices made a verbal order for the production of the mortgage deed, but the order was not drawn up. On a motion for an order of certiorari to quash the justices' order:

Held: while the justices had power to refuse the application for the transfer of the licence if the "agreement or other assurance" were not produced in accordance with s. 25 (2), they had no power to order that such a document should be produced.

Per cur.: while the terms of a mortgage of the licensed premises might properly be regarded by the justices in a case where, under s. 23 (2) (b) of the Act, there was a question whether the proposed transferee was a fit and proper person to hold the licence, such a mortgage was not an "agreement or other assurance under which the licence is to be transferred" within s. 25 (2).

Per HUMPHREYS, J.: I think that s. 25 (2) intends that there should be produced to the justices any agreement or other assurance under which the licence either is to be transferred or is to be held if there are two separate documents. I would, therefore, substitute "or" for "and" in the phrase "transferred and held." The agreement or other assurance under which the licence is to be transferred is, in my opinion, the assignment of the goodwill. The agreement under which the licence is to be held must include anything in the nature of a tenancy which gives the transferee the right to occupy the premises as licensee and to sell from them, and, perhaps, though not necessarily, to live there.

Held, further: R. S. C., Ord. 59, r. 8, which provides that "in the case of an application for an order of certiorari to remove any proceedings for the purpose of their being quashed, the applicant shall not question the validity of any order . . . unless . . . he has lodged a copy thereof . . . in the Crown Office and Associates' Department . . .," refers to a written, and not to a verbal, order made by the inferior court.—R. v. NEWINGTON LICENSING JJ., [1948] 1 K. Intoxicating liquor—Justices' consent to structural alterations—Destruction of identity of premises—Relevant consideration—Change from hotel to public house—Licensing (Consolidation) Act, 1910 (c. 24), s. 71.

Some fifty years ago the P. hotel was constructed, with thirty-two bedrooms. It had on the ground floor two bars, an hotel bar, primarily intended for the use of people staying in the hotel, and a vaults bar, which was something in the nature of a public bar with a separate entrance into the street. The hotel was not a financial success, and the E. brewery company, to which it belonged, wished to discontinue using it as a hotel and to let the premises, with the exception of the vaults bar, to a government department as offices. For this purpose they wished to stop up the entrance into the vaults bar so that there would be no communication between the ground floor where the bar was situate and the upper floors of the building. There was one other hotel in the same town:—

Held: in considering an application for leave to make the proposed structural alterations the justices were entitled to take into account that they would prevent the upper part of the premises being used as a residential hotel.

REQUISITIONED LAND AND WAR WORKS ACT, 1948

(11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 17)

PRELIMINARY NOTE

The present Act, which received the Royal Assent on February 19, 1948, amends and supplements the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1007) (hereafter called " the Act of 1945 ") and the Compensation (Defence) Act, 1939 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 988) (hereafter called " the Act of 1939 "). It is to be construed as one with the Act of 1945, so, however, that in the provisions amending the Act of 1939 expressions have the meanings assigned to them by that Act (s. 20 (2)). The Act and the Act of 1945 may be cited together as the Requisitioned Land and War Works Acts, 1945 and 1948 (s. 20 (1)).

The principal objects of the Act are :—

(i) To continue or make permanent certain provisions of the Act of 1945 ;
(ii) To increase compensation for the takings of possession of land ; and
(iii) To make special provision in respect of government oil pipe-lines.

The Act of 1945 contains certain provisions dealing with acquisition and retention of possession of land and the maintenance, use and removal of war works therein. Thus, Part II of the Act (which comprises ss. 4–14) empowers various Ministers to acquire under the Defence Acts land (a) on which there are government war works, or (b) which has been diminished in value by government war work done thereon or by damage caused by government war use and is in need of total or partial rehabilitation, and (c) land contiguous or adjacent to any land coming within categories

(a) or (b); Part V (which comprises ss. 26 and 27) empowers local authorities under a new temporary procedure to acquire compulsorily any land which under Defence Regulations they have been enabled or directed by Ministers to occupy or use; and Part VI (which comprises ss. 28–31) empowers any Minister directly or indirectly to maintain or use government war works for the purposes of the public service or for any purpose for which they were maintained or used in the exercise of emergency powers, to retain possession of land held during the war period whether under emergency powers or not, and to remove government war works and restore the land on which they were constructed.

The powers conferred by Parts II, V and VI of the Act of 1945 were temporary in nature, being originally limited to expire two years after the end of the "war period", which was defined as the period during which the Emergency Powers (Defence) Act, 1939, was in force. The latter Act finally expired on February 24, 1946, which meant that the above temporary powers continued in force by virtue of the original provisions until February 24, 1948. However, by s. 5 (5) of the Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945 (38 Halsbury's Statutes 634) (hereafter called "the Transitional Powers Act"), the war purposes for which the powers conferred by the Act of 1945 were exercisable were extended to include the economic purposes mentioned in s. 1 (1) of the Transitional Powers Act, and the expression "war period" was extended to include any period during which the Transitional Powers Act was in force. This extension was, however, subject to a proviso the effect of which was that it was only for the economic purposes of the Transitional Powers Act, as distinct from the war purposes of the 1945 Act, that the powers could be used during the extended period. The Transitional Powers Act is limited to expire on December 10, 1950, with provision for extensions of one year at a time by Order in Council, and the position after the passing of that Act as to the exercise of the powers of the 1945 Act was, therefore, that they were exercisable for both war and economic purposes until February 24, 1948, and that they were exercisable for economic purposes only during the extended period lasting at least until December 10, 1952.

By s. 1 (1) of the present Act the powers conferred by Parts II, V and VI of the Act of 1945 are, by the repeal of the proviso to s. 5 (5) of the Transitional Powers Act, made exercisable at least until December 10, 1952, for both war and economic purposes, and, furthermore, the economic purposes for which the powers are exercisable are extended to include the purposes specified in the Supplies and Services (Extended Purposes) Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 1290).

For the purposes of s. 35 of the Act of 1945 (which temporarily amends the procedure for acquisition under the Defence Acts) and of ss. 40 and 41 (which provide, where notice to treat is given before the expiration of two years from the end of the war period for the adjustment of compensation so as to eliminate the effect of government war work), the expression "war period" is, by s. 1 (2) of the Act, extended to include the period for which the Transitional Powers Act is in force, with the result that the powers conferred by these sections also become exercisable at least until December 10, 1952.

Ss. 33 and 34 of the Act of 1945 (which respectively empower Ministers to acquire easements or restrictive rights and to acquire particular levels and reversionary interests), and the powers under which were exercisable only until February 24, 1948, are, by s. 1 (3) of the present Act, made permanent.

S. 4 of the Act of 1945 confers on Ministers a general power of acquisition of land affected by government war work or damaged by government war use, and by s. 6 thereof this power was exercisable, whether or not there were government war works on the land, where the value of land was diminished by government war work done thereon or by damage caused by government war use in order to secure its total or partial rehabilitation. The powers of this section are now extended by the addition of a further extension empowering the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries to acquire compulsorily any land which is being used, or was being used at any time after August 23, 1939, for agriculture or forestry, if in his opinion it ought to be brought back into such use. The Minister must, however, before exercising his powers of acquisition under this provision, be satisfied that the effect on the land of the government war work or war use is such that a permanent adjustment of boundaries is necessary if the land is to be put to the most efficient use, and that this adjustment is only likely to be made if the land is acquired (s. 2).

S. 15 of the Act of 1945 (which empowers the Minister of Transport by order to authorise the permanent stopping up or diversion of any highway which has been stopped up or diverted in the exercise of emergency powers) is applied by s. 3 of the present Act to past cases of temporary closure of highways where an order for such closure could have been, but was not, made under Defence (General) Regulations, and the powers of the section and also of ss. 16 and 21, which were limited to expire two years after the end of the war period, namely, on February 24, 1948, are extended at least until December 10, 1952.

Provisions are contained in s. 4 for the discharge or modification of easements over land acquired under Defence Acts and for the payment of compensation. S. 5 applies Part VIII of the Act of 1945 (which deals with adjustment of compensation on acquisition of land) to certain tenants in Northern Ireland, and s. 6 gives effect to certain minor and consequential amendments of the Act of 1945, as specified in the Schedule to the Act.

The next subject dealt with by the Act is that of compensation for the taking of possession of land in the exercise of emergency powers. This compensation, which is governed by s. 2 of the Act of 1939, comprises the sum total of (a) rental compensation, payable during the currency of the period of requisition, (b) terminal compensation, payable at the end of the period of requisition for damage done to the land during that period, (c) in the case of agricultural land, compensation in respect of tenant-right matters, and (d) compensation for expenses incurred in compliance with Ministerial directions.

Rental compensation was under s. 2 (1) (a) of the Act of 1939 to be equal to the rent which might reasonably be expected to be payable by a tenant in occupation of the land during the period of requisition under a lease granted immediately before the beginning of that period, whereby the tenant undertook to pay all the usual tenant's rates and taxes and to bear the cost of the repairs and insurance and any other expenses necessary to maintain the land in a state to command that rent. However, by proviso (i) to the subsection, in computing such rent no account was to be taken of any appreciation of values due to the emergency. Provision for increasing the rental compensation payable under the Act of 1939 was made by s. 45 of the Act of 1945, which provided in effect that, where possession of any land had been taken before the passing of that Act (namely, June 15, 1945), and the rental compensation had been determined by reference to a level of rental values which was both (a) less than that obtaining in respect of comparable land on March 31, 1939, and (b) less than the level of rental values obtaining in respect of comparable land on the appointed day for the purposes of the section (namely, February 24, 1946), any compensation accruing due after the latter date should be determined by the levels of rental values obtaining in respect of comparable land on March 31, 1939, or on February 24, 1946, whichever was the lower. The section was not, however, to apply unless a claim in that behalf were made within a particular time in accordance with the proviso to sub-s. (1) of the section.

Terminal compensation was payable by virtue of s. 2 (1) (b) of the Act of 1939 in respect of the cost of making good any damage to land occurring during the period of requisition, but by proviso (ii) to the subsection the sum to be paid in respect of such damage to land was not to be greater than the value of the land at the time when possession was taken, no account being taken of any appreciation in value due to the emergency.

The additional compensation in respect of agricultural land for tenant-right matters was payable by virtue of s. 2 (1) (c) of the Act of 1939, and was also subject to the restriction of proviso (i) that no account be taken of any appreciation in values due to the emergency, while the compensation in respect of expenses incurred in pursuance of Ministerial directions was payable under s. 2 (1) (d) of the Act of 1939.

The present Act abolishes the limitations imposed by provisos (i) and (ii) to s. 2 (1) of the Act of 1939, and enacts instead new limits so far as rental compensation and terminal compensation are concerned (ss. 7–11). It does not, however, affect rental compensation and terminal compensation which accrued due before the commencement of the Act (February 19, 1948), (see ss. 7 (1) and 10 (1)); and the same applies undoubtedly in the case of the compensation payable under s. 2 (1) (c) of the Act of 1939.

As regards rental compensation, a distinction must be drawn between (a) the case of land requisitioned after the commencement of the Act (see supra), and (b) land requisitioned before that date.

In case (a) rental compensation must not exceed (i) where the requisitioned land consists only of " rent-restricted land ", i.e., land subject to the Rent Restriction Acts, the " permissible rent ", i.e., broadly, the rent recoverable under those Acts ; (ii) where the requisitioned land contains no rent-restricted land, 160 per cent. of what would be the rental compensation calculated by reference to the level of rental values obtaining in respect of comparable land on March 31, 1939 ; and (iii) where the requisitioned land consists partly of rent-restricted land and as to the remainder of other land, the aggregate of the " permissible rent " in respect of the rent-restricted land and of a proportionate part of what would be the limit of rental compensation for the whole of the requisitioned land if none of it were rent-restricted (s. 8). Moreover, where possession was taken before the appointed day for the purposes of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 285, 727) (July 1, 1948), the rental compensation is to be assessed on the assumption that at all material times the land was subject to a permanent restriction prohibiting the carrying out of development not comprised in " existing use " (s. 7 (2) (b)).

In case (b) rental compensation is on principle the same as in case (a), but the following special provisions apply : The compensation is to be assessed by reference to the level of rental values obtaining in respect of comparable land at the commencement of the Act (see supra), instead of by reference to the level obtaining immediately before possession was taken. The new provisions apply only if application in that behalf is duly made within six months from the commencement of the Act or such longer period as the authority in question may in special circumstances allow. The same time-limit is superimposed on that laid down in the proviso to sub-s. (1) of s. 45 of the Act of 1945 (supra) for applications for an increase of compensation under that section. On the other hand, the new provisions as to the calculation of rental compensation are in no case to operate so as to reduce the amount of rental compensation below the amount that would be payable under the Act of 1939 as originally enacted or by virtue of any increase under s. 45 of the Act of 1945. Any increase in rental compensation under the new provisions is payable as from the commencement of the Act or the date when the person making application for the increase became entitled to the rental compensation, whichever is the later (s. 9).

The new limit of terminal compensation (see supra) is the amount by which the " compulsory purchase price " of the land in the state in which it was when the compensation accrued due falls short of what would have been the compulsory purchase price of the land if it had then been in the state in which it was when possession was taken, the compulsory purchase price being based on the compensation which would be payable on the compulsory acquisition of the land by a Government department or other public or local authority (s. 10 (1)–(4)).

In the case of the retention of possession of land on the determination of some other right not conferred by emergency powers under s. 28 (2) of the Act of 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1036) (which enables a Minister to retain or authorise the retention of possession of any land which is in his possession or in that of any person who is occupying or using it under his authority, notwithstanding the determination of any other right thereto), the new provisions as to rental compensation and terminal compensation are to apply as if possession had been taken on the determination of that other right (s. 7 (3)).

On the other hand, s. 54 of the Act of 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1056) (under which in certain circumstances s. 2 of the Act of 1939 (supra) is to have effect as if a new period of requisition had begun) no longer applies to terminal compensation (s. 10 (5)).

It appears to have always been the intention of the Legislature that compensation under s. 3 of the Act of 1939 (32 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 993) (which relates to compensation in respect of the doing of work on land) should in no circumstances be payable in respect of work done on requisitioned land. But the intention of the Legislature was not made very clear by sub-s. (8) of that section, which provides that no compensation under the section is, in relation to any land, to be payable in respect of any period for which possession of that land is taken on behalf of His Majesty in the exercise of emergency powers. The Act, therefore, seeks to clarify the position by enacting that nothing in s. 3 of the Act of 1939 is to apply, or be deemed ever to have applied, to damage to land occurring while possession of the land is retained (s. 11 (2)).

The third subject with which the Act deals is that of government oil-pipe lines which were laid during the war. Temporary powers for the maintenance and use of these lines were available under Part VI of the Act of 1945, while permanent provision could be made, not only by the acquisition of land carrying the line or accessory works, under Part II of the Act of 1945 (see supra), but also by the acquisition of easements or quasi-easements under that Part in conjunction with s. 59 (4) of the Act of 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1059). The machinery for making permanent provision under the Act of 1945 proved, however, unsatisfactory in practice and a more expeditious way of dealing with government oil-pipe lines and works accessory thereto has therefore been devised.

Sub-ss. (1) and (3) (a) of s. 28 of the Act of 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1036) (which authorise the maintenance and use of government war works for certain purposes and preserve the rights of persons using the works) are now made permanent and amplified. The operation of most of the new provisions will, however, depend, after December 31, 1949, on registration in the appropriate register of local land charges or, where regulations require, as a condition of the payment of compensation, the endorsement of documents of title and the production of evidence of the endorsement (see infra), on the production of evidence of an endorsement in accordance with the regulations ; and there are special provisions relating to the case where a pipe-line is diverted or works are moved (ss. 12, 14 and 15).

There are also new provisions as to compensation. Under those provisions the Treasury may by regulations require as a condition of the payment of compensation, that except in such circumstances as may be prescribed a claim is made in the prescribed form and manner, and within a certain time and that the prescribed documents of title are endorsed in the prescribed manner and that the prescribed evidence is produced of the endorsement (ss. 13, 14 (2) and 15 (2)).

These powers and certain other powers of making regulations were exercised by the Government Oil-Pipe Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 542). [2019]

General provisions as to Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945

1. Continuance of provisions of 8 and 9 Geo. 6, c. 43.—(1) The proviso to subsection (5) of section five of the Transitional Powers Act (under which the continuance and extension to transitional purposes under that Act of the powers exercisable under Parts II, V and VI of the Act of 1945 does not have effect unless it is certified that work was done or land was used for the purposes specified in subsection (1) of section one of the first-mentioned Act) is hereby repealed; and any reference in the said subsection (5) to the purposes so specified shall include a reference to the additional purposes specified in subsection (1) of section one of the Supplies and Services (Extended Purposes) Act, 1947. [2021]

(2) The following provisions of the Act of 1945, that is to say—

(b) sections forty and forty-one (which provide, where notice to treat is given before the expiration of two years from the end of the war period, for the adjustment of compensation so as to eliminate the effect of government war work), shall have effect as if the expression "war period" included any period during which the Transitional Powers Act is in force; and paragraph 18 of the Fifth Schedule to the Fire Services Act, 1947 (which is relation to the acquisition of land by fire authorities continues to provisions of the said sections forty and forty-one in like manner as they are continued by this subsection) is hereby repealed. [2022]

(3) Sections thirty-three and thirty-four of the Act of 1945 (which confer power to acquire easements and restrictive rights and to acquire particular levels and reversionary interests) shall have permanent effect. [2023]

General note.—As to the background and effect of this section, see Preliminary Note, ante.
Transitional Powers Act.—The Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945 (see s. 20 (3), post). For s. 5 (5) thereof, see 33 Halsbury's Statutes 634.
Act of 1945.—The Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945 (see s. 20 (3), post). For Parts II, V and VI and ss. 33, 34, 35, 40 and 41 thereof, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1010, 1034, 1036, 1042 et seq., 1046, 1047.
Fire Services Act, 1947, Sched. V, para. 18.—40 Halsbury's Statutes 725.

2. Acquisition of agricultural land where use in existing units is affected by government war work.—The following subsection shall be added to section six of the Act of 1945 (which provides for the acquisition of land depreciated by government war work in order to secure its rehabilitation):—

"(3) Where there are government war works on the land or not, in the case of land which is being used for agriculture (as defined in the Agriculture Act, 1947) or for forestry, or which, if not being so used, was being so used at any time after the twenty-third day of August, nineteen hundred and thirty-nine and in the opinion of the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries ought to be brought back into such use, the power of acquisition shall be exercisable where the said Minister is satisfied that—

(a) the effect on the land of government war work or government war use is such that without a permanent adjustment of boundaries between the land and other land the most efficient use of the land either for agriculture (as defined as aforesaid) or for forestry will be prevented, and

(b) the adjustment is only likely to be made if the land is acquired by virtue of this Part of this Act." [2024]

Government war work; government war works; government war use.—For definitions, see s. 59 (1) of the Act of 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1058).

General note.—This section extends the power to acquire land in order to secure its rehabilitation, conferred by s. 6 of the Act of 1945 (supra) so as to relate to land which (a) is being used for agriculture; or (b) is being used for forestry; or (c) if not being used for agriculture or forestry, was being so used at any time after August 23, 1939, i.e., since the commencement of the Compensation (Defence Act, 1939) (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 988) (which is deemed to have come into operation on August 24, 1939), and in the opinion of the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries ought to be brought back into such use. But the power of acquisition is only exercisable in the case of such land if the Minister is satisfied (a) that the land has been so affected by government war work or government war use that without a permanent adjustment of boundaries the most efficient use of the land either for agriculture or for forestry will be prevented, and (b) that the adjustment is only likely to be made if the power of acquisition is exercised.

"Agriculture" in this context has the same meaning as in the Agriculture Act, 1947 (1 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 157). By s. 109 (3) of that Act (1 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 220), "agriculture" includes horticulture, fruit growing, seed growing, dairy farming and livestock breeding and keeping, the use of land as grazing land, meadow land, osier land, market gardens and nursery grounds, and the use of land for woodlands where that use is ancillary to the farming of land for other agricultural purposes, and "agricultural" is to be construed accordingly, while by s. 109 (5) of that Act, "the farming of land" includes the carrying on in relation to the land of any agricultural activity.

Compulsory acquisition under the Agriculture Act, 1947.—The subsection added by the present section overlaps to some extent with s. 84 (1) (c) of the Agriculture Act, 1947 (1 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 196), under which the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries may, in certain cases, by compulsory purchase or hiring acquire agricultural land which has been severed from other such land in the exercise of statutory powers conferred for non-agricultural purposes, or has been otherwise injuriously affected in the exercise of such powers, or which will be so severed or otherwise injuriously affected.

3. Highways.—(1) Where a Minister certifies as respects any highway—

(a) that in the circumstances existing at a time before the twenty-fourth day of February, nineteen hundred and forty-six an order could have been made under Regulation sixteen, fifty-two or sixty-nine A of the Defence (General) Regulations, 1939, as in force at that time, stopping up or diverting the highway; and

(b) that the exercise of the right to use the highway has been continuously prevented since that time, but without the making of such an order;

then section fifteen of the Act of 1945 (which provides for the permanent stopping up or diversion of highways stopped up in the exercise of emergency powers) shall apply as if the exercise of the right to use the highway had been prevented in pursuance of such an order. [2025]

(2) For the purposes of the said section fifteen, and of sections sixteen and twenty-one of the Act of 1945 (which provide for the retention of railways, cables and pipes where a highway is not stopped up and for the temporary continuation of orders for the stopping up or diversion of highways), the expression "war period" in the Act of 1945 shall include any period during which the Transitional Powers Act is in force. [2026]

Minister.—This is defined in s. 59 (1) of the Act of 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1058) as meaning a Minister of the Crown and including the Admiralty, the Commissioners of Works, the Board of Trade and the Board of Education, but not including a Minister of Northern Ireland.

Highway.—At common law a highway is a way over which the public have a right to pass or repass.

Act of 1945.—The Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945 (see s. 20 (3), post). For ss. 15, 16 and 21 thereof, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1023, 1025, 1030.

Transitional Powers Act.—The Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945 (see s. 20 (3), post). For that Act, see 38 Halsbury's Statutes 629.

Sub-s. (1).—This subsection deals with cases where a highway has, in fact, been stopped up or diverted and where (a) there has been a failure to obtain an order for the temporary stopping up or diverting of the highway, and that order could have been validly made under reg. 16, 52 or 69A of the Defence (General) Regulations, 1939, in the circumstances existing at a time before February 24, 1946 and (b) the exercise of the right to use the highway has, in fact, been continuously prevented since that time.

The omission can, by virtue of the present subsection, be rectified and the stopping up made permanent by the use of the powers which are provided by s. 15 of the Act of 1945 (supra). The Minister may, however, only exercise the powers of that section in accordance with ss. 17 et seq. of the Act of 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1026 et seq.), in conjunction with sub-s. (2), supra.

Sub-s. (2).—As to the background and effect of this subsection, see the Preliminary Note, ante.

Telegraphic lines over highways permanently stopped up or diverted.—As to the rights of the Postmaster-General in respect of such lines and the alteration of such lines, see s. 6 and the Schedule, para. 6, post.

4. Discharge or modification of easements over land acquired under Defence Acts.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, the provisions of Part II of the Act of 1945 as to the discharge or modification of restrictions on the user of land arising by virtue of contract, and of section forty-one of that Act as to the adjustment of compensation on the discharge or modification of such restrictions, shall apply to easements over land which a Minister has acquired under the said Part II or has power so to acquire, or would have power so to acquire if he did not already own it, as if an easement were such a restriction. [2027]

(2) Subject to the provisions of this section, where a Minister having power, otherwise than by virtue of the said Part II, to acquire land under the Defence Acts has so acquired or proposes so to acquire any land which is subject to an easement, he may, by notice served on the persons and in the manner on whom and in which under those Acts notice to treat would be required to be served for the compulsory acquisition of the dominant tenement, extinguish the easement or modify it in such manner and to such extent as may be specified in the notice; and the provisions of subsections (3) and (4) of section seven of the Act of 1945 (which provide for compensation where a restriction is discharged or modified under that section) and the said section forty-one thereof shall with the prescribed adaptations apply where an easement is extinguished or modified under this subsection. [2028]

(3) Where apart from this subsection any easement, being a right of way or right of laying down, erecting, continuing or maintaining any apparatus on, under or over land, could be extinguished or modified under either of the two last foregoing subsections, and any interest in the dominant tenement is vested in the person carrying on a statutory undertaking (as defined in the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947) for the purpose of the carrying on thereof, the following provisions of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944, that is to say—

(a) section twenty-five (which relates to the extinguishment of rights of way and rights as to apparatus of statutory undertakers and to compensation therefor),

(b) sections twenty-six and twenty-seven (which relate to the extension and modification of powers and duties of statutory undertakers and the relief of statutory undertakers from obligations the fulfilment of which he has been rendered impracticable), and shall, with the prescribed adaptations, apply as respects the interest of the person carrying on the statutory undertaking, and shall so apply in substitution for any corresponding provisions of the Act of 1945 or of subsection (2) of this section. [2029]

Act of 1945.—The Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945 (see s. 20 (3), post). For Part II (ss. 4–14) and s. 41 thereof, as amended, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1010 et seq., 1047.

Easement.—This includes a right of support for, and a right to withdraw support from, any land or any buildings or works (see s. 59 (3) of the Act of 1945 ; 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1059). See also as to the meaning of " works " and as to rights relating to mains and pipes, s. 59 (1) and (4) of the Act of 1945 ; and compare as to rights to take water, s. 6, post, in conjunction with Schedule, para. 9, post.

Minister.—See notes to s. 3, ante.

The Defence Acts.—This means any of the provisions of the Defence Acts, 1842 to 1935, as amended, extended or applied by or under any enactment, including the Act of 1945, and includes the provisions of s. 7 of the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts Amendment Act, 1860 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 962), and of s. 7 of the Militia (Lands and Buildings) Act, 1873 (17 Halsbury's Statutes 569), and, in the case of the Admiralty, the provisions of ss. 9–19 of the Admiralty Lands and Works Act, 1864 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 372 et seq.) (see s. 59 (1) of the Act of 1945 (supra)).

The Defence Acts, 1842 to 1935, in turn consist of the Defence Act, 1842 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 467) ; the Defence Act, 1854 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 484) ; the Defence Act, 1859 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 486) ; the Defence Act, 1860 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 488) ; the Defence Act, 1865 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 500) ; the Defence Acts Amendment Act, 1873 (3 Halsbury's Statutes 500) ; and the Defence (Barracks) Act, 1935 (28 Halsbury's Statutes 29).

Town and Country Planning Act, 1944.—For ss. 25–27 thereof and the Schedules referred to in those sections (i.e. Scheds. I and IV), reprinted as amended, see Town and Country Planning Act, 1947, Sched. XI (40 Halsbury's Statutes 891 et seq., 901, 902).

Sub-s. (1).—This subsection relates to the discharge or modification of easements over land which a Minister has acquired under Part II of the Act of 1945 (supra) or has power so to acquire or would have power so to acquire if he did not already own it.

For the provisions of Part II of the Act of 1945 relating to the discharge or modification of restrictions on the user of land arising by virtue of contract, see ss. 7 (1) (b), (3), (4), 8, 9 (3), (5), (6), 11 (1), (4), 13 and 14 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1013, 1014, 1017, 1018, 1020 et seq., in conjunction with Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945, s. 5 (5) (38 Halsbury's Statutes 634), and s. 1 (1), ante.

Sub-s. (2).—This subsection enables a Minister to extinguish or modify easements over land which, otherwise than under Part II of the Act of 1945 (supra), he has acquired or proposes to acquire under the Defence Acts (supra).

For the prescribed adaptations of ss. 7 (3) and (4) and 41 of the Act of 1945 (supra), see Extinguishment or Modification of Easements Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 1582), reg. 3, post.

Sub-s. (3).—This subsection contains special provisions relating to the case where apart from the subsection a right as to apparatus could be extinguished or modified under sub-s. (1) or sub-s. (2), supra, and an interest in the dominant tenement is vested, for operational purposes, in the person carrying on a statutory undertaking.

By s. 119 (1) of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947 (40 Halsbury's Statutes 855), " statutory undertakers " means persons authorised by any enactment to carry on any railway, light railway, tramway, road transport, water transport, canal, inland navigation, dock, harbour, pier or lighthouse undertaking, or any undertaking for the supply of electricity, gas, hydraulic power or water, and " statutory undertaking " is to be construed accordingly.

For the prescribed adaptations of ss. 25–27 of, and Scheds. I and IV to, the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944, as amended (supra), see Extinguishment or Modification of Easements Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 1582), reg. 4, post.

5. Application of Part VIII of Act of 1945 to compensation to certain tenants in Northern Ireland. [2030]

6. Minor and consequential amendments.—The Act of 1945 shall have effect subject to the amendments specified in the Schedule to this Act, being minor amendments and amendments consequential on the foregoing provisions of this Act. [2031]

Act of 1945.—The Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945 (see s. 20 (3), post). For that Act, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1007.

Compensation for taking possession of land

7. Amount of rental compensation for requisitioned land.—(1) In relation to rental compensation in respect of the taking possession of land, that is to say compensation calculated in accordance with paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section two of the Act of 1939 by reference to the rent which might reasonably be expected to be payable by a tenant in occupation of the land, the said section two shall have effect, as respects any period after the commencement of this Act, subject to the provisions of this section. [2032]

(2) So much of proviso (i) to subsection (1) of the said section two as provides, in relation to rental compensation, for disregarding any appreciation of values due to the emergency shall not have effect, but—

(a) rental compensation shall not in any case exceed the maximum applicable in that case under the next following section;

(b) where the taking possession of land which gives rise to rental compensation has occurred before the appointed day for the purposes of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947, the rental compensation shall be assessed on the assumption that at all material times the land was subject to such a permanent restriction of development as is specified in subsection (3) of section fifty-five of the said Act of 1947. [2033]

(3) Where possession of any land is or has been retained in exercise of the right conferred by subsection (2) of section twenty-eight of the Act of 1945 on the determination of some other right not conferred by emergency powers, this and the three next following sections shall apply as if possession had been taken on the determination of that other right. [2034]

General note.—This section must be read in conjunction not only with s. 8, post, which lays down maxima for rental compensation, but also with s. 9, post, which relates to the application of the provisions as to rental compensation in the case of land requisitioned before the commencement of the present Act.

As to the background and effect of this section and of ss. 8–11, see the Preliminary Note, ante.

Act of 1939.—The Compensation (Defence) Act, 1939 (see s. 20 (3), post). For s. 2 (1) thereof, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 989.

Commencement of the Act.—The date of the commencement of the Act is that of the Royal Assent (February 19, 1948).

Town and Country Planning Act, 1947.—For s. 55 (3) thereof, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1098.

The day appointed under that Act is July 1, 1948 (see Town and Country Planning Act, 1947 (Appointed Day) Order, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 213), title TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING, post.

Act of 1945.—The Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945 (see s. 20 (3), post). For s. 28 (2) thereof, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1036.

Claims for Compensation.—As to claims for rental compensation accruing due after the commencement of the present Act, see the Compensation (Defence) Notice of Claim Rules, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 307), post.

8. Maxima for rental compensation.—(1) Where the requisitioned land consists only of rent-restricted land, the rental compensation shall not exceed the permissible rent. [2035]

(2) Where the requisitioned land includes no rent-restricted land, the rental compensation shall not exceed one hundred and sixty per cent. of what would be the amount thereof, calculated by reference to the level of rental values obtaining is respect of comparable land at the thirty-first day of March, nineteen hundred and thirty-nine, instead of by reference to the level obtaining immediately before possession of the land was taken, but otherwise in accordance with the Act of 1939 as originally enacted. [2036]

(3) Where the requisitioned land consists partly of rent-restricted land and as to the remainder of other land, there shall be ascertained—

(a) the amount which under subsection (1) of this section would be the limit of rental compensation if the requisitioned land consisted only of the rent-restricted land, and

(b) the amount which would be the limit of rental compensation for the whole of the requisitioned land if none of it were rent-restricted land, and the rental compensation shall not exceed the aggregate of the amount ascertained under paragraph (a) of this subsection and so much of the amount ascertained under paragraph (b) thereof as is properly apportionable to that part of the requisitioned land which is not rent-restricted land. [2037]

(4) In this section the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say :—

" requisitioned land " means the aggregate of the land in respect of which, in any case, rental compensation falls to be assessed ;

" rent-restricted land " means land consisting of one or more rent-restricted properties or parts thereof and of no other land ;

" rent-restricted property " means a property (whether or not the subject of a tenancy) in the case of which the following conditions are fulfilled, that is to say—

(a) that immediately before the time when possession was taken of the property or part thereof in question the property or part was being used for residential purposes, or if it was not then being used that it had been used for residential purposes when last used before that time, and

(b) that if an unfurnished tenancy of the property had been granted immediately before the said time the amount of the rent recoverable under the tenancy would have been restricted by the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Acts, 1920 to 1939 ;

" permissible rent " means—

(a) in relation to a rent-restricted property, the maximum rent which would in accordance with the last-mentioned Acts have been recoverable under the tenancy referred to in paragraph (b) of the last foregoing definition, on the assumption that the tenant undertook to pay all usual tenant's rates and taxes and to bear the cost of the repairs and insurance and the other expenses if any, necessary to maintain the property in a state to, command that rent.

(b) in relation to part of a rent-restricted property, so much of the said maximum rent as is properly apportionable thereto ;

" unfurnished tenancy " means a tenancy under which a property is let for residential purposes, not being a tenancy where the application of the said Acts of 1920 to 1939 is excluded by reason of the property being let at a rent including payments in respect of board, attendance or use of furniture. [2038]

General note.—This section supplements, and must be read in conjunction with, s. 7, ante. As to its general effect, see the Preliminary Note, ante.

Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Acts, 1920 to 1939.—The Increase of Rent and Mortgage Interest (Restrictions) Act, 1920 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 332) ; the Rent Restriction (Notices of Increase) Act, 1923 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 361) ; the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1923 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 365) ; the Rent and Mortgage Interest (Restrictions Continuation) Act, 1925 (10 Halsbury's Statutes 374) ; the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions (Amendment) Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 266) ; the Increase of Rent and Mortgage Interest (Restrictions) Act, 1935 (28 Halsbury's Statutes 119) ; the Increase of Rent and Mortgage Interest (Restrictions) Act, 1938 (31 Halsbury's Statutes 387) ; and the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act, 1939 (32 Halsbury's Statutes 971).

The Act of 1939.—The Compensation (Defence) Act, 1939 (see s. 20 (3), post). For that Act, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 988.

9. Application of provisions as to rental compensation where land requisitioned before commencement of Act.—(1) Where the taking possession of land which gives rise to rental compensation occurred before the commencement of this Act, the Act of 1939 and section seven of this Act shall have effect subject to the provisions of this section. [2039]

(2) The rental compensation shall be assessed by reference to the level of rental values obtaining in respect of comparable land at the commencement of this Act, instead of by reference to the level obtaining immediately before possession of the land was taken :

Provided that section seven of this Act and this subsection shall not have effect in relation to the rental compensation payable in respect of any land to any person, unless he or a person previously entitled to the rental compensation in respect of that land has made application in that behalf in such form and manner and to such authority as may be provided by rules made by the Treasury under the Act of 1939 and not later than the expiration of six months from the commencement of this Act or such longer period as that authority may in special circumstances allow. [2040]

(3) No application for an increase of rental compensation under section forty-five of the Act of 1945 (which provides for increasing rental compensation which has been determined by reference to a level of rental values lower both than the level obtaining on the thirty-first day of March, nineteen hundred and thirty-nine, and than that obtaining on the appointed day for the purposes of the said section forty-five) shall be of any effect if made after the expiration of six months from the commencement of this Act or such longer period as the authority to which under that section applications thereunder are required to be made may in special circumstances allow. [2041]

(4) Nothing in section seven of this Act shall operate, in a case falling within this section, so as to reduce the amount of rental compensation below the amount which would be payable apart from that section, whether by virtue of the Act of 1939 as originally enacted or by virtue of any increase under the said section forty-five. [2042]

(5) Any increase of rental compensation payable by virtue of section seven of this Act in a case falling within this section shall be payable as from the commencement of this Act or the date when the person making application for the increase became entitled to the rental compensation, whichever is the later. [2043]

General note.—This section deals with the assessment of rental compensation in the case of land which is under requisition at the commencement of the Act. The Act of 1939 (infra) and s. 7, ante, apply, but with the modification that the compensation is to be assessed by reference to the levels of rental values obtaining in respect of comparable land at the commencement of the Act, instead of immediately before the date when possession was taken. In the case of land requisitioned after the commencement of the Act, the new basis of compensation applies automatically, but in a case of an earlier requisition, it is necessary, in order to obtain the increased compensation, to make application within the time prescribed by the proviso to sub-s. (2), supra, i.e. apart from any extension for special purposes, by August 19, 1948. Application for increase of rental compensation under s. 45 of the 1945 Act must also be made within the same period.

Act of 1939.—The Compensation (Defence) Act, 1939 (see s. 20 (3), post). For that Act, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 988.

Rules made by the Treasury under the Act of 1939.—See the Compensation (Defence) Notice of Claim Rules, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 307), post.

Act of 1945.—The Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945 (see s. 20 (3), post). For s. 45 thereof, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1051.

Sub-s. (2).—The main provision of this subsection modifies s. 2 (1) (a) of the Act of 1939 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 989).

With reference to the time-limit imposed by the proviso to the subsection, the Financial Secretary to the Treasury said at the committee stage of the Bill which became the present Act (446 H. of C. Official Report 1951, 1961) that in special cases where it could be shown that through illness, absence abroad or other reasons a claim could not be put in in time, extra time would be allowed and Departments would accept those claims, although according to the strict letter of the law they might be considered out of time, and that the subsection would be worked with the utmost sympathy.

As to claims for an increase of compensation under this subsection, see the Compensation (Defence) Notice of Claim Rules, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 307), post.

Sub-s. (3).—Note that the time-limit enacted by this subsection takes effect in addition to, and not in substitution for, those enacted by the proviso to sub-s. (1) of s. 45 of the Act of 1945 (supra).

As to claims for an increase under that section, see the Compensation (Defence) Notice of Claim for Increase of Compensation Rules, 1946 (S. R. & O. 1946, No. 129).

Sub-s. (4).—It is thought that for the purposes of this subsection an increase under s. 45 of the Act of 1945 (supra) is only to be taken into account if application therefor has been made in accordance with the proviso to sub-s. (1) thereto and sub-s. (3), supra.

10. Amount of compensation in respect of making good requisitioned land.—(1) Proviso (ii) to subsection (1) of section two of the Act of 1939 (which provides that the compensation payable under paragraph (b) of that subsection in respect of damage to land occurring during the period of requisition shall not exceed the value of the land at the time when possession thereof was taken, no account being taken of any appreciation in the value thereof due to the emergency) shall not have effect as respects compensation under the said paragraph (b) accruing due after the commencement of this Act, but subject to the provisions of subsection (4) of this section such compensation shall not exceed the amount by which the compulsory purchase price of the land in the state in which it was when the compensation accrued due falls short of what would have been the compulsory purchase price of the land if it had then been in the state in which it was when possession of the land was taken. [2044]

(2) In this section the expression "compulsory purchase price," in relation to any land, means the amount of the compensation (excluding any compensation for disturbance or for severance or injurious affection) which would be payable on the compulsory acquisition by a Government department or other public or local authority, in pursuance of a notice to treat served immediately before the compensation under the said paragraph (b) accrued due, of a freehold interest in the land free from encumbrances but subject to any easement or other restriction affecting the land at the date of the notice to treat. [2045]

(3) For the purposes of this section, the compulsory purchase price of land in the state in which it was when compensation under the said paragraph (b) accrued due shall be calculated without regard—

(a) to war damage occurring during the period for which possession of the land was retained; or

(b) to any work done during that period in respect of which on such a compulsory acquisition as aforesaid subsection (2) or (3) of section forty-one of the Act of 1945 (which provide for taking into account increases of value paid for in whole or in part by persons interested in the land) would apply;

but notwithstanding anything in the said section forty-one regard shall be had in calculating the said price to all other damage occurring or work done on the land during that period. [2046]

(4) Where during the period for which possession of the land was retained damage (other than war damage) occurred to any such work as is mentioned in paragraph (b) of the last foregoing subsection, the amount to which the compensation is limited by virtue of subsection (1) of this section shall be increased so as to take account of that damage to such extent as may be just having regard to any such expense, agreement or payment as is mentioned in subsection (2) or (3) of the said section forty-one. [2047]

(5) Section fifty-four of the Act of 1945 (which provides for certain purposes that where a payment in respect of the value of works has been made under Part II of that Act the provisions as to compensation of section two of the Act of 1939 shall have effect as if a new period of requisition had begun on the date of the payment) shall not have effect as respects compensation under paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of the said section two. [2048]

General note.—This section relates to terminal compensation, i.e., compensation under s. 2 (1) (b) of the Act of 1939 (infra). In relation to land retained under s. 28 (2) of the Act of 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1036) on the determination of some other right not conferred by emergency powers, it must be read in conjunction with s. 7 (3), ante. On the other hand, it does not, of course, affect s. 47 of the Act of 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1052), under which compensation for the removal of fixed machinery or plant may be reduced by the General Claims Tribunal. See also as to the effect on compensation of a reservation of rights under Part II of that Act, s. 46 thereof.

Act of 1939.—The Compensation (Defence) Act, 1939 (see s. 20 (3), post). For para. (b) of, and proviso (ii), to s. 2 (1) thereof, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 990.

Accrual of compensation under s. 2 (1) (b) of the Act of 1939.—The compensation accrues due on the relinquishment of possession (see s. 2 (3) of the Act of 1939; 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 990, in conjunction with s. 31 (2) of the Act of 1945; 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1040).

After the commencement of this Act.—I.e., on or after February 19, 1948 (compare notes to s. 9, ante).

War damage.—This, it is thought, means war damage within the meaning of the War Damage Act, 1943, as to which, see s. 2 thereof (36 Halsbury's Statutes 338).

Act of 1945.—The Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945 (see s. 20 (3), post). For ss. 41 and 54 thereof, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1047, 1056.

Work done on land.—By s. 17 (2) of the Act of 1939, as substituted by s. 50 of the Act of 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1005), the doing of work on land means the doing of any work on, over or below the surface of the land, and, in particular, includes the making of any erection or excavation, the placing of any thing, and the maintenance, removal, demolition, pulling down, destruction or rendering useless of anything on, over or below that surface.

Claims for compensation.—As to claims for terminal compensation accruing due after the commencement of the present Act, see the Compensation (Defence) Notice of Claim Rules, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 307), post.

11. Minor amendments as to compensation for taking possession of land.—(1) There is hereby repealed so much of proviso (i) to subsection (1) of section two of the Act of 1939 as provides for disregarding any appreciation of values due to the emergency in computing for the purpose of compensation the amount which an incoming tenant of agricultural land might have been expected to pay in addition to rent. [2049]

(2) Nothing in section three of the Act of 1939 (which provides for compensation in respect of the doing of work on land) shall apply, or be deemed ever to have applied to damage to land occurring while possession of the land is retained. [2050]

Act of 1939.—The Compensation (Defence) Act, 1939 (see s. 20 (3), post). For proviso (i) to s. 2 (1) and s. 3 thereof, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 990, 993.

Sub-s. (1).—This subsection relates to compensation payable under s. 2 (1) (c) of the Act of 1939 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 990). As to the background of the subsection, see the Preliminary Note, ante. As this subsection is not retrospective and compensation under s. 2 (1) (c) of the Act of 1939 accrues due at the time of requisitioning (see s. 2 (4) of that Act), it is clear that the present subsection does not apply where possession was taken before the commencement of the present Act (February 19, 1948).

As to claims for compensation under s. 2 (1) (c) of the Act of 1939 accruing due after the commencement of the present Act, see the Compensation (Defence) Notice of Claim Rules, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 307), post.

Sub-s. (2).—As to the background and effect of this subsection, see the Preliminary Note, ante.

Government oil pipe-lines

12. Permanent power to maintain government oil pipe-lines.—(1) In relation to government oil pipe-lines and works accessory thereto subsection (1), and paragraph (a) of subsection (3), of section twenty-eight of the Act of 1945 (which authorise the maintenance and use of government war works for the purpose of the public service or for any other purpose for which they were maintained or used in the exercise of emergency powers, and preserve the rights of persons using the works) shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, have permanent effect. [2051]

(2) In relation to government oil pipe-lines and works accessory thereto the powers conferred by the said section twenty-eight shall include power to maintain and use any such line or accessory works, or authorise the use thereof, for any purpose for which they are suitable. [2052]

(3) In this Act the expression "government oil pipe-line" means any government war works being the whole or part of a main or pipe installed for the transmission of petroleum. [2053]

(4) A Minister may remove any main or pipe or part thereof, being a government oil pipe-line, or any works accessory thereto, and may replace any such thing previously removed; and section twenty-eight of the Act of 1945 and this Act shall apply to any replacement as if it had been the original thing removed. [2054]

(5) If in pursuance of an agreement with a Minister a government oil pipe-line is diverted, or any works accessory thereto are moved to a new site, the said section twenty-eight and this Act shall apply to the line as diverted, or to the works on the new site, as the case may be, as if it or they had been the original line or works. [2055]

(6) If without the consent of a Minister any building or structure is erected over a government oil pipe-line or works accessory thereto or the site of such a line or such works, or so near thereto as to obstruct the use of the line or works or access thereto or to the site thereof, a Minister may cause the building or structure to be removed and may recover the cost of the removal from the person by whom the building or structure was erected. [2056]

(7) Any person who without lawful authority tampers with, alters or removes a government oil pipe-line or works accessory thereto shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds. [2057]

General note.—This section relates to government oil-pipe lines and works accessory thereto and is supplemented by ss. 13–15, post. It must be read in conjunction with s. 14, post, and, as respects abandoned lines and accessory works, reg. 6 of the Government Oil Pipe-Lines Regulations, 1948 (infra). See also the Preliminary Note, ante.

Government oil pipe-line and accessory works.—"Government oil pipe-line" is defined in sub-s. (3), supra. The expression "government war works" occurring in that definition and "works" are defined in s. 59 (1) of the Act of 1945 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1058). The expression "works accessory thereto" is not defined, but in the Government Oil Pipe-Lines Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 542), made under ss. 13–15, post, it means, by reg. 2 (1) (iv) thereof, any apparatus appertaining to government oil pipe-lines, including marker posts, stiles, man-holes, sluice valves, wash-outs, air valves and filters.

Minister.—See notes to s. 3, ante.

13. Compensation in respect of government oil pipe-lines.—(1) In respect of the exercise of the powers conferred by the last foregoing section, compensation shall be payable by the Minister of Works in accordance with the following provisions of this section. [2058]

(2) Where the value of any land is diminished by the coming into operation of the last foregoing section, compensation for the diminution shall be payable in the form of a lump sum of such amount as may be agreed between the Minister of Works and the persons interested in the land or, in default of agreement, as may be determined by arbitration in the prescribed manner; and compensation under this subsection shall be divisible among the said persons in such shares as they may agree, or in default of agreement, as may be determined as aforesaid. [2059]

(3) In assessing compensation under the last foregoing subsection regard shall be had to the rights to compensation conferred by subsection (6) of this section, and to the following provisions of this Act and the provisions of regulations thereunder. [2060]

(4) The right to compensation conferred by subsection (2) of this section shall as respects any period after the commencement of this Act be in substitution for any right to compensation under subsection (2) of section three of the Act of 1939 (which provides for compensation in respect of the doing of work on land by reference to the diminution of the annual value of the land); and interest on any share of compensation under subsection (2) of this section, at the like rate as is for the time being payable on compensation under the Act of 1939, shall run as from the commencement of this Act and be payable at the time when the share is paid. [2061]

(5) Where under subsection (4) of section three of the Act of 1939 (which provides for the termination of compensation under subsection (2) of that section and its replacement by a lump sum payment calculated by reference to the depreciation of estates and interests in land) any payment has been made before the commencement of this Act in respect of a government oil pipe-line or works accessory thereto, the payment shall be treated as a payment in respect of the estate or interest in question on account of the share attributable to that estate or interest of any compensation under subsection (2) of this section, and interest under the last foregoing subsection shall be reduced accordingly; and after the commencement of this Act no payment under subsection (4) of the said section three shall be made in respect of a government oil pipe-line or works accessory thereto, whether it accrued due before or after the commencement of this Act:

Provided that in the case of a payment under the said subsection (4) which accrued due to any person before the commencement of this Act but has not been made before the commencement thereof, the said person shall be entitled to interest on the payment in accordance with the provisions in that behalf of the Act of 1939 as from the date when the payment accrued due until the commencement of this Act. [2062]

(6) Where in the exercise of any power of use, maintenance, removal or replacement of a government oil pipe-line or works accessory thereto which is conferred by the last foregoing section a person suffers loss by reason of damage to crops or other growing things, stock, chattels or any land or buildings or works on, under or over land, he shall be entitled to compensation in respect of the damage of such amount as may be agreed between the Minister of Works and the person in question or, in default of agreement, as may be determined by arbitration in the prescribed manner. [2063]

(7) The Treasury may by regulations require, as a condition of the payment of compensation under this section, that except in such circumstances as may be prescribed a claim shall be made in the prescribed form and manner and within such period as may be determined by or under the regulations; and references in subsection (2) of this section to persons interested in land do not include such persons who fail duly to make a claim required by regulations under this subsection. [2064]

Commencement of the Act.—See note to s. 7, ante.

Act of 1939.—The Compensation (Defence) Act, 1939 (see s. 20 (3), post). For s. 3 (2) and (4) thereof, see 3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 993.

Government oil pipe-line or works accessory thereto.—See notes to s. 12, ante.

Interest . . . at the . . . rate . . . payable on compensation under the Act of 1939.—By virtue of the Interest on Compensation (Defence) Order, 1940 (S. R. & O. 1940, No. 107), made under s. 10 of the Act of 1939 (3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1002) the rate of interest is 2 per cent. per annum.

Sub-ss. (6) and (7).—These subsections are made applicable by s. 15 (2), post, in relation to powers conferred by s. 15 (1), post.

Sub-s. (7), supra, is supplemented by s. 14 (2), post, under which the Treasury may by regulations require, as a condition of the payment of compensation under sub-s. (2), supra, that the prescribed documents of title to interests in land shall be endorsed in the prescribed manner and that the prescribed evidence shall be produced of the endorsement.

Regulations.—For the determination of disputes as to compensation and conditions as to compensation, see regs. 3–5 and 10 of the Government Oil Pipe-Line Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 542), made by the Treasury under this section and ss. 14 and 15, post.

14. Registration of rights as to government oil pipe-lines.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, section twelve of this Act shall not after the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-nine, apply to any pipe-line, or works accessory thereto, unless the rights conferred by subsection (1) of that section have been registered in the prescribed manner in the appropriate register of local land charges. [2065]

(2) The Treasury may by regulations require, as a condition of the payment of compensation under subsection (2) of the last foregoing section, that the prescribed documents of title to interests in land shall be endorsed in the prescribed manner and that the prescribed evidence shall be produced of the endorsement; and the last foregoing subsection shall not apply where evidence of an endorsement has been produced in accordance with the regulations. [2066]

(3) Where a pipe-line is diverted, or works are moved, as mentioned in subsection (5) of section twelve of this Act, subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to the line as diverted or to the works on the new site, but the said section twelve shall not as against a purchaser (as defined in the Land Charges Act, 1925) apply if the purchase was completed after the agreement for the diversion of the line or moving of the works unless the rights conferred by that section have been registered as aforesaid before the completion of the purchase :

Provided that section four of the Law of Property (Amendment) Act, 1926 (which relates to the date of effective registration and to priority notices), shall apply for the purposes of this subsection as if the registration of the said rights were to be made in pursuance of the Land Charges Act, 1925. [2067]

(4) The power conferred by subsection (6) of section fifteen of the Land Charges Act, 1925, to make rules for giving effect to the provisions of that section shall be exercisable for giving effect to the provisions of this section, and in subsection (1) of this section the expression " prescribed " means prescribed by rules made in the exercise of that power. [2068]

Land Charges Act, 1925.—For s. 15 (6) thereof, see 15 Halsbury's Statutes 538. By s. 20 (8) thereof (15 Halsbury's Statutes 543), " purchaser " means any person (including a mortgagee or lessee) who, for valuable consideration takes any interest in land or in a charge on land. See also as to the meaning of " land ", s. 20 (6) thereof.

Regulations.—As to sub-s. (2), see the Government Oil Pipe-Line Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 542), reg. 5. See also notes to s. 13, ante.

Rules.—As to registration, see the Local Land Charges Rules, 1934 (S. R. & O., 1934, No. 285/L.4), as amended. For amendments, see, in particular, the Local Land Charges (Amendment No. 2) Rules, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 2471/L.28), rr. 3 (b) and 4.

15. Supplementary provisions as to government oil pipe-lines.—(1) Any person authorised in that behalf by a Minister may, for the purpose—

(a) of exercising any powers conferred by section twelve of this Act, or

(b) of restoring land where a government oil pipe-line or works accessory thereto are abandoned, or

(c) of inspecting any such land or works, enter upon any land of which the Minister is not in possession :

Provided that—

(i) except in a case of emergency or for the purpose of inspection by a person producing, if required, written evidence of his authority so to do, entry upon any land shall not be demanded as of right unless reasonable notice of the intended entry has been served on the occupier of the land in the manner provided by paragraphs (i) to (v) of subsection (1) of section eight of the Act of 1945 ;

(ii) where otherwise than for the purpose of inspection only any land has been entered upon in pursuance of this subsection without notice being served as aforesaid on the occupier of the land, the Minister shall forthwith cause notice of the entry to be served on the occupier in the manner aforesaid. [2069]

(2) Subsections (6) and (7) of section thirteen of this Act shall apply in relation to powers conferred by the last foregoing subsection as they apply to the powers mentioned in the said subsection (6). [2070]

(3) Sections seventy-eight to eighty-five of the Railways Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845 (which restrict the working of minerals, subject to the payment of compensation) as originally enacted and not as amended for certain purposes by section fifteen of the Mines (Working Facilities and Support) Act, 1923, shall apply in relation to any government oil pipe-line or works accessory thereto with the substitution—

(a) for references to the railway of references to the pipe-line or works ;

(b) for references to the company of references to the Minister or other person entitled to use the pipe-line or works ;

(c) for references to the Special Act of references to section twenty-eight of the Act of 1945. [2071]

(4) The Treasury may make regulations—

(a) for the protection of persons affected by the maintenance and use of government oil pipe-lines and works accessory thereto, and in particular for requiring the Minister or other person entitled to the use thereof to keep any such line and works in good repair, to take such steps as may be prescribed for restoring land where any such line or works are abandoned, and to indemnify persons against loss or damage caused by any failure to keep any such line or works in good repair, and for relieving statutory undertakers and other persons of liabilities or obligations arising in consequence of any such failure or any exercise of the powers conferred by section twelve of this Act of this section ;

(b) for requiring notice to be given where a government oil pipe-line or works accessory thereto are abandoned, and for discontinuing the operation of provisions of section twelve of this Act or this section, or of regulations under this subsection, where such a notice is given ;

(c) for applying in relation to government oil pipe-lines passing under highways the provisions of Part VI of the Third Schedule to the Water Act, 1945 (which relates to the breaking-up of highways for the purposes of repairing pipes thereunder) and for excluding in relation to government oil pipe-lines the provisions of section sixteen of the Act of 1945. 20. Short title, citation, construction, and interpretation.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1948, and this Act and the Act of 1945 may be cited together as the Requisitioned Land and War Works Acts, 1945 and 1948. [2079]

(2) This Act shall be construed as one with the Act of 1945, so however that in the provisions thereof amending the Act of 1939 expressions have the meanings assigned to them by the Act of 1939. [2080]

(3) In this Act—

the expression " the Act of 1945 " means the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945;

the expression " the Act of 1939 " means the Compensation (Defence) Act, 1939;

the expression " the Transitional Powers Act " means the Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945. [2081]

(4) References in this Act to any enactment shall be construed, except where the context otherwise requires, as references to that enactment as amended or extended by any other enactment, including this Act. [2082]

MINOR AND CONSEQUENTIAL AMENDMENTS OF ACT OF 1945

1. For the purposes of subsection (2) of section eight and of subsection (4) of section seventeen (which require proposals of a Minister to exercise the powers under the Act to be referred to the War Works Commission where an objection is made) and of any other provision referring to an objection such as is mentioned in either of those subsections, no account shall be, or be deemed ever to have been, required to be taken of an objection which is withdrawn.

2. In section eleven, in subsection (3) (which lays down the principles on which the War Works Commission are to act in considering proposals for the acquisition of land on the grounds specified in section six), for the words from " on the ground that " to " total or partial rehabilitation thereof " there shall be substituted the words " under section six of this Act ".

3. In section thirteen (which provides for disregarding work done on land possession of which has been taken for agricultural purposes by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries or by the War Agricultural Executive Committee) the reference to the War Agricultural Executive Committee shall include a reference to a County Agricultural Executive Committee established under the Agriculture Act, 1947.

4. As respects Scotland, in the said section thirteen the reference to the War Agricultural Executive Committee shall include a reference to any committee exercising under any enactment relating to Scotland (whether passed before or after the commencement of this Act) and corresponding to the Agriculture Act, 1947, functions similar to those exercised by a County Agricultural Executive Committee established under the last-mentioned Act.

5. In section fourteen, in subsection (3), the words " or the order is made " are hereby repealed.

6.—(1) Where in pursuance of an order made under section fifteen any highway is permanently stopped up or diverted, and immediately before the date on which the order became operative there was under, in, upon, over, along or across the highway any telegraphic line belonging to or used by the Postmaster General, the Postmaster General shall have the same powers in respect of that line as if the highway had not been stopped up or diverted :

Provided that if any person entitled to land over which the highway subsisted requires that the telegraphic line should be altered, paragraphs (1) to (8) of section seven of the Telegraph Act, 1878, shall apply to the alteration and accordingly shall have effect, subject to any necessary modifications, as if references therein to undertakers included references to the person so requiring the line to be altered.

(2) In this paragraph the expression " alter " has the same meaning as in the Telegraph Act, 1878.

(3) Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed as limiting the powers conferred by Part IV (which relates to telegraphic lines constructed in the exercise of emergency powers).

7. In section twenty-one, in subsection (1) (which provides for the temporary continuance of orders made under Defence Regulations for the stopping up or diversion of highways notwithstanding the expiration or revocation of the Defence Regulation in question), the reference to the revocation of a Defence Regulation shall include, and be deemed always to have included, a reference to any amendment thereof narrowing the power to make orders thereunder.

8. In section twenty-nine, in subsection (1) (which, where work has been done on land or the value of land has been diminished, confers for certain purposes a right, as against all persons interested in the land, to enter on any land of which a Minister is not in possession) the words " in the land " where they first occur are hereby repealed.

9. The powers conferred by the Act of 1945 to acquire easements shall include power in the like manner and subject to the like provisions to acquire rights, as against all persons affected or to be affected, to take water from a watercourse for the benefit of any land, whether contiguous thereto or not, for the like purposes and to the like extent as water could be taken by virtue of ownership of land contiguous to the watercourse at the place where it is proposed to take the water.

10.—(1) The power of a Minister under section fifty-two to make good to any person interested in land the whole or part of expenditure incurred by him in dealing with the land with a view to its rehabilitation shall be extended in accordance with the following sub-paragraph.

(2) Where—

(a) under subsection (3) of section seventy-five of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947 (which relates to the exercise by local planning authorities of powers to require owners or occupiers to remove government war works) an authority is liable to bear the whole or any part of the cost of taking the steps required by an enforcement notice relating to such works (whether the steps are taken by the authority or by a person entitled to recover expenditure from the authority), and the said power of the Minister shall include power to undertake, either absolutely or subject to such conditions as he may specify, to make good to the authority the whole or any part of the cost which they are liable to bear as aforesaid. [2083]

(b) in the opinion of a Minister it is expedient in the public interest that the steps should be taken,

General note.—This Schedule, which takes effect by virtue of s. 6, ante, enacts minor and consequential amendments of the Act of 1945 (infra).

Act of 1945.—The Requisitioned Land and War Works, 1945 (see s. 20 (3), post).

ORDERS, CIRCULARS AND MEMORANDA

ACQUISITION OF LAND (CLAIMS FOR ADJUSTMENT OF COMPENSATION FOR WAR DAMAGED LAND) REGULATIONS, 1948

February 5, 1948

The Treasury, in exercise of the power conferred upon them by sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph 1 of the Seventh Schedule to the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947, hereby make the following Regulations :—

1. In these Regulations

(a) " the Act " means the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947 ;
(b) the expression " the acquiring authority " has the meaning assigned to it by Regulation 2 of these Regulations ;
(c) " the Commission " means the War Damage Commission ;
(d) " the Seventh Schedule " means the Seventh Schedule to the Act. [2084]

2.—(1) Where the amount of the compensation payable in respect of the compulsory acquisition of an interest in land or the purchase price payable in respect of the acquisition of an interest in land by agreement, falls to be reduced in accordance with the provisions of sub-paragraph (1) or sub-paragraph (5) of paragraph 1 of the Seventh Schedule and the Minister or authority by whom that interest is acquired (in these Regulations referred to as " the acquiring authority ") becomes entitled in accordance with the provisions of sub-paragraph (2) of that paragraph to claim from the Commission a sum equal to the amount of the reduction, a claim in respect of such sum shall subject to Regulation 3 of these Regulations be made :—

(i) In a case where the reduction falls to be made under sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 1 of the Seventh Schedule

(a) where a certificate of after-damage value has been issued by the Commission before the date on which these Regulations come into force and such certificate has not been cancelled or amended pursuant to paragraph (2) of Rule 6 of the Acquisition of Land (Compensation for War Damaged Land) Rules, 1945, within the period of three months after the date on which these Regulations come into force ;

(b) in any other case, within the period of three months after the certificate or amended certificate of after-damage value has been issued by the Commission.

(ii) In a case where the reduction falls to be made under sub-paragraph (5) of paragraph 1 of the Seventh Schedule

(a) where the acquiring authority has, before the date on which these Regulations come into force, notified the Commission pursuant to sub-section (2) of Section 4 of the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, that an agreement has been entered into for the purchase of an interest in land the war damage to which has not been made good at the date of that agreement, within the period of 60 days after the date on which these Regulations come into force ;

(b) in any other case, within the period of 60 days after the date of notifying the Commission of such an agreement.

(2) The Commission may from time to time extend the period within which a claim may be made under this Regulation on a written application being made to them in that behalf notwithstanding that the period has expired. [2085]

3. In any case in which the settlement of a claim to such supplement as is mentioned in sub-head (c) of sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 1 of the Seventh Schedule has, in default of agreement, become the subject of arbitration or other proceedings pursuant to sub-section (1) of Section 60 of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944, at the expiration of any of the periods for the making of claims under Regulation 2 of these Regulations or any extension of those periods a claim relating thereto under these Regulations shall be made within 30 days after the date of the award of the arbitrator or the determination by the court of any question arising on a claim to such a supplement, as the case may be. [2086]

4. A claim under these Regulations shall contain the following particulars :—

(a) Particulars of the amount paid to the person from whom the interest in question is acquired of such supplement as is mentioned in sub-head (c) of sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 1 of the Seventh Schedule or of the amount of that part of the purchase price which represents the amount of such supplement which would have been payable if the interest in question had been compulsorily acquired, as the case may be, together with a statement in writing by the person from whom the interest is acquired agreeing with the acquiring authority that an amount equal to the sum specified by the acquiring authority in the said particulars represents the amount of such supplement or part of the purchase price, as the case may be.

(b) The date of payment of the amount so paid or, if interest has become payable from a date earlier than the date of such payment (whether by virtue of entry on the land to which the claim relates or otherwise), the date from which such interest became payable.

(c) In the absence of such a statement as is mentioned in sub-paragraph (a) hereof and in the event of the claim to such supplement as is therein mentioned not having become the subject of arbitration or other proceedings pursuant to sub-section (1) of Section 60 of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944, a statement in duplicate, in lieu of the particulars specified in sub-paragraph (a) of this paragraph, of the amount which the acquiring authority claims to have been included in the compensation payable in respect of the compulsory acquisition of the interest in question or in the purchase price payable in respect of the acquisition of the interest in question by agreement, as the case may be, as representing the amount of such supplement or part of the purchase price as is mentioned in sub-paragraph (a) hereof, together with particulars in support thereof.

(d) In the event of a claim to such supplement as is mentioned in sub-paragraph (a) of this paragraph having been determined pursuant to sub-section (1) of Section 60 of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944, a copy of the award of the arbitrator or of the order of the court, as the case may be. [2087]

5. The Interpretation Act, 1889, shall apply to the interpretation of these Regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2088]

6. These Regulations shall come into force on the 11th day of February, 1948, and may be cited as the Acquisition of Land (Claims for adjustment of compensation for War Damaged Land) Regulations, 1948. [2089]

* * * * *

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to explain their general purport.)

By Section 50 (2) of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947, the provisions of the Seventh Schedule to that Act have effect :—

(1) In relation to land compulsorily acquired in pursuance of a Notice to Treat served after the commencement of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944, and before the passing of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947, and

(2) In relation to land acquired by agreement during that period by an authority authorised to acquire it compulsorily.

Where a supplement is payable to an owner-occupier by Section 58 of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944, either as originally enacted or as amended by the Acquisition of Land (Increase of Supplement) Order, 1946, and the amount of a converted value payment payable under Section 14 of the War Damage Act, 1943, (which provides for value payments to be made where partially damaged land is acquired compulsorily or by agreement by a person authorised to acquire it compulsorily) falls to be increased by the War Damage (Increase of Value Payments) Order, 1947, the said Seventh Schedule provides for a reduction in the amount of the compensation or purchase price payable in respect of the acquisition by a sum not exceeding the amount by which the converted value payment is increased or the amount of the supplement which is payable, or which would have been payable if the land had been compulsorily acquired, whichever is the less.

This provision is intended to eliminate the overlap between the owner-occupier supplement and the increase of the converted value payment.

This elimination is effected by the War Damage Commission, on a claim by the acquiring authority, deducting the amount of the overlap (with interest thereon) from the amount of any value payment (with interest thereon) payable by the War Damage Commission under the War Damage Act, 1943, to the person from whom the land is acquired and paying that sum to the acquiring authority.

This Order specifies the time and manner for making any such claim.

COMPENSATION (DEFENCE) NOTICE OF CLAIM RULES, 1948

February 19, 1948

The Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, in pursuance of the powers conferred upon Them by Section 11 of the Compensation (Defence) Act, 1939 and of all other powers enabling Them in that behalf, hereby make the following Rules :—

1.—(1) Claims for compensation under the said Act (as amended by the Requisitioned Land and War Works Acts, 1945 and 1948) accruing due on or after the date on which these Rules come into operation in respect of the taking possession of any land shall be made by notice in accordance with the forms specified in relation to such claims respectively in the First Schedule hereto.

(2) In accordance with the provisions of paragraph (1) of this Rule the Compensation (Defence) Notice of Claims Rules, 1939, and Forms Nos. 1 and 2 specified in the Schedule thereto, shall not apply to claims in respect of land of which possession is taken or relinquished, as the case may be, on or after the date on which these Rules come into operation. [2090]

2. Claims under Section 9 of the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1948, for an increase of the compensation payable in respect of any land under paragraph (a) of sub-section (i) of Section 2 of the Compensation (Defence) Act, 1939, shall be made by notice in accordance with the form specified in the Second Schedule hereto. [2091]

3. Every such notice of claim shall be signed by the claimant or by a person duly authorised by the claimant on his behalf and shall be delivered to the competent authority by whom the compensation is payable or to such other person as the competent authority shall direct. [2092]

4.—(1) These Rules may be cited as the Compensation (Defence) Notice of Claim Rules, 1948.

(2) These Rules shall come into operation on the 19th day of February, 1948. [2093]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Rules, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These Rules provide new forms of claim for compensation in respect of requisitions of land made or relinquished after the commencement of the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1948, in order to fit in with the new basis of compensation laid down by that Act. They also provide a form of claim for an increase of rental compensation under that Act in respect of land already requisitioned.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS (MINISTER OF HEALTH AND MINISTER OF TRANSPORT) ORDER, 1948

March 11, 1948

Whereas it is provided by the Ministers of the Crown (Transfer of Functions) Act, 1946, that it shall be lawful for His Majesty by Order in Council to transfer to any Minister of the Crown any functions theretofore exercisable by another Minister of the Crown :

And Whereas the Minister of Health exercises and performs the functions mentioned in Article 2 of this Order which functions appear to His Majesty to be more suitable for the Minister of Transport :

Now therefore His Majesty is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

1.—(1) This Order may be cited as the Transfer of Functions (Minister of Health and Minister of Transport) Order, 1948, and shall come into operation on the first day of April, 1948.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, shall apply to the interpretation of this Order as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2096]

2. There shall be transferred to the Minister of Transport the functions of the Minister of Health of—

(a) confirming compulsory purchase orders made by local authorities under the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, relating to the acquisition of land under section 159 of the Local Government Act, 1933, or section 100 of the London Government Act, 1939, for the purposes of—

(i) section 154 of the Public Health Act, 1875, as interpreted by section 83 of the Public Health Act, 1925 (which relates to the widening and improvement of streets) ; or

(ii) the exercise of powers vested in the London County Council by virtue of paragraph (viii) of section 3 of the Local Government Act, 1888 (which relates, so far as is material, to bridges and roads repairable with bridges) as applied by subsection (6) of section 40 of the said Act ; or

(iii) section 68 of the Public Health Act, 1925, as amended by section 16 of the Restriction of Ribbon Development Act, 1935 (which relates to the provision of parking places for vehicles) ;

(b) giving authorisation for any of the purposes aforesaid under section 2 of the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946 (which gives temporary powers for speedy acquisition of land in urgent cases). [2097]

3.—(1) In the construction and for the purposes of any enactment (other than an enactment contained in the Ministers of the Crown Act, 1937) or other instrument passed or made before the date of the coming into operation of this Order any reference to, or which is to be construed as a reference to, the Minister of Health shall, so far only as may be necessary for the purpose or in consequence of the transfer hereby made, be construed as a reference to the Minister of Transport.

(2) This Order shall not prejudice the operation of any compulsory purchase order confirmed, or authorisation under section 2 of the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, given, or the validity of anything preliminary to the confirmation of a compulsory purchase order or the giving of such an authorisation done, by the Minister of Health before the date of the coming into operation of this Order in the exercise of functions thereby transferred, but any such order or authorisation shall, if then in force, continue in force to the like extent and subject to the like provisions as if it had been duly made, and anything done as aforesaid shall have effect as if it had been duly done, by the Minister of Transport. [2098]

* * * * *

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

This Order transfers from the Minister of Health to the Minister of Transport the functions of confirming compulsory purchase orders, and of otherwise authorising the speedy acquisition of land, under the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946, for certain highway purposes.

EXTINGUISHMENT OR MODIFICATION OF EASEMENTS REGULATIONS, 1948

July 6, 1948

The Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, in pursuance of the powers conferred upon Them by sub-sections (2) and (3) of Section 4 of the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1948, and of all other powers enabling Them in that behalf, hereby make the following Regulations :—

1. These Regulations may be cited as the Extinguishment or Modification of Easements Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the 9th day of July, 1948. [2099]

2.—(1) In these Regulations :—

(a) the expression " the Act of 1945 " means the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945 ;

(b) the expression " the Act of 1948 " means the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1948.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, shall apply to the interpretation of these Regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2100]

3. The provisions of sub-sections (3) and (4) of Section 7 of the Act of 1945, and of Section 41 thereof, shall apply, where an easement is extinguished or modified under sub-section (2) of Section 4 of the Act of 1948, with the following adaptations, that is to say :—

(a) in sub-section (3) of Section 7, for the words " a restriction discharged or modified under paragraph (b) of sub-section (1) of this section " there shall be substituted the words " an easement extinguished or modified under sub-section (2) of Section 4 of the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1948 " ; and

(b) for the word " discharge " there shall be substituted the word " extinguishment," and for the word " restriction " there shall be substituted the word " easement." [2101]

4. Sections 25, 26 and 27 of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944, as amended by the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947, and the Schedules, as so amended, referred to in those sections, shall, in connection with the operation of sub-section (3) of Section 4 of the Act of 1948, apply with the following adaptations, that is to say :—

(a) in sub-section (1) of Section 25, after the words " Where there subsists over land " there shall be added the words " which a Minister has acquired under Part II of the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945, or has power so to acquire, or would have power so to acquire if he did not already own it, or which a Minister having power, otherwise than by virtue of the said Part II, to acquire land under the Defence Acts (as defined in the said Act) has so acquired or proposes so to acquire (any such Minister being hereinafter in this section called ' the acquiring Minister '), or " ;

(b) in subhead (c) of sub-section (1) of Section 27, after the word " Act " there shall be added the words " or under Section 25 of this Act, as applied for the purposes of sub-section (3) of Section 4 of the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1948," ;

(c) in subhead (e) of paragraph 1 of the Fourth Schedule, there shall be added the words " or of sub-section (3) of Section 4 of the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1948 " ;

(d) before the words " the purchasing or appropriating authority " there shall be added the words " the acquiring Minister or " ; and

(e) the expression " extinguishment " shall include modification, and the expression " extinguish " shall be construed accordingly. [2102]

5. These Regulations shall apply to Scotland subject to the following modifications :—

(a) for references to the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944, and to the following provisions of that Act, that is to say, Sections 25, 26 and 27, and the Schedules referred to in those Sections, there shall be respectively substituted references to the Town and Country Planning (Scotland) Act, 1945, and to the following provisions of that Act, that is to say, Sections 24, 25 and 26, and the Schedules referred to in those Sections ;

(b) for references to the Town and Country Planning Act, 1947, there shall be substituted references to the Town and Country Planning (Scotland) Act, 1947 ; and

(c) the expression " easement " includes servitude. [2103]

6. These Regulations shall apply to Northern Ireland subject to the following modification, that is to say, Regulation 4 of these Regulations shall have effect as if the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944, as amended, extended to Northern Ireland. [2104]

* * * * *

Subsection (2) of Section 4 of the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1948, gives power to certain Ministers, who have acquired under the Defence Acts, otherwise than by virtue of Part II of the Requisitioned Land and War Works Act, 1945, or who propose so to acquire any land, to extinguish or modify any easement to which the land is subject, and provides for the application, with prescribed adaptations, of the provisions contained in Section 7 (3), 7 (4) and 41 of the latter Act, thus placing the compensation payable for the extinguishment or modification of easements on the same footing as the compensation payable for the discharge or modification of restrictions on the user of land.

Subsection (3) of the same section provides that, where an interest in land benefited by certain types of easement is vested in a statutory undertaking (as defined), the provisions of Sections 25, 26 and 27 of the Town and Country Planning Act, 1944 (or, if the land is in Scotland, of Sections 24, 25 and 26 of the Town and Country Planning (Scotland) Act, 1945) and of the Schedules referred to in those sections shall apply with prescribed adaptations, as regards the interest of the undertaking in lieu of the provisions mentioned above.

These Regulations prescribe the necessary adaptations.

The Defence (General) Regulations, 1939, reg. 51, provides: "(1) A competent authority, if it appears to that authority to be necessary or expedient so to do [for any of the purposes specified in s. 1 (1) of the Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945] may take possession of any land, and may give such directions as appear to the competent authority to be necessary or expedient in connection with the taking of possession of that land. . . . (5) A competent authority may, to such extent and subject to such restrictions as it thinks proper, delegate all or any of its functions under paras. (1) to (3) of the regulation to any specified persons or class of persons."

As a competent authority the Minister of Health, acting under para. 5, delegated his power to take possession of dwelling-houses under para. 1 to local authorities, including the plaintiffs, by means of "circulars," which contained "conditions," inter alia, that (i) no chattel on the premises might be requisitioned and the requisition notice should contain a direction as to the disposal of any chattel therein, and (ii) where within 14 days the owner notified his intention to occupy the house, the authority should not proceed further in the matter unless the local authority was satisfied that to allow the owner to occupy the premises would result in serious under-occupation. The defendant was the owner of a house at B. in which he occupied one room only, letting the remainder to a tenant. When the tenant left, the defendant began negotiations for the sale of the house. The prospective purchaser paid a deposit on June 18, 1946, but on June 20 a requisition notice was served on the defendant under reg. 51 (1) stating that the town clerk of B. had that day taken possession of the premises. A substantial quantity of the defendant's furniture remained on the premises, but the requisition notice contained no direction as to its disposal. The proposed purchaser withdrew from the transaction, and on June 26 the defendant went into occupation of the house, intimating to the town clerk that he intended to use it as his own residence. On July 29, in the course of correspondence which ensued, the town clerk stated that the Minister of Health wished him to emphasise that the defendant had committed an offence under the Defence Regulations, that he was a trespasser, and that the premises must be vacated forthwith. On Aug. 20, in a letter to the defendant's solicitors, the Minister of Health purported to confirm the town clerk's actions, and on Nov. 28 (after the commencement of this action) the Minister, by letter to the town clerk, purported to ratify all the actions of the town clerk in connection with the premises. The plaintiffs, the corporation of B., sought possession of the dwelling-house, damages for trespass, and an injunction :—

Held : (i) the provision of housing for the inadequately housed was within the term " supplies and services " as employed in s. 1 (1) of the Act of 1945, and was, therefore, within the scope of reg. 51, as amended.

(ii) the original attempt at requisition on June 20 was inoperative because, in breach of the conditions or limitations applicable to the delegated powers, the notice purported to requisition the house and its contents and contained no direction as to the exclusion or disposal of the chattels.

(iii) (by SCOTT and ASQUITH, L.JJ., EVERSHED, L.J., dubitante), on June 26, on the notification by the defendant of his intention himself to occupy the premises, the plaintiffs ought not to have proceeded further in the matter, being legally debarred therefrom by the terms of the circulars.

(iv) the result of the letters of July 29 and August 20 was not to effect a requisitioning of the premises by the Minister himself, because (a) the Minister had not in his sub-delegated legislation reserved power so to act ; and (b) the Minister did not, in fact, then requisition or take possession of, the premises.

(v) (a) the Minister, when delegating his powers, had for the time being divested himself of those powers, and, therefore, he had no power to ratify the purported requisition of June 20, and (b) neither the plaintiffs nor the town clerk were acting as the Minister's agent.

Claims made on behalf of the B. corporation of privilege from disclosure to the defendant of (a) correspondence between departments of the corporation and (b) correspondence between the corporation and the Ministry of Health, held, not to disclose any legal grounds of privilege :—

Held : also, that copies of reports, proceedings and instructions of committees of the corporation were not privileged from disclosure save in so far as they emanated from or were addressed to the legal advisers of the corporation for the purposes of the litigation.

the purpose of requisitioning part of [specified] premises for re-housing purposes." In pursuance of the powers so conferred the clerk served on the owner notice of requisition of the premises " excluding shop and shop parlour " :—

Held: (i) under the Emergency Powers (Defence) Act, 1939, s. 7, production of the letter was sufficient proof of the delegation.

(ii) the Minister having power to requisition part of the premises under reg. 51 could delegate power to requisition a part thereof without specifying which part, but leaving it to his delegate to requisition so much of the premises as he thought fit.—CARLISH v. EAST HAM CORPN., [1948] 2 K. STATUTES

EMERGENCY LAWS (MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS) ACT, 1947

(11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 10)

PRELIMINARY NOTE

S. 4 of this Act, which section came into force on December 31, 1947, effects a further extension of certain emergency enactments relating to agriculture, namely, Part I and (excepting certain sections) Part III of the Agriculture (Miscellaneous War Provisions) Act, 1940 (33 Halsbury's Statutes 3). Part I of that Act relates to wheat and is not relevant to this title. Part III, consisting of ss. 14–22, relates to land drainage, and by s. 22 (4) thereof the powers in relation to dams and sluices and the powers of entry conferred by that Part are not to be exercised after the end of the " war period ". This period was originally defined by s. 30 (1) (c) of the Act to mean the period during which the Emergency Powers (Defence) Act, 1939, was in force. That Act expired on February 24, 1946, but by sub-s. (1) of s. 3 of the Emergency Laws (Transitional Provisions) Act, 1946 (30 Halsbury's Statutes 882) it was provided that, for the purposes of the Act of 1940 (other than s. 20 thereof) and of certain other agricultural enactments, the expression " war period " should include the period during which the said s. 3 was in force, which by sub-s. (4) thereof was to continue until December 31, 1947, and then expire.

S. 4 of the present Act now amends s. 3 of the Act of 1946, firstly, by substituting for sub-s. (1) thereof a new subsection under which the extended definition of " war period " applies only for the purposes of Part I and Part III (except ss. 14 and 15) of the Act of 1940, and secondly by amending sub-s. (4) thereof to refer to December 10, 1950 instead of to December 31, 1947.

The effect of the present section is, accordingly, to continue in force Part I and (excepting ss. 14, 15 and 20) Part III of the Act of 1940 until December 10, 1950.

As to s. 15, see the Agriculture Act, 1947, s. 96 (1 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 210). [2107]

4. Further extension of emergency enactments relating to agriculture.—(1) For subsection (1) of section three of the Act of 1946 (which subsection provides for the extension until the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-seven of the war period for the purposes of the Agriculture (Miscellaneous War Provisions) Act, 1940, the Agriculture (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1941, and section fourteen of the Agriculture (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1943) there shall be substituted the following subsection:—

"(1) For the purposes of Part I of the Agriculture (Miscellaneous War Provisions) Act, 1940 (which relates to wheat) and Part III of that Act (which relates to land drainage), except sections fourteen and fifteen thereof, the expression 'war period' shall include the period during which this section is in force after the expiry of the Emergency Powers (Defence) Acts, 1939 to 1945". [2109]

(2) Subsection (4) of section twenty-two of the Agriculture (Miscellaneous War Provisions) Act, 1940 (which provides that no scheme shall be approved under Part III of that Act after the end of the war period) shall not be construed as preventing the variation under section four of the Agriculture (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1943, after the end of the war period, of any drainage scheme approved before the end of that period. [2110]

(3) Subsection (2) of section three of the Act of 1946 is hereby repealed. [2111]

(4) In subsection (4) of section three of the Act of 1946, for the reference to the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-seven, there shall be substituted a reference to the tenth day of December, nineteen hundred and fifty. [2112]

RIVER BOARDS ACT, 1948

(11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 32)

PRELIMINARY NOTE

This Act, which came into force on receiving the Royal Assent on May 28, 1948, is a measure for the administrative re-organisation of certain functions connected with water. It is designed to place responsibility for land drainage, fisheries and the prevention of river pollution, hitherto divided among multifarious authorities, upon a single authority, to be known as a river board, for each of the main rivers of England and Wales.

The Act is based on recommendations made by the Central Advisory Water Committee in their Third Report (Cmd. 6465), presented to Parliament in August 1943, and which were generally endorsed in the White Paper on National Water Policy (Cmd. 6515). The Act represents only a preliminary step in dealing with the country's water problems and, except in one instance, is concerned only with the transfer of existing functions and not with their extension. Further legislation will be initiated to strengthen the existing powers, particularly with regard to river pollution and land drainage, when the Committee have reported on these matters.

The Act requires the Ministers of Health and of Agriculture and Fisheries acting jointly to make orders establishing river boards for areas comprising together the whole of England and Wales other than certain excluded areas (s. 1). The Minister of Agriculture, in moving the Second Reading of the Bill in the House of Commons, stated that there were to be twenty-nine boards in all and that their establishment would take a long time (447 H. of C. Official Report 1959). The excluded areas are the Thames and Lee catchment areas, the administrative county of London, and any area adjoining that county not within an existing catchment area. Their exclusion is rendered necessary by problems peculiar to those areas, such as the relationship of the Thames and Lee Conservancy Boards to the Metropolitan Water Board and the pollution functions of the Port of London Authority. The Ministers are, however, empowered to make an order bringing the excluded areas or any part thereof into the river board scheme if at any time it should prove desirable to do so (s. 7).

The area of each river board is to be defined by the order establishing it (s. 1 (1) (a)), and is to consist of an area the drainage of which is directed to a river or group of rivers, together with such adjoining areas as the Ministers consider expedient to include (s. 2 (1)). The areas are left to be defined by individual order instead of being defined in the Act itself, since, as the Joint Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture explained when moving the Second Reading of the Bill in the House of Lords, the delimitation of areas is particularly controversial and it was felt preferable to leave the matter to be decided by the Minister after consultation with the interested bodies rather than by parliamentary debate (152 H. of L. Official Report 712). For the purposes of their fishery and river pollution functions, river board areas are to include certain tidal and coastal waters (s. 5).

The composition of a river board is to follow with modifications that of catchment boards under the Land Drainage Act, 1930 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 529).

The members are not, as a general rule, to exceed forty in number, of whom, after allowing for one member appointed by the Ministers, between three-fifths and two-thirds are to be appointed by county councils and county borough councils (s. 2 (2)). District councils lose the power of direct appointment that they have in the case of catchment boards, but county councils are required to secure adequate representation for them, and in the case of the more important district councils, are to appoint a nominee of the district council (s. 2 (5)).

As from the appointed day (which is to be separately appointed in respect of each river board area by the order establishing it (s. 35)) the functions of catchment boards and fishery boards and the river pollution functions of local authorities and of joint boards and joint committees of local authorities, are transferred to the river boards, and will cease to be exerciseable by the former authority in relation to any area included in a river board area (s. 4).

The relevant enactments and statutory orders are consequentially applied to river board areas subject to the modifications, adaptations and exceptions specified in Sched. III (s. 4). The principal enactments concerned are, as respects land drainage, the Land Drainage Act, 1930 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 529); as respects fisheries, the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923 (10 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 59); and, as respects river pollution, the 1923 Act and the Rivers Pollution Prevention Acts, 1876 and 1893 (20 Halsbury's Statutes 316, 345).

When river boards have been established for the whole of the country, 53 catchment boards, 377 drainage boards, 48 fishery boards and over 1,600 pollution authorities will have been replaced by some 29 river boards.

An order made by the Ministers, including the Minister of Transport, may provide for transferring to a river board any of the functions of a navigation, conservancy or harbour authority in the area (s. 8).

As already stated, pending further legislation river boards will be confined to exercising existing functions, since no new powers are conferred by the Act. To this, however, there is one exception. River boards are required to conserve the water resources of their areas, and for this purpose new powers and duties are conferred on them with regard to the measurement and recording of rainfall and the flow or volume of rivers (s. 9). These powers and duties are also conferred, with modifications, on the appropriate authorities for the excluded areas (s. 9 (10)).

The Act contains a number of financial and administrative provisions dealing with such matters as borrowing powers (s. 11), the acquisition of land (s. 12), powers of entry and inspection (s. 16), and the making of bye-laws (s. 18), which are designed to provide a uniform procedure to replace the differing procedures for separate functions under existing legislation. In addition, since river boards will be important local authorities, there are provisions assimilating their position with that of other local authorities in regard to such matters as the promotion of bills (s. 21), default powers of the Ministers (s. 22) and the holding of inquiries (s. 23), and officers of river boards are brought within the scope of the Local Government Superannuation Act, 1937 (30 Halsbury's Statutes 385).

Compensation is to be paid to former employees of the transferor authorities who suffer financially as a result of the transfer (s. 30).

The procedure for making orders and provisions as to their validity are contained in Sched. I. [2115]

An Act to provide for establishing river boards and for conferring on or transferring to such boards functions relating to land drainage, fisheries and river pollution and certain other functions; and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid. [2116] [28th May, 1948.]

Establishment and functions of river boards

1. Establishment of river boards for areas comprising whole of England and Wales except Thames, Lee and London areas.—(1) The Ministers shall, as soon as practicable, in accordance with the following provisions of this Act—

(a) by order define areas (to be known as "river board areas") which shall between them comprise the whole of England and Wales, except the Thames and Lee catchment areas, the administrative county of London and any area adjoining that county which is not at the date of the passing of this Act included in any catchment area ;

(b) by order establish boards (to be known as " river boards ") for the areas so defined, who shall have the functions conferred on or transferred to them by or under the following provisions of this Act, being functions relating to land drainage, fisheries and river pollution and certain other functions relating to rivers, streams and inland waters. [2117]

(2) Without prejudice to the duty of the Ministers under the preceding subsection, orders defining river board areas and establishing river boards may be made at different times for different areas. [2118]

Orders.—As to orders generally, see s. 33, post. No orders under this section had been made at the date of going to press.

Thames and Lee catchment areas.—For provisions concerning the drainage board of the Thames catchment area and the Conservators of the River Thames, and the drainage board of the Lee catchment area and the Lee Conservancy Board, see the Land Drainage Act, 1930, ss. 79, 80 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 579, 581), as respectively amended by the Thames Conservancy Act, 1932, s. 6, Sched. I (22 & 23 Geo. 5, c. xxxvii), and the Lee Conservancy Catchment Board Act, 1936 (ss. 2 (1), 7 (26 Geo. 5 & 1 Edw. 8, c. lxviii).

Definitions.—For definitions of " catchment area ", " functions ", " river pollution " and " the Ministers ", see s. 36 (1), post.

2. Definition of river board areas and constitution of river boards.—(1) Each river board area shall consist of an area the drainage of which is directed to a river or group of rivers, together with such adjoining areas as the Ministers consider it expedient to include in the river board area, and the order defining a river board area shall do so either by reference to a map or by reference to the line of any watershed or the boundary of any area of local government or catchment area existing immediately before the making of the order, or partly by one method and partly by another. [2119]

(2) An order establishing a river board shall provide for the appointment of such number of members not exceeding forty as may be specified in the order, who shall be appointed as follows :

(b) such number, not being less than three-fifths or more than two-thirds of the remaining members, as may be specified in the order shall be appointed, whether from their own members or not, by the councils of the counties and county boroughs whose area, or any part of whose area, is included in the river board area ;

(c) the remainder of the members shall be appointed by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries and shall consist of—

(i) persons appointed, after consultation with the drainage boards whose districts are wholly or partly included in the river board area, to represent those boards, and persons appointed to represent that portion, if any, of the river board area for which drainage boards might be, but have not been, established ; and

(ii) persons appointed to represent fishery interests in the river board area after consultation with any association or person appearing to the Minister to represent a substantial fishery interest in that area. [2120]

(3) As respects the members of a river board to be appointed by the councils of counties and county boroughs, the number to be appointed by each of the said councils shall be such as the Ministers may determine, having regard to the estimated amounts of the contributions to be made by those councils respectively towards the expenses of the board, and shall be specified in the order. [2121]

(4) Where it appears to the Ministers that, owing to the small estimated amount of the contribution to be made by the council of any county or county borough as aforesaid, the council ought not to appoint a member of the river board, the Ministers may provide in the order that that council shall be represented by a member appointed by agreement between that council and the council of any other county or county borough concerned, or, in default of agreement between the councils, by a member appointed by the Ministers to represent the councils jointly. [2122]

(5) The councils of counties shall secure that adequate representation is given to the county districts wholly or partly included in a river board area, having regard to the relative rateable values of property in those districts or parts thereof, and in particular, where the total rateable value of property in any county district or part of a county district included in a river board area bears to the total rateable value of the property in the county or part of the county so included a proportion greater than that borne by the number one to the number of members of the river board to be appointed by the council of that county, one or more of the members so appointed shall be appointed from among persons nominated by the council of the county district, and the number of members to be appointed from among persons so nominated shall be fixed having regard to the said proportion and shall be specified in the order establishing the river board. [2123]

(6) The councils of counties and county boroughs and the Ministers and the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries in making appointments under this section shall have regard to the desirability of including, as far as practicable, among the members appointed by them persons having a practical knowledge of the various matters with respect to which river boards exercise functions, and the councils of counties and county boroughs shall not appoint any officer or servant of the council or of any other local authority :

Provided that the council of a county or county borough shall not thereby be precluded from appointing a member of the council who is also an officer or servant of another local authority. [2124]

(7) Where a river board is established for an area which consists of or includes the River Ouse (Yorks) Catchment Area or the River Trent Catchment Area, the order establishing the board shall provide for the appointment of a member by the National Coal Board, and that member shall be additional to the members appointed under subsection (2) of this section and shall be disregarded for the purposes of that subsection. [2125]

(8) Any order defining a river board area or establishing a river board shall be made in accordance with Part I of the First Schedule to this Act, and Part III of that Schedule shall apply with respect to the validity of any such order ; and Part II of that Schedule shall, in the case of any order defining a river board area, apply for the purpose of making the order subject to special parliamentary procedure in the circumstances specified in that Part. [2126]

(9) The provisions of the Second Schedule to this Act shall have effect with respect to river boards and their members, the appointment of committees, the proceedings of river boards and their committees, and the appointment by river boards of officers and servants. [2127]

Orders.—As to orders generally, see s. 33, post. No orders under this section had been made at the date of going to press.

Constitution of river boards.—The order establishing a river board, which is to be made jointly by the Ministers of Health and of Agriculture and Fisheries, is to provide for the appointment of members not exceeding forty in all (but see sub-s. (7) as to the appointment of a member by the National Coal Board). Such order is to be made in accordance with Sched. I, post (sub-s. (8)). As regards the various interests represented in a river board, the general principle has been adopted that only those who directly contribute to the funds of the river board should have representation on it.

Appointments to the Board.—Two principal groups are to be represented on the Board. On the one hand there are to be representatives of the local authorities concerned, which authorities have a general interest in all the functions of the Board ; and on the other hand there are to be representatives of bodies with a specialised interest, i.e. those representing drainage and fishery interests.

National Coal Board.—The National Coal Board was established by the Coal Industry Nationalisation Act, 1946, s. 1 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 256).

Sub-s. (7), supra, continues for river boards the long-standing arrangement under which colliery owners (now the National Coal Board) in the Doncaster area, where mining subsidence creates important drainage problems, were represented on the Ouse and Trent catchment boards. The order establishing a river board consisting of, or including, this area, must provide for the appointment of an additional member by the National Coal Board.

Special parliamentary procedure.—As to special parliamentary procedure, see the Statutory Orders (Special Procedure) Act, 1945 (38 Halsbury's Statutes 439).

Definitions.—For definitions of "catchment area", "drainage board", and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

3. Variation of river board areas and of constitution of river boards.—(1) The Ministers may, whether before or after they have defined river board areas comprising the whole area mentioned in section one of this Act, by order—

(a) alter an existing river board area, whether by way of extension or reduction; or

(b) define a new river board area which includes or consists of one or more existing river board areas or any part or parts thereof; and subsection (1) of the last preceding section shall apply to any order made under this subsection and to the area as defined thereby, subject to the modification that the reference to a catchment area shall include a reference to a river board area:

Provided that nothing in this subsection shall be taken as authorising the inclusion in a river board area of the whole or any part of the areas excluded from section one of this Act. [2128]

(2) An order made under the preceding subsection shall state whether it is to be regarded as altering an existing river board area or as defining a new river board area for which a new river board is required to be established, and in the latter case the Ministers shall by order establish a new river board in accordance with the preceding provisions of this Act, and in the former case the Ministers may, to such extent as appears to them to be necessary in consequence of the alteration of the river board area, by order vary the constitution of the river board for the altered area, but not so as to depart from the requirements of the last preceding section. [2129]

(3) The Ministers may by order vary the constitution of any river board to such extent as appears to them to be necessary in consequence of any substantial alteration of the areas of local government included wholly or partly in the river board area or any substantial change in the rateable value of the property in any such area of local government, but not so as to depart from the requirements of the last preceding section. [2130]

(4) Any order made under this section shall be made in accordance with Part I of the First Schedule to this Act, and Part III of that Schedule shall apply with respect to the validity of any such order; and Part II of that Schedule shall, in the case of any order altering or defining a river board area, except an order altering a river board area which states that the alteration is due solely to an alteration in the direction of the drainage of any land, apply for the purpose of making the order subject to special parliamentary procedure in the circumstances specified in that Part. [2131]

Orders.—As to orders generally, see s. 33, post. No orders under the present section had been made at the date of going to press.

Variation of river board areas.—The Ministers of Health and of Agriculture and Fisheries, acting jointly, may at any time by an order made in accordance with Sched. I, post, alter an existing river board area or define a new area. The provisions of s. 2 (1), ante, are to apply to any such order and to the area as defined thereby. It is expressly provided that the Thames and Lee catchment areas, the administrative county of London and any area adjoining that county which, on May 28, 1948, was not included in any catchment area, cannot be included in a river board area, as altered, or newly defined under the present section.

Variation of constitution of river boards.—The constitution of any river board may be varied by order of the Ministers to any extent as appears to them necessary (a) where the local government areas included wholly or partly in the river board area are substantially altered or (b) when there is a substantial change in the rateable value of the property in any such local government area. In either case, the variation of the constitution must comply with the requirements of s. 2, ante.

4. Functions of river boards.—(1) For the purpose of conferring on river boards the functions of catchment boards and fishery boards and the functions exercisable by local authorities and joint boards and joint committees of local authorities under section sixty-nine of the Public Health Act, 1875, the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, and any enactment relating to river pollution contained in a local Act or statutory order, the enactments and statutory orders referred to in the Third Schedule to this Act shall have effect, as from the appointed day, in relation to any river board area, subject to the modifications, adaptations and exceptions specified in the said Schedule. [2132]

(2) As from the appointed day, any catchment board, fishery board, local authority, joint board or joint committee, the whole or any part of whose area or district is included in a river board area, shall cease to exercise the functions aforesaid or, as the case may be, cease to exercise them in relation to that part of their area or district, but nothing in this section or in the Third Schedule to this Act shall affect the exercise of functions by any such body in relation to any area or district, or any part of an area or district, not included in a river board area. [2133]

(3) Where, in consequence of an order made under the last preceding section, there is included in any new or existing river board area the whole or any part of another river board area, there shall become exercisable, as from the appointed day, by the river board for the first-mentioned area (in addition to the functions which become exercisable by that board under subsection (1) of this section) any other functions previously exercisable in the other river board area or part thereof, as the case may be, by the river board for that area, and those functions shall as from that day cease to be exercisable or, as the case may be, cease to be exercisable in that part, by the last-mentioned river board. [2134]

General note.—This section provides for transferring to river boards the functions of catchment boards and fishery boards, and the pollution function of local authorities and joint boards and joint committees of local authorities.

5. Extension of river board areas for purposes of certain functions.—(1) A river board area shall—

(a) for the purposes of the functions of the river board relating to fisheries, include those tidal waters and parts of the sea adjoining the coast of the river board area within which His Majesty's subjects have the exclusive right of fishing; and

(b) for the purposes of the functions of the river board relating to river pollution, include such tidal waters and parts of the sea adjoining the coast of the river board area as are included in the definition of "stream" for the purposes of the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, by virtue of an order made, whether before or after the passing of this Act, under section twenty of that Act or section fifty-five of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923. [2135]

(2) Any question arising under the preceding subsection as to the extent of the tidal waters or parts of the sea included in any river board area for the purposes mentioned in paragraph (a) of that subsection shall be determined by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. [2136]

Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, s. 20.—20 Halsbury's Statutes 323.

6. Definition of main river.—(1) When a new river board area has been defined, or an existing river board area has been altered so as to affect the extent of the main river for the purposes of Part II of the Land Drainage Act, 1930, the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries shall cause a map of the area as defined or altered to be prepared showing by some distinctive colour the extent to which any river or watercourse in the area is to be treated as the main river or part of the main river for the said purposes, and shall cause to be published, in one or more newspapers circulating in the area, a notice stating that the map has been prepared and specifying the place at which a copy of the map may be inspected and the time (not being less than twenty-eight days) within which, and the manner in which, objections thereto may be made. [2137]

(2) On the expiration of the time within which objections may be made as aforesaid, the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries shall, if no objections have been made, forthwith approve the map as prepared and, if any objections have been made, shall take those objections into consideration and after so doing proceed to approve the map, either as prepared or with such modifications as he thinks fit. [2138]

(3) The Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries may at any time, on the application of the river board, after giving notice of his intention so to do in such manner as he thinks best adapted for informing persons affected and after considering any objections made to him, vary the map as approved by him under this section. [2139]

(4) The map as approved or as varied in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be conclusive evidence for all purposes as to what is the main river, and shall, for the purposes of the Documentary Evidence Acts, 1868 to 1895, be deemed to be a document issued by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries. [2140]

(5) The Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries shall supply to the river board a copy of the map approved by him under this section for their area, and if at any time thereafter he varies the map, he shall supply to the board a copy of the map as varied. [2141]

Land Drainage Act, 1930, Part II.—23 Halsbury's Statutes 530–540.
Under that Act, a catchment area is the administrative unit for land drainage purposes; this means the area drained by a main river (including an arterial drain) and its tributaries. The limits of the area are determined by a map prepared by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries showing by some distinctive colour the "main river" (see s. 5 of the Act). For the definition of "main river", see s. 81 thereof (23 Halsbury's Statutes 582).
Documentary Evidence Acts, 1868 to 1895.—These are the Documentary Evidence Acts, 1868, 1882, 1895 (9 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 590, 602, 612).

7. Thames and Lee Catchment areas and London.—(1) The Ministers may at any time by order provide that the whole or any part of the areas excluded from section one of this Act shall cease to be excluded from that section, and accordingly shall, whether in that order or in any subsequent order, make such provision in accordance with the preceding provisions of this Act as the Ministers think fit for the purpose of defining as, or including in, a river board area or river board areas the whole or part of the areas excluded as aforesaid. [2142]

(2) Where, in pursuance of the preceding subsection, any new river board area is defined or any existing river board area is altered, the Ministers shall by order provide in accordance with the preceding provisions of this Act, but subject to the following provisions of this section, for establishing a new river board or, as the case may be, for varying the constitution of the existing river board to such extent, if any, as appears to the Ministers to be necessary in consequence of the alteration. [2143]

(3) Where the whole or any part of the areas excluded from section one of this Act has ceased to be so excluded, the powers of the Ministers under section three of this Act shall be exercisable with respect thereto. [2144]

(4) The Ministers, in making any order establishing or varying the constitution of a river board for an area which consists of or includes the whole or any part of the areas originally excluded from section one of this Act, shall make such provision for the representation of bodies or persons having special interests in the said areas or part thereof as the Ministers consider necessary or expedient, and may depart from the requirements of section two of this Act with respect to the constitution of river boards to such extent (if any) as they may consider necessary or expedient to enable provision for such representation to be made; and Part II of the First Schedule to this Act shall apply for the purpose of making any such order subject to special parliamentary procedure in the circumstances specified in that Part. [2145]

(5) Where a new river board area is defined so as to consist of or include the whole or any part of the areas originally excluded from section one of this Act, or a river board area is altered by the inclusion therein of any part of the said areas, section four of this Act shall have effect subject to such modifications as may be specified by order of the Ministers, and the order may in particular provide—

(a) for the transfer to the board from the Conservators of the River Thames or the Lee Conservancy Catchment Board of functions not mentioned in that section, or for the transfer to the board of functions from authorities not mentioned in that section, being authorities exercising in the said areas or part thereof functions relating to land drainage fisheries or river pollution;

(b) for requiring any such authority to make payments to the river board in respect of expenses incurred by the board in exercising any functions transferred to them from the authority by the order; and

(c) for the making of such modifications or adaptations of, or exceptions from, or the repeal of such provisions of, any local Act or statutory order as the Ministers consider necessary or expedient in consequence of any transfer of functions made by the order. [2146]

(6) Any order made under this section providing that the whole or any part of the areas excluded from section one of this Act shall cease to be excluded from that section, and any order made under the last preceding subsection, shall be made in accordance with Part I of the First Schedule to this Act, and Part II of that Schedule shall apply for the purpose of making such orders subject to special parliamentary procedure in the circumstances specified in that Part, and Part III of that Schedule shall apply with respect to the validity of such orders. [2147]

General note.—S. 1, ante, provides for the establishment of river boards for areas comprising the whole of England and Wales except London and the Thames and Lee catchment areas. By the present section the Ministers may by order include these areas or any part of them in the river board scheme if that course should prove desirable or necessary.

Order.—As to orders generally, see s. 33, post. No order under the present section had been made at the date of going to press.

Definitions.—For definitions of "functions", "river pollution" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

8. Transfer of navigation functions.—(1) The Ministers may, on application made by the river board or authority concerned and after consultation with the authority or board concerned other than the applicant, by order provide for the transfer to a river board of any functions exercisable in the river board area by any navigation authority, conservancy authority or harbour authority. [2148]

(2) Any order made under this section may provide for the making of such modifications or adaptations of, or exceptions from, or the repeal of such provisions of, any local Act or statutory order relating to the functions transferred by the order as the Ministers consider necessary or expedient in consequence of that transfer. [2149]

(3) An order made under the preceding provisions of this section shall be made in accordance with Part I of the First Schedule to this Act and Part II of that Schedule shall apply for the purpose of making such orders subject to special parliamentary procedure in the circumstances specified in that Part, and Part III of that Schedule shall apply with respect to the validity of such orders. [2150]

(4) Where functions are exercisable or are to become exercisable by a river board, being functions which have been or are to be transferred to the board by an order made under the preceding provisions of this section or have been so transferred to another river board and subsequently become or are to become exercisable by the first-mentioned board, and it appears to the Ministers that those functions, together with any other functions of the river board relating to navigation, are of sufficient importance to justify the appointment of an additional member of the board to represent the interests affected by the exercise of those functions, they may at any time by order provide for the appointment by the Minister of Transport of such a member, who shall be additional to the members appointed under subsection (2) of section two of this Act and shall be disregarded for the purposes of that subsection; and if at any time it appears to the Ministers that the functions which justified the appointment of such a member have ceased to be of sufficient importance to justify his continued membership, they may revoke the order and thereupon the member so appointed shall vacate his office.

The powers conferred by this subsection may be exercised by an order made under the preceding provisions of this section, or by an order made under section three of this Act establishing or varying the constitution of a river board, or by a separate order. [2151]

General note.—This section enables the Ministers, where application is made either by the river board or the authority concerned, by order to provide for the transfer to a river board of any functions exercisable in the board's area by a navigation, conservancy or harbour authority.

The section may be compared with the Land Drainage Act, 1930, s. 40 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 558), which provides for the transfer to drainage boards of the powers and duties of navigation and conservancy authorities.

Order.—As to orders generally, see s. 33, post.

Special parliamentary procedure.—As to special parliamentary procedure, see the Statutory Orders (Special Procedure) Act, 1945 (38 Halsbury's Statutes 439).

Definitions.—For definitions of "conservancy authority", "functions", "harbour authority", "navigation authority" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

9. Conservation of water resources and provision of information.—(1) It shall be the duty of every river board, in exercising the functions conferred on or transferred to them by or under this Act, to conserve so far as practicable the water resources of their area. [2152]

(2) Any river board may submit to the Minister of Health a scheme for the measurement and recording of the rainfall in the river board area or any part thereof or of the flow or volume of any river, stream or inland water in the area, and for the installation and maintenance for those purposes of gauges or other apparatus and works connected therewith, and the Minister may approve any such scheme with or without modification, and on such approval the river board shall carry out the scheme. [2153]

(3) The Minister of Health may give directions requiring any river board—

(a) to measure and record the rainfall in the river board area or any part thereof or the flow or volume of any river, stream or inland water in the area and for those purposes to install and maintain such gauges or other apparatus and works connected therewith as may be specified in the directions;

(b) to furnish such information obtained in pursuance of the directions or any scheme approved under the last preceding subsection at such times and in such form as may be so specified;

(c) to furnish such information as to the abstraction of water from, and the discharge of effluents into, any river, stream or inland water in the river board area, and such other information relating to water resources in the area as may be specified in the directions, at such times and in such form as may be so specified;

and it shall be the duty of the river board to comply with any directions so given. [2154]

(4) Section fifty-five of the Land Drainage Act, 1930 (which provides for the making of grants towards expenditure incurred in the construction or improvement of works) shall extend to the construction or improvement of any such gauges or other apparatus or works as aforesaid. [2155]

(5) Every river board shall give reasonable facilities for the inspection of records kept by them of the rainfall or the flow or volume of any river, stream or inland water in their area, and for the taking of copies of and extracts from such records, and such facilities shall be available free of charge to all local authorities and drainage boards whose areas or districts are wholly or partly included in the river board area and shall be available to other persons on payment of such fees as may be approved by the Minister of Health. [2156]

(6) Where any gauge for measuring and recording the flow or volume of any river, stream or inland water was installed before the date when functions relating to land drainage first became exercisable by a river board in the place where the gauge was installed, the person having possession of the gauge on the said date shall, within three months from the said date, give notice of the installation to the river board and shall state in the notice where the records of the flow or volume are kept; and any person who proposes to install any such gauge in a place where the said functions are exercisable by a river board shall, at least three months before commencing the work, give notice to the river board and shall, within one month after the gauge has been installed, give notice to the board where the records of the flow or volume are kept. [2157]

(7) A river board shall have a right, at all reasonable hours, to inspect any records kept by any person of the flow or volume of any river, stream or inland water in the river board area, and to take copies of and extracts from such records. [2158]

(8) A river board may give directions requiring any person who in their opinion is abstracting water from any river, stream or inland water in the river board area in quantities which are substantial in relation to the flow or volume of the river, stream or inland water or is discharging effluents into any such river, stream or inland water, to give such information as to the abstraction or discharge, at such times and in such form, as may be specified in the directions:

Provided that any person to whom such directions are given may, if he considers that the directions are unreasonable or unduly onerous, make representations to the Minister of Health with respect thereto and the Minister may thereupon, if he thinks fit, require the river board to revoke or modify the said directions, and the river board shall comply with the Minister's requirement. [2159]

(9) Any person who—

(a) fails to give a notice which he is required to give by subsection (6) of this section, within the time therein mentioned; or

(b) fails to comply with any directions given under subsection (8) of this section within such time as may be specified in the directions;

shall, in respect of each such failure, be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, and, in respect of any such failure as is mentioned in paragraph (b) hereof, to a further fine not exceeding five pounds for each day on which the failure continues after conviction therefor. [2160]

(10) This section except subsection (1) thereof shall apply to the Conservators of the River Thames and to the Lee Conservancy Catchment Board as if they were river boards and their catchment areas were river board areas, subject to the modification that for the references in subsection (6) to the date therein mentioned there shall be substituted references to the date of the passing of this Act, and the provisions of the Land Drainage Act, 1930, so far as they relate to the said Conservators and Catchment Board, shall apply for the purposes of this section as they apply for the purposes of the said Act. [2161]

General note.—The functions of river boards with regard to the measurement and recording of rainfall and the gauging of the flow or volume of rivers, etc., are new.

Land Drainage Act, 1930, s. 55.—23 Halsbury's Statutes 569.

Effluents.—As to the power of river boards to take samples of effluents for analysis, see s. 15, post. As to the meaning of "effluent", see note to that section.

Definitions.—For definitions of "drainage board", "functions" and "local authority", see s. 36 (1), post.

Financial and administrative provisions

10. Financial provisions.—(1) The expenses of a river board, so far as they are not defrayed out of revenues of the board under any enactment other than this section, shall be apportioned by the board among the councils of the several counties and county boroughs which are included wholly or partly in the river board area, on the basis of the totals of the rateable values of all such hereditaments in the respective areas of those councils as are situated within the river board area.

In this subsection the expression "expenses" includes the interest on, and provision for the repayment of, any borrowed moneys. [2162]

(2) A river board may issue precepts to the councils of counties or county boroughs requiring payment of amounts apportioned to those councils under the preceding subsection, and, subject to the following provisions of this section, every such council shall pay, in accordance with any precepts so issued to it, the amount thereby demanded. [2163]

(3) The aggregate amount for which a precept may be issued under the last preceding subsection in any one financial year to the council of any county or county borough shall not, except with the consent of the majority of those members of the river board who are appointed by or represent councils of counties and county boroughs, exceed the estimated amount which would be produced by a rate of fourpence in the pound levied on that part of the county or county borough which is within the river board area:

Provided that, where a river board have borrowed or are about to borrow any money under this Act, this subsection shall, if a majority of the said members so resolve, have effect during the currency of the loan as if the said sum of fourpence were increased by such amount as is specified in the resolution. [2164]

(4) For the purposes of any apportionment of expenses under this section, the rateable value of hereditaments shall be taken to be the rateable value thereof as shown in the valuation lists in force on the first day of the financial year immediately preceding the financial year in which those expenses are chargeable, and the councils of the several counties and county boroughs wholly or partly included in a river board area shall from time to time, if and when so required by the river board, furnish to them a true and correct statement of the total of the rateable values of all such hereditaments in their respective areas as are situated in the river board area. [2165]

(5) It shall be the duty of a river board to prepare, in such form as the Ministers may direct, a statement of the purposes to which the amount demanded by any precept issued by the board under this section is intended to be applied and of the basis upon which it is calculated, and to send a copy of such statement with every precept to which it relates; and the council of the county or county borough shall not be under any obligation to pay the amount demanded by any such precept until they have received the said statement. [2166]

(6) Where a river board hold any funds, or any interest in any funds, created under any local Act for fishery purposes, those funds or that interest shall only be used for the purposes for which they or it could have been used if this Act had not been passed, but save as aforesaid all revenues of a river board shall be available for defraying the expenses of the board generally. [2167]

"Any enactment other than this section."—The functions transferred to river boards are specified in s. 4, ante, and by s. 25, post, the effect of such a transfer is to vest all property, rights, etc. of the transferor board in the river board. The river boards will, as a result, inherit the powers of catchment boards to require contributions from internal drainage boards under the Land Drainage Act, 1930, s. 21 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 543), and contributions from local authorities in respect of drainage works expenses under s. 32 of that Act. Grants from the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries under s. 55 thereof will also be available and will be extended to cover the construction or improvement of gauges (see s. 9 (4), ante).

For the power to levy navigation rates in certain cases, see s. 42 of the said Act. River boards will also be able to secure revenue by the issue of fishing licences and the levying of fishing rates.

Precepts.—Under the Land Drainage Act, 1930, s. 22 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 545), catchment boards could on their own initiative levy a precept up to the produce of a 2*d.* rate on, inter alia, county councils and county borough councils. This section, so far as it applies to such councils, is not to apply to a river board (see Sched. III, para. 2, post), but similar power is conferred on river boards by sub-ss. (2) and (3), supra, with the substitution of a 4*d.* precept for a 2*d.* precept.

As to estimating the amount which would be produced by a given rate, see the Transport and Electricity Authorities' Payments (Rate Product) Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 2194).

Definitions.—For definitions of "financial year" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

11. Borrowing powers.—(1) A river board may borrow temporarily, by way of overdraft or otherwise, such sums as they may require—

(a) for the purpose of defraying expenses pending the receipt of revenues receivable by them in respect of the period of account to which those expenses are chargeable and taken into account in their estimates made by them for that period;

(b) for the purpose of defraying, pending the raising of money by a mortgage which they have been authorised to raise under this section, expenses intended to be defrayed by means of that money. [2168]

(2) A river board may, with the consent of the Ministers, borrow money by mortgage for all or any of the following purposes, that is to say—

(a) the acquisition of land or the erection of buildings;

(b) the execution of any permanent work, or the doing of any other thing the cost of which, in the opinion of the Ministers, ought to be spread over a term of years;

(c) the repayment of any money previously borrowed by them or any authority from whom functions are transferred to the river board by or under this Act. [2169]

(3) Moneys borrowed by a river board under the last preceding subsection shall be charged indifferently on all the revenues of the board except any such funds as are referred to in subsection (6) of the last preceding section. [2170]

(4) Sections one hundred and ninety-eight to two hundred, sections two hundred and two, two hundred and three, two hundred and five, two hundred and six, two hundred and seven (except subsection (5)), and two hundred and eight to two hundred and fourteen of the Local Government Act, 1933, so far as they are applicable to the borrowing of money by a river board by mortgage under this section, shall apply to such borrowing, subject to the following modifications:—

(a) for references to a local authority there shall be substituted references to a river board;

(b) for references to the Minister of Health there shall be substituted references to the Ministers;

(c) the expression "prescribed", except in section two hundred and five, shall mean prescribed by regulations made by the Ministers;

(d) for references to the county fund or the general rate fund there shall be substituted references to the general revenues of the river board. [2171]

(5) Where money is borrowed in pursuance of paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of this section and subsequently money is raised by such a mortgage as is mentioned in that paragraph, then, for the purposes of the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1933, so far as applied by the last preceding subsection, which regulate the repayment of the money raised by that mortgage, the money shall, to the extent of the sum borrowed in pursuance of the said paragraph, be deemed to have been raised at the time when the said borrowing took place. [2172]

(6) Nothing in this section shall be taken as authorising any river board to exercise the powers of borrowing conferred thereby otherwise than in compliance with the provisions of the Local Authorities Loans Act, 1945, and any order made under section one of the Borrowing (Control and Guarantees) Act, 1946, and for the time being in force. [2173]

General note.—This section, dealing with the borrowing powers of river boards, aims at providing a uniform procedure to replace the differing procedures under existing legislation.

Definitions.—For definitions of "land" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

12. Reports and accounts.—(1) Every river board shall, before such date in every year as the Ministers may fix, send to the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries and the Minister of Health a report in respect of the preceding year, and shall at the same time send a copy of the report to the council of every county or county borough which is wholly or partly included in the river board area. [2174]

(2) Every report under this section shall be in such form and shall contain particulars with respect to such matters as the Ministers may direct. [2175]

(3) The accounts of the receipts and expenditure of river boards and of the officers of river boards shall be subject to audit by a district auditor. [2176]

(4) As soon as the accounts of a river board have been audited the board shall send a copy of the accounts to the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries and the Minister of Health and shall at the same time send a copy to the council of every county or county borough which is wholly or partly included in the river board area and a copy of the accounts shall be kept at the office of the board and any person interested shall be entitled, without payment, to inspect and take copies of, or extracts from, the copy of the accounts. [2177]

(5) Copies of reports of a river board under this section and of statements summarising the accounts of a river board shall be furnished to any person on application and on payment of such reasonable sum as the board may determine. [2178]

General note.—This section requires river boards to send yearly reports to the Ministers of Agriculture and Fisheries and of Health, and copies thereof to all county councils and county borough councils which are wholly or partly within the river board area.
Definition.—For definition of "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

13. Acquisition and disposal of land.—(1) A river board may acquire by agreement any land which they require for any purpose connected with the exercise of their functions:

Provided that land not immediately required for such a purpose as aforesaid shall not be acquired under this subsection except with the approval of and subject to any conditions imposed by the Ministers. [2179]

(2) The Ministers may authorise a river board to purchase compulsorily any land which they require for any such purpose, and the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946 (except section two thereof) shall apply, in relation to any such compulsory purchase, as if this Act had been in force immediately before the commencement of that Act, and it is hereby declared for the avoidance of doubt that the expression " local authority " in the said Act includes a river board. [2180]

(3) This section shall be without prejudice to the power under section seventy-six of the Land Drainage Act, 1930, to acquire accretions of land resulting from drainage works, and any power conferred by the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923, to acquire works, artificial obstructions, fisheries, fishing rights, land, and easements for the purposes specified in that Act. [2181]

(4) A river board may, with the approval of the Ministers, sell, exchange or let any land vested in them which is not required for any purpose connected with the exercise of any of their functions. [2182]

Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946.—3 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 1064. S. 1 of, and Sched. I to, that Act provide a uniform procedure for authorising the compulsory acquisition of land by local authorities when power to authorise such acquisition is conferred by a public general Act (other than certain specified Acts) in force before that Act.

By virtue of sub-s. (2), supra, the uniform procedure will apply to the compulsory acquisition of land by river boards.

S. 2 of the Act of 1946, which is not to apply to river boards, provides temporary powers for the speedy acquisition of land in certain cases.

Land Drainage Act, 1930, s. 76.—23 Halsbury's Statutes 577.

Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923.—10 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 59. As to the acquisition of works, artificial obstructions, fisheries, etc., under that Act, see ss. 16, 20 (7) and 38 thereof.

Definitions.—For definitions of "functions", "land" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

14. Power to erect buildings.—A river board shall have power to erect such offices and other buildings as they may require in connection with the exercise of any of their functions. [2183]

Definition.—For definition of " functions ", see s. 36 (1), post.

15. Power to take samples of effluents.—(1) A river board shall have a right to obtain and take away samples of any effluent which is passing from any land or vessel into any river, stream, watercourse or inland water in the river board area. [2184]

(2) The result of any analysis of a sample taken under this section shall not be admissible as evidence in any legal proceedings in respect of any effluent passing from any land or vessel unless the following requirements have been complied with, that is to say, the person taking the sample shall forthwith notify to the occupier of the land or vessel his intention to have it analysed, and shall there and then divide the sample into three parts, shall cause each part to be placed in a container which shall be sealed up and marked and shall—

(a) deliver one part to the occupier of the land or vessel ;

(b) retain one part for future comparison ; and

(c) if he thinks fit to have an analysis made, submit one part to the analyst :

Provided that, if it is not reasonably practicable forthwith to comply with the aforesaid requirement as to notification, the said requirement and the other requirements aforesaid shall be complied with as soon as reasonably practicable. [2185]

(3) In this section the expression " watercourse " means any channel through which water flows :

Provided that it does not include any sewer maintained by a sewerage authority (as defined by section ninety of the Public Health Act, 1936) without prejudice however to the taking of samples under this section of any effluent passing from any such sewer into a river, stream, watercourse or inland water. [2186]

(4) In relation to any legal proceedings in respect of any effluent passing from any such sewer as aforesaid, subsection (2) of this section shall have effect as if the reference to the occupier of the land from which the effluent is passing were construed as a reference to the sewerage authority by whom the sewer is maintained. [2187]

Effluent.—"Effluent" is not defined by this Act. The expression "trade effluent" is defined in the Public Health (Drainage of Trade Premises) Act, 1937, s. 14 (30 Halsbury's Statutes 706) to mean any liquid, either with or without particles of matter in suspension therein, which is wholly or in part produced in the course of any trade or industry carried on at trade premises, and, in relation to any trade premises, to mean any such liquid as aforesaid which is so produced in the course of any trade or industry carried on at those premises, but not to include domestic sewage.

Information may be required as to the discharge of effluents into rivers, streams and inland waters, (see s. 9 (3) (c), (8), ante).

Public Health Act, 1936, s. 90.—29 Halsbury's Statutes 392. "Sewerage authority" is defined by that section to mean a local authority, a metropolitan borough council, a county council (including the London County Council) and a joint sewerage board. By s. 1 (2) of that Act "local authority" means a borough, urban district or rural district council.

Definition.—For definition of "land", see s. 36 (1), post.

16. Powers of entry and inspection.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, any person authorised by a river board shall, on producing, if so required, some duly authenticated document showing his authority, have a right, at all reasonable hours,—

(a) to enter any land for the purpose of exercising any functions of the board;

(b) for the purpose of determining whether, and if so in what manner, any such functions are to be exercised, or whether any provision of any enactment (including this Act) relating to such functions or any notice, order, direction or byelaw served, given or made under any such enactment is being or has been complied with, to enter any land and inspect or survey the land and inspect any articles thereon. [2188]

(2) The rights conferred by the preceding subsection shall, without prejudice to the generality thereof, be exercisable for the purpose of inspecting any local Acts, statutory orders, awards or other documents in the possession of any body relating to functions of that body which are or have been exercisable in the river board area, and the person carrying out any such inspection shall have a right to take copies of or extracts from any such documents. [2189]

(3) Subject to the provisions of this section, any person authorised by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, the Minister of Health or the Minister of Transport shall, on producing, if so required, some duly authenticated document showing his authority, have a right, at all reasonable hours,—

(a) to enter any land for the purpose of exercising any functions conferred on the Minister, whether alone or jointly with any other Minister, by or under this Act or any other enactment relating to land drainage, fisheries or river pollution, or any enactment relating to navigation contained in the Land Drainage Act, 1930; and

(b) for the purpose of determining whether, and if so in what manner, any such functions are to be exercised, or whether any functions of a river board ought to be exercised, or are being or have been properly exercised, to enter on any land and inspect or survey the land and inspect any article thereon. [2190]

(4) Admission to any land used for residential purposes shall not be demanded as of right under this section unless twenty-four hours notice of the intended entry has been given to the occupier. [2191]

(5) If it is shown to the satisfaction of a justice of the peace on sworn information in writing—

(a) that admission to any land which any person is entitled to enter under this section has been refused to that person, or that refusal is apprehended, or that the land is unoccupied or that the occupier is temporarily absent, or that the case is one of urgency, or that an application for admission will defeat the object of the entry; and the justice may by warrant under his hand authorise that person to enter the land, if need be by force:

(b) that there is reasonable ground for entry on the land for the purpose for which entry is required;

Provided that such a warrant shall not be issued, unless the justice is satisfied either that notice of the intention to apply for a warrant has been given to the occupier, or that the land is unoccupied, or that the occupier is temporarily absent, or that the case is one of urgency, or that the giving of such a notice would defeat the object of the entry. [2192]

(6) Any person entitled to enter any land by virtue of any right of entry under this section may take with him such other persons as may be necessary and on leaving any unoccupied land which he has entered by virtue of such a right shall leave it as effectually secured against trespassers as he found it. [2193]

(7) Every warrant granted under this section shall continue in force until the purpose for which the entry is necessary has been satisfied. [2194]

(8) If—

(a) any person who in compliance with the provisions of this section or of a warrant issued thereunder is admitted into a factory or workplace discloses, otherwise than in the performance of his duty, to any person any information obtained by him in the factory or workplace with regard to any manufacturing process or trade secret; or

(b) any member or officer of a river board to whom by reason of his official position, any information obtained as aforesaid is disclosed, discloses, otherwise than in the performance of his duty, that information to any person, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months. [2195]

General note.—Powers of entry and inspection, similar to those conferred by this section, were conferred on drainage boards and on county and county borough councils by the Land Drainage Act, 1930, ss. 43, 51 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 560, 566).

As to the penalties for obstructing a person exercising a right of entry under the present section, see s. 17, post.

Notice.—As to notices, see s. 19, post.

Land Drainage Act, 1930.—23 Halsbury's Statutes 529. As to the enactments contained therein relating to navigation, see ss. 40, 41 (23 Halsbury's Statutes 558, 559).

Definitions.—For definitions of "factory", "functions", "land", "local Act", "river pollution", "statutory order" and "workplace", see s. 36 (1), post.

17. Penalty for obstruction.—Any person who wilfully obstructs any person exercising a right conferred by this Act to enter any land, or to carry out any inspection or survey, or to make copies of or extracts from any document, or to obtain and take away samples, shall, in respect of each offence, be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds in the case of a first offence or twenty pounds in the case of a second or any subsequent offence. [2196]

Right to enter land, etc.—See s. 16, ante.

Right to take away samples.—See s. 15, ante.

Definition.—For definition of "land", see s. 36 (1), post.

18. Procedure for making byelaws.—(1) The following provisions of this section shall apply to byelaws made by a river board under any enactment conferring powers on them to make byelaws. [2197]

(2) Byelaws shall not have effect until confirmed by the Ministers, and at least one month before application for confirmation of any byelaws is made, notice of the intention to apply for confirmation shall be given in the London Gazette and one or more local newspapers circulating in the area to which the byelaws will apply and a copy of the byelaws shall be sent to every local authority whose county or borough or district is wholly or partly within that area. [2198]

(3) For at least one month before application for confirmation is made, a copy of the byelaws shall be deposited at the offices of the river board and shall at all reasonable hours be open to public inspection without charge, and the board shall supply printed copies thereof free of charge to any person appearing to the board to be interested. [2199]

(4) The Ministers, with or without a public local inquiry, may refuse to confirm any byelaw submitted under this section for confirmation, or may confirm the byelaw either without modification or (subject to the consent of the river board) with such modification as they think fit, and the board shall, if so directed by the Ministers, cause notice of any proposed modification to be given in accordance with such directions. [2200]

(5) The Ministers may fix the date on which any byelaws are to come into operation, and if no date is so fixed the byelaws shall come into operation at the expiration of one month from the date of their confirmation. [2201]

(6) A copy of the byelaws, when confirmed, shall be printed and deposited at the offices of the river board and shall at all reasonable hours be open to public inspection without charge, and a copy thereof shall, on application, be furnished to any person on payment of such reasonable sum as the board may determine. [2202]

(7) The Ministers, if they consider that the revocation of any byelaw is necessary or desirable, may, after giving notice to the river board and considering any objections raised by them, and, if so required by them, holding a public local inquiry, revoke that byelaw. [2203]

(8) The production of a printed copy of a byelaw purporting to be made by a river board upon which is endorsed a certificate purporting to be signed by the clerk of the board stating—

(a) that the byelaw was made by the board;
(b) that the copy is a true copy of the byelaw;
(c) that on a specified date the byelaw was confirmed by the Ministers; and (d) the date, if any, fixed by the Ministers for the coming into operation of the byelaw;

shall be prima facie evidence of the facts stated in the certificate, and without proof of the handwriting or official position of any person purporting to sign the certificate. [2204]

General note.—The procedure prescribed by this section follows fairly closely that laid down in the Local Government Act, 1933, s. 250 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 440), which contains a general code of procedure for making bye-laws.

"Any enactment conferring powers."—By s. 4, ante, river boards will exercise, as from the appointed day, the functions of catchment boards, fishery boards, "pollution" authorities, etc. Examples of power to make bye-laws are contained in the Land Drainage Act, 1930, s. 47 (1) (23 Halsbury's Statutes 563) and in the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923 (10 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 59), which apply to river boards subject to the modifications and adaptations contained in Sched. III, post.

Notice to the river board.—See s. 19 (5), post.

Definitions.—For definitions of "local authority" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

19. Notices and other documents.—(1) All notices and other documents required or authorised by or under this Act or any other enactment to be given, made or issued by or to a river board shall be in writing. [2205]

(2) Any notice or other document which a river board are required or authorised as aforesaid to give, make or issue may be signed on behalf of the board by the clerk of the board or any other officer of the board authorised by them in writing to sign documents of the particular kind or, as the case may be, the particular document, and any document purporting to bear the signature of the clerk of the board, or of a person expressed to be duly authorised by the board to sign such a document or that particular document shall be deemed, until the contrary is proved, to be duly given, made or issued by authority of the board.

(3) Any notice or other document which is required or authorised as aforesaid to be given to or served on any person by a river board shall be duly given or served if it is delivered to him, or left at his proper address, or sent to him by post in a registered letter. [2207]

(4) Any notice or other document required or authorised to be given to or served on an incorporated company or body by a river board shall be duly given or served if given to or served on the secretary or clerk of the company or body. [2208]

(5) Any notice or other document required or authorised to be given to or served on a river board shall be duly given or served if given to or served on the clerk of the board in the manner specified in subsection (3) hereof. [2209]

(6) For the purposes of this section and of section twenty-six of the Interpretation Act, 1889, the proper address of any person to or on whom any such notice or other document as aforesaid is to be given or served shall, in the case of the secretary or clerk of any incorporated company or body, be that of the registered or principal office of the company or body, and in any other case be the last known address of the person in question. [2210]

(7) Where any notice or other document is to be given to or served on a person by a river board as being the person having any interest in land, and it is not practicable after reasonable inquiry to ascertain his name or address, the document may be given or served by addressing it to him by the description of the person having that interest in the land (naming it), and delivering the document to some responsible person on the land or by affixing it, or a copy of it, to some conspicuous object on the land. [2211]

Interpretation Act, 1889, s. 26.—18 Halsbury's Statutes 1002.

20. Publicity for proceedings of river boards.—(1) The minutes of proceedings of meetings of a river board shall be open to the inspection of any local government elector for any part of the river board area, on payment of a fee not exceeding one shilling, and any such local government elector may make a copy thereof or an extract therefrom. [2212]

(2) Notwithstanding anything in this section any such part of the minutes of proceedings of a river board as contains information with respect to any manufacturing process or trade secret obtained in the exercise of powers under this Act shall not be open to the inspection of a local government elector. [2213]

(3) In this section, the expression " local government elector " means a person registered as a local government elector in the register of electors in accordance with the provisions of the Representation of the People Acts. [2214]

General note.—This section puts river boards as regards inspection of minutes of their proceedings in the same position as local authorities under the Local Government Act, 1933, s. 283 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 455).

Local government electors.—As to registration of local government electors, see the Representation of the People Act, 1948, Part II, title ELECTIONS, ante, the coming into force of which is governed by s. 80 (1) thereof.

21. Power to promote and oppose legislation.—A river board, or two or more river boards acting jointly, may, with the consent of the Ministers, promote or without any such consent may oppose Bills in Parliament or may apply for or oppose applications for statutory orders. [2215]

22. Default powers of Ministers.—(1) If a complaint is made to the Ministers that a river board have failed to exercise any of their functions in a case where they ought to have done so, or the Ministers are of opinion that an investigation should be made as to whether any river board have failed as aforesaid, they may cause a public local inquiry to be held into the matter. [2216]

(2) If after a public local inquiry has been held in pursuance of the preceding subsection, the Ministers are satisfied that there has been such a failure on the part of the board in question, they may make an order declaring the board to be in default and directing them for the purpose of removing the default to exercise such of their functions in such manner and within such time or times as may be specified in the order. [2217]

(3) If the board declared to be in default by an order made under the last preceding subsection fail to comply with any requirement thereof within the time limited thereby for compliance, the Ministers, in lieu of enforcing the order by mandamus or otherwise, may make an order transferring to themselves such of the functions of that board as they think fit. [2218]

(4) Where the Ministers have transferred any functions to themselves under this section, any expenses incurred by them in exercising those functions shall be paid in the first instance by them, but the amount of those expenses as certified by the Ministers shall on demand be paid to them by the board, and the board shall have the like power of raising the money required as they have of raising money for defraying expenses incurred directly by them. [2219]

(5) Any order made under subsection (3) of this section may provide for the transfer to the Ministers of such of the property, rights, liabilities and obligations of the board in default, as, in the opinion of the Ministers, may be necessary or expedient, and when any such order is revoked the Ministers may, either by the revoking order or by a subsequent order, make such provision as appears to them to be desirable with respect to any property, rights, liabilities and obligations held by them for the purposes of the functions transferred. [2220]

General note.—Apart from their default powers under the present section, the Ministers may cause inquiries to be held under s. 24, post.

Order.—An order under this section need not be made by statutory instrument (see s. 33 (1), post).

Definitions.—For definitions of "functions" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

23. Expenses of Ministers.—Any expenses incurred by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, the Minister of Health or the Minister of Transport in the exercise of functions under this Act shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament. [2221]

Definition.—For definition of "functions", see s. 36 (1), post.

24. Inquiries by Ministers.—The Ministers, the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, the Minister of Health or the Minister of Transport may cause an inquiry to be held in any case where it appears to them or him to be advisable to do so in connection with any matter arising under this Act or otherwise in connection with any functions of river boards, and the provisions of section two hundred and ninety of the Local Government Act, 1933, shall apply to all inquiries held by the Ministers or by any such Minister as aforesaid under this Act, and the reference in subsection (4) of the said section to a local authority shall, in relation to any such injury, be construed as including a reference to any river board, drainage board, fishery board, navigation authority, conservancy authority or harbour authority:

Provided that no such board or authority shall be ordered to pay costs under the said subsection (4) unless they are a party to the inquiry. [2222]

Local Government Act, 1933, s. 290.—26 Halsbury's Statutes 459.
Definitions.—For definitions of "conservancy authority", "drainage authority", "fishery board", "functions", "harbour authority", "local authority", and "navigation authority", see s. 36 (1), post.

Transfer of assets and liabilities to river boards

25. Transfer to river boards of assets and liabilities of catchment boards, fishery boards, and certain joint boards and joint committees of local authorities. —(1) Where functions are transferred by section four of this Act from any of the following bodies (hereafter in this section referred to as "the transferor board"), that is to say, a catchment board, fishery board or any joint board or joint committee of local authorities to a river board, all property, rights, liabilities and obligations which, immediately before the appointed day, were the property, rights, liabilities and obligations of the transferor board, shall on the said day vest by virtue of this Act and without further assurance in the river board. [2223]

(2) Every agreement to which the transferor board was a party immediately before the appointed day, whether in writing or not, and whether or not of such a nature that rights, liabilities and obligations thereunder could be assigned by the board, shall have effect as from the said day as if—

(a) the river board had been a party to the agreement;

(b) for any reference (however worded and whether expressed or implied) to the transferor board there were substituted, as respects anything falling to be done on or after the said day, a reference to the river board;

(c) for any reference (however worded and whether expressed or implied) to any member or officer of the transferor board there were substituted, in respect of anything falling to be done on or after the said day, a reference to such person as the river board may appoint or, in default of appointment, to the member or officer of the river board who corresponds as nearly as may be to the member or officer of the transferor board;

(d) for any reference (however worded and whether expressed or implied) to any fund or revenues of the transferor board there were substituted, as respects anything falling to be done on or after the said day, a reference to the corresponding fund or revenues of the river board;

(e) in the case of an agreement for the rendering of personal services to the transferor board, the services to which the agreement relates were, on and after the said day, services under the river board to be selected by that board which are reasonably equivalent services. [2224]

(3) Other documents, not being enactments or statutory orders, which refer, whether specifically or generally to the transferor board, shall be construed in accordance with the provisions of the last preceding subsection, so far as applicable. [2225]

(4) Any proceedings pending on the said day to which the transferor board is a party shall be continued as if the river board were a party thereto in lieu of the transferor board. [2226]

General note.—This section and the next two succeeding sections deal with the transfer to a river board of the assets and liabilities of those authorities whose functions are transferred under s. 4, ante.

Appointed day.—See s. 35, post.

Definitions.—For definitions of "catchment board", "fishery board", "functions", "local authority" and "statutory order," see s. 36 (1), post.

26. Transfer to river boards of certain assets and liabilities of local authorities.—(1) Where functions are transferred by section four of this Act from any local authority, all property which immediately before the appointed day was held or used by the local authority wholly or mainly for the purposes of the transferred functions, and all rights, liabilities and obligations acquired or incurred by the local authority for the said purposes and subsisting immediately before the said day, shall, save as may be otherwise directed by the Minister of Health, vest on the said day by virtue of this Act and without further assurance in the river board. [2227]

(2) Subsections (2) to (4) of the last preceding section shall apply in relation to agreements entered into by the local authority for the purposes of the transferred functions, and to other documents and proceedings relating to those functions, as if the references to the transferor board were references to the local authority. [2228]

(3) Any question arising under this section as to whether any property is or was held or used by a local authority wholly or mainly for the purposes of the transferred functions or whether any rights, liabilities or obligations were acquired or incurred by a local authority for the said purposes or whether any agreements or documents relate or related to those functions shall, in default of an agreement between the local authority and the river board concerned, be determined by the Minister of Health. [2229]

General note.—This section deals with the transfer to a river board of certain assets and liabilities of local authorities whose functions under certain enactments are transferred under s. 4, ante.

Further provisions as to the transfer of assets and functions, are made by s. 27, post.

Appointed day.—See s. 35, post.

Definitions.—For definitions of "functions" and "local authority", see s. 36 (1), post.

27. Further provisions as to transfer of assets and functions.—(1) The Ministers may by order provide—

(a) in a case where part of the area or district of any body mentioned in either of the last two preceding sections, but not the whole area or district, is included in the river board area, for determining what, if any, of the property, rights, liabilities and obligations which would, if the whole area or district were included in the river board area, be transferred under subsection (1) of the last preceding section or, as the case may be, subsection (1) of the last but one preceding section, is to be so transferred and what is to remain vested in the said body, and for the apportioning of liabilities and the making of financial adjustments, in such cases as may be specified by the order or determined thereunder, as between any such body as aforesaid and the river board concerned, and for the amendment of any instruments affected by such apportionment or adjustments;

(b) in a case where different parts of the area or district of any such body as aforesaid are included in different river board areas, for determining in which of the river boards concerned any such property, rights, liabilities or obligations as aforesaid are to vest, and for the apportioning of liabilities and the making of financial adjustments, in such cases as may be specified by the order or determined thereunder, as between those river boards, and for the amendment of any instruments affected by such apportionment or adjustments;

(c) for the registration of the title of a river board to assets vesting in them by virtue of this Act, being assets of a kind subject to provision for the registration of title thereto, and for any other matters for which provision appears to the Ministers to be necessary or expedient for the purpose of securing the effective transfer of any assets vesting in a river board by virtue of this Act;

(d) for enabling entries relating to mortgages or to transfers and transmissions of mortgages contained in any register kept by a body from whom functions are transferred to a river board by section four of this Act to be transferred to the register of mortgages kept by the river board and for any matters consequential on or incidental to such transfer. [2230]

(2) The Ministers may by order provide—

(a) for dissolving any body whose functions wholly cease in consequence of this Act, or anything done thereunder, and for winding up the affairs of that body;

(b) for varying the constitution, so far as may be necessary, of any body part of whose area or district, but not the whole thereof, is included in a river board area, or any body some, but not all, of whose functions are transferred to a river board, and for enabling the body to exercise their functions in relation to the remainder of their area or district, or, as the case may be, to exercise the remainder of their functions, and for making such modifications or adaptations of, or exceptions from, or repealing such provisions of, any local Act or statutory order relating to the body which appear to the Ministers to be necessary or expedient for the purposes aforesaid, and for making such other provision with respect to the affairs of that body as the Ministers consider necessary or expedient; or

(3) Where functions are transferred by or under this Act from one river board to another river board, the Ministers may by order provide for the transfer of property, rights, liabilities and obligations of the first-mentioned board to the last-mentioned board, and for any other matters consequential on or incidental to the said transfer of functions for which the Ministers consider it necessary or expedient to provide. [2232]

General note.—Orders under this section may be made dealing with such matters as (i) the apportionment of liabilities; (ii) the registration of title of river boards; (iii) the transfer of entries in mortgage registers of the transferor bodies to the mortgage registers of river boards; (iv) the dissolution of bodies whose functions wholly cease in consequence of this Act; and (v) the variation of the constitution of any body where part, but not all, of its area or functions is transferred to a river board.

Definitions.—For definitions of "functions", "local Act" and "statutory order", see s. 36 (1), post.

28. Transitional provisions in case of transfer of functions by order.—(1) Where an order made under section seven of this Act provides for the transfer to a river board of functions to which the last three preceding sections do not apply, the Ministers may by that order provide, in relation to that transfer of functions, for any of the matters for which provision is made by or under any of the last three preceding sections in relation to the transfer of functions mentioned therein. [2233]

(2) Any order made under section eight of this Act transferring functions from any of the authorities mentioned therein to a river board may provide, in relation to that transfer, for any of the matters for which provision is made by or under any of the last three preceding sections in relation to the transfer of functions mentioned therein, and may make such provision (if any) as appears to the Ministers to be just—

(a) for the payment of compensation by the river board to the authority from whom the functions are transferred;

(b) in a case where the functions transferred are of an onerous character, for the making of payments by the authority to the river board in respect of the transfer; and

(c) for making other financial adjustments between the river board and the authority, and for other matters consequential on or incidental to the matters aforesaid. [2234]

General note.—The three preceding sections deal with the transfer of assets and liabilities in the usual case, i.e. where the functions of the transferor body are automatically transferred under s. 4, ante. The present section enables these three sections to be applied to cases where a transfer of functions is effected by order, either, under s. 7, ante (under which the areas excluded from s. 1, ante, may be brought within it), or under s. 8, ante (which provides for the transfer of navigation functions). In addition, an order under s. 8, ante, is enabled to include compensation and other provisions incidental to the transfer.

Order.—As to orders generally, see s. 33, post.

Definitions.—For definitions of "functions" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

Pension rights and compensation of officers

29. Pension rights.—(1) The Local Government Superannuation Act, 1937, shall have effect as if river boards were specified in Part I of the First Schedule to the Act (which sets out the local authorities whose whole-time officers are to be compulsorily superannuable). [2235]

(2) Any statutory resolution passed under subsection (2) of section three of the said Act by a body from whom functions are transferred to a river board by or under this Act, and in force immediately before the appointed day, in respect of a servant or part-time officer who becomes on that day a servant or part-time officer of the board, shall continue in force and have effect as if it had been passed by the board. [2236]

(3) In relation to officers and servants of a river board, the appropriate superannuation fund for the purposes of the said Act shall, if there is no county within which the whole or the greater part of the river board area is situated, be the superannuation fund maintained by such county council as may agree with the river board that the superannuation fund maintained by them should be treated as the appropriate superannuation fund aforesaid, or, in default of such agreement, the superannuation fund maintained by such county council as the Minister of Health may direct:

Provided that, where functions are transferred to a river board from a catchment board and, immediately before the appointed day, the catchment board were a constituent authority in relation to a combination scheme in force under section two of the said Act, the river board may agree with the joint committee established by the scheme to make such modifications in the scheme as appear to them to be necessary for making the river board a constituent authority instead of the catchment board and applying the scheme to officers and servants of the river board, and the scheme shall have effect as so modified and, in relation to officers and servants of the river board, the joint superannuation fund maintained under the scheme shall, so long as the scheme remains in force and the river board is a constituent authority, be the appropriate superannuation fund for the purposes of the said Act. [2237]

(4) Where any person, who becomes an officer or servant of a river board in consequence of the transfer of rights, liabilities and obligations under this Act, had immediately before the appointed day any pension rights otherwise than under Part I of the Local Government Superannuation Act, 1937, he may, by notice served on the board before the expiration of three months from the appointed day, elect to retain those rights, and in that case he shall not acquire any pension rights by virtue of the preceding provisions of this section ; but, if he does not serve such a notice, the pension rights which he had immediately before the appointed day shall be deemed to have come to an end as from the appointed day :

Provided that, if any fund maintained for the purposes of satisfying any such pension rights as aforesaid is transferred to the river board, and any of the persons entitled to those rights do not elect to retain them, the board shall, in accordance with a scheme approved by the Minister of Health, apply the fund, to such extent as may be specified in the scheme, in supplementing the pensions payable by virtue of subsection (1) of this section to or in respect of the said persons. [2238]

(5) For the purpose of enabling persons electing under the last preceding subsection to retain the pension rights therein mentioned, the Ministers shall by order provide, to such extent as appears to them to be necessary, for modifying and adapting, so as to apply to a river board, any scheme or arrangement, whether contained in an enactment, statutory order or other instrument, by which the rights were conferred. [2239]

(6) The provisions of this Act relating to the transfer of property, rights, liabilities and obligations to a river board from any other body shall apply to customary obligations of that other body in respect of pensions, notwithstanding that the body was under no legal obligation in respect of those pensions, and if any question arises as to the existence or extent of any such customary obligation, the question shall, in default of agreement, be referred to a referee or board of referees appointed by the Minister of Labour and National Service, after consultation with the Lord Chancellor, and the decision of the referee or board of referees shall be final, and nothing in the Arbitration Acts, 1889 to 1934, shall be construed as applying to any proceedings before the referee or board. [2240]

(7) The Minister of Labour and National Service may, with the consent of the Treasury, pay out of monies provided by Parliament—

(a) to any such referee or to the members of any such board of referees such fees and allowances as he may, with the consent of the Treasury, determine ; and

(b) to persons giving evidence before any such referee or board such allowances as he may, with the consent of the Treasury, determine. [2241]

Appointed day.—See s. 35, post.

Notice.—As to the service of notices on a river board, see s. 19 (5), ante.

Order.—As to orders generally, see s. 33, post.

Arbitration Acts, 1889 to 1934.—The Arbitration Acts, 1889 to 1934 are the Arbitration Act, 1889 ; the Arbitration Clauses (Protocol) Act, 1924 ; the Arbitration (Foreign Awards) Act, 1930 ; and the Arbitration Act, 1934 (2 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 4, 21, 23, 29).

Definitions.—For definitions of "catchment board", "functions", "pension", "pension rights", "statutory order" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

30. Compensation of officers and servants.—(1) The Ministers shall by regulations require every river board to pay, in such cases and to such extent as may be specified in the regulations, compensation to officers and servants of any catchment board, local authority, joint board, joint committee, fishery board or other authority (including another river board) from whom functions are transferred by or under this Act to the river board, being officers or servants who suffer loss of employment or loss or diminution of emoluments in consequence of the said transfer of functions. [2242]

(2) Different regulations may be made under this section in relation to different classes of persons, and any such regulations may be so framed as to have effect as from a date earlier than the making thereof, so however, that so much of any regulations as provides that any provision thereof is to have effect as from a date earlier than the making thereof shall not place any person other than a river board in a worse position than he would have been in if the regulations had been made to have effect only as from the date of the making thereof. [2243]

(3) Regulations made under this section may include provision as to the manner in which and the person to whom any claim for compensation under this section is to be made, and for the determination of all questions arising under the regulations. [2244]

Regulations.—As to regulations generally, see s. 33, post. No regulations under this section had been made at the date of going to press.

Definitions.—For definitions of "catchment board", "fishery board", "functions", "local authority" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

Supplementary provisions

31. Saving for existing orders regulations, etc.—A transfer of functions to a river board by or under this Act shall not affect any order, regulation, bye-law, scheme, rule, appointment, direction, instruction, licence, approval, requirement or authorisation made or given or other thing done before the appointed day, in the exercise of the said functions, by the catchment board, fishery board, local authority, joint board, joint committee or other authority (including another river board) from whom the functions are transferred, but every such thing shall, if in force at the said day, continue in force to the like extent and subject to the like provisions as if it had been duly made, given or done by the river board to whom the functions are transferred. [2245]

Transfer of functions.—For the transfer of functions to a river board by a catchment board, fishery board, local authority, joint board or joint committee of a local authority, see s. 4, ante. Functions of navigation, conservancy and harbour authorities may be transferred under s. 8, ante.

As to the transfer of functions from one river board to another, see s. 3, ante.

Appointed day.—See s. 35, post.

Definitions.—For definitions of "catchment board", "fishery board", "functions" and "local authority", see s. 36 (1), post.

32. Power to postpone triennial appointment of new members of catchment boards and river boards.—(1) Where a new river board area is defined or an existing river board area is altered by an order made under this Act and the order involves the transfer to the river board for the area as so defined or altered of all the functions of a catchment board or another river board, or such of those functions as will necessitate the variation of the constitution of that catchment board or that other river board, and the order is made during a year in which the term of office of the members of that catchment board or other river board will come to an end and before the first day of August in that year, and it appears to the Ministers that the appointed day for the transfer of functions to the river board for the said area, whether it has already been appointed or not, will be later than the thirty-first day of October in that year, they may by order provide for extending the term of office of the said members for such period not exceeding six months as may be specified in the order, and the Ministers may, if it subsequently appears to them at any time before the expiration of the period so specified to be necessary or expedient so to do, provide by order for extending the term of office of the said members for a further period not exceeding six months:

Provided that the powers of the Ministers under this subsection in relation to an order extending the term of office of members of catchment boards only shall be exercisable by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries instead of by the Ministers. [2246]

(2) Where the term of office of the members of any catchment board or river board is extended under this section, and the functions of the catchment board or river board do not wholly cease on the said appointed day, the term of office of the members who are appointed to succeed those members shall be shortened to a corresponding extent. [2247]

Order.—As to orders generally, see s. 33, post.
Appointed day.—See s. 35, post.
Definitions.—For definitions of "catchment board", "functions" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

33. Regulations and orders.—(1) All regulations made under this Act, and all orders made thereunder, except orders made under the provisions relating to the compulsory purchase of land and the default powers of the Ministers, shall be made by statutory instrument. [2248]

(2) All regulations made under this Act shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament. [2249]

(3) Any power conferred by this Act to make an order shall include a power, exercisable in the like manner and subject to the like conditions, to revoke or vary the order. [2250]

Regulations and orders.—No regulations or order had been made under this Act at the date of going to press.
Statutory instrument.—As to statutory instruments generally, see the Statutory Instruments Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 783), which was brought fully into force on January 1, 1948 by S.I. 1948 No. 3. S. 5 of that Act deals with statutory instruments which are subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.
Definitions.—For definitions of "land" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

34. Exercise of functions by appropriate Minister in certain cases.—(1) The powers of the Ministers under this Act in relation to the borrowing of money, the acquisition of land and the making of byelaws by river boards may—

(a) if the money, land or byelaw is required solely for the purposes of the functions of a river board relating to river pollution or the measuring and recording of rainfall or the flow or volume of any river, stream or inland water, be exercised by the Minister of Health;

(b) if the money, land or byelaw is required solely for the purposes of the functions transferred to a river board under section eight of this Act, be exercised by the Minister of Transport; and

(c) if the money, land or byelaw is required solely for the purposes of any function of a river board not referred to in paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) hereof, be exercised by the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries:

Provided that this section shall not apply to any power to make regulations. [2251]

(2) Byelaws made for the purposes specified in paragraph (p) of subsection (1) of section fifty-nine of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923, (which relates to the contamination of waters containing fish) shall be deemed to be byelaws to which paragraph (c) of the preceding subsection applies. [2252]

Borrowing of money.—See s. 11, ante.
Acquisition of land.—See s. 13, ante.
Making of bye-laws.—See s. 18, ante.
Functions relating to river pollution, rainfall, etc.—For the functions of the river boards relating to river pollution, see s. 4, ante; for their functions relating to rainfall or the flow or volume of a river, etc., see s. 9, ante.

Definitions.—For definitions of "functions", "land", "river pollution" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

35. Appointed day.—(1) Where a new river board area is defined or an existing river board area is altered by an order made under this Act, the Ministers shall appoint a day on which the functions referred to in section four of this Act are to become exercisable by the river board in relation to the area as so defined or altered, and are to cease to be exercisable by other bodies, and on which any consequential vesting in the river board of property, rights, liabilities and obligations is to take place, and any reference to "the appointed day" in the said section four or in any other provision of this Act relating to the transfer of functions or of property, rights, liabilities and obligations from any body to a river board shall, subject to subsection (3) of this section, be construed accordingly, and until the said day the exercise of functions by any other body (including another river board) shall not be affected by the said order. [2253]

(2) The said day shall be appointed—

(a) in a case where a new river board area is defined, or an existing river board area is so altered as to involve the variation of the constitution of the river board, by the order establishing the river board or, as the case may be, varying the constitution thereof; and

(b) in any other case, by the order altering the river board area. [2254]

(3) References to the appointed day in section twenty-nine and section thirty-one of this Act shall, in relation to the transfer of functions under section eight of this Act and the transfer of rights, liabilities and obligations in consequence thereof, be construed as references to such day as may be appointed by the order transferring those functions. [2255]

Order defining or altering river board area.—For the Ministers' powers to make orders defining a new river board area or altering an existing area, see ss. 1 (1) (a), 2 (1), (8), 3 (1), (2), 7, ante.

Consequential vesting of property, rights, etc.—See ss. 25–28, ante.

Definitions.—For definitions of "functions" and "the Ministers", see s. 36 (1), post.

36. Interpretation.—(1) In this Act the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say:—

"catchment area" and "catchment board" have the same meanings as in the Land Drainage Act, 1930;

"conservancy authority" has the same meaning as in the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894;

"drainage board" has the same meaning as in the Land Drainage Act, 1930, except that, in section two of this Act, it includes a catchment board or river board which have become the drainage board of an internal drainage district (within the meaning of the said Act) but does not include any other catchment board;

"factory" has the same meaning as in the Factories Act, 1937;

"financial year" means a year ending on the thirty-first day of March;

"fishery board" and "fishery district" mean any such fishery board or fishery district as is referred to in section forty-four of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923;

"functions" includes powers and duties and any reference to the conferring or exercise of functions shall include a reference to the imposing or performance of duties;

"harbour authority" has the same meaning as in the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894;

"land" includes land covered by water and easements and other rights over land;

"local Act" includes any enactment in a public general Act which amends a local Act;

"local authority" means the council of any county, county borough or county district;

"navigation authority" means any person or body of persons having power under any enactment or statutory order to work or maintain a canal or other inland navigation (including a navigation in tidal water);

"pension", in relation to any person, means a pension, whether contributory or not, of any kind whatsoever payable to or in respect of him, and includes a gratuity so payable and a return of contributions to a pension fund, with or without interest thereon or in addition thereto;

" pension rights " include, in relation to any person, all forms of right to liability for a pension or future payments of a pension to or in respect of that person, and any expectation of the accruer of a pension to or in respect of that person under any customary practice, and includes a right of allocation in respect of the pension or future payments of a pension ;

" river pollution " includes the pollution of streams and other inland waters ;

" statutory order " means an order, byelaw, scheme or award made under an Act of Parliament, including an order or scheme confirmed by Parliament or brought into operation in accordance with special parliamentary procedure ;

" the Ministers " means the Minister of Health and the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries acting jointly, except that, for the purposes of section eight of this Act and in relation to the borrowing of money, the acquisition of land and the making of byelaws for the purposes of functions transferred under that section, the exercise of default powers with respect to those functions, and the making of regulations providing for the compensation of officers and servants of any authority whose functions are transferred under that section, it means the said Ministers and the Minister of Transport acting jointly ;

" workplace" has the same meaning as in the Public Health Act, 1936 [2256]

(2) Any reference in this Act to the transfer of functions from any body to a river board shall be construed as including a reference to a case where functions cease to be exercisable by the body in any area and substantially the same functions become exercisable in that area by a river board, and any reference to transferred functions shall be construed accordingly. [2257]

(3) References in this Act to any enactment shall be construed as including references to that enactment as amended by any subsequent enactment including this Act. [2258]

Land Drainage Act, 1930.—23 Halsbury's Statutes 529. As to the meaning of " catchment area ", see s. 2 thereof and Sched. I, Pt. I thereto (26 Halsbury's Statutes 530, 585); as to " catchment board ", see s. 3 thereof ; and as to " drainage board ", see s. 1 thereof.

Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.—18 Halsbury's Statutes 162. As to the meaning of " conservancy authority " and " harbour authority ", see s. 742 thereof (18 Halsbury's Statutes 411).

Public Health Act, 1936.—29 Halsbury's Statutes 309. As to the meaning of " workplace ", see s. 343 thereof (29 Halsbury's Statutes 539).

37. Provisions as to Border rivers and Solway Firth.—(1) Section one of the Rivers Pollution Prevention (Border Councils) Act, 1898, shall have effect, as from the day first appointed for the transfer of any functions relating to river pollution from the council of any of the following counties, that is to say, Cumberland, Durham and Northumberland, to a river board, subject to the following adaptations, that is to say :—

(a) the reference to the council of any of the counties through or by which a river situated partly in England and partly in Scotland or any tributary thereof passes shall, in so far as the said county is included in a river board area, be construed as including a reference to the river board for that area instead of a reference to that county ;

(b) other references to the said counties or to the counties represented by the committee or body constituted under the said section shall include a reference to the said river board. [2259]

(2) The functions under the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Acts, 1923 to 1935, and the Diseases of Fish Act, 1937, exercisable by the river board whose area includes so much of the river Esk as is situated in England shall be exercisable with respect to the whole of that river, together with its banks and tributary streams up to their source, as if they were part of the river board area :

Provided that—

(a) offences against the said Acts committed within Scottish jurisdiction shall be prosecuted and fines recovered in manner directed by the Salmon Fisheries (Scotland) Act, 1868 ;

(b) nothing in this subsection shall authorise the river board to purchase compulsorily under this Act any land in Scotland. [2260]

(3) Nothing in this Act shall be construed as authorising any river board to exercise functions under the Acts mentioned in the last preceding subsection with respect to the river Tweed within the meaning of the expression " the river " as defined by the Tweed Fisheries Amendment Act, 1859, and any byelaw amending that definition. [2261]

(4) Section eighty-four of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923 (which provides for the constitution of a fishery board for the Solway Firth), the words in section eighty-five of that Act " Until such an order as is mentioned in the last preceding section is made and until such date thereafter as may be prescribed by such order ", and the Fourth Schedule to that Act are hereby repealed. [2262]

Rivers Pollution Prevention (Border Councils) Act, 1898, s. 1.—20 Halsbury's Statutes 345.
Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Acts, 1923 to 1935.—These Acts are the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923 (10 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 59) ; the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries (Amendment) Act, 1929 (10 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 126) ; and the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1935 (10 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 127).
Diseases of Fish Act, 1937.—10 Halsbury's Statutes (2nd Edn.) 128.
Tweed Fisheries Amendment Act, 1859.—22 & 23 Vict. c. lxx.

38. Short title, and extent.—(1) This Act may be cited as the River Boards Act, 1948. [2263]

(2) Except for the last preceding section this Act shall not extend to Scotland and shall not extend to Northern Ireland. [2264]

SCHEDULES

Section 2

FIRST SCHEDULE

PROCEDURE FOR MAKING ORDERS AND PROVISIONS AS TO THE VALIDITY OF ORDERS

PART I

General provisions

1. Before making an order to which this Schedule applies the Ministers shall, after consultation with such of the associations and persons concerned as the Ministers consider it appropriate to consult at that stage, prepare a draft order and shall cause notice of the intention to make the order and of the place where copies of the draft order and of any map referred to therein may be inspected and obtained, and of the time (not being less than 28 days) within which, and the manner in which, objections to the draft order may be made, to be published in the London Gazette and in such other manner as they think best adapted for informing persons affected, and, subject as hereinafter provided, to be served on the council of every county, county borough or county district wholly or partly included in the area affected by the order and on every river board, drainage board, fishery board, navigation authority, conservancy authority or harbour authority which is known to the Ministers to be exercising jurisdiction within the area affected by the order and, in a case where the area affected by the order includes the whole or any part of the areas originally excluded from section one of this Act, the Metropolitan Water Board.

(a) in the case of an order establishing or varying the constitution of a river board, it shall not be necessary to serve a notice on the council of any county district not specified in the order or on any navigation authority, conservancy authority or harbour authority, except the Port of London Authority in a case where the area affected by the order includes the whole or any part of the areas originally excluded from section one of this Act; and

(b) in the case of an order transferring functions from a navigation authority, conservancy authority or harbour authority to a river board, it shall only be necessary to serve a notice on the councils of the counties and county boroughs aforesaid, any drainage board within whose district the navigation or any part thereof, or inland waters connected with the navigation, are situated, the river board and the authority from whom the functions are to be transferred.

2. Before making the order the Ministers shall consider any objections which may be duly made to the draft order and may in any case cause a public local inquiry to be held with respect to any objections to the draft order.

3. In this Part of this Schedule the expression "the area affected by the order"—

(a) in the case of an order defining or altering any river board area, means the river board area as proposed to be defined or altered by the order;

(b) in the case of an order establishing or varying the constitution of a river board for a river board area, means that river board area;

(c) in the case of an order providing that the whole or any part of the areas excluded from section one of this Act shall cease to be excluded from that section means the whole or, as the case may be, that part of those areas; and

(d) in the case of an order transferring functions from a navigation authority, conservancy authority or harbour authority to a river board, means the river board area of that river board. [2265]

PART II

Provisions applicable to orders which are subject to special parliamentary procedure

4. After an order to which this Part of this Schedule applies has been made, the Ministers shall, if an objection has been made under Part I by any body, other than the council of a county district, on whom notice is required to be served under that Part and has not been withdrawn, give notice of the making of the order and the effect thereof to every such body who has made such an objection which has not been withdrawn, and in that case the order shall not have effect before the expiration of twenty-eight days from the date of the said notice, and if within that period any such body gives notice to the Ministers that they object to the order and the objection is not withdrawn, the order shall be subject to special parliamentary procedure.

Provided that, in the case of an order defining or altering a river board area, this paragraph shall not apply to a navigation authority, conservancy authority or harbour authority, except the Port of London Authority in a case where the river board areas as proposed to be defined or altered includes the whole or any part of the areas originally excluded from section one of this Act. [2266]

Provisions with respect to the validity of orders not confirmed by Parliament

5. After the making of an order to which this Schedule applies the Ministers shall publish in the London Gazette, and in such other manner as they think best adapted for informing persons affected, a notice stating that the order has been made, and naming a place where a copy thereof may be seen at all reasonable hours:

Provided that, in the case of an order to which Part II of this Schedule applies, the said notice shall not be published until the expiration of the period of twenty-eight days referred to in the said Part II, and the notice shall state whether or not the order is to be subject to special parliamentary procedure.

6. If any person aggrieved by the order desires to question its validity on the ground that it is not within the powers of this Act or that any requirement of this Act has not been complied with, he may, within six weeks after the date of the first publication of the said notice, make an application for the purpose to the High Court, and if any such application is duly made, the court, if satisfied that the order is not within the powers of this Act or that the interests of the applicant have been substantially prejudiced by any requirements of this Act not having been complied with, may quash the order either generally or in so far as it affects the applicant; but save as aforesaid the order shall not at any time be questioned by prohibition or certiorari or in any legal proceedings whatsoever:

Provided that this paragraph shall not apply to an order which is confirmed by Act of Parliament under section six of the Statutory Orders (Special Procedure) Act, 1945, and shall have effect in relation to any other order which is subject to special parliamentary procedure by virtue of Part II of this Schedule as if for the reference to the date of the publication of the notice there were substituted a reference to the date on which the order becomes operative under the said Act. [2267]

Order to which this Schedule applies.—See ss. 2 (8), 3 (4), 7 (4), (6), 8 (3), ante.

Consultation.—In order to secure the greatest possible measure of local information and agreement in advance of the publication of orders, the Ministers have set up the River Board Areas Consultative Committee consisting of representatives of local authorities and other bodies concerned.

Notice.—As to notices, see s. 19, ante.

Inquiry.—As to inquiries by the Ministers, see s. 24, ante.

Special parliamentary procedure.—As to special parliamentary procedure, see the Statutory Orders (Special Procedure) Act, 1945 (38 Halsbury's Statutes 439).

It should be noticed that the authorities entitled to require that an order shall be subject to this procedure do not include all the authorities upon whom notice must be served of intention to make an order. Among the excluded authorities are county district councils, it being felt that where the objections of such a council are of real substance they will be able to secure the support of their county council.

Statutory Orders (Special Procedure) Act, 1945, s. 6.—38 Halsbury's Statutes 444.

Section 2

SECOND SCHEDULE

PROVISIONS AS TO RIVER BOARDS, THEIR MEMBERS, COMMITTEES, PROCEEDINGS, ETC.

1. The board shall be a body corporate with perpetual succession and a common seal and power to hold land without licence in mortmain.

2. The first members of the board shall hold office until the first day of November in the calendar year next following the calendar year in which the first meeting of the board is held.

3. Any members of the board other than the first members thereof shall come into office on the first day of November next after the day on which they are appointed, and shall hold office for a term of three years.

4. Where the constitution of the board is varied by an order made under section three of this Act, any members who are required by or under the order to vacate their office shall do so notwithstanding the provisions of the last preceding paragraph, and any new members of the board appointed in pursuance of the order shall hold office so long only as the other members of the board will hold office.

5. If for any reason whatsoever the place of a member of the board becomes vacant before the end of his term of office, the vacancy shall be filled by the appointment of a new member by the Ministers, the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, the Minister of Transport or the council of a county or county borough, as the case may be, by whom the vacating member was appointed, and, in a case where the vacating member was appointed by a county council on the nomination of the council of a county district, the new member shall be appointed on the nomination of that county district and, in a case where the vacating member was appointed to represent the drainage boards in the river board area, the new member shall be appointed after consultation with such of those drainage boards as appear to the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries to be concerned :

Provided that, where the unexpired portion of the term of office of the vacating member is less than six months, the vacancy need not be filled.

6. A person appointed to fill a casual vacancy shall hold office so long only as the vacating member would have held office.

7. Notwithstanding anything in the preceding provisions of this Schedule—

(a) a member may resign his office by notice in writing under his hand given to the chairman of the board ; and

(b) if a member becomes bankrupt or makes a composition or arrangement with his creditors he shall vacate his office ; and

(c) if a member is absent from meetings of the board for more than six months consecutively he shall, unless his absence is due to illness or some other reason approved by the board, vacate his office on the expiration of the said six months.

8. A person who is an undischarged bankrupt, or who has at any time within the preceding five years made a composition or arrangement with his creditors, shall be disqualified for being appointed or being a member of the board.

9. A vacating member shall, subject to the provisions of this Schedule, be eligible for re-appointment.

10. In the case of a river board for an area which consists of or includes the River Ouse (Yorks) Catchment Area or the River Trent Catchment Area—

(a) the appointment of a new member to fill a vacancy arising in consequence of the place of a member appointed by the National Coal Board becoming vacant before the end of his term of office shall be made by the National Coal Board ; and

(b) any member appointed by the National Coal Board may authorise another person to attend in his stead at meetings of the river board or any committee thereof and to exercise on his behalf all or any of his rights as a member of the board or committee, and any such authority shall be in writing and may be given in respect of a particular meeting or in respect of all meetings until the authority expires or is revoked.

11.—(1) The Board shall appoint a finance committee for regulating and controlling the finance of the board.

(2) The Board may appoint a committee for any such general or special purpose as in the opinion of the board would be better regulated and managed by means of a committee.

(3) The board may delegate to a committee appointed under this paragraph, with or without restrictions or conditions, as they think fit, any functions exercisable by the board except their powers to issue precepts or borrow money.

(4) The number of members of a committee appointed under this paragraph and their term of office shall be fixed by the board, and any such committee, except the finance committee, may include members who are not members of the board, but at least two-thirds of the members of every such committee shall be members of the board.

(5) Every member of such a committee who at the time of his appointment was a member of the board shall, upon ceasing to be a member of the board, also cease to be member of the committee :

Provided that for the purposes of this provision a member of the board shall not be deemed by reason of retirement to have ceased to be a member of the board if he has been re-appointed a member thereof not later than the day of his retirement.

12. The proceedings of the board or any committee thereof shall not be invalidated by any vacancy in their number or by any defect in the appointment or qualification of any member of the board or committee.

13. Any member of the board or any committee thereof shall, if he is interested in any company with which the board or committee has or proposes to make any contract, disclose to the board or committee the fact and nature of his interest, and shall take no part in any deliberation or decision of the board or committee relating to such contract, and such disclosure shall be forthwith recorded in the minutes of the board or committee :

Provided that the Ministers may, subject to such conditions as they may think fit to impose, remove any disability imposed by this paragraph in any case in which the number of members of the board so disabled at any one time would in the opinion of the Ministers be so great a proportion of the whole as to impede the transaction of business or in any other case in which in the opinion of the Ministers it is in the interest of the inhabitants of the river board area that the disability shall be removed.

14. The board may, with the approval of the Ministers, make rules for regulating the proceedings, including quorum, place of meeting and notices to be given of meetings, of the board or any committee thereof, and with respect to the appointment of a chairman and a vice-chairman of the board or a committee thereof.

15. The first meeting of the board shall be held on such day and at such time and place as may be appointed by the Ministers, and the Ministers shall cause notice of the meeting to be sent by post to each member of the board not less than fourteen days before the day so appointed.

16. A minute of the proceedings of a meeting of the board or of a committee of the board, purporting to be signed at that or the next ensuing meeting by the chairman of the meeting to the proceedings of which the minute relates or the chairman of the next ensuing meeting shall be evidence of the proceedings and shall be received in evidence without further proof, and until the contrary is proved every meeting in respect of the proceedings of which a minute has been so signed shall be deemed to have been duly convened and held and all the proceedings had at the meeting to have been duly had, and where the proceedings are the proceedings of a committee, the committee shall be deemed to have been duly constituted and to have had power to deal with the matters referred to in the minute.

17. The Ministers may, if they think fit, authorise the board to pay to the chairman of the board by way of remuneration such sum as the Ministers think fit.

18. The board shall appoint such officers and servants as they think fit, and shall pay to those officers and servants such salaries or other remuneration as they think fit.

19. A river board may pay any reasonable expenses incurred by members or officers of the board or of any committee thereof in attending a conference or meeting convened by one or more river boards, or by any association of river boards, for the purpose of discussing any matter connected with the discharge of the functions of river boards, and any reasonable expenses incurred in purchasing reports of the proceedings of any such conference or meeting.

20. A river board may pay reasonable subscriptions, whether annually or otherwise, to the funds—

(a) of any association of river boards formed for the purpose of consultation as to the common interests of river boards and the discussion of matters connected with the discharge of the functions of river boards ;

(b) of such associations of officers of river boards, being associations formed for the purpose aforesaid, as may be approved by the Ministers. [2268]

General note.—This Schedule sets out provisions as to river boards, their members, committees, proceedings, etc., having effect by virtue of s. 2 (9), ante.

Issuing of precepts.—See s. 10, ante.

Borrowing of money.—See s. 11, ante.

Section 4

THIRD SCHEDULE

APPLICATION OF ENACTMENTS IN RELATION TO RIVER BOARD AREAS

Enactments relating to land drainage

1. Subject as hereafter in this Schedule provided, all enactments and statutory orders relating to a catchment board or a catchment area, other than the enactments and statutory orders referred to in paragraph 6 of this Schedule, shall have effect subject to the following adaptations :—

(a) general references to a catchment board or a catchment area shall be construed as references to a river board or a river board area, as the case may be ;

(b) references to a particular catchment board or a particular catchment area shall be construed as references to the river board by whom the functions of the catchment board have become exercisable, or, as the case may be, their river board area ; and

(c) reference (except in this Act and the Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) Act, 1946) to a drainage board or to a drainage board constituted under the Land Drainage Act, 1930, or to a drainage district, except where the reference is to a drainage board or drainage district other than a catchment board or a catchment area, shall be construed as including references to a river board or a river board area, as the case may be, and not references to a catchment board or catchment area.

2. Section one (except subsection (3) thereof), subsections (1) to (3) of section two, and sections three, five, twelve, fifteen, twenty-, twenty-two (so far as it applies to councils or counties and county boroughs), forty-three, forty-five, forty-six, subsections (2) to (7) of section forty-seven, section forty-eight, subsections (1), (2), (3) and (5) of section forty-nine, and sections fifty-six, seventy-one, seventy-two, seventy-three, seventy-five, seventy-eight, seventy-nine and eighty (except subsection (5) thereof) of the Land Drainage Act, 1930, and the First and Sixth Schedules to the said Act, and section one hundred and eighteen of and the Twelfth Schedule to the Transport Act, 1947, shall not apply to a river board or a river board area, but without prejudice to their application (so far as applicable) to drainage boards (other than catchment boards) for drainage districts wholly or partly included in any river board area.

3. Section four of the Land Drainage Act, 1930, shall have effect as if subsection (1) thereof empowered a river board at any time, and required them on the direction of the Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries, to submit to the Minister for confirmation a scheme making provision for any of the matters referred to in sub-paragraphs (i) and (ii) of paragraph (a) and sub-paragraphs (i) to (ix) of paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of that section, and as if the reference in that subsection to the commencement of that Act were a reference to the date of the submission of the scheme.

4. Section twenty-three of the Land Drainage Act, 1930 shall have effect as if the references to Part IV of that Act were references to this Act, and section seventy-six of that Act shall have effect as if the reference to Part V of that Act were a reference to this Act.

5. Section eighteen of the Agriculture (Miscellaneous War provisions) Act, 1940, shall not apply to a river board.

6. Any enactment in a local Act and any statutory order which confer functions on a catchment board, and any enactment or statutory order which relates to functions so conferred, shall have effect, in relation to so much of the area to which the enactment or statutory order applies as is included in the river board area, as if for references to the catchment board there were substituted references to the river board, and subject to such further modifications, adaptations and exceptions as may be specified by an order made by the Ministers :

Provided that section four of the Doncaster Area Drainage Act, 1933, as amended by article four of the Coal Industry Nationalisation (Doncaster Drainage) Order, 1947, shall not apply to any river board.

Enactments relating to fisheries

7. Subject as hereafter in this Schedule provided, all enactments and statutory orders relating to a fishery board or a fishery district, other than the enactments and statutory orders referred to in paragraph 13 of this Schedule, shall have effect as if for the references to a fishery board or a fishery district there were substituted references to a river board or a river board area, as the case may be.

8. No order shall be made under Part IV of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923, setting up any fishery board for a district included in a river board area, but an order may be made under the said Part providing for the regulation of fisheries by a river board in a river board area or any part thereof, and, in relation to any such order, paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section thirty-eight of the said Act shall have effect as if the words " of the fishery district " were omitted and paragraphs (b), (g) and (h) of that subsection and subsection (4) of that section shall not apply, and references in that section, the next following section and the Second Schedule to the fishery board constituted by the order shall be construed as references to the river board, and section forty-one of the said Act shall not apply to a river board.

9. References in section forty-four of the said Act to the fishery boards and districts therein mentioned shall be construed as references to river boards and river board areas.

10. Sections forty-three, forty-five to fifty-three, paragraph (a) of subsection (1) and subsection (2) of section fifty-four, subsection (1) of section fifty-five, sections fifty-six, fifty-seven, fifty-eight and sixty, subsection (2) of section sixty-five, sections sixty-six, sixty-eight and eighty-eight of the said Act and the Third Schedule thereto shall not apply to river boards and river board areas.

11. In subsection (1) of section sixty-four of the said Act, references to water bailiffs appointed under the said Act shall be construed as references to water bailiffs appointed under this Act, and references in subsequent provisions of that Act to water bailiffs shall be construed accordingly, and the words in subsection (4) of section sixty-seven of that Act " purporting to be executed in the manner prescribed in this Act " shall not apply to water bailiffs appointed under this Act.

12. Section eighty-one of the said Act shall, so far as it relates to byelaws, not apply to river boards.

13. Any enactment in a local Act and any statutory order which confer functions on a fishery board, and any enactment or statutory order which relates to functions so conferred, and any order made under Part IV of the Salmon and Freshwater Fisheries Act, 1923, restricting or modifying the functions of a fishery board under that Act, shall have effect, in relation to so much of the area to which the enactment or order applies as is included in a river board area, as if for references to the fishery board there were substituted references to the river board, and subject to such further modifications, adaptations and exceptions as may be specified by an order made by the Ministers ; and any functions exercisable under the said Act by a river board by virtue of paragraph 7 of this Schedule shall be subject to any such restriction or modification made by an order under Part IV of that Act as aforesaid, so far as it applies thereto.

Enactments relating to river pollution

14. The reference in section sixty-nine of the Public Health Act, 1875, to any local authority shall be construed as a reference to a river board and the words " either within or without their district " and so much of the section as relates to costs shall not apply to a river board.

15. References in section six of the Rivers Pollution Prevention Act, 1876, to a sanitary authority and to a district of a sanitary authority shall be construed as references to a river board and a river board area, respectively and the words in the said section from " and where," to the end of the section shall not apply, and the first paragraph of section eight of the said Act shall be modified so as to have effect as follows :—

> " Every river board shall, subject to the restrictions in this Act contained, have power to enforce the provisions of this Act in relation to any stream in the river board area, and for that purpose to institute proceedings in respect of any offence against this Act."

16. Section fourteen of the Local Government Act, 1888, shall not apply to any river board area.

17. Any enactment in a local Act and any statutory order which confer functions relating to river pollution on any local authority or any joint board or joint committee of local authorities, and any enactment or statutory order which relates to any functions so conferred, shall have effect, in relation to so much of the area to which the enactment or statutory order applies as is included in a river board area, as if for references to the local authority, joint board or joint committee there were substituted references to the river board, and subject to such further modifications, adaptations and exceptions as may be specified by an order made by the Ministers :

Provided that this paragraph shall not apply to any enactment or statutory order conferring functions on any such local authority, joint board or joint committee for the purposes of a water undertaking carried on by them.

18. If any enactment or statutory order referred to in the last preceding paragraph (other than the proviso thereto) applies to a part only of a river, an order made under that paragraph may extend the enactment or statutory order to the whole of that river (including any tributaries thereof), so far as it is included in the river board area. [2269]

ORDERS, CIRCULARS AND MEMORANDA

CITY OF LONDON TRAFFIC (MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS) ORDER, 1948

July 20, 1948

In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by Regulation 70 of the Defence (General) Regulations, 1939, as having effect by virtue of the Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945, as extended by the Supplies and Services (Extended Purposes) Act, 1947, and of all other powers him enabling, the Minister of Transport hereby makes the following Order :—

1. In this Order the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them :—

"Street" means a highway and includes part of a highway,

"Restricted Street" means any highway specified in the Schedule to this Order (hereinafter referred to as "a scheduled street") and the first 120 feet of every highway which joins a scheduled street on either side measured from its junction with the scheduled street,

"The prescribed hours" means the period of time between 9 a.m. and 6.30 p.m. on any day other than a Saturday or Sunday,

"Public Service Vehicle" has the meaning assigned to it by the Road Traffic Act, 1930,

"Goods" includes postal packets of any description, and

"Delivering" and "Collecting" in relation to any goods includes checking the goods for the purpose of their delivery or collection. [2270]

2. Subject to the provisions of Article 3 of this Order no person shall cause or permit any vehicle to wait in any restricted street during the prescribed hours except for the purpose of:—

(a) enabling any person to board or alight from such vehicle or to load thereon or unload therefrom his personal luggage, or

(b) delivering or collecting goods or merchandise or loading or unloading such vehicle at premises situate within such street if it is not reasonably practicable to load or unload the vehicle in any neighbouring street not being a restricted street; or for any longer period than may be necessary for such purpose.

Provided that no vehicle engaged in delivering or collecting goods or merchandise or being loaded or unloaded shall in any restricted street wait for more than 20 minutes outside the same premises and that the driver of any vehicle waiting for such purpose shall move the vehicle on the instructions of a police officer in uniform whenever such moving may be reasonably necessary for the purpose of preventing obstruction. [2271]

3. Nothing in Article 2 of this Order shall apply:—

(1) so as to restrict the loading or unloading of any vehicle while such vehicle is in actual use in connection with—

(a) the removal of furniture from one office or dwelling house to another; or

(b) the collection or delivery of goods which cannot reasonably be loaded or unloaded outside the prescribed hours or within the 20 minutes allowed provided that notice is given 48 hours in advance to the police, their consent is obtained and such reasonable conditions as they may impose are complied with;

(2) so as to restrict the use of any vehicle in connection with any building operation, demolition or excavation, the removal of any obstruction to traffic, the maintenance, improvement or reconstruction of any restricted street or the laying, erection, alteration or repair in or near to any restricted street of any sewer or of any main, pipe or apparatus for the supply of gas, water or electricity, or of any telegraph or telephone wires, cables, posts or supports, if the vehicle cannot conveniently be put to such use in any other street not being a restricted street or outside the prescribed hours;

(3) to fire engines, ambulances or any vehicle in the service of a local authority or police force while such vehicle is being used as a matter of urgent necessity in a restricted street;

(4) to any public service vehicle, tram or trolley vehicle whilst waiting at an authorised stopping place or at a turning or terminal point;

(5) to any hackney carriage waiting upon any duly authorised cab rank;

(6) to any vehicle lawfully waiting upon any duly authorised parking place;

(7) to any vehicle waiting in any restricted street while postal packets unloaded from that vehicle and bearing addresses in that street are being delivered at such addresses. [2272]

4. No person in charge of a vehicle delivering or collecting goods or merchandise or person engaged in the course of or in connection with the loading or unloading of any article or goods whatsoever on to or from any vehicle within any restricted street shall, during the prescribed hours, cause or permit :—

(1) any such goods, merchandise or article to be deposited on the carriageway except immediately in rear of the vehicle or allow any goods, merchandise or article so deposited to remain on the carriageway before the arrival or after the departure of the vehicle ;

(2) any such goods, merchandise or article to be deposited on the footway ;

(3) to be used over or across any part of the carriageway or footway any ropes, chains, or other apparatus any part of which or any load suspended therefrom, if over the carriageway, is less than 16 feet in a vertical line from the surface of the carriageway, except when vertically over any vehicle to be loaded or unloaded, or if over the footway is less than 9 feet in a vertical line from the surface of the footway ;

(4) any such goods, merchandise or article to be passed from hand to hand across any part of the carriageway or footway.

Provided :—

(a) that nothing in this Article shall apply to any person in charge of, or engaged in the loading or unloading of, any vehicle while such vehicle is in actual use in connection with any of the purposes specified in paragraphs (2) and (3) of Article 3 of this Order ;

(b) that nothing in paragraphs (1) (2) and (4) of this Article shall apply to any person engaged in the loading or unloading of any vehicle in connection with the erection or maintenance of signs ; and

(c) that this Article shall not apply on Christmas Day, Good Friday, the day preceding Good Friday, Bank Holidays and days appointed by proclamation to be Bank Holidays. [2273]

5. This Order shall come into operation on the 1st day of August, 1948, and may be cited as "The City of London Traffic (Miscellaneous Provisions) Order, 1948." [2274]

ORDERS, CIRCULARS AND MEMORANDA

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS (SECRETARY OF STATE AND MINISTER OF HEALTH) ORDER, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 865

April 27, 1948

Whereas it is provided by the Ministers of the Crown (Transfer of Functions) Act, 1946, that it shall be lawful for His Majesty by Order in Council to transfer to any Minister of the Crown any functions theretofore exercisable by another Minister of the Crown :

And Whereas the Minister of Health exercises and performs the functions mentioned in Article 2 of this Order which functions appear to His Majesty to be more suitable for the Secretary of State :

Now, therefore, His Majesty is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

1.—(1) This Order may be cited as the Transfer of Functions (Secretary of State and Minister of Health) Order, 1948, and shall come into operation on the first day of July, 1948.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, shall apply to the interpretation of this Order as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2276]

2. There shall be transferred to the Secretary of State the functions of the Minister of Health—

(a) under section forty-six of the Food and Drugs Act, 1938 (which relates to the days on which, and the hours during which, markets are to be held);

(b) of confirming byelaws made under section fifty of the said Act (which authorises a market authority to make byelaws declaring the distance from the market within which specified articles may not be sold during market hours except in market or in shops or in certain other places);

(c) under any enactment in a local Act or provisional order of consenting to, or approving, any stallages, tolls, rents or other charges for the purposes of markets or fairs. [2277]

3.—(1) In the construction and for the purposes of any enactment (other than an enactment contained in the Ministers of the Crown Act, 1937), regulation, byelaw or other document passed or made before the date of the coming into operation of this Order any reference to, or which is to be construed as a reference to, the Minister of Health shall, so far only as may be necessary for the purpose or in consequence of the transfer of functions effected by this Order, be construed as a reference to the Secretary of State.

(2) This Order shall not prejudice the operation of any confirmation, consent or approval given or other thing done by the Minister of Health before the date of the coming into operation of this Order in relation to functions thereby transferred, but any such matter shall, if then in force, continue in force to the like extent and subject to the like provisions as if it had been duly given or done by the Secretary of State. MIDWIVES (AMENDMENT) RULES, INSTRUMENT OF APPROVAL, 1948

April 5, 1948

Whereas the Central Midwives Board have, in pursuance of their powers under section 3 of the Midwives Act, 1902, made amendments to the Rules framed by them under the Midwives Acts 1902 to 1936, and have submitted the amendments to the Minister of Health for his approval :

And Whereas the General Medical Council have decided to make no representations to the Minister with respect thereto :

Now, therefore, the Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under section 3 of the Midwives Act, 1902 and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby approves the said amendments in the form set out in the schedule hereto.

This Instrument may be cited as the Midwives (Amendment) Rules, Instrument of Approval, 1948. [2286]

SCHEDULE

CENTRAL MIDWIVES BOARD

The Midwives Acts 1902 to 1936

The Central Midwives Board in the exercise of their powers under section 3 of the Midwives Act, 1902, hereby make the following amendments to the Rules framed under the Midwives Acts, 1902 to 1936 :—

In Rule 33 of section B of the aforesaid Rules, the words : " and in the case of the Second Examination the records kept by the pupil in compliance with Rule B.17," and the words : " and records " shall be deleted.

R. J. FENNEY,
Secretary.
8th March, 1948. [2287]

* * * * *

(This Note is not part of the Instrument, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

Rule B.33 provided that certain records kept by a pupil had to be sent to the Secretary of the Central Midwives Board, before she presented herself for the Second Examination. The Amendment dispenses with this obligation.

MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS (FEES) REGULATIONS, 1948

April 5, 1948

General note.—These regulations were revoked as from July 5, 1948, and replaced by the Medical Practitioners (Fees) (No. 2) Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 1453), post, without prejudice, however, to acts, etc., done thereunder.

The Minister of Health, in pursuance of his powers under subsection (1) of section 9 of the Midwives Act, 1936, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the Medical Practitioners (Fees) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the 18th day of April, 1948. [2288]

2. The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2289]

3. The scale of fees set out in the First Schedule hereto is fixed as the scale of fees payable to medical practitioners under subsection (1) of section 14 of the Midwives Act, 1918. [2290]

4. The conditions subject to which fees are to be payable to medical practitioners under the said subsection are as follows :—

(a) The medical practitioner shall not have agreed to attend the patient under arrangement made by or on behalf of the patient or by any club, medical institute or other association, of which the patient or her husband is a member ;

(b) The medical practitioner shall not be under an obligation to give the treatment to the patient under the National Health Insurance Acts, 1936 to 1941, or by virtue of any office held by him under a local authority or under the terms of any agreement made between him and a local authority ;

(c) The medical practitioner shall not receive or agree to receive a fee from the patient or her representative ;

(d) The fees set out in paragraphs (viii) and (x) of the First Schedule hereto shall not be payable—

(i) in respect of any services performed by the medical practitioner later than the fourteenth day after his first attendance, except where he has reported to the local supervising authority before the expiration of the said fourteenth day that he considers, for reasons stated in writing that his further attendance is necessary ;

(ii) in respect of any services performed by the medical practitioner after the expiration of four weeks from the birth ;

(e) The fees set out in paragraphs (i) to (vi) of the First Schedule hereto shall not be payable unless at the conclusion of his attendances a report in the form set out in the Second Schedule to these regulations shall have been furnished by the medical practitioner to the medical officer of health of the local supervising authority. [2291]

5. The Medical Practitioners (Fees) Regulations, 1940, are hereby revoked, but without prejudice to anything duly done or suffered or to any right privilege obligation or liability acquired accrued or incurred thereunder. [2292]

6. These regulations shall not extend to Scotland or Northern Ireland. [2293]

MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS (FEES) (NO. 2) REGULATIONS, 1948

General note.—These regulations revoked as from July 5, 1948, and replaced the Medical Practitioners (Fees) Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 695), ante.

The Minister of Health in pursuance of his powers under subsection (1) of section 9 of the Midwives Act, 1936, as amended by subsection (3) of section 23 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the Medical Practitioners (Fees) (No. 2) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the 5th day of July, 1948. [2297]

2. The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2298]

3. In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" medical practitioner having obstetric experience " means a registered medical practitioner whose experience in obstetrics is for the time being approved by the Local Obstetric Committee and whose name is included in the separate part of the medical list referred to in Regulation 4 of the National Health Service (General Medical and Pharmaceutical Services) Regulations, 1948 ;

" Local Obstetric Committee " means a committee recognised by the Minister for the purpose of approving the obstetric experience of a medical practitioner ;

" Regional Hospital Board ", " Board of Governors of a teaching hospital ", and " Local Health Authority " have the same meaning as in the National Health Service Act, 1946. [2299]

4. The scale of fees set out in the First Schedule hereto is fixed as the scale of fees payable to medical practitioners under subsection (1) of section 14 of the Midwives Act, 1918. [2300]

5. The conditions subject to which fees are to be payable to medical practitioners under the said subsection are as follows :—

(a) The medical practitioner shall be a medical practitioner having obstetric experience :

Provided that this condition shall not apply—

(i) where the services performed by the medical practitioner are in respect of an emergency for which he was first called in before the 5th day of July, 1948 ; or

(ii) until the Local Health Authority have supplied the midwives practising in their area with a list of medical practitioners having obstetric experience who have agreed to answer calls by midwives; or

(iii) where the medical practitioner was called in because a medical practitioner having obstetric experience was not available when the emergency arose.

(b) The medical practitioner shall not have arranged to provide the patient with maternity medical services in accordance with the National Health Service (General Medical and Pharmaceutical Services) Regulations, 1948, or be under an obligation to give the treatment to the patient by virtue of any office held by him under a Regional Hospital Board, Board of Governors of a teaching hospital, or Local Health Authority or of any agreement made between him and such Regional Hospital Board, Board of Governors or Local Health Authority.

(c) The medical practitioner shall not have agreed to attend the patient under any other arrangements made by or on behalf of the patient or by any club, medical institute or other association, of which the patient or her husband is a member.

(d) The medical practitioner shall not receive or agree to receive a fee from the patient or her representative.

(e) The fees set out in paragraphs (viii) and (x) of the First Schedule hereto shall not be payable—

(i) in respect of any services performed by the medical practitioner later than the fourteenth day after his first attendance, except where he has reported to the local supervising authority before the expiration of the said fourteenth day that he considers, for reasons stated in writing, that his further attendance is necessary;

(ii) in respect of any services performed by the medical practitioner after the expiration of four weeks from the birth.

(f) The fees set out in paragraphs (i) to (vi) of the First Schedule hereto shall not be payable unless at the conclusion of his attendance a report in the form set out in the Second Schedule to these regulations shall have been furnished by the medical practitioner to the medical officer of health of the local supervising authority. [2301]

6. The Medical Practitioners (Fees) Regulations, 1948, are hereby revoked but without prejudice to anything duly done or suffered or to any right privilege obligation or liability acquired accrued or incurred thereunder. [2302]

7. These regulations shall not extend to Scotland or Northern Ireland. [2303]

LOCAL GOVERNMENT ACT, 1948

(11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 26)

PRELIMINARY NOTE

Part VII of the Local Government Act, 1948, which came into force on the passing of the Act on March 24, 1948, deals with miscellaneous local government matters, a number of which fall within the present title. S. 132 gives local authorities a general power to provide entertainments and authorises the product of a sixpenny rate to be expended annually for that purpose. S. 134 provides for the setting-up of information centres where information as to public services may be obtainable, and s. 135 enables a local authority, subject to regulations, to provide lectures, cinematograph films, etc., on questions relating to local government. Finally, s. 137 increases the amount which may be spent by a borough or urban district council under the Health Resorts and Watering Places Act, 1936, s. 1 (29 Halsbury's Statutes 308) on advertising their area as a health resort or watering place.

Other provisions of the Local Government Act, 1948, are to be found under titles ELECTRICITY SUPPLY ; FINANCE ; HIGHWAYS ; and MEMORIALS, WAR AND OTHER, ante ; and RATES AND RATING, post. [2307]

PART VII

* * * * *

132. Provision of entertainments.—(1) A local authority may do, or arrange for the doing of, or contribute towards the expenses of the doing of, anything necessary or expedient for any of the following purposes, that is to say—

(a) the provision of an entertainment of any nature or of facilities for dancing;

(b) the provision of a theatre, concert hall, dance hall or other premises suitable for the giving of entertainments or the holding of dances;

(c) the maintenance of a band or orchestra;

(d) any purpose incidental to the matters aforesaid, including the provision, in connection with the giving of any entertainment or the holding of any dance, of refreshments or programmes and the advertising of any such entertainment or dance:

Provided that the powers conferred on a local authority by this subsection shall not be exercised in relation to any entertainment or dance held in any place outside the area of that authority, or in relation to a theatre, concert hall, dance hall or other premises situate in any place outside that area, unless—

(i) that place is convenient for residents in the area of that authority;

(ii) the local authority for the area within which that place is situate consent. [2309]

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the provisions of the preceding subsection, a local authority—

(a) may for the purposes therein specified enclose or set apart any part of a park or pleasure ground belonging to the authority or under their control not exceeding one acre or one-tenth of the area of the park or pleasure ground whichever is the greater;

(b) may permit any theatre, concert hall, dance hall or other premises provided by them for the purposes of the preceding subsection and any part of a park or pleasure ground enclosed or set apart as aforesaid, to be used by any other person, on such terms as to payment or otherwise as the authority think fit, and may authorise that other person to make charges for admission thereto;

(c) may themselves make charges for admission to any entertainment or dance held by them and for any refreshment or programmes supplied at any such entertainment or dance:

Provided that nothing in this subsection shall authorise any authority to contravene any covenant or condition subject to which a gift or lease of a public park or pleasure ground has been accepted or made without the consent of the donor, grantor, lessor or other person entitled in law to the benefit of the covenant or condition. [2310]

(3) The expenditure of a local authority under this section (excluding capital expenditure, but including loan charges) shall not in any year exceed the product of a rate of sixpence in the pound, plus the net amount of any receipts of the authority from any such charges or payments as are referred to in the last preceding subsection:

Provided that where a local authority exercise any powers under any statutory provision other than this Act for the provision by them of entertainments or the holding by them of dances, any expenditure incurred by them under those powers (excluding capital expenditure but including loan charges) less the net amount of the receipts, if any, of the authority in respect of the exercise of those powers shall, for the purpose of determining whether any, and if so what, expenditure may be incurred in any year under this subsection, be taken into account as if it was expenditure under this section. [2311]

(4) A local authority who propose to borrow money for any of the purposes authorised under this section shall, before applying to the Minister for his consent to the borrowing, publish in such local newspapers, and in such other ways, if any, as appear to them best suited for bringing the matter to the attention of persons concerned, notice of their proposal, specifying the amount which and the purposes for which they propose to borrow and the time (not being less than twenty-eight days from the publication of the notice) within which any objection to the proposal may be made to the Minister. [2312]

(5) Where any such objection as is mentioned in the last preceding subsection is made to the Minister within the time specified in the notice aforesaid and is not withdrawn, the Minister shall not, unless in his opinion the objection is frivolous, consent to the borrowing of any money for the purposes in question until he has caused a public local inquiry to be held into the proposal, and, in considering whether or not to give his consent to the borrowing of any money for those purposes, he shall consider the report of the person by whom the inquiry was held. [2313]

(6) Nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of any enactment by virtue of which a licence is required for the public performance of a stage play or the public exhibition of cinematograph films, or for boxing or wrestling entertainments or for public music or dancing, or for the sale of intoxicating liquor or tobacco. [2314]

(7) In this section, the expression "local authority" means the council of a county borough, metropolitan borough or county district or the common council of the City of London. [2315]

(8) The following enactments are hereby repealed, that is to say, paragraph (3) of section forty-four of the Burgh Police (Scotland) Act, 1903; paragraphs (d), (e) and (h) of subsection (1) of section seventy-six of the Public Health Acts Amendment Act, 1907; subsections (1) to (4) of section fifty-six and the proviso to subsection (1) of section seventy of the Public Health Act, 1925; the proviso to subsection (1) of section two hundred and twenty-six of the Public Health Act, 1936; the proviso to subsection (1) of section one hundred and seventy-two of the Public Health (London) Act, 1936; in subsection (5) of section ten of the Physical Training and Recreation Act, 1937, the words from "Provided that," to the end of the subsection; and in subsection (5) of section seventy-four of the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1947, the words from "so however," to the end of the subsection. [2316]

(9) Nothing in this section shall have effect so as to extend the powers of the council of a county or of a parish under section seventy of the Public Health Act, 1925 (which relates to the use of the offices of an authority for entertainments) as applied to those councils by section four of the Physical Training and Recreation Act, 1937, and accordingly the following proviso shall be inserted at the end of subsection (2) of the said section four, that is to say—

"Provided that the following restrictions shall have effect with respect to any concert or other entertainment provided by the council of a county or of a parish by virtue of this section, that is to say—

(i) no stage play shall be performed; and

(ii) the concert or other entertainment shall not include any performance in the nature of a variety entertainment; and

(iii) no cinematograph film other than a film illustrative of questions relating to health or disease shall be shown; and

(iv) no scenery, theatrical costumes or scenic or theatrical accessories shall be used." [2317]

134. Information centres.—A local authority may make, or assist in the making of, arrangements whereby the public may on application readily obtain, either at premises specially maintained for the purpose or otherwise, information concerning the services available within the area of the authority provided either by the authority or by other authorities or by Government departments, and other information as to local government matters affecting the area. [2319]

Other authorities.—It is not quite clear whether or not these "other authorities" are confined to local authorities within the meaning of this Act (as to which see s. 144 (1), post). The word "authority" has just been used with the meaning of "local authority" for the purposes of this Act. Nevertheless, the words "other information as to local government matters affecting the area" would apparently indicate that a wider meaning is intended, and that "authorities" here comprehends parish councils, parish meetings, joint committees and joint boards, and perhaps some other classes of public bodies, which can be regarded as authorities, such as the British Transport Commission and the Area Electricity Board.

Local government matters.—As to instruction, lectures, etc., on questions relating to local government, see s. 135, post.

135. Instruction, lectures, etc., on questions relating to local government.—(1) Subject to such conditions and restrictions, if any, as the Minister may by regulations prescribe, a local authority may—

(a) arrange for the publication within their area of information on questions relating to local government; and

(b) arrange for the delivery of lectures and addresses, and the holding of discussions, on such questions; and

(c) arrange for the display of pictures, cinematograph films or models or the holding of exhibitions relating to such questions; and

(d) prepare, or join in or contribute to the cost of the preparation of, pictures, films, models or exhibitions to be displayed or held as aforesaid. [2320]

The Minister.—The Minister of Health (s. 144 (1), post).

Regulations.—By s. 142 (1) of this Act the power to make regulations conferred by this section is to be exerciseable by statutory instrument, and any such statutory instrument is to be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament. As to statutory instruments generally, see the Statutory Instruments Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 783), and in particular s. 5 thereof.

No regulations under this section had been made at the date of going to press.

Definition.—For definition of "local authority", see s. 144 (1), post.

137. Amendment of Health Resorts and Watering Places Act, 1936, s. 1.—(1) In subsection one of section one of the Health Resorts and Watering Places Act, 1936 (which authorises the expenditure by the council of a borough or urban district on advertising the advantages and amenities of the borough or district as a health resort or watering place of a sum not exceeding the amount which would be produced by a rate of one penny and one-third of a penny in the pound), for the words "one penny and one-third of a penny" there shall be substituted the words "three pence". [2322]

(2) (Application to Scotland.) [2323]

Effect of section.—The maximum amount which a borough or urban district council may expend on advertising the borough or district as a health resort or watering place is increased from the product of a 1½*d.* rate to the product of a 3*d.* rate.

PART VIII

* * * * *

144. Interpretation.—(1) In this Act, except so far as the contrary is expressly provided or the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say—

"Minister" means the Minister of Health;

"local authority" means the council of a county, county borough, metropolitan borough or county district, or the Common Council of the City of London;

"year" means a period of twelve months beginning with the first day of April;

* * * * *

"statutory provision" means a provision, whether of a general or special nature, contained in, or in any document made or issued under, any Act, whether of a general or special nature. [2324]

* * * * *

(3) Any reference in this Act to the product of a rate of a specified sum in the pound for any area shall be construed as a reference to the aggregate of the product of a rate of one penny in the pound for all the rating areas within the area multiplied by the number of pence in the said sum. [2325]

(4) The product of a rate of one penny in the pound for a rating area shall, for the purposes of this Act, be taken to be the product of a penny rate for that area as ascertained or estimated for the purpose of subsection (2) of section nine of the Rating and Valuation Act, 1925:

Provided that—

(a) in the case of an area in London, the product of a penny rate for the area shall, as respects years as respects which the said subsection (2) does not extend to London, be taken to be the product of a penny rate for the area as ascertained or estimated by the district auditor in accordance with the principles for the time being applicable outside London to the ascertainment and estimation of the product of a penny rate for the purposes of the said section nine;

(b) nothing in this subsection detracts from the provisions of this Act enabling the Minister to make regulations as respects the way in which payments for the benefit of local authorities under Part V of this Act are to be treated. [2326]

* * * * *

(8) Any references in this Act to a local authority in a county shall be construed as including only local authorities whose areas form part of the county. [2327]

* * * * *

(10) Except so far as the context otherwise requires, any reference in this Act to any other enactment shall be construed as a reference to that enactment as amended, extended or applied by or under any other enactment, including this Act. [2328]

STATUTES

RADIOACTIVE SUBSTANCES ACT, 1948

(11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 37)

PRELIMINARY NOTE

The object of this Act, which came into force on receiving the Royal Assent on June 30, 1948, is to enable regulations to be made for controlling, on public health grounds, the use of radioactive substances and irradiating apparatus, such as X-ray lamps. By s. 4 the Minister of Health is empowered to make regulations for England and Wales under which the use of any irradiating apparatus of a prescribed class or description for the medical, surgical or dental treatment of human beings will be confined, as from a day appointed in those regulations, to three classes of persons. These three classes are (i) duly qualified medical practitioners or registered dental practitioners holding licences under the Act; (ii) persons acting under the directions of any such practitioner; and (iii) persons exempted from the section by order of the Minister. The granting of licences will be at the discretion of the Minister, who may impose such conditions, limitations and exceptions as he sees fit. In order to simplify administration of the system in its initial stages any practitioner who applies for a licence within three months of the appointed day is entitled, until his application is dealt with, to act as if the licence had been granted.

The licensing system may be extended by the Minister of Health and the Secretary of State acting jointly, to cover the use of irradiating apparatus for diagnostic purposes.

The Act contains safeguards to secure that adequate consideration is given to the making of regulations and orders. There must be consultation with the Advisory Committee established under the Act before any regulations or orders are made, and they will be subject to annulment by the negative resolution procedure. Proposed regulations are to be publicly advertised in draft, and when objection thereto is made and not withdrawn, a public enquiry must be held or the objector given an opportunity to state his case before a person appointed by the Minister or Ministers for the purpose.

No regulations or orders had been made at the date of going to press. [2331]

* * * * *

15. Short title 768

An Act to make provision with respect to radioactive substances and certain apparatus producing radiation. [2332] [30th June, 1948.]

* * * * *

4. Control of use of irradiating apparatus for therapeutic purposes.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, no person shall, as from the appointed day, use for the purposes of the medical, surgical or dental treatment of human beings any irradiating apparatus of a prescribed class or description, unless he is a duly qualified medical practitioner or a registered dental practitioner and is licensed under this section, or is a person acting in accordance with the directions of any such practitioner licensed as aforesaid. [2333]

(2) The following respective Ministers and Ministry, that is to say—

(a) as respects England and Wales, the Minister of Health;
(b) as respects Scotland, the Secretary of State;
(c) as respects Great Britain, the Minister of Health and the Secretary of State acting jointly; and (d) as respects Northern Ireland, the Ministry of Health and Local Government for Northern Ireland;

may by order provide, subject to such conditions, limitations and exceptions as may be specified in the order, for the exemption from this section of such classes or descriptions of persons as may be so specified. [2334]

(3) Any person who contravenes subsection (1) of this section or contravenes or fails to comply with any provision of a licence granted to him under this section, or being exempted by an order made under this section contravenes or fails to comply with any provision of the order, shall be guilty of an offence:

Provided that, where any duly qualified medical practitioner or registered dental practitioner has, within three months from the appointed day, duly applied to the appropriate Minister for a licence under this section in respect of any apparatus, subsection (1) of this section shall, pending the notification to him of the Minister's decision on the application, have effect as if the licence had been granted on the terms of the application. [2335]

(4) Regulations made, as respects Great Britain, by the Minister of Health and the Secretary of State jointly or, as respects Northern Ireland, by the Ministry of Health and Local Government for Northern Ireland may provide for extending the provisions of this section so as to apply to the use for the purposes of medical, surgical or dental diagnosis of any irradiating apparatus of a class or description specified in the regulations, but save as aforesaid this section shall not apply to the use of apparatus for those purposes. [2336]

(5) Subsections (3) and (4) of the last preceding section shall apply in relation to licences under this section as they apply in relation to licences under that section, and the definitions contained in subsection (9) of that section shall apply for the purposes of this section. [2337]

(6) Before making any regulations or order under this section, the Ministers or the Minister or the Ministry concerned shall consult with the Advisory Committee established under this Act. [2338]

General effect of section.—See Preliminary Note, ante.
Appointed day.—See note "Applied subsections", infra.
Prescribed.—See note "Applied subsections", infra
Duly qualified medical practitioner.—This means a person registered under the Medical Acts (see the Medical Act, 1858, s. 34; 11 Halsbury's Statutes 675).
Registered dental practitioner.—For definition of this term, see s. 12, post.
Order; regulations.—As to orders and regulations generally, see ss. 9, 10, post. No orders or regulations under this section had been made at the date of going to press.
Offence.—By s. 8 (3) of this Act a person guilty of an offence under this section becomes liable, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding £100 or, in the case of a second or subsequent offence, to a like fine or up to three months' imprisonment or both such fine and imprisonment. By s. 8 (4) an offence continued after conviction constitutes a further offence. S. 8 (5) contains the usual provision imposing a prima facie liability on directors, etc., where the offence is committed by a body corporate. Under s. 8 (6) the convicting court may order that any apparatus concerned shall be forfeited to the Crown.

Appropriate Minister.—See note "Applied subsections", infra.

Advisory Committee.—S. 6 of the Act requires an Advisory Committee to be appointed.

Applied subsections.—The three subsections of s. 3 which are applied by sub-s. (5), supra, are as follows:—

(3) An application for a licence under this section shall be made to the appropriate Minister in writing and the applicant shall furnish such information as the Minister may require, and the Minister may grant or refuse the licence as he thinks fit, and, if he grants the licence, may grant it subject to such conditions, limitations and exceptions as may be specified therein.

(4) A licence under this section may at any time be varied or revoked by the appropriate Minister and, if such a licence is granted for a limited period, it may be renewed (with or without variation) at the expiration of that period on the like application as in the case of a grant of a licence.

(9) In this section—

the expression "the appointed day" means such day as may be appointed by regulations made, as respects Great Britain, by the Minister of Health and the Secretary of State jointly and, as respects Northern Ireland, by the Ministry of Health and Local Government for Northern Ireland;

the expression "the appropriate Minister" means—

(a) in relation to the grant of a licence to a person resident in England or Wales, or the renewal, variation or revocation of the licence of a person so resident, the Minister of Health; the expression "prescribed" means prescribed by regulations made as aforesaid.

* * * * *

9. Regulations and orders.—(1) Any power conferred by this Act to make regulations or orders shall be exercisable by statutory instrument and any such instrument shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament. [2339]

(2) Before any regulations are made under this Act, the Minister or Ministers making the regulations shall publish in the Gazette and in such other manner as he or they may think best adapted for informing persons affected notice of the proposal to make the regulations, and of the place where copies of the draft regulations may be obtained, and of the time (not being less than twenty-eight days) and the manner in which objection may be made to the regulations. [2340]

(3) If any objection is duly made and is not withdrawn, the said Minister or Ministers shall, before making the regulations, either cause a public inquiry to be held or afford to any person by whom any objection has been duly made and not withdrawn an opportunity of appearing before and being heard by a person appointed by the said Minister or Ministers for the purpose, and shall consider the objection and the report of the person who held the inquiry or the person appointed as aforesaid before making the regulations. [2341]

(4) Notice of any such inquiry as aforesaid shall be given in such manner as appears to the said Minister or Ministers to be appropriate for the purpose of informing the persons affected, and the provisions of subsections (2), (3) and (5) of section two hundred and ninety of the Local Government Act, 1933 (which relate to evidence and costs) shall apply in relation to any such inquiry as if for any reference therein to the department there were substituted a reference to the said Minister or Ministers. [2342]

Statutory instrument.—As to statutory instruments generally, see the Statutory Instruments Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 783) which was brought fully into force by S.I. 1948 No. 3, on January 1, 1948. S. 5 of that Act deals with instruments which are subject to annulment by resolution of either House of Parliament.

The Gazette.—For definition of this term, see s. 12, post.

10. Power to revoke or vary Orders in Council and orders.—Any Order in Council or order made under this Act may be revoked or varied by a subsequent Order in Council or order made in like manner and subject to the like conditions. [2343]

* * * * *

12. Interpretation.—In this Act, the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say :—

* * * * *

" the Gazette " means, in relation to regulations which have effect in England and Wales only, the London Gazette, and, in relation to regulations which have effect in Scotland only, the Edinburgh Gazette, and, in relation to regulations which have effect in Great Britain, both those Gazettes ;

* * * * *

" registered dental practitioner " means a person registered in the dentists register under the Dentists Acts, 1878 to 1923 ; [2344]

ORDERS, CIRCULARS AND MEMORANDA

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (FUNCTIONS OF REGIONAL HOSPITAL BOARDS, ETC.) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 60

January 19, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under section 12 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

PART I

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Functions of Regional Hospital Boards, etc.) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the twenty-first day of January, 1948. [2346]

2.—(1) In these regulations " the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946, and " the Minister " means the Minister of Health.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2347]

PART II

Regional Hospital Boards

3. A regional hospital board shall, subject to and in accordance with these regulations and any directions which may be given by the Minister, and subject to the exercise of functions by hospital management committees and, in relation to teaching hospitals, by boards of governors in accordance with the following provisions of these regulations, administer on behalf of the Minister the hospital and specialist services provided in their area. [2348]

4. For the purposes of the last foregoing regulation, a regional hospital board shall exercise on behalf of the Minister and subject to and in accordance with any directions which may be given by the Minister, but to the extent provided in the next following regulation through the agency of hospital management committees, the functions of the Minister in so far as they relate to hospitals other than teaching hospitals and to services provided at or in connection with hospitals other than teaching hospitals under the following provisions of the Act, and of any regulations made thereunder, namely :—

(1) Section 3 (1) with respect to the provision of hospital and specialist services ;
(2) Section 3 (2) with respect to the making and recovery of charges for the supply, replacement or repair of appliances ;
(3) Section 3 (3) with respect to the payment of travelling expenses ;
(4) Sections 4 and 5 with respect to the making available of hospital accommodation on part payment and the setting aside of special accommodation for private patients and the recovery of charges, and the making of arrangements with medical practitioners for the treatment of their private patients in hospital :

Provided that—

(a) Nothing in these regulations shall authorise a regional hospital board to acquire land for the purposes of providing hospital and specialist services ;
(b) A regional hospital board shall not without the consent of the Minister undertake any building or civil engineering works the estimated total cost of which exceeds £10,000 ;
(c) In the case of any work of construction, reconstruction or alteration of a mental hospital, a hospital designated by the Minister for the purposes of the Mental Treatment Act, 1930, or an institution for mental defectives, a regional hospital board shall comply with such standards of accommodation as may from time to time be laid down by the Minister ;
(d) The amount of the accommodation to be made available under section 4 or to be set aside under section 5 of the Act shall be subject to the approval of the Minister. [2349]

PART III

Hospital Management Committee

5. The hospital management committee of any hospital or group of hospitals shall, subject to and in accordance with any directions which may be given by the regional hospital board concerned or by the Minister, control and manage the same and the services provided in connection therewith on behalf of the board, and for that purpose the committee shall, subject to and in accordance with any directions as aforesaid, exercise on behalf of the board the following functions of the board relating to the hospital or group of hospitals :—

(1) The functions of the board under regulations made under section (3) (2) of the Act and under these regulations with respect to the making and recovery of charges for the supply, replacement or repair of appliances ;
(2) The functions of the board under regulations made under section 3 (3) of the Act and under these regulations with respect to the payment of travelling expenses ;
(3) The functions of the board under section 4 of the Act and any regulations made thereunder and under these regulations with respect to the admission of patients to and their discharge from hospital accommodation made available on part payment and to the recovery of charges ;

(4) The functions of the board under section 5 of the Act and any regulations made thereunder and under these regulations with respect to the admission of patients to and their discharge from special accommodation set aside for private patients and to the recovery of charges for accommodation and services provided for private patients and to the making of arrangements by medical practitioners for the treatment of their private patients in hospital ;

(5) The functions of the board under section 12 (1) of the Act with respect to the appointment and dismissal of officers employed for the purposes only of the hospital or group of hospitals other than the classes of officers specified in regulations made under section 14 (2) of the Act ;

(6) The functions of the board under section 12 (1) of the Act with respect to the maintenance of premises forming part of or used in connection with the hospital or group of hospitals :

Provided that the committee shall not without the consent of the board undertake any building or civil engineering works the estimated total cost of which exceeds £1,000 ;

(7) Subject to any arrangements which may be made by the Minister or by the board with the consent of the Minister, the functions of the board under section 12 (1) of the Act with respect to the acquisition and maintenance of equipment, furniture and other movable property required for the purposes of the hospital or group of hospitals ;

(8) The functions of the board under section 62 of the Act with respect to the provision of special schools ;

(9) The functions of the board with respect to the receipt of payments under section 36 (2) of the Road Traffic Act, 1930, and section 16 of the Road Traffic Act, 1934, as amended by the Act. [2350]

PART IV

Boards of Governors of Teaching Hospitals

6. The board of governors of a teaching hospital shall, on behalf of the Minister, and subject to and in accordance with these regulations and any directions which may be given by the Minister, manage and control that hospital and the services provided in connection therewith. [2351]

7. For the purposes of the last foregoing regulation, the board of governors of a teaching hospital shall exercise on behalf of the Minister, and subject to and in accordance with any directions which may be given by the Minister, the functions of the Minister in so far as they relate to that hospital under the following provisions of the Act or of any regulations made thereunder, namely :—

(1) Section 3 (1) with respect to the provision of hospital and specialist services ;

(2) Section 3 (2) with respect to the making and recovery of charges for the supply, replacement or repair of appliances ;

(3) Section 3 (3) with respect to the payment of travelling expenses ;

(4) Sections 4 and 5 with respect to the making available of hospital accommodation on part payment and the setting aside of special accommodation for private patients and the recovery of charges, and the making of arrangements with medical practitioners for the treatment of their private patients in hospital :

Provided that—

(a) Nothing in these regulations shall authorise a board of governors to acquire land for the purposes of providing hospital and specialist services ;

(b) A board of governors shall not without the consent of the Minister undertake any building or civil engineering works the estimated total cost of which exceeds £10,000 ; and

(c) The amount of the accommodation to be made available under section 4 or to be set aside under section 5 of the Act shall be subject to the approval of the Minister.

PART V.

General

8. Nothing in these regulations shall affect the power of the Minister to provide or administer hospital and specialist services otherwise than in accordance with the foregoing provisions of these regulations—

(a) so far as such services relate to the provision of equipment, furniture and other movable property ; or

(b) where in his opinion special circumstances make it desirable to do so. [2352]

9. Notwithstanding anything contained in these regulations a regional hospital board, hospital management committee or board of governors of a teaching hospital shall not without the consent of the Minister carry out any work of a kind specified in Part II of the Sixth Schedule to the Defence (General) Regulations, 1939, if a licence under paragraph (2) of regulation 56A of the last-mentioned regulations would have been required in respect of such work but for the provisions of paragraph (5) of that regulation. [2353]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of these Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The Regulations prescribe the duties to be performed by Regional Hospital Boards, Hospital Management Committees and Boards of Governors of Teaching Hospitals under the National Health Service Act, 1946, in the administration of the hospital and specialist services so far as those duties are not specifically imposed by the Act itself.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT (APPOINTED DAY) ORDER, 1948

January 26, 1948

Whereas it is provided by the National Health Service Act, 1946, that certain provisions of that Act are to come into force on the appointed day, and the expression " appointed day " is defined by subsection (1) of section seventy-nine of that Act to mean such day as His Majesty may by Order in Council appoint, and it is provided by the said subsection (1) that different days may be appointed for the purposes of different provisions of the said Act and for the repeal or amendment of different enactments by the said Act :

And whereas by the National Health Service Act (Appointed Day) Order, 1947, it was provided that sections forty-nine and subsections (1) and (2) of section fifty of the said Act (which provide for the transfer to the Minister of Health of functions of the Board of Control) and certain amendments and repeals connected with the said sections forty-nine and fifty should come into force on the first day of July, nineteen hundred and forty-seven :

Now, therefore, His Majesty, in pursuance of the said subsection (1) of section seventy-nine of the said Act, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

1. This Order may be cited as the National Health Service Act (Appointed Day) Order, 1948. [2354]

2. Save as provided by the said Order of 1947, the appointed day for the purposes of the National Health Service Act, 1946, shall be the fifth day of July, nineteen hundred and forty-eight. [2355]

* * * * *

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

Certain provisions of the National Health Service Act, 1946 (namely, those transferring to the Minister of Health some of the administrative functions of the Board of Control under the Acts relating to mental treatment and mental deficiency together with consequential amendment of those Acts and a few other enactments, were brought into force on the 1st July, 1947. This Order fixes July 5*th,* 1948, as the " appointed day " for all other provisions of the National Health Service Act.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (SUPERINTENDENTS OF MENTAL HOSPITALS, ETC.) REGULATIONS, 1948

February 26, 1948

The Minister of Health in exercise of his powers under sections 12, 14 and 66 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1.—(1) These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Superintendents of Mental Hospitals, etc.) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the 1st day of May, 1948.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2356]

2. A Superintendent shall be appointed for each mental hospital or institution for defectives administered by a Regional Hospital Board, and it shall be a term of his appointment that he shall reside at the hospital or institution or within such distance therefrom as the board may approve. [2357]

3. Unless the Minister shall otherwise direct the Superintendent shall be a medical practitioner. [2358]

4. The Superintendent shall be the Chief Officer of the hospital or institution, and he shall be responsible for the general management thereof in accordance with any directions which may be given by the Regional Hospital Board or the Hospital Management Committee. [2359]

5.—(1) The Superintendent may, for any reason which appears to him sufficient, suspend from duty any officer employed for the purposes only of the hospital or institution and shall forthwith report such suspension, together with the cause thereof, to the Hospital Management Committee.

(2) During the period of suspension the whole or any part of the officer's salary may be withheld. If the suspension is removed the amount so withheld shall be paid to the officer. If the officer dies or resigns or is removed from office during the period of suspension the amount so withheld shall not be paid unless the board or committee otherwise determine. [2360]

6. These regulations shall apply in the case of an institution vested in the Minister of Health and designated by him for the purposes of the Mental Treatment Act, 1930, as if the said institution were a mental hospital. [2361]

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (GENERAL DENTAL SERVICES) REGULATIONS, 1948

March 12, 1948

General note.—While this volume was passing through the press these regulations were amended as from April 1, 1949, by the National Health Service (General Dental Services) Amendment Regulations, 1949 (S.I. 1949 No. 564).

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred upon him by sections 32, 38, 39, 40, 44, 45 and 74 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

PART I

General

1. Short title and commencement.—These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (General Dental Services) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the 24th day of March, 1948. [2362]

2. Interpretation.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" The Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" the Board " means the Dental Estimates Board constituted under Part IV of these regulations ;

" chemist " means any person on the pharmaceutical list of a Council ;

" Council " means the Executive Council constituted for any area ;

" dental estimates form " means the form set out in Part II of the fourth schedule to these regulations, or a form to the like effect ;

" dental fitness " means such a reasonable standard of dental efficiency and oral health as is necessary to safeguard general health and " dentally fit " has a corresponding meaning ;

" dental officer " means any dental officer appointed by the Minister for a district for the purpose of advising the Minister, the Board, Councils, Local Dental Committees, and dental practitioners on questions arising in connection with estimates submitted or dental treatment given by practitioners, or the conditions under which general dental services are provided by practitioners ;

" dental treatment " means all proper and necessary treatment which a dental practitioner usually undertakes for a patient, including examination and advice, the obtaining of radiographs, scaling, treatment of the gums, fillings, extractions, crowning, provision of artificial dentures and their repair and remaking, and the administration of anaesthetics in connection with any such treatment, and includes the giving of orders on the appropriate form for drugs or the supply of drugs in accordance with these regulations ;

" drugs " means such drugs and medicines as are specified in the third schedule to these regulations ;

" emergency treatment " means any treatment immediately required for the relief of pain or other urgent symptoms ;

" health centre " means premises provided by a local health authority in accordance with the provisions of section 21 of the Act ;

" practitioner " means a registered dental practitioner ;

" supply " in relation to an appliance includes replacement.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2363]

PART II

General Arrangements for Provision of General Dental Services

3. Terms of service for practitioners.—(1) The arrangements which a Council is required by section 40 of the Act to make with practitioners for the provision of general dental services shall incorporate—

(a) in the case of a practitioner undertaking to provide general dental services elsewhere than at a health centre the terms of service contained in Part I of the first schedule to these regulations, and

(b) in the case of a practitioner undertaking to provide general dental services at a health centre the terms of service contained in Part II of the said schedule.

(2) Where a practitioner provides general dental services both elsewhere than at a health centre and at a health centre, the arrangements shall incorporate the provisions contained in sub-paragraphs (a) and (b) of the last preceding paragraph and whichever provisions are applicable shall apply. [2364]

4. Dental list.—(1) The Council shall prepare a list, to be called " the dental list ", of the practitioners who, having applied, are entitled to be included in the list.

(2) Application by a practitioner for inclusion in the dental list shall be made by delivering or sending the application by post to the Council in the form set out in Part I of the fourth schedule to these regulations, or in a form to the like effect.

(3) The dental list shall contain, in addition to the names of practitioners—

(a) the address of any surgery or health centre at which the practitioner undertakes to provide general dental services ;

(b) particulars of the days and hours at which he is or will be normally in attendance ;

(c) where two or more practitioners practise in partnership, the names of the partners ; and

(d) where the practitioner is acting as an assistant, the name and address of the principal, and may, if the Council think fit, be so arranged as to show the part of the area in which each practitioner will provide treatment.

(4) Copies of the dental list shall be available for inspection at the office of the Council and at such other places as appear to the Council to be convenient for informing all persons interested and shall be kept revised up-to-date.

(5) The Council shall send a copy of the dental list to the Minister, to the Board and the Local Dental Committee and shall within seven days inform each of them of any alterations which may from time to time be made therein. The Council shall also send a copy of the list to the Local Medical and Local Pharmaceutical Committees, the local health authority, the Regional Hospital Board, the Hospital Management Committees of hospitals serving the area, the Board of Governors of any teaching hospital in the area, and any chemist under contract with the Council to provide pharmaceutical services, and at intervals of not more than three months shall notify them of any alteration made in the dental list. [2365]

5. Arrangements for supply by practitioners of drugs.—(1) Where in the opinion of the Council a practitioner's surgery is so situated that it would be inconvenient for any of the persons for whom he is providing general dental services to obtain drugs from a chemist, the Council may require him to supply the drugs specified in the third schedule to these regulations either (a) in respect of those persons or (b) in respect of all persons for whom he is providing general dental services :

Provided that notwithstanding such requirement the practitioner may if so requested by any such person instead of supplying such drug give a prescription for the same to be supplied by a chemist.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this regulation—

(a) a practitioner shall not be required to undertake the supply of drugs under this regulation if he satisfies the Council, or on appeal the Minister, that he is not in the habit of supplying drugs or that the person to be supplied can with at least equal facility obtain a supply of drugs from a chemist ; and

(b) a practitioner shall be entitled to receive reasonable notice from the Council that he is required to undertake the supply of drugs or that such supply is to be discontinued. [2366]

6. Publication of particulars.—The Council shall cause to be published, in such manner as appears to them best calculated to inform all persons interested, particulars of the arrangements made by the Council, including a statement of the places where copies of the terms of service for practitioners and copies of the dental list may be seen, the places at which any necessary forms of application are available, and any other particulars which the Council think proper. [2367]

PART III

Method of Obtaining General Dental Services

7. Elsewhere than at a health centre.—A person requiring general dental services may apply to a practitioner practising elsewhere than at a health centre whose name appears on any dental list. [2368]

8. At a health centre.—A person requiring general dental services may apply to a practitioner practising at a health centre whose name appears on the dental list of the area in which the centre is situated. [2369]

9. Exercise of choice of practitioner in certain cases.—The right to choose the person by whom general dental services are to be provided shall be exercised—

(a) on behalf of any person under the age of sixteen by the mother or in her absence, the father, or in the absence of both parents, the guardian or other person who has the care of the child ; and

(b) on behalf of any other person who on account of old age, sickness or other infirmity is incapable of choosing a person to provide any of the services by a relative or any person who has the care of such person. [2370]

10. Examination by dental officer.—It shall be a condition of obtaining general dental services that a person shall, if required by the Board, submit himself for examination by a dental officer. [2371]

PART IV

Dental Estimates Board

11. Constitution.—(1) There shall be constituted a Board, to be called the Dental Estimates Board, for the purpose of the approval of estimates for dental treatment and of carrying out the duties imposed on them by these regulations.

(2) The Board shall consist of a chairman who shall be a practitioner and eight other members of whom six shall be practitioners.

(3) The chairman and other members shall be appointed by the Minister after consultation with such organisations as the Minister may recognise as representative of practitioners.

(4) The Board shall be a body corporate with perpetual succession and a common seal and a power to hold land without licence in mortmain :

Provided that the Board shall not acquire land except with the consent of the Minister. [2372]

12. Term of office.—The chairman and members of the Board shall hold office during the Minister's pleasure. [2373]

13. Resignation or removal of members.—(1) A member of the Board who desires to resign his membership shall give notice in writing to the Minister.

(2) A member shall, unless the Minister otherwise directs, cease to hold office—

(a) if he has not attended a meeting of the Board for six months ;

(b) if he is adjudged bankrupt, or makes a composition, or arrangement, with his creditors ; or

(c) if he is convicted of a criminal offence.

(3) A member, being either—

(a) a person who holds any paid appointment or office, or other place of profit, in the disposal of a Regional Hospital Board, Hospital Management Committee, Board of Governors of a teaching hospital, or local health authority and who is dismissed from such appointment, office or place of profit ; or shall forthwith cease to be a member. [2374]

(b) a person whose name is removed under the provisions of section 42 of the Act from any list prepared under Part IV of the Act ;

14. Officers.—(1) The Board shall appoint a person approved by the Minister to act as clerk and shall also appoint such other officers as may be necessary. The resolution appointing the clerk shall embody the terms on which the appointment is made.

(2) The Board shall pay to the clerk and to their other officers such remuneration as the Minister may authorise. [2375]

15. Chairman.—(1) At every meeting of the Board the chairman, if present, shall preside.

(2) If the chairman is absent from any such meeting, the members present at the meeting shall elect from amongst themselves a person to act as chairman for the meeting. [2376]

16. Proceedings.—The proceedings of the Board shall not be invalidated by any vacancy in the membership of the Board, or by any defect in the appointment or qualification of any member thereof. [2377]

17. Standing orders.—The Board may make, vary and revoke standing orders for the regulation of the proceedings and business of the Board, and in particular—

(a) for providing that such number of members of the Board, not being less than four, as the standing order may specify shall form a quorum; and

(b) for providing that, subject to such exceptions and qualifications as may be specified in the standing orders, if a member of the Board has any pecuniary interest, direct or indirect, in any estimate or other matter relating to general dental services, he shall, as soon as practicable, disclose the fact to the chairman and shall not take part in the consideration or discussion of any question with respect to the estimate or other matter. [2378]

18. Voting.—Every question at a meeting of the Board shall be determined by a majority of the votes of the members present and voting on the question, and in case of an equal division of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote. [2379]

19. Minutes.—Minutes of the proceedings at every meeting of the Board and a record of the attendance of members at such meeting shall be kept by the clerk or other officer appointed for the purpose [2380]

20. Reports.—The Board shall submit to the Minister as soon as may be after the 31st day of March in each year a report of the Board's proceedings for the year ending on that day and shall also furnish the Minister from time to time with such information in regard to their work as the Minister may require. [2381]

PART V

Special treatment and treatment necessitated by lack of care

21. Expensive dental appliances and special dental treatment.—(1) Where a practitioner agrees at a person's request either—

(a) to supply, as part of general dental services, any denture which is of a more expensive type than the corresponding type made of plastic or vulcanite, or

(b) to repair such a denture at a cost in excess of the cost of repair of the said corresponding type, or

(c) to provide, as part of such services, special dental treatment consisting of gold fillings, inlays or crowns, he shall submit to the Board an estimate of the normal charge on a dental estimate form and a further estimate of the additional or special charge on the form set out in Part III of the fourth schedule to these regulations or on a form to the like effect. Before submitting the forms the practitioner shall obtain the signature of the person concerned to the further estimate and shall not proceed with any treatment other than emergency treatment until approval is given.

(2) In approving an estimate under the last preceding paragraph the Board shall indicate in Part 3 of the dental estimate form the amount determined in accordance with a scale set out in regulations made under the Act to be paid by the person supplied or treated and shall inform that person of the amount.

(3) The Council shall be liable for such part only of the cost of services to which this regulation applies as is not by this regulation made the responsibility of the person supplied or treated.

(4) Any denture or special treatment supplied or provided under paragraph (1) of this regulation which, in the opinion of the Board, is required by the person concerned owing solely to his clinical condition or any repair of a denture so supplied shall be supplied or provided free of charge to that person and the Council shall be liable for the whole of the cost thereof. [2382]

22. Replacements necessitated by lack of care.—(1) Where on the receipt of an estimate for the replacement of a dental appliance to any person (in this regulation called " the patient ") as part of general dental services, the Board consider that there are grounds for believing that the replacement may be necessitated by lack of care on the part of the patient, they shall refer the matter to the Council for investigation.

(2) On receipt of such reference the Council shall make such inquiry into the matter as they think fit and if in their opinion the circumstances so require, or if the patient so demands, the inquiry shall take the form of an oral hearing by a committee of the Council constituted for this purpose.

(3) After the completion of such inquiry the Council shall determine whether the replacement is necessitated by lack of care on the part of the patient and whether the whole or a proportion of the cost of the replacement shall be borne by the patient and shall communicate their decision to the patient, the practitioner and the Board, and the Council shall be responsible for the payment of such part only of the cost as is not determined to be payable by the patient:

Provided that if subsequently it appears to the Council that the payment of the sum so determined to be payable by the patient would involve undue hardship they may make such contribution thereto as they think fit. [2383]

23. Provisions applicable to services at health centres.—In their application to general dental services provided at a health centre the provisions of this Part of the regulations shall be subject to the following modifications :—

(a) Where at the request of a person a practitioner agrees to supply or repair a denture or to provide treatment of a kind specified in regulation 21, the practitioner shall not be required to submit an estimate to the Dental Estimates Board, but, in lieu thereof, he shall give notice to the dental officer on a form to be supplied by the Council and shall not proceed with the treatment other than emergency treatment until the approval of the dental officer is received. The notice to be given shall specify the sum to be paid by the person which shall be determined in accordance with the appropriate scale of fees and shall be subject to the approval of the dental officer.

(b) Any service provided under the last preceding paragraph which in the opinion of the dental officer is required by the person concerned owing solely to his clinical condition shall be provided free of charge to that person.

(c) Where in connection with the replacement of a dental appliance supplied to any person as part of general dental services it appears to the practitioner that there is reason to suppose that such replacement is necessitated by lack of care on the part of the person supplied, he shall, unless such person admits in writing that the replacement is so necessitated, report the matter to the Council. The Council shall thereupon investigate the case in the manner provided by paragraph (2) of regulation 22. If on such investigation the Council are satisfied that the replacement is not necessitated by such lack of care as aforesaid they shall so inform the person supplied and the practitioner. If such lack of care is admitted or determined as aforesaid, the practitioner shall be entitled to recover from such person the appropriate fees payable in respect of such replacement or such part of such fees as the Council may determine. [2384]

24. Payment of charge by person supplied.—The practitioner shall be entitled to recover from any person who receives services under this part of these regulations the appropriate fees payable by the person in accordance with these regulations, and the practitioner may decline to commence or proceed with treatment until he has received payment thereof. [2385]

PART VI

Transitional Provisions

25.—(1) Where before the appointed day a practitioner has undertaken in accordance with an approved estimate to give dental treatment in pursuance of the provisions of the National Health Insurance (Dental Benefit) Regulations, 1938, as amended, or has under such regulations commenced to give treatment which did not require prior approval of an estimate, the practitioner shall, on completing such treatment on or after that date return the estimate to the Board and shall be entitled to receive from the Council payment for such treatment in accordance with—

(a) the above-mentioned regulations, including the scale of fees then in force under them, in respect of such part of the treatment as has been carried out before the appointed day;

(b) these regulations, including the scale of fees in force on the appointed day, in respect of the remainder of the treatment.

(2) If payment has already been made by any person in respect of such treatment the Council may require as a condition of any payment by them that the practitioner shall refund to the person any excess over the amount payable by the patient in accordance with the National Health Insurance (Dental Benefit) Regulations, 1938, as amended.

(3) The Board shall determine any question arising under the foregoing paragraphs of this regulation as to whether treatment has been carried out on or after the appointed day.

(4) Nothing in this regulation shall be construed as affecting any liability to which the National Insurance Fund is subject by virtue of section 66 of the National Insurance Act, 1946 (which relates to the transfer of assets and liabilities) in respect of such part of any treatment as has been carried out before the appointed day. [2386]

SCHEDULES

FIRST SCHEDULE

PART I

TERMS OF SERVICE FOR DENTAL PRACTITIONERS PRACTISING ELSEWHERE THAN AT A HEALTH CENTRE

1. Interpretation.—In these terms of service, except so far as the context otherwise requires, the expression " the regulations " means the National Health Service (General Dental Services) Regulations, 1948, and other words and expressions have the same meaning as in the regulations.

2. Incorporation of provisions of regulations, etc.—Any provisions of the regulations and Part II of the National Health Service (Service Committees and Tribunal) Regulations, 1948, affecting the rights and obligations of practitioners shall be deemed to form part of these terms of service.

3. Standard of service.—(1) In providing general dental services under the regulations a practitioner shall employ a proper degree of skill and attention and shall subject to the provisions of paragraph 8 hereof, provide the treatment necessary to secure dental fitness that the person concerned is willing to undergo, and shall satisfactorily complete that treatment.

(2) A practitioner shall provide proper and sufficient surgery and waiting-room accommodation for persons to whom he is providing general dental services.

(3) A practitioner's surgery shall be furnished with suitable equipment and a practitioner shall provide treatment with suitable instruments.

(4) Inspection of surgery and waiting room accommodation.—A practitioner on receipt of reasonable notice in writing shall admit a dental officer at all reasonable times to any surgery or waiting room under the practitioner's control for the purpose of inspecting the same.

(5) Visiting.—A practitioner shall visit and treat a person for whom he has undertaken to provide general dental services whose condition so requires at any place where that person may be at the time, within five miles of his surgery.

(6) Anaesthetics.—A practitioner shall be responsible for providing the services of a medical or dental practitioner when necessary for the administration of an anaesthetic in connection with any operation undertaken by him under these terms of service.

4. Reference to another practitioner or hospital or specialist services.—If the condition of a person requiring general dental services is such as to require treatment which the practitioner is unable to carry out, but such treatment to the knowledge of the practitioner can be provided by another practitioner whose name appears on any dental list, or is available as part of the hospital and specialist services provided under Part II of the Act, the practitioner shall inform the said person of the fact that if the person so wishes, the practitioner shall take all necessary steps to enable him to receive such treatment. When referring a person to another practitioner or to the hospital and specialist services, the practitioner shall give adequate particulars in writing either beforehand or as soon as possible afterwards.

5. Records.—In each case in which a practitioner provides treatment under the regulations, he shall keep a record in the form set out in Part IV of the fourth schedule thereto, to be provided by the Council or in a form substantially to the like effect, and shall if required to do so produce such records to the Board, the Council, or a dental officer.

6. Fees.—(1) A practitioner shall be entitled to be paid such fees and other remuneration in respect of any treatment which he is required to give under these terms of service as the Minister may from time to time determine by regulations made under section 40 of the Act.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in the regulations, a practitioner shall not suggest, demand or accept from any person for whom he is providing general dental services or from any other person the payment of any fee or remuneration in respect of any treatment which he is required to give under these terms of service :

Provided that nothing in this sub-paragraph shall deprive the practitioner of any right to recover a reasonable charge from any person in respect of loss of remunerative time resulting from the failure of that person without sufficient excuse to keep an appointment.

7. Preparation and submission of estimates.—(1) In accepting an application for treatment, the practitioner shall—

(a) complete Part 6 of the dental estimate form and after detaching it, give it to the applicant ;

(b) examine the applicant and complete Part 7 of the form ;

(c) set out in column 1 of Part 8 of the form the whole of the treatment necessary in his opinion to render the person dentally fit and, if the person is not willing to undergo the whole of such treatment, in column II of that Part particulars of such part of that treatment as the person is willing to undergo.

(2) Where the extent of the treatment which the person is willing to undergo is not beyond that specified in column A of the second schedule to the regulations, the practitioner may proceed with and complete the treatment before sending the dental estimate form to the Board for approval.

(3) Where the treatment which the person is willing to undergo includes treatment in column B of the second schedule, the practitioner shall as soon as may be, and in any case within ten days after making his examination, send the dental estimate form to the Board for approval, and shall not proceed with any treatment other than treatment specified in column A of the said schedule or such emergency treatment as is referred to in the footnote to the schedule, until such approval is received.

(4) (a) If during the course of treatment in respect of which prior approval of an estimate is not required any variation or addition such as would have made the treatment subject to prior approval is found to be necessary, the practitioner shall immediately notify the Board in writing of the circumstances and shall as soon as reasonably practicable submit an estimate of the whole of the treatment necessary (including that which has been begun) and thereafter the provisions of the last preceding sub-paragraph shall apply to such part of the treatment as has not been commenced.

(b) If during the course of treatment in respect of which prior approval of an estimate is required any variation or addition is found to be necessary, the practitioner shall without delay submit an additional estimate and any such estimate shall be subject to the provisions of sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph.

(5) A practitioner shall complete treatment with reasonable expedition and shall—

(a) in the case of treatment to which sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph applies, not take longer than six months from the date upon which the person is accepted by him for treatment ;

(b) in other cases not take longer than six months, or in the case of treatment including extractions and the provision of dentures twelve months, from the date on which the approval of an estimate is received by him :

Provided that these time limits shall not apply when any delay is due to failure on the part of the person concerned to attend for treatment or where the Board is satisfied that there is other sufficient reason.

(6) Upon completing treatment for a person a practitioner shall give a certificate to that effect in Part 5 of the dental estimate form and shall obtain in Part 4 of that form a certificate from the person concerned that treatment has been completed to the best of his belief. Treatment in so far as it relates to dentures shall not be regarded as complete unless the dentures have been delivered to and remain in the possession of the person concerned. The practitioner shall within one month of the completion of the treatment send to the Board the dental estimate form.

8. Inability or unwillingness of practitioner to complete treatment.—(1) If owing to any cause beyond the control of the practitioner, a practitioner is unable to complete any treatment which has been commenced, he shall forthwith notify the Board in writing of the amount of treatment completed, and of the reason for his inability to complete the remainder, and shall be entitled to such payment as may be approved by the Board in respect of such treatment as has already been provided.

(2) The Council may, on the application of a practitioner, authorise him on such terms as they think just to discontinue any treatment which he has commenced, but before doing so they shall consider any representations which the patient may wish to make with respect to the application. If the application is granted the patient and the Board shall be so informed and the practitioner shall be entitled to such payment as may be approved by the Board in respect of such treatment as has already been provided.

9. Supply of drugs.—(1) A practitioner may supply to a person for whom he is providing general dental services such drugs (being drugs specified in the third schedule to the regulations) as are required for immediate administration or application or for use before a supply can be obtained under the next following paragraph ;

(2) A practitioner may supply any other drug which is administered by him in person ;

(3) A practitioner shall supply all requisite drugs which under regulation 5 of the regulations he is required by the Council to supply.

10. Duty to prescribe.—A practitioner shall order, on a form to be provided by the Council for the purpose, such drugs specified in the third schedule to the regulations (other than those supplied under the preceding paragraph) as are requisite for the treatment of any person for whom he is providing general dental services. The order shall be signed by the practitioner or by his deputy or assistant with his own hand and shall not be written in such a manner as to necessitate reference on the part of the person supplying the drugs to a previous order.

The form shall not be used for persons other than those for whom the practitioner is providing general dental services and a separate form shall be used for each person.

11. Deputies, assistants and partners.—(1) If a practitioner intends to absent himself from his practice for more than twenty-one consecutive days, he shall notify either the Council or the persons for whom he is providing general dental services of his intended absence and of the practitioner or practitioners, if any, responsible for conducting his practice. If a practitioner intends to absent himself from his practice for more than two months, he shall inform the Council.

(2) A practitioner shall not employ an assistant practitioner for the purpose of the provision of general dental services for a continuous period of three months or more without notifying the Council.

(3) A practitioner shall not without the consent of the Minister employ as a deputy or assistant for the purpose of the provision of general dental services any practitioner who is disqualified for inclusion in the dental list of a Council under section 42 of the Act.

(4) A practitioner acting as deputy shall be entitled to provide treatment at places or at times other than those arranged by the practitioner for whom he is acting, due regard being had to the convenience of the persons for whom the treatment is provided.

(5) A practitioner shall be responsible for all acts and omissions of any practitioner acting as his deputy or assistant.

(6) A deputy or assistant (other than a partner or assistant whose name is included in the dental list) shall, in addition to signing with his own name any dental estimate form or prescription, insert therein the name of the practitioner for whom he is acting as deputy or assistant.

(7) In the case of two or more practitioners practising in partnership or as principal and assistant, treatment may at any time be given by a partner or assistant of the practitioner to whom a person has applied for general dental services, instead of by the practitioner in person, but the practitioner shall take reasonable steps to secure continuity of treatment.

12. Revision of terms of service.—(1) The Council may, subject to the approval of the Minister, alter the terms of service as from such date as the Minister may approve by giving notice of the proposed alteration to each practitioner.

(2) Except in the case of an alteration which results from the coming into operation of any Act of Parliament or from an amendment of any regulation, the Council shall before making an alteration consult with the Local Dental Committee and the alteration shall not come into operation within a period of three months from the date of the issue of the notice.

13. Withdrawal from dental list.—A practitioner shall be entitled at any time to give notice in writing to the Council that he desires to withdraw his name from the dental list and his name shall be removed therefrom at the expiration of three months from the date of such notice or of such shorter period as the Council may agree :

Provided that—

(a) If representations are made to the Tribunal under section 42 of the Act that the continued inclusion of a practitioner in the dental list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the general dental services, he shall not, except with the consent of the Minister and subject to such conditions, if any, as the Minister may impose, be entitled to have his name removed from the list pending the termination of the proceedings on such representations, and

(b) Where any treatment has been commenced the practitioner shall make satisfactory arrangements for the treatment to be completed.

14. Disputes, appeals, etc.—The terms of service relating to the following matters are contained in Part II of the National Health (Service Committees and Tribunal) Regulations, 1948 :—

(a) the investigation of questions arising between practitioners and persons for whom they are providing general dental services, and the action which may be taken by the Council as a result of such investigations including the withholding of remuneration from a practitioner where there has been a breach of the terms of service.

(b) appeals to the Minister from decisions of the Council and the Board.

(c) the investigation of record keeping.

15. Issue of notices to practitioners.—Any notice which a Council is required or authorised by these terms of service to give to a practitioner shall be sufficiently given if it has been delivered to the practitioner or sent by post to him at the address which the practitioner last notified the Council as being his address. [2387]

PART II

TERMS OF SERVICE FOR DENTAL PRACTITIONERS UNDERTAKING TO PROVIDE GENERAL DENTAL SERVICES AT A HEALTH CENTRE

1. Interpretation.—In these terms of service, except so far as the context otherwise requires, the expression " the regulations " means the National Health Service (General Dental Services) Regulations, 1948, and other words and expressions have the same meaning as in the regulations.

2. Incorporation of provisions of regulations, etc.—Any provisions of the regulations and Part II of the National Health Service (Service Committees and Tribunal) Regulations, 1948, affecting the rights and obligations of practitioners shall so far as they are applicable be deemed to form part of these terms of service.

3. Attendance.—(1) A practitioner shall attend at the health centre on such days and at such hours as may be agreed between the Council and the practitioner.

(2) The practitioner shall not, without the permission of the Council, be entitled to provide at the health centre any dental treatment other than general dental services provided under the regulations.

4. Standard of service.—In providing general dental services a practitioner shall employ a proper degree of skill and attention and shall provide the treatment necessary to secure dental fitness which the person concerned is willing to undergo and shall, subject to the provisions of paragraph 13 hereof, satisfactorily complete that treatment.

5. Acceptance of applicant for treatment.—On accepting an application for treatment the practitioner shall request the applicant to sign such form as may be provided by the Council for the purpose.

6. Admission of dental officers.—A practitioner shall admit a dental officer at all reasonable times to any surgery or waiting room used by the practitioner at the health centre for the purpose of examining the services provided.

7. Visiting.—A practitioner who has undertaken to provide general dental services for any person shall if that person's condition so requires visit and treat him at any place where he may be at the time : Provided that such place is not more distant than five miles, or such other distance as may be agreed by the Council and the practitioner, from the health centre.

8. Anaesthetics.—A practitioner shall be responsible for providing the services of either a medical or dental practitioner when necessary for the administration of an anaesthetic in connection with any operation undertaken by him under these terms of service.

9. Reference to another practitioner or hospital or specialist services.—If the condition of a person requiring general dental services is such as to require treatment which the practitioner is unable to carry out but such treatment to the knowledge of the practitioner can be provided by another practitioner whose name appears on any dental list, or is available as part of the hospital and specialist services provided under Part II of the Act, the practitioner shall inform the said person of the fact and if the person so wishes the practitioner shall take all necessary steps to enable him to receive such treatment. When referring a person to another practitioner or to the hospital and specialist services the practitioner shall give adequate particulars in writing either beforehand or as soon as possible afterwards.

10. Records.—In each case in which a practitioner provides treatment under the regulations, he shall keep a record in a form to be provided by the Council for the purpose. The record shall be the property of the Council and shall be made available for inspection to the dental officer at all reasonable times. The practitioner shall also supply to the dental officer such information with regard to the treatment of patients as he may request.

11. Fees.—(1) A practitioner shall be entitled to be paid such remuneration in respect of his obligations under these terms of service as the Minister may from time to time determine by regulations made under section 40 of the Act.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in the regulations a practitioner shall not suggest, demand or accept from any person for whom he is providing general dental services or from any other person the payment of any fee or remuneration in respect of any dental treatment which he is required to give under these terms of service. The practitioner shall account for and pay over to the Council, in such manner as they may require, any fees received by him in respect of dental treatment falling within the provisions of Part V of the regulations.

12. Consultation with dental officer.—Where a practitioner proposes to provide a service of a kind specified in regulation 21 of the regulations solely on account of the clinical condition of the person concerned and not at his request the practitioner shall give notice of the proposal to the dental officer on a form to be provided by the Council and shall not proceed with any such treatment other than emergency treatment until the dental officer's approval has been received.

13. Treatment not completed.—If owing to any cause beyond the control of the practitioner he is unable to complete any treatment, he shall forthwith notify the dental officer in writing of the amount of treatment completed, and of the reason for his inability to complete the remainder, and if the treatment is given under Part V of the regulations, he shall be entitled to claim from the person concerned such fees based on the appropriate scale as may be approved by the dental officer in respect of such treatment as has already been provided.

14. Completion of treatment.—A practitioner shall complete treatment with reasonable expedition and shall—

(a) in the case of treatment which is referred to in column A of the second schedule to the regulations, not take longer than six months from the date upon which the person is accepted by him for treatment;

(b) in other cases not take longer than six months or in the case of treatment including extractions and the provision of dentures twelve months from the date on which the person is accepted by him for treatment:

Provided that these time limits shall not apply when any delay is due to failure on the part of the person concerned to attend for treatment or where the dental officer is satisfied that there is other sufficient reason for the delay.

15. Supply of drugs.—(1) A practitioner may supply to a person for whom he is providing general dental services such drugs (being drugs specified in the third schedule to the regulations) as are required for immediate administration or application or for use before a supply can be obtained otherwise under the regulations.

(2) A practitioner may supply any other drug which is administered by him in person.

(3) Any drug supplied under this paragraph shall be obtained by the practitioner in such manner as the Council may require.

16. Duty to prescribe.—A practitioner shall order, on a form to be provided by the Council for the purpose, such drugs specified in the third schedule to the regulations (other than those supplied under the last preceding paragraph), as are requisite for the treatment of any person for whom he is providing general dental services. The order shall be signed by the practitioner with his own hand and shall not be written in such a manner as to necessitate reference on the part of the person supplying the drugs to a previous order. A separate form shall be used for each person.

17. Termination of service.—(1) Any arrangement between a Council and a practitioner for the provision of general dental services at a health centre may be terminated by either party giving to the other 3 months notice in writing:

Provided that if the practitioner shall fail to comply with any of these terms of service the Council may terminate the arrangement by giving him one month's notice in writing.

(2) The Council may at any time suspend a practitioner from the discharge of his duties, but such suspension shall not affect the right of the practitioner to receive remuneration during the continuance thereof.

18. Revision of terms of service.—The Council may, with the approval of the Minister, by notice given to each practitioner at a health centre, alter the terms of service as from such date as may be specified in the notice :

Provided that such date shall not, except in the case of an alteration which results from the coming into operation of an Act of Parliament or from an amendment of any regulation, be less than 3 months from the giving of such notice.

19. Withdrawal or removal from dental list.—A practitioner shall be entitled at any time to give notice in writing to the Council that he desires to withdraw his name from the dental list and his name shall be removed therefrom at the expiration of three months from the date of such notice or of such shorter period as the Council may agree :

Provided that if representations are made to the Tribunal under section 42 of the Act that the continued inclusion of a practitioner in the dental list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the general dental services, he shall not, except with the consent of the Minister and subject to such conditions if any as the Minister may impose, be entitled to have his name removed from the list pending the termination of the proceedings on such representations.

20. Disputes, appeals, etc.—The terms of service relating to the following matters are contained in Part II of the National Health Service (Service Committees and Tribunal) Regulations, 1948 :—

(a) the investigation of questions arising between practitioners and persons for whom they are providing general dental services, and the action which may be taken by the Council as the result of such investigations including the withholding of remuneration from a practitioner where there has been a breach of the terms of service.

(b) appeals to the Minister from decisions of the Council.

21. Issue of notices to practitioners.—Any notice which a Council is required or authorised by these terms of service to give to a practitioner shall be sufficiently given if it has been delivered to the practitioner or sent by post to him at the address which he has last notified the Council as being his address. SCHEDULES :

First Schedule.—Terms of service for, and remuneration of, medical practitioners and form of application for inclusion in medical list	807
Second Schedule.—Form of certificate to be issued by Medical Practices Committee under Section 35 (9) of the Act	814
Third Schedule.—List of prescribed appliances and chemical reagents	815
Fourth Schedule.—Terms of service and forms for chemists	816

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 32, 33, 34, 35, 38, 39, 45 and 74 of, and the Fifth and Sixth Schedules to the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

PART I

General

1. Short title and commencement.—These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (General Medical and Pharmaceutical Services) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the twenty-fourth day of March, 1948. [2395]

2. Interpretation.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" assistant " means a medical practitioner who acts as an assistant to a medical practitioner ;

" Council " means the Executive Council constituted for any area ;

" drugs " includes medicines and such chemical reagents as are or may be prescribed ;

" Local Obstetric Committee " means a committee recognised by the Minister for the purpose of approving the obstetric experience of a medical practitioner ;

" maternity medical services " means the provision of personal medical services in respect of a confinement by a medical practitioner having obstetric experience ;

" medical card " means a card issued to a person, in a form approved by the Minister, for the purpose of enabling him to obtain or establishing his title to receive general medical services other than maternity medical services from a medical practitioner, and shall include any similar card provided for the same purpose under the National Health Insurance (Medical Benefit) Regulations, 1936 ;

" medical officer " means any medical officer appointed by the Minister for a district in which general medical services are provided ;

" practitioner " means a registered medical practitioner and includes a medical practitioner having obstetric experience ;

" medical practitioner having obstetric experience " means a practitioner whose experience in obstetrics is for the time being approved by the Local Obstetric Committee ;

" treatment " means medical attendance and treatment and includes the issue of medical certificates under, or for the purposes of, any enactment, and the keeping and furnishing of any records, and the preparation and transmission of any reports, in accordance with the terms of service set out in Part I of the first schedule to these regulations : Provided that the expression shall not include maternity medical services unless a practitioner has by arrangement undertaken to provide the person concerned with such services.

(2) In these regulations the expression " chemist " means a registered pharmacist or authorised seller of poisons within the meaning of the Pharmacy and Poisons Act, 1933, who provides pharmaceutical services. The regulations shall also apply (except so far as the context may otherwise require) to any other person, firm or body corporate (other than a medical or dental practitioner) providing pharmaceutical services as if that person, firm or body were a chemist as so defined.

(3) The Interpretation Act, 1889 applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2396]

General note.—Para. (1), supra, has been amended by S.I. 1948 No. 1448, post.

PART II

Medical Practitioners

3. Terms of service for medical practitioners.—The arrangements which a Council is required by section 33 of the Act to make with practitioners for the provision of personal medical services shall incorporate the terms of service contained or referred to in Part I of the first schedule to these regulations. [2397]

4. Medical list.—(1) The Council shall prepare a list to be called " the medical list " of the practitioners who are entitled to be included in the list.

(2) The medical list shall include in a separate part the names of practitioners having obstetric experience who have undertaken to provide maternity medical services and shall show by a distinguishing mark or otherwise which of them are included in the list for the purpose of providing maternity medical services only.

(3) The medical list shall contain in addition to the names of medical practitioners :—

(a) the private address and the address of any surgery, health centre or other place, at which the medical practitioner undertakes to attend for the purpose of treating persons receiving general medical services ;

(b) particulars of the days and hours at which he undertakes to be in attendance at each place ;

(c) where two or more medical practitioners practise in partnership, the names of the partners ;

(d) where the practitioner is acting as an assistant, the name and address of the principal ;

(e) any conditions as to the area of practice attached to the granting of an application by the Medical Practices Committee or, on appeal, by the Minister, and may, if the Council think fit, be so arranged as to show the part of the area in which each medical practitioner will provide treatment.

(4) Copies of the medical list shall be available for inspection at the office of the Council and at such other places as appear to the Council to be convenient for informing all persons interested and shall be kept revised up to date.

(5) The Council shall send a copy of the medical list to the Minister, the Medical Practices Committee, the Local Medical Committee, the Local Obstetric Committee and the Local Pharmaceutical Committee, and shall within seven days inform each of them of any alteration which may from time to time be made therein. The Council shall also send a copy of the list to the local health authority, the Regional Hospital Board, the Hospital Management Committees of hospitals serving the area, the Board of Governors of any teaching hospital in the area, and to any person under contract with the Council to provide pharmaceutical services and at intervals of not more than three months shall notify them of any alteration made in the medical list: Provided that in the case of persons providing pharmaceutical services, Boards of Governors and Hospital Management Committees the Council may send to them the portions of the list which appear to the Council to concern them. [2398]

5. Applications for inclusion in a medical list.—(1) Application by a practitioner for inclusion in a medical list shall be made by delivering or sending the application by post to the Council in the form set out in Part III of the first schedule to these regulations, or in a form to the like effect.

(2) On receipt of an application from a practitioner, other than a practitioner entitled to inclusion by virtue of sub-section (1) of section 34 of the Act, for inclusion in the medical list, the Council shall transmit the application to the Medical Practices Committee, together with a report on a form approved by the Committee. [2399]

6. Reports by Council to Medical Practices Committee.—(1) Every Council not later than the 31st December, 1948, and thereafter once in every year or at such more frequent intervals as the Medical Practices Committee may require shall furnish the Committee with such information as may be required by the Committee to enable them to judge the adequacy of the medical services in the area of the Council or any part thereof.

(2) On receipt of notice of death or on the withdrawal or removal of the name of a practitioner from the medical list the Council shall forthwith inform the Medical Practices Committee and shall furnish to that Committee a report as to the need for filling the vacancy. [2400]

7. Advertisement of vacancies.—A Council may give public notice of any vacancy for a medical practitioner in their area by advertisement in the press or otherwise. [2401]

PART III

Medical Practices Committee

8. Appointment of members and tenure and vacation of office.—(1) The following provisions shall apply to the members of the Medical Practices Committee (in this part of these regulations referred to as "the Committee").

(2)—(a) The first chairman of the Committee shall be appointed for a period ending on the 31st day of March, 1950.

(b) Of the eight original members, other than the chairman, two shall be appointed for a period ending on the 31st day of March, 1950, three for a period ending on the 31st day of March, 1951, and the remainder for a period ending on the 31st day of March, 1952.

(c) Subject as herein provided members shall be appointed for a period of three years expiring on the 31st day of March in any year.

(d) A member may be re-appointed to the Committee on the expiration of his term of office.

(e) A member may resign from the Committee by giving notice in writing to the Minister: Provided that a member who is appointed as being a person actively engaged in medical practice shall be deemed to have resigned if he ceases to be so engaged.

(f) A person appointed to fill a casual vacancy shall hold office for the remainder of the period for which his predecessor was appointed. [2402]

9. Procedure for the determination of applications.—(1) Subject to the next following paragraph a decision of the Committee to grant an application for inclusion in the list on the ground that the number of practitioners undertaking to provide general medical services in the area or part of an area is not already adequate shall be given in such manner as the Committee may determine.

(2) Subject to paragraph (4) of this regulation any decision of the Committee involving the refusal of an application or the granting of an application subject to conditions, shall be the decision of the majority of members present and voting at a meeting of the Committee and the Committee shall inform the applicant of his right of appeal to the Minister.

(3) If the Committee are of opinion that one or more practitioners are required for the area or part of the area concerned and the number of applicants exceeds the number of practitioners required, they shall :—

(a) consider the views expressed by the Council with respect to the applications ;

(b) if they think fit, give to the applicants or any of them the opportunity to attend before them and make representations in person or to make written representations ;

(c) select the applicant or applicants whose applications are to be granted and forthwith inform them, the Council and the Minister of their decision, and

(d) inform any practitioner whose application is refused or granted subject to conditions of his right of appeal to the Minister.

(4) Four members shall form a quorum and in the case of equality of votes the chairman shall have a second or casting vote. [2403]

10. Appeal to the Minister.—(1) A practitioner may appeal to the Minister against the refusal of an application for inclusion in the medical list or the granting of such application subject to conditions by sending to the Minister notice of appeal within seven days, or such longer period as the Minister may allow, from the date on which the notice of the decision of the Committee is given to him.

(2) The notice of appeal shall contain a concise statement of the facts and contentions upon which the appellant intends to rely.

(3) If it appears to the Minister that the appeal is of such a nature that it can properly be determined without an oral hearing he may dispense with an oral hearing, and determine the appeal summarily and shall communicate his decision to the appellant, the Committee, and the Council.

(4) If the Minister is of opinion that an oral hearing is required, he shall appoint one or more persons to hear the appeal.

(5) An oral hearing shall take place at such time and place as the Minister may direct and notice of the hearing shall be sent by post to the appellant, the Committee, the Council and any practitioner whose application for appointment to the vacancy to which the application relates was granted, not less than seven days before the date fixed for the hearing.

(6) The appellant and any of the parties to whom notice of the hearing is required to be given may attend and be heard in person or by counsel or solicitor or other representative. The Committee and the Council may be represented at the hearing by any duly authorised officer or member or by counsel or solicitor.

(7) Subject as aforesaid the procedure at the oral hearing shall be such as the person or persons hearing the appeal may determine.

(8) The person or persons hearing the appeal shall as soon as may be after the hearing draw up a report, stating the relevant facts and his or their conclusions, and the Minister after taking such report into consideration shall give his decision and communicate it to the appellant, the Committee, the Council and such practitioners as have under the foregoing provisions of this regulation been served with notice of the hearing. [2404]

11. Certificate that transaction does not involve sale of goodwill.—A certificate issued by the Medical Practices Committee under section 35 (9) of the Act, shall be in the form set out in the second schedule to these regulations or in a form to the like effect. [2405]

PART IV

Method of obtaining general medical services other than maternity medical services

12. Selection of practitioner.—Application by a person for acceptance by a practitioner for inclusion in his list shall be made by delivering to the practitioner either a medical card or a signed form of application for acceptance on his list:

Provided that:—

(1) any person, entitled immediately before the appointed day to medical benefit under the National Health Insurance Acts, 1936 to 1941, and then included in the list of a practitioner who, as from the appointed day, provides general medical services other than maternity medical services, shall be deemed to be included in the list of that practitioner under these regulations unless and until he has chosen another practitioner or given notice in writing to the Council of his desire not to be so included;

(2) any person entitled immediately before the appointed day to receive medical benefit under the National Health Insurance Acts, 1936 to 1941, through an institution approved for the purpose of section 38 of the National Health Insurance Act, 1936, shall,

(a) if the institution immediately before the appointed day employs a single practitioner who as from that day provides general medical services other than maternity medical services, be deemed to be included in the list of that practitioner,

(b) if the institution immediately before the appointed day employs two or more practitioners who as from that day provide general medical services other than maternity medical services, be deemed to be included in the list of such one of those practitioners as he may be assigned to by the institution, unless and until the person concerned has chosen another practitioner or given notice in writing to the Council of his desire not to be so included. [2406]

13. Allocation scheme.—(1) The Council after consultation with the Local Medical Committee shall prepare a scheme (hereinafter referred to as "the allocation scheme") which shall provide for the following matters:—

(a) the constitution of a committee of the Council (hereinafter referred to as " the allocation committee ") consisting of equal numbers of persons appointed by the Council and the Local Medical Committee respectively and of a chairman, and the assignment to such committee of such powers and duties relating to the administration of the scheme as may be specified therein ;

(b) the steps to be taken by a practitioner to enable a person, who has applied for and been refused acceptance by him, to be accepted by or assigned to a practitioner ;

(c) the provision of any treatment required by the person pending such acceptance or assignment ;

(d) the period within which notice of acceptance of a person is to be given to the Council by any practitioner ;

(e) the assignment to a practitioner of any person who applies for assignment ;

(f) the provision by a practitioner of emergency treatment in cases where neither the practitioner normally responsible for providing treatment nor his deputy is available and where such treatment is immediately necessary owing to an accident or other emergency ;

(g) the restrictions, if any, to be imposed on the right of a practitioner to require the removal of a person from his list where the removal would be likely to involve hardship owing to the state of that person's health ;

(h) such incidental or consequential provisions as may be deemed necessary.

(2) The allocation scheme shall also provide for a limit to be placed on the number of persons who may be placed on the list of a practitioner and, except in cases in which owing to special circumstances the Council with the approval of the Minister otherwise permit, the scheme shall not permit the following maximum numbers to be exceeded, namely :—

(a) in the case of a practitioner carrying on practice otherwise than as an assistant or in partnership 4,000 ;

(b) in the case of two or more practitioners carrying on practice in partnership 5,000 on the list of any partner and an average of 4,000 on the list of both or all the partners.

(3) Where a practitioner or a partnership of practitioners employs one or more permanent assistants, the number of persons for whose treatment the practitioner or practitioners may be responsible may be increased to an extent allowed by the scheme not exceeding 2,400 in respect of each assistant.

(4) The allocation scheme shall also provide for enabling a practitioner, the number of persons on whose list exceeds the limit, to make arrangements within a specified period for bringing the number within the limit, either by reducing the number of persons on his list or by employing an assistant or otherwise, and may include provision for securing the necessary consultation and co-ordination in this respect between the Council and Councils in adjoining areas.

(5) The allocation scheme may also provide for the application with the necessary modifications of the provisions of regulation 14 (2) of these regulations to the case of :—

(a) a practitioner whose name is included in the medical list in respect of more than one address and who ceases to practise at one of such addresses ;

(b) a practitioner who on ceasing to employ a permanent assistant reduces the number of persons on his list ; and

(c) a practitioner who on entering into partnership with another practitioner reduces the number of persons on his list.

(6) In the event of the Council and Local Medical Committee failing to agree on any provision of the allocation scheme the matter shall be referred to the Minister, whose determination shall be final.

(7) The provisions of the allocation scheme shall be subject to the approval of the Minister.

(8) The Council, after consultation with the Local Medical Committee, may from time to time amend the allocation scheme subject to the approval of the Minister. If the Local Medical Committee require any amendment, the allocation scheme may, in default of agreement between the Council and the Committee, be amended by the Minister.

(9) If the Council fail to submit an allocation scheme to the Minister within such time as he may direct, the Minister may make a scheme and such scheme shall have effect within the area of the Council as though it had been prepared by the Council and approved by the Minister. [2407]

14. Change of practitioner.—(1) A person may at any time make application for acceptance by a practitioner notwithstanding that he is at the date of application included in the list of another practitioner, and if accepted he shall forthwith be entitled to obtain treatment from the practitioner to whom application has been made.

(2) On the death or on the removal or withdrawal from the medical list of a practitioner, the Council shall give to the persons on the list of such practitioner notice of their right to apply to another practitioner for acceptance: Provided that if the Council and Local Medical Committee are of opinion that one or more practitioners should be regarded as succeeding in whole or in part to the practice of a practitioner whose name has ceased to be included in the medical list, the Council shall inform any person concerned on the list of the last mentioned practitioner of the name and address of the successor in whose list it is considered he may wish to be included. The notice shall state that the successor is willing to accept such person for treatment and the person shall be deemed to be included in the list of that practitioner as from the date of the notice unless and until he has chosen another practitioner, or given notice in writing to the Council of his desire not to be so included. [2408]

15. Temporary arrangements for practice on retirement, death, etc.—(1) For the purpose of securing the treatment of persons on the list of a practitioner whose name has ceased to be included in the medical list pending their selection or transfer to the list of another practitioner, the Council may, after consultation with the Local Medical Committee, appoint one or more practitioners to undertake the treatment of such persons and may make such arrangements as they think fit for the accommodation and other needs of a practitioner so appointed: Provided that where the name of a deceased practitioner ceases to be included in the medical list, and any person within seven days of the date of death makes application to the Council on behalf of the estate of the deceased practitioner and the Council are satisfied that he is acting in the interests of the estate, they may, instead of making an appointment under this paragraph, authorise such person to appoint one or more practitioners to undertake as the deputy or deputies of the deceased practitioner the treatment of persons who were on the list of the deceased practitioner immediately before his death.

(2) An appointment of any practitioner under this regulation shall be for such period as the Council think fit not exceeding, except in special circumstances, two months and shall be subject to the condition that the practitioner agrees in writing to be bound by the terms of service which were applicable to the practitioner whose name has ceased to be included in the medical list. During the period of any such appointment the name of any person who has not been transferred to another practitioner shall be deemed to remain on the list of the practitioner whose name has ceased to be included in the medical list. [2409]

16. Removal of person from practitioner's list.—A person who no longer wishes to avail himself of general medical services, may at any time give notice to the Council that he wishes his name to be removed from a practitioner's list, and at the expiration of fourteen days from the date of the receipt of the notice the Council shall remove the name and inform the person and practitioner. [2410]

17. Cases of temporary residence.—(1) A person who is residing temporarily in any district and is not on the list of a practitioner providing general medical services in that district may apply to any practitioner to be accepted by him as a temporary resident. In such a case his name shall not be removed from the list of any practitioner in which it is already included.

(2) A person moving from place to place who is for the time being not resident in any place may apply to any practitioner to be accepted by him as a temporary resident.

(3) For the purpose of this regulation the residence of a person shall be deemed to be temporary if at the time of his arrival in a district he intends to remain there for a period of not more than three months: Provided that if his stay in such district extends to more than three months his residence shall at the end of that period cease to be regarded as temporary. [2411]

18. Practitioners' lists.—(1) The Council shall prepare and keep revised up to date a list of persons for whose treatment each practitioner is for the time being responsible and shall from time to time furnish the practitioner with information in such form as the Minister may determine with regard to persons included in or removed from that list.

(2) Any deletion, otherwise than by reason of death, shall take effect as from the date on which notice of the deletion is sent by the Council to the practitioner or from such other date, not being earlier than that date, as may be specified in the notice. Any deletion by reason of death shall take effect as from the date on which that person died. [2412]

PART V

Method of obtaining maternity medical services

19. Application for services.—A person who after diagnosis of pregnancy by a medical practitioner requires the provision of maternity medical services, may arrange for the provision of such services either—

(a) with the practitioner in whose list her name is included being a practitioner having obstetric experience or

(b) with any other practitioner on the medical list having obstetric experience. [2413]

General note.—For this regulation a new regulation has been substituted by S.I. 1948 No. 1448, post.

20. Change of practitioner.—(1) If a practitioner ceases to provide maternity medical services he shall give to any person for whom he has arranged to provide maternity medical services notice of the fact and of her right to make fresh arrangements with a practitioner having obstetric experience.

(2) A practitioner who has arranged to provide maternity medical services for any person may agree with that person to terminate the arrangement. Such person may then make fresh arrangements with another practitioner having obstetric experience.

(3) If for any reason a practitioner who has arranged to provide maternity medical services for any person or the person concerned desires to terminate the arrangements, either of them may, in default of agreement, apply to the Council for permission to terminate the arrangements. After hearing such representations as the practitioner and the person concerned may make, the Council may terminate the arrangements and give notice to such person of her right to make fresh arrangements. [2414]

General note.—Paras. (1) and (2), supra, have been amended by S.I. 1948 No. 1448, post.

21. Cases of temporary residence.—If a person requires maternity medical services and is a temporary resident, she may arrange for the provision of such services as she may require during her period of temporary residence with any practitioner having obstetric experience who is on the medical list for the area. Arrangements made under this regulation shall not terminate any arrangements made under regulation 19 of these regulations. [2415]

PART VI

Remuneration of Practitioners

22. Remuneration under distribution scheme.—(1) The sum credited in respect of any year to a Council under regulations made by the Minister for such payments by way of remuneration and allowances to practitioners as are referred to in paragraph 1 of Part II of the first schedule to these regulations shall be distributed by the Council in accordance with a scheme made by them (hereinafter referred to as a " distribution scheme "), which shall deal also with the other matters referred to in paragraph 2 of the said Part.

(2) The distribution scheme shall be prepared by the Council after consultation with the Local Medical Committee, and in the event of the Council and the Committee failing to agree on any provision of the scheme the matter shall be referred to the Minister whose determination shall be final.

(3) The provisions of the distribution scheme shall be subject to the approval of the Minister.

(4) The Council, after consultation with the Local Medical Committee, may from time to time amend the distribution scheme subject to the approval of the Minister. If the Local Medical Committee require any amendment, the distribution scheme may, in default of agreement between the Council and the Committee, be amended by the Minister.

(5) If the Council fail to submit a distribution scheme to the Minister within such time as he may direct, the Minister may make a scheme and such scheme shall have effect within the area of the Council as though it had been prepared by the Council and approved by the Minister. [2416]

23. Other remuneration.—Practitioners providing general medical services shall be entitled, in addition to any payments made under the distribution scheme, to receive from the Council payments in respect of the matters specified in paragraph 3 of Part II of the first schedule to these regulations at such rates and subject to such conditions as the Minister may determine after consultation with such organisations as he may recognise as representative of the medical profession. [2417]

PART VII

Chemists

24. Terms of service for chemists.—The arrangements which a Council is required by section 38 of the Act to make for the supply of drugs and medicines and prescribed appliances to persons receiving general medical services, and of prescribed drugs and medicines to persons receiving general dental services, shall incorporate the terms of service contained or referred to in Part I of the fourth schedule to these regulations. [2418]

25. Preparation of pharmaceutical list.—(1) The Council shall prepare a list, to be called "the pharmaceutical list", of the names and places of business of the chemists who are entitled to be included in the list, and the list shall indicate whether they have undertaken to supply drugs or appliances or both and shall distinguish those who are entitled to dispense medicines and shall also indicate the days and hours during which the several places of business are open.

(2) Application by a chemist for inclusion in a pharmaceutical list shall be made by delivering or sending the application by post to the Council in the form set out in Part II or Part III of the fourth schedule to these regulations, or in a form to the like effect.

(3) Copies of the pharmaceutical list shall be available for inspection at the office of the Council and at such other places as appear to the Council to be convenient for informing all persons interested and shall be kept revised up to date.

(4) The Council shall send a copy of the pharmaceutical list to the Minister, the Local Medical, Pharmaceutical and Dental Committees, and shall within seven days inform each of them of any alteration which may from time to time be made therein. The Council shall also send a copy of the list to each practitioner providing general medical or general dental services, or if the list is arranged by reference to districts, that portion of the list which relates to the district in which such practitioner carries on a general medical or general dental practice, and at intervals of not more than three months shall notify each such practitioner of any alterations made in the list or the relevant portion of the list. [2419]

26. Schemes for securing proper pharmaceutical service.—(1) The Council after consultation with the Local Pharmaceutical Committee shall prepare schemes for testing the quality and amount of the drugs and appliances supplied and for securing that one or more places of business on the pharmaceutical list in each district shall at all reasonable times be open and the latter scheme shall specify the days and hours during which such places shall be open.

(2) In the event of the Council and the Committee failing to agree on any provision of the schemes, the matter shall be referred to the Minister whose determination shall be final.

(3) The provisions of any such scheme shall be subject to the approval of the Minister.

(4) The Council after consultation with the Local Pharmaceutical Committee may from time to time amend any such scheme subject to the approval of the Minister. If the Local Pharmaceutical Committee require any amendment, such scheme may, in default of agreement between the Council and the Committee, be amended by the Minister.

(5) The number of tests to be taken annually in pursuance of a scheme for testing the quality and amount of drugs and appliances supplied shall be such as the Minister, after consultation with the Council and the Local Pharmaceutical Committee, may from time to time determine. [2420]

27. Prescribed appliances and reagents.—(1) The appliances to be supplied to persons receiving general medical services shall be the appliances specified in Part I of the third schedule to these regulations.

(2) The chemical reagents to be supplied to persons receiving general medical services shall be those specified in Part II of the third schedule to these regulations. [2421]

28. Prices and standards of drugs and appliances.—For the purpose of enabling arrangements to be made for the supply of drugs and appliances of proper quality, the Minister shall cause to be prepared a statement (in these regulations referred to as " the Drug Tariff ") which shall include :—

(a) the prices on the basis of which the payment for drugs and appliances ordinarily supplied is to be calculated ;
(b) the method of calculating the payment for drugs not mentioned in the Drug Tariff ;
(c) the method of calculating the payment for containers ;
(d) the dispensing or other fees payable in respect of the supply of drugs and appliances ;
(e) the standards of quality for drugs and appliances.

The prices referred to in paragraph (a) of this regulation may be fixed prices or may be subject to monthly or other periodical variations to be determined by reference to fluctuations in the cost price of drugs and appliances. [2422]

PART VIII

Medical Practitioners and Chemists

29. Arrangements for supply by practitioners of drugs and appliances.—(1) A person who—

(a) satisfies the Council that he would have serious difficulty in obtaining any necessary drugs or appliances from a chemist by reason of distance or inadequacy of means of communication, or (b) is resident in an area which in the Council's opinion is rural in character, at a distance of more than one mile from the premises of any registered pharmacist or authorised seller of poisons within the meaning of the Pharmacy and Poisons Act, 1933, may request the practitioner on whose list he is included to supply him with drugs and appliances, and if the practitioner indicates his willingness to supply them the Council shall arrange with him to do so.

Where, in the case of a person to whom sub-paragraph (b) applies, the practitioner has not indicated his willingness to supply drugs and appliances and the person does not, after enquiry by the Council, indicate within seven days whether he desires to be supplied by the practitioner or by a chemist, the Council shall decide themselves how the supply shall be given.

A person to whom sub-paragraph (b) applies, who is supplied with drugs and appliances by a chemist, may at any time give to the Council notice of his desire that the supply should in future be provided by the practitioner and the Council may thereupon take such action as is appropriate under this regulation.

(2) The Council may require a practitioner who has not indicated his willingness to supply drugs and appliances to any person to whom this regulation applies to undertake such supply :

Provided that the practitioner shall not be required to supply such drugs and appliances if he satisfies the Council or, on appeal, the Minister, that he is not in the habit of supplying drugs for his patients, or in the case of a person to whom sub-paragraph (b) of paragraph (1) applies, that the person can with reasonable facility obtain drugs and appliances from a chemist.

A practitioner shall be entitled to receive reasonable notice from the Council that he is required to undertake the supply of drugs and appliances, or that such supply is to be discontinued.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in this regulation where a drug or appliance is one for which a practitioner is entitled to receive extra payment if he supplies it, he may, with the patient's consent, instead of supplying it himself, issue a prescription for that purpose.

(4) (a) The Council may, if they think fit, and shall, if requested to do so by the Local Medical or Local Pharmaceutical Committee, constitute a committee (in these regulations referred to as " the dispensing committee ") and shall delegate to that committee, subject to such conditions as they may impose, the powers conferred on the Council by this regulation.

(b) The Council may make, vary or revoke standing orders with regard to the term of office of members of the dispensing committee, the procedure of that committee and the making of reports of their proceedings to the Council. [2423]

30. Publication of particulars of arrangements.—The Council shall cause to be published, in such manner as appears to them best calculated to inform all persons interested, particulars of the arrangements made by the Council, including a statement of the places where copies of the terms of service for practitioners and chemists and copies of the medical list and of the pharmaceutical list may be seen and where any forms of application are available and any other particulars which the Council think proper. [2424]

31. Exercise of choice of practitioner in certain cases.—The right to choose the person by whom general medical services or pharmaceutical services under Part IV of the Act are to be provided shall be exercised—

(a) on behalf of any person under the age of sixteen by the mother, or in her absence, the father, or in the absence of both parents the guardian or other person who has the care of the child ; and

(b) on behalf of any other person who on account of old age, sickness or other infirmity is incapable of choosing a person to provide any of the services by a relative or any person who has the care of such person. [2425]

PART IX

The Isles of Scilly

32. Application of regulations.—These regulations shall extend to the Isles of Scilly subject to the following exceptions, adaptations and modifications :—

(i) Any provision in the regulations requiring consultation with, or the agreement or opinion of, the Local Medical or Pharmaceutical Committee in respect of any matter shall not apply to the Executive Council of the Isles of Scilly unless a Local Medical or Pharmaceutical Committee has been formed for the Isles and recognised by the Minister under Section 32 of the Act ;

(ii) For sub-paragraph (a) of paragraph (1) of regulation 13 there shall be substituted the following provision :—

" (a) the constitution of a committee of the Council (hereinafter referred to as " the allocation committee ") consisting of such members of the Council and such members appointed by the Local Medical Committee (if a Local Medical Committee is formed for the Isles and recognised by the Minister) as the Council think fit and the assignment to such committee of such powers and duties relating to the administration of the scheme as may be specified therein." [2426]

SCHEDULES

FIRST SCHEDULE

PART I

TERMS OF SERVICE FOR MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS

Interpretation

1. In these terms of service, unless as the context otherwise requires, "patient" means a person for whose treatment a practitioner is responsible under paragraph 3 of these terms of service and "the regulations" means the National Health Service (General Medical and Pharmaceutical Services) Regulations, 1948, and other words and expressions have the same meaning as in the regulations.

Incorporation of provisions of Regulations, etc.

2. Any provisions of the regulations and Part II of the National Health Service (Service Committees and Tribunal) Regulations, 1948, affecting the rights and obligations of medical practitioners and the provisions of any allocation or distribution scheme made under the regulations and in force in the area, shall be deemed to form part of these terms of service.

Persons for whose treatment the practitioner is responsible

3.—(1) The persons for whose treatment a practitioner is responsible are :—

(a) all persons whom he has accepted or agreed to accept for inclusion in his list and who have not been notified to him by the Council as having ceased to be on his list.

(b) all persons whom he has accepted or agreed to accept as temporary residents.

(c) all persons who have been assigned to him in accordance with the allocation scheme and who have not been notified to him by the Council as having ceased to be on his list.

(d) all persons for whom he may be required under the terms of the allocation scheme, to provide treatment pending their acceptance by or assignment to a practitioner or to provide treatment in case of accident or other emergency.

(e) all persons for whose treatment the practitioner is responsible under paragraph 5 of these terms of service.

(2) A practitioner having obstetric experience shall be responsible for the provision of maternity medical services for all persons for whom he has undertaken to provide such services.

(3) A practitioner who is appointed under regulation 15 of the regulations to undertake the treatment of persons on the list of a practitioner whose name ceases to be included in the medical list shall, for the period of his appointment, be responsible for the treatment of any person on that list who has not been transferred to the list of another practitioner.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in this paragraph, a practitioner shall not be responsible under these terms of service for the treatment in hospital of a person admitted thereto for treatment unless he is a member of the staff of that hospital.

(5) The acceptance of an applicant shall be signified by the signing of his medical card, or a form of application for acceptance on a practitioner's list, by the practitioner or his partner, assistant or deputy duly authorised in that behalf and the sending of the card or form to the Council within such period as may be specified in the allocation scheme :

Provided that a partner, assistant or deputy signing such card or form on behalf of the practitioner shall also add the practitioner's name.

General note.—Sub-para. (2), supra has been amended by S.I. 1948 No. 1448, post.

Right of practitioner to have patient removed from his list

4. Subject to such restrictions, if any, as may be imposed by the allocation scheme, a practitioner is entitled to have the name of any person on his list removed therefrom by giving notice at any time to the Council and at the expiration of seven days from the receipt of such notice by the Council the name of the person shall be removed from the practitioner's list.

Evidence of person's title to obtain treatment

5.—(1) A practitioner is entitled to require a person claiming to be on his list and applying for treatment regarding whose identity he has reasonable doubts to produce his medical card.

(2) (a) If such person fails on request to produce his medical card, the practitioner is required to give any necessary treatment (including the supply of any drugs or appliances which he would be required himself to supply to a person on his list), but the practitioner may demand and accept from the applicant a reasonable fee for any treatment given, including any drugs or appliances supplied, provided that he renders the applicant an account or, if no account is rendered, gives him a receipt. The practitioner may order any drug or prescribed appliance so as to enable the person to obtain the drug or appliance free of cost.

(b) If the applicant applies to the Council for a refund within fourteen days after the payment of the fee (or such longer period not exceeding one month as may be allowed by the Council if they are satisfied that the failure to make application within the period of fourteen days was occasioned by some reasonable cause), and the Council are satisfied that he was on the practitioner's list, the Council may recover the fee from the practitioner by deduction from his remuneration or otherwise and shall repay to the applicant the amount of the fee. If the practitioner has supplied any drug or appliance for which, in the case of a person on his list, he would have been entitled to payment from the Council, the Council shall credit him with the payment to which he would have been so entitled.

Range of service

6.—(1) A practitioner is required to render to his patients all proper and necessary treatment. Such treatment includes the administration of anaesthetics or the rendering of any other assistance at an operation performed by and of the kind usually performed by a general medical practitioner if the administration of the anaesthetic or the rendering of such other assistance does not involve the application of special skill or experience of a degree or kind which general practitioners as a class cannot reasonably be expected to possess. Subject to sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph the treatment to be so provided does not include—

(a) services which involve the application of such special skill or experience as aforesaid ;

(b) the administration of an anaesthetic at an operation performed by a practitioner providing maternity medical services ;

(c) maternity medical services, unless the practitioner having obstetric experience has, by arrangement with his patient, undertaken to provide her with such services.

(2) In the case of maternity medical services all proper and necessary treatment shall include advice in regard to ante-natal supervision ; ante-natal care including an initial medical and obstetric examination and an examination at the thirty-sixth week of pregnancy or at any other time the practitioner thinks necessary ; attendance at an abortion or other emergency in connection with a pregnancy if the practitioner is summoned on behalf of the patient ; attendance at the confinement after the twenty-eighth week of pregnancy, if in the opinion of the practitioner it is required or if he is summoned to the confinement by the midwife in attendance ; medical supervision of the mother and child for a period of fourteen days after confinement, and post-natal care, including a medical and pelvic examination of the mother at or about six weeks after confinement. The practitioner having obstetric experience shall also comply with any request made by the general practitioner on whose list the name of the person receiving maternity medical services is included, to examine or give any other assistance to that person and her child if, in the opinion of the practitioner having obstetric experience, it is necessary :

Provided that nothing in this sub-paragraph shall affect the responsibility of the practitioner on whose list the name of the person is included for treatment of a kind usually provided by general medical practitioners which is necessary for her general health.

(3) In the case of emergency the practitioner is required to render whatever services are, having regard to the circumstances, in the best interests of the patient.

(4) In determining whether a particular service is a service involving the application of such special skill and experience as aforesaid, regard is to be had to the question whether services of the kind are or are not usually undertaken by general practitioners practising in the area in which the question arose.

General note.—Sub-para. (1), supra, has been amended by S.I. 1948 No. 1448, post, and a new sub-paragraph has been substituted for sub-para. (2), supra.

Duties of practitioner

7. Reference to hospital and specialist services, local health authority services or maternity medical services.—(1) If the condition of the patient is such as to require treatment which is not within the scope of the practitioner's obligations under these terms of service, but such treatment is to the knowledge of the practitioner, available as part of the hospital and specialist services, the practitioner shall inform the patient of the fact and if the patient so wishes the practitioner shall take all necessary steps to enable him to receive such treatment. When referring a patient to the hospital and specialist services the practitioner shall give adequate particulars in writing either beforehand or as soon as possible afterwards. The practitioner shall also give his patients such advice or assistance as he may consider appropriate to enable them to take advantage of the local health authority services and maternity medical services.

(2) Supplementary ophthalmic services.—If the condition of the patient is such as to require supplementary ophthalmic services, the practitioner shall if so desired furnish him with a recommendation for such services on a form provided by the Council for the purpose.

(3) Surgery hours.—A practitioner is required to attend and treat at the places, on the days and at the hours to be arranged to the satisfaction of the Council, any patient who attends there for that purpose but he may, with the consent of the Council or, on appeal, of the Minister, alter the places, days or hours of his attendance and shall in that event take such steps as the Council consider necessary to bring the alteration to the notice of his patients.

(4) Surgery accommodation.—A practitioner is required to provide proper and sufficient surgery and waiting room accommodation for his patients, having regard to the circumstances of his practice.

(5) Inspection of surgery and waiting-room accommodation.—The practitioner on receipt of a written request shall at all reasonable times admit any member or officer of the Council or the Local Medical Committee authorised for the purpose by the Council to any surgery of waiting-room of the practitioner for the purposes of inspecting the said surgery or waiting-room.

(6) Visiting.—A practitioner is required to visit and treat a patient whose condition so requires at any place where under the terms of his application for inclusion in the medical list he is under an obligation to visit such patient.

(7) Medical Certificates.—A practitioner is required to issue to his patients free of charge any certificates reasonably required by them under or for the purposes of any enactment and any certificate which a practitioner is required to issue for the purposes of the National Insurance Acts, 1946, shall be issued in accordance with any regulations made under those Acts.

(8) Anaesthetics.—(i) A practitioner, except when providing maternity medical services, is responsible for providing the services of another practitioner for the administration of an anaesthetic, when necessary, in connection with any operation on his patient undertaken by him under these terms of service, whenever such administration does not involve the application of special skill or experience of a degree or kind which general practitioners as a class cannot reasonably be expected to possess.

(ii) A practitioner providing maternity medical services is responsible for providing the services of another practitioner for the administration of an anaesthetic when necessary in connection with any operation performed by him on his patient and undertaken by him under these terms of service.

(9) Duty to supply drugs and appliances.—(i) A practitioner is required to supply to a patient such drugs and appliances as are required for immediate administration or application or for use before a supply can be obtained otherwise under the regulations.

(ii) A practitioner may supply any other drug which is administered by him in person.

(iii) A practitioner shall supply all requisite drugs and prescribed appliances which, under the regulations, he is required by the Council to supply to a patient.

(iv) A drug supplied by a practitioner unless administered in person shall be supplied in a suitable container.

(10) Duty to prescribe. Prohibition of "Rep. Mist."—A practitioner is required to order, on a form provided by the Council for the purpose, such drugs and prescribed appliances (other than those supplied under the preceding sub-paragraph) as are requisite for the treatment of any patient. The order shall be signed by the practitioner with his own hand and shall not be written in such a manner as to necessitate reference on the part of the person supplying the drugs or appliances to a previous order. The forms so provided shall not be used for persons other than the patients who are under treatment by him and a separate form shall be used for each patient.

(11) Prescriptions for tests.—A practitioner shall comply with any reasonable request by the Council to furnish orders on a form provided by the Council for drugs and prescribed appliances for the purposes of any scheme for testing drugs and appliances made under the regulations.

(12) Records.—A practitioner is required :—

(a) to keep records of the illnesses of his patients and of his treatment of them in such form as the Minister may from time to time determine after consultation with an organisation which is in his opinion representative of the general body of medical practitioners.

(b) to forward such records to the Council when called for, with reasonable promptness ; and

(c) upon knowledge of the death of a person on his list, to forward such record to the Council within seven days.

(13) Consultation, etc. with medical officer.—A practitioner is required :—

(a) to furnish in writing to the medical officer within such reasonable period as the latter may specify any clinical information which he may require with regard to the case of any patient to whom the practitioner has issued or declined to issue a medical certificate ;

(b) to meet the medical officer, at his request, for the purpose of examining in consultation any patient in respect of whom the practitioner has sought the advice of the medical officer ;

(c) upon notice being given, to afford to the medical officer access at all reasonable times to the practitioner's surgery or other place where the records required by these terms of service are kept for the purpose of the inspection of such records, and to furnish to the medical officer such records or necessary information with regard to any entry therein, as he may request ; and

(d) to answer any inquiries of the medical officer with regard to any prescription or certificate issued by the practitioner or to any statement made in any report furnished by him under these terms of service.

General note.—Sub-para. (7), supra, has been amended by S.I. 1948 No. 1448.

Deputies, assistants and partners

8.—(1) Save as provided in this paragraph in the case of partners and assistants, all treatment shall be given by a practitioner personally, except where he is prevented by reason of other professional duties, temporary absence from home or other reasonable cause.

(2) A practitioner shall make all necessary arrangements for securing the treatment of his patients where he is unable for any of the causes mentioned above to give treatment personally and shall inform the Council of any standing arrangements for that purpose. He shall not absent himself from his practice for more than one week without first informing the Council of his proposed absence and of the person or persons responsible for conducting his practice during such absence.

(3) (a) A practitioner shall not, except for a period of less than three months, employ an assistant to attend his patients without the consent of the Council.

(b) The name of any assistant shall be notified by the practitioner to the Council.

(4) A practitioner shall not, without the consent of the Minister, employ as a deputy or assistant any practitioner who is disqualified for inclusion in the medical list of the Council concerned under section 42 of the Act.

(5) A practitioner shall not employ for the purposes of providing maternity medical services a deputy or assistant who is not a medical practitioner having obstetric experience.

(6) A practitioner acting as deputy shall be entitled to treat patients at places and at times other than those arranged by the practitioner for whom he is acting, due regard being had to the convenience of the patients.

(7) A deputy or assistant (other than a partner or assistant whose name is included in the medical list) shall, in addition to signing with his own name, any certificate, prescription form or other document issued by him under these terms of service, insert therein if it does not already appear the name of the practitioner for whom he is acting as deputy or assistant.

(8) A practitioner is responsible for all acts and omissions of any practitioner acting as his deputy or assistant in relation to his obligations under these terms of service.

(9) In the case of two or more practitioners practising in partnership or as a principal and assistant, treatment may at any time be given by a partner or assistant of the practitioner in whose list the patient is included, instead of by the practitioner in person, if reasonable steps are taken to secure continuity of treatment: Provided that the patient will be entitled to require the personal services of the principal instead of the assistant except when the principal is prevented from attending for any of the reasons referred to in sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph.

Arrangements for practice

9. A practitioner shall not carry on practice elsewhere than at his place of residence, or at a health centre, except upon conditions which appear to the Council or on appeal, to the Minister, to be such as to enable his obligations under these terms of service, and in particular his obligation to visit his patients, to be adequately carried out. Any conditions so imposed may include a requirement that the patients of the practitioner are to be notified at the practitioner's expense of any special arrangements under which his practice is carried on.

Acceptance of Fees

10.—(1) A practitioner shall not demand or accept any fee or other remuneration in respect of any medical treatment, whether under these terms of service or not, rendered to his patients or the patients of his partner or assistant: Provided that nothing in this paragraph shall debar a practitioner from demanding and accepting a fee or other remuneration:—

(a) under paragraph 5 of these terms of service,

(b) from any statutory body in respect of services rendered for the purpose of that body's statutory functions,

(c) from any school, employer or body for the medical examination of persons for whose welfare that school, employer or body is responsible, such examination being either a routine medical examination or for the purpose of advising the school, employer or body as to any administrative action they might take,

(d) for treatment not included within the range of service defined in paragraph 6 given—

(i) in special accommodation in a hospital set aside for private patients in accordance with section 5 of the Act, or

(ii) in a registered nursing home, not being a hospital providing hospital and specialist services under the Act, if in either case the practitioner is serving on the staff of a hospital providing hospital and specialist services as a specialist providing treatment of the kind required by the patient: Provided that within seven days after the date on which treatment is given the practitioner furnishes the Council, on a form to be supplied by them for the purpose, with such particulars relating to the service rendered as they may require,

(e) under Section 16 of the Road Traffic Act, 1934.

(2) A practitioner shall take all practicable steps to ensure that any partner of his, whether or not such partner is providing general medical services, shall not demand or accept any fee or other remuneration in respect of medical treatment rendered to the practitioner's patients unless the partner would have been entitled to charge if the patient had been on his own list.

General note.—Sub-para. (1), supra, has been amended by S.I. 1948 No. 1448, post.

Method of altering terms of service ; withdrawals from the medical list

11. Revision of terms of service.—(1) The Council may, with the approval of the Minister, alter the terms of service as from such date as he may approve by giving notice of the proposed alteration. Such notice shall be given to each practitioner, save as is provided in sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph.

(2) Except in the case of an alteration which results from the coming into operation of any Act of Parliament or which has been approved by the Minister after consultation with an organisation which is in his opinion representative of the general body of medical practitioners, the Council shall, before making an alteration, consult with the Local Medical Committee and the alteration shall not come into operation within a period of three months from the date of the issue of the notice.

(3) If in any case of alteration the Minister after consultation with such an organisation as aforesaid directs that notice of the proposed alteration shall be given to the Local Medical Committee only, the Council shall give notice to the Local Medical Committee, and the notice shall in that case be deemed to have been given to each practitioner.

12. Withdrawal from medical list.—A practitioner is entitled at any time to give notice to the Council that he desires to withdraw his name from the medical list and his name shall be removed therefrom at the expiration of three months from the date of such notice or of such shorter period as the Council may agree :

Provided that if representations are made to the Tribunal under the provisions of section 42 of the Act that the continued inclusion of a practitioner in the medical list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the general medical services, he shall not, except with the consent of the Minister and subject to such conditions as the Minister may impose, be entitled to have his name removed from the list pending the termination of the proceedings on such representations.

13. Continued absence or disability of practitioner.—Where the Council after consultation with the Local Medical Committee, are satisfied that owing to the continued absence or bodily or mental disability of a practitioner his obligations under the terms of service are not being adequately carried out, they may with the consent of the Minister give notice to the persons on his list that the practitioner is for the time being in their opinion not in a position to carry out his obligations under the terms of service.

Disputes, appeals, etc.

14. The terms of service relating to the following matters are contained in Part II of the National Health Service (Service Committees and Tribunal) Regulations, 1948 :

(a) the investigation of questions arising between practitioners and their patients and other investigations to be made by the medical service committee and the joint services committee and the action which may be taken by the Council as a result of such investigations, including the withholding of remuneration from the practitioner where there has been a breach of the terms of service.
(b) appeals to the Minister from decisions of the Council.
(c) the investigation of cases of alleged excessive prescribing.
(d) the investigation of certification.
(e) the investigation of record keeping.
(f) decisions as to treatment for which fees may be charged.
(g) the determination of the question whether a substance is a drug.

Issue of notices to practitioners

15. Any notice which a Council is required or authorised by these terms of service to give to a practitioner shall be sufficiently given if it has been delivered to him or sent by post to him at the address which he has last notified the Council as being his place of residence. [2427]

PART II

REMUNERATION OF PRACTITIONERS

1. Payments by way of remuneration and allowances to be distributed in accordance with the distribution scheme :—

(i) a fixed annual payment of £300 as part of the remuneration : Provided that after such period as the scheme specifies a practitioner shall be entitled to the fixed annual payment only if he has the minimum number of patients on his list specified by the scheme, unless the approval of the Minister has been obtained to its continuance in view of special circumstances ;
(ii) a capitation payment, that is to say, a payment by reference to the number of persons included in the practitioner's list ;
(iii) payment in respect of temporary residents ;
(iv) payment for treatment given by a practitioner in an emergency to a person not included in his list ;
(v) payment in respect of mileage ;
(vi) payment in cases in which the practitioner is required to provide the services of a second practitioner for the purpose of administering an anaesthetic.

General note.—A new sub-paragraph has been substituted for sub-para. (i), supra, by S.I. 1948 No. 1448, post.

2. Other matters to be dealt with in the distribution scheme :—

(i) the calculation of practitioners' lists ;
(ii) adjustment of payment in the case of a practitioner who is exempted from the liability of having persons assigned to him or is relieved of obligations for emergency night calls in respect of persons not on his list ;
(iii) the method of payment to practitioners practising in partnership ;
(iv) the method by which, and the time within which, the moneys are to be paid by the Council ;
(v) any deductions from remuneration in respect of superannuation ;
(vi) the issue at the end of each year by the Council to each practitioner of a statement, in a form approved by the Minister, showing the total amount payable to the practitioners in the Council's area for the year, and the method by which the money payable to the practitioner has been calculated ;
(vii) such other matters, if any, as may be required ;

3. Other payments :—

(i) an inducement payment, that is to say, an addition to the fixed annual payment or capitation payment, in areas which are in the opinion of the Minister, after consultation with the Medical Practices Committee, sparsely populated or for any other reason unattractive to medical practitioners ;
(ii) a supervision fee for the training of an assistant under an arrangement approved by the Minister ;
(iii) payment in respect of the provision of maternity medical services by practitioners having obstetric experience ;
(iv) payment to practitioners in respect of the supply of drugs and appliances.

[2428]

General note.—Sub-para. (iii), supra, has been amended by S.I. 1948 No. 1448, post.

FOURTH SCHEDULE

PART I

Terms of Service for Chemists

Interpretation

1. In these terms of service, unless as the context otherwise requires,

"the regulations" means the National Health Service (General Medical and Pharmaceutical Services) Regulations, 1948;

"chemist" means a registered pharmacist or authorised seller or poisons within the meaning of the Pharmacy and Poisons Act, 1933, who provides pharmaceutical services. The terms of service shall also apply to any other person, firm or body corporate (other than a medical practitioner) providing pharmaceutical services as if that person, firm or body were a chemist as so defined;

"appliances" in relation to appliances order by a medical practitioner means appliances specified in Part I of the third Schedule to the regulations; and

"drugs" in relation to drugs ordered by a dental practitioner means the drugs specified in the third schedule to the National Health Service (General Dental Services) Regulations, 1948.

Incorporation of Provisions of Regulations, etc.

2. Any provisions of the regulations and Part II of the National Health Service (Service Committees and Tribunal) Regulation, 1948, or any scheme made thereunder affecting the rights and obligations of chemists shall be deemed to form part of these terms of service.

Provision of pharmaceutical services

3.—(1) (a) A chemist shall supply with reasonable promptness to any person who presents an order for drugs or appliances on a prescription form provided for the purpose by a Council and signed by a practitioner on the medical list of a Council or by his deputy or assistant such drugs or appliances as may be so ordered and shall so far as practicable, keep in stock for that purpose all those drugs and appliances mentioned in the Drug Tariff for the time being in force as drugs or appliances which a chemist is required to keep.

(b) A chemist shall supply with reasonable promptness to any person who presents an order for a drug on a prescription form provided for the purpose by a Council and signed by a dental practitioner on the dental list of a Council or by his deputy or assistant such drug as may be so ordered.

(c) A chemist shall supply in a suitable container any drug which he is required to supply under this paragraph.

(2) All drugs and appliances so supplied which are included in the Drug Tariff shall be of a grade or quality not lower than the grade or quality specified therein. Drugs and appliances so supplied which are not included in the Drug Tariff shall be of a grade or quality not lower than the grade or quality ordinarily used for medical purposes.

(3) A chemist shall not give, promise or offer to any person any gift or reward (whether by way of a share of or dividend on the profits of the business or by way of discount or rebate or otherwise) as an inducement to or in consideration of his presenting an order for drugs or appliances on a prescription form provided by the Council.

Place and hours of business

4.—(1) Pharmaceutical services shall be provided at the place or places of business specified in the application made by the chemist for inclusion in the Council's list and the place or places shall be open for the supply of pharmaceutical services during the hours specified in the scheme to be made by the Council for that purpose under the regulations.

(2) At each place of business at which a chemist provides pharmaceutical services he is required (i) to exhibit a notice to be provided by the Council in the form prescribed in Part IV or Part V of this schedule and (ii) in the case of a registered pharmacist or authorised seller of poisons within the meaning of the Pharmacy and Poisons Act, 1933, to exhibit, at times when his place of business is not open and in such a manner as to be visible at such times, a notice to be provided by the Council in the form prescribed in Part VI of this schedule indicating the addresses of other registered pharmacists and authorised sellers or poisons, where, and the times at which medicines and appliances may be obtained in the neighbourhood.

Dispensing of medicines

5.—(1) The dispensing of medicines shall be performed either by or under the direct supervision of a registered pharmacist or by a person who for three years immediately prior to the sixteenth day of December, 1911 acted as a dispenser to a medical practitioner or a public institution.

(2) A chemist shall not dispense a prescription requiring the manufacture by him of a substance scheduled under the Therapeutic Substances Act, 1925, unless he holds a licence for the purpose.

Names of registered pharmacists

6. A chemist shall, if so required by the Council, furnish to the Council the name or names of registered pharmacists employed by him in dispensing medicines for persons receiving general medical or general dental services.

Drugs, etc., to be supplied without charge

7. All drugs, containers and appliances supplied under these terms of service shall be supplied free of charge.

Method of payment

8.—(1) A chemist is required to furnish to the Council or to such other person or body as they may direct, on dates to be appointed by the Minister, the forms upon which the orders for drugs and appliances supplied by him were given, arranged in such manner as the Council may direct, together with a statement of accounts containing such particulars relating to the provision by him of pharmaceutical services as the Council, with the approval of the Minister, may from time to time require.

(2) The Council shall, if any chemist so requires, afford him reasonable facilities for examining all or any of the forms on which the drugs or appliances supplied by him were ordered together with particulars of the amounts calculated to be payable in respect of such drugs and appliances and if he takes objection thereto, the Council shall take such objection into consideration.

(3) The Council shall, if so required by the Local Pharmaceutical Committee or any organisation which is, in the Minister's opinion, representative of the general body of chemists, afford the Local Pharmaceutical Committee or the said organisation similar facilities for examining such forms and particulars relating to all or any of the chemists and shall take into consideration any objection made thereto by the Local Pharmaceutical Committee or the said organisation.

(4) Payment will be made for drugs and appliances mentioned in the Drug Tariff at the prices specified therein and for drugs or appliances not mentioned in the Tariff in the manner set forth therein. The payment to be made for containers and in respect of dispensing fees shall be calculated in the manner set forth in the Tariff.

General note.—A new para. 8A has been added after para. 8, supra, by S.I. 1948 No. 1448, post.

Revision of terms of service

9.—(1) The Council may, subject to the approval of the Minister, alter the terms of service as from such date as he may approve by giving notice of the proposed alteration. Such notice shall be given to each chemist, save as is provided in sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph.

(2) Except in the case of an alteration which results from the coming into operation of any Act of Parliament or which has been approved by the Minister after consultation with an organisation which is in his opinion representative of the general body of chemists, the Council shall, before making an alteration consult with the Local Pharmaceutical Committee, and the alteration shall not come into operation within a period of three months from the date of the issue of the notice.

(3) If in any case of alteration the Minister after consultation with such an organisation as aforesaid directs that notice shall be given to the Local Pharmaceutical Committee only, the Council shall give notice to the Local Pharmaceutical Committee, and notice shall thereby be deemed to have been given to each chemist.

Withdrawal from pharmaceutical list

10.—(1) A chemist is entitled at any time to give notice to the Council that he desires to withdraw his name from the list and his name shall be removed therefrom at the expiration of three months from the date of such notice or of such shorter period as the Council may agree: Provided that if representations are made to the Tribunal under the provisions of Section 42 of the Act that the continued inclusion of a chemist in the list would be prejudical to the efficiency of the service, he shall not, except with the consent of the Minister and subject to such conditions as the Minister may impose, be entitled to have his name removed from the list pending the termination of the proceedings on such representations.

(2) The name of any chemist whose business is carried on by representatives in accordance with the provisions of the Pharmacy and Poisons Acts, 1852 to 1933, shall not be removed from the list so long as the business is carried on by them in accordance with the provisions of those Acts, and the representatives agree to be bound by the terms of service of the chemist.

Disputes, appeals, etc.

11. The terms of service relating to the following matters are contained in Part II of the National Health Service (Service Committees and Tribunal) Regulations, 1948.

(a) the investigation of complaints made by or on behalf of persons receiving general medical and general dental services against chemists and other investigations to be made by the pharmaceutical service committee and the joint services committee and the action which may be taken by the Council as a result of such investigations, including the withholding of remuneration from chemists where there has been a breach of the terms of service;

(b) appeals to the Minister from decisions of the Council. [2433]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The Regulations provide for the arrangements to be made by Executive Councils under Part IV of the National Health Service Act, 1946, with medical practitioners and chemists for the provision of a general medical practitioner service (including a maternity medical service) and the supply of drugs, medicines and appliances. The terms of service for general medical practitioners and chemists are included as schedules to the Regulations.

The Regulations further provide for the setting up of the Medical Practices Committee, its constitution and its procedure for determining applications from medical practitioners for inclusion in a medical list and prescribe the form of certificate to be issued to medical practitioners under section 35 (9) of the Act that a transaction does not involve the sale of goodwill.

SCHEDULES :

First Schedule.—Rules of procedure under regulation 5 840
Second Schedule.—Rules of procedure under regulation 15 841
Third Schedule.—Forms for use in proceedings before Tribunal .. 842

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under sections 32, 33, 38, 40, 42 and 74 of, and the Fifth and Seventh Schedules to, the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

PART I

General

1. Short title and commencement.—These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Service Committees and Tribunal) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the twenty-fourth day of March, 1948. [2439]

2. Interpretation.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" Council " means the Executive Council constituted for any area ;

" dental officer " means any dental officer appointed by the Minister for a district in which general dental services are provided ;

" drugs " includes in the case of persons receiving general medical services medicines and any prescribed chemical reagents and in the case of persons receiving general dental services means any prescribed drug ;

" Drug Tariff " means the statement prepared by the Minister under regulation 28 of the General Service Regulations hereinafter defined specifying the prices and standards of drugs and appliances to be provided under those regulations ;

" General Dental Regulations " means the National Health Service (General Dental Services) Regulations, 1948 ;

" General Service Regulations " means the National Health Service (General Medical and Pharmaceutical Services) Regulations, 1948 ;

" health centre " means premises provided by a local health authority in accordance with the provisions of section 21 of the Act ;

" medical officer " means any medical officer appointed by the Minister for a district in which general medical services are provided ;

" practitioner " means either a registered medical or registered dental practitioner as the context may require ;

" treatment " in relation to general medical services has the same meaning as in the General Service Regulations and in relation to general dental services has the same meaning as in the General Dental Regulations ;

" the terms of service " means the terms of service for medical practitioners contained in Part I of the first schedule to the General

Service Regulations, the terms of service for chemists contained in Part I of the fourth schedule to the General Service Regulations and the terms of service for dental practitioners contained in Parts I and II of the first schedule to the General Dental Regulations, as the case may be;

"the Tribunal" means the Tribunal constituted under section 42 of the Act.

(2) In these regulations the expression "chemist" means a registered pharmacist or authorised seller of poisons within the meaning of the Pharmacy and Poisons Act, 1933, who provides pharmaceutical services. The regulations shall also apply (except so far as the context may otherwise require) to any other person, firm or body corporate (other than a practitioner) providing pharmaceutical services, as if that person, firm or body were a chemist as so defined.

(3) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2440]

PART II

Provisions relating to investigations, disputes, appeals, etc.

3. Constitution of service committee.—(1) Every Council shall establish a medical service committee, a pharmaceutical service committee, a dental service committee, and a joint services committee.

(2) (a) The medical service committee shall consist of a chairman and six other persons of whom three shall be appointed by and from the lay members of the Council, and three shall be appointed by the Local Medical Committee.

(b) The pharmaceutical service committee shall consist of a chairman and six other persons of whom three shall be appointed by and from the lay members of the Council and three shall be appointed by the Local Pharmaceutical Committee.

(c) The dental service committee shall consist of a chairman and six other persons of whom three shall be appointed by and from the lay members of the Council and three shall be appointed by the Local Dental Committee.

(d) The joint services committee shall consist of a chairman and eight other persons of whom two shall be appointed by and from the lay members of the Council, two shall be appointed by the medical service committee from their members or deputies who are medical practitioners, two shall be appointed by the dental service committee from their members or deputies who are dental practitioners, and two shall be appointed by the pharmaceutical service committee from their members or deputies who are registered pharmacists.

(e) A corresponding number of persons shall be appointed in the same manner to act as deputies for the members (other than the chairman) of the medical, pharmaceutical and dental services committees and joint services committee and in the absence of a member a deputy having the same qualifications shall be entitled to act in his place.

(f) When any matter stands referred under paragraph (7) of regulation 4 of these regulations to the joint services committee, the members of that committee appointed by the medical service committee shall not take part in the hearing unless the matter involves a question relating to a medical practitioner, the members appointed by the dental service committee shall not take part in the hearing unless the matter involves a question relating to a dental practitioner, and the members appointed by the pharmaceutical service committee shall not take part unless the matter involves a question relating to a chemist.

(3) The following provisions shall have effect with regard to the appointment of the chairman of each of the said committees :—

(a) The chairman shall be appointed at a meeting of the members of the committee to be specially summoned for the purpose. The chairman of the Council or, if he is a member of the committee or is unable to attend, the vice-chairman or some other member of the Council (not being a member of the committee) to be nominated by the chairman shall preside at the meeting but shall not be entitled to vote. The appointment shall be made by a majority of the votes cast at the meeting.

(b) The persons eligible for appointment shall be the lay members of the Council or a person appointed as chairman by the Council or the Minister under the following provisions of this regulation whose term of office has expired.

(c) If no appointment is made at the said meeting, or if within seven days after the meeting a statement signed by the lay members of the committee, or by the members appointed by the Local Medical, Pharmaceutical or Dental Committees, or in the case of the joint services committee by the members appointed by the medical, pharmaceutical or dental service committees, is sent to the Council asserting that the chairman appointed at the meeting is not acceptable, the Council shall appoint a person to be chairman and the chairman, if any, appointed by the committee shall thereupon cease to hold office as chairman and member of the committee.

(d) If a chairman has been appointed by the Council and within seven days after the meeting at which the appointment is made a statement signed by the lay members of the committee or by those members appointed by the Local Medical, Pharmaceutical or Dental Committees, or in the case of the joint services committee by the lay members of the committee or by the members appointed by either the medical, pharmaceutical or dental services committee is sent to the Council, asserting that the chairman appointed by the Council is not acceptable, the Council shall within two months refer the appointment to the Minister, and the Minister may after consultation with the Council and the Local Medical, Pharmaceutical or Dental Committees, as the case may be, appoint a chairman in place of the existing chairman who shall thereupon cease to hold office as chairman and member of the committee.

(e) Where an appointment of the chairman of the committee falls to be made by the Council or by the Minister, a person who is not a member of the Council shall be eligible for appointment provided that he is not a practitioner or registered pharmacist, and any person not being a member of the Council who is appointed chairman shall be entitled to attend and take part in the proceedings of the meetings of the Council but not to vote.

(f) The foregoing provisions with respect to the appointment of a chairman shall apply to the appointment of a deputy chairman.

(g) If the person appointed as chairman or deputy chairman of a committee is already a member of the committee, he shall thereupon cease to be a member other than as chairman or deputy chairman, and a new member shall be appointed to take his place.

In this regulation the expression " lay members " in relation to the Council means members appointed by the local health authority or the Minister, and in relation to a committee means members of the committee appointed by the lay members of the Council.

(4) If in the opinion of the chairman any member of a committee is interested, or is partner, principal, assistant or manager to a practitioner or chemist, who is interested in a question referred to them, that member shall take no part in the hearing thereof but a deputy having the same qualifications shall act in his place.

(5) The deputy chairman if the chairman is absent shall exercise and perform the powers and duties of the chairman, and shall otherwise be entitled to be present at, and take part in, the proceedings of the committee, but not to vote.

(6) The Council may make standing orders with respect to the term of office of the chairman, deputy chairman, members and deputy members of the committee: Provided that the term of office of the chairman shall not exceed one year unless he is re-appointed. [2441]

4. Investigations by service committee.—(1) Subject as hereinafter provided any complaint made by a person against a medical practitioner in respect of an alleged failure to comply with the terms of service shall be investigated by the medical service committee.

(2) Subject as hereinafter provided any complaint made by a person against a chemist in respect of an alleged failure to comply with the terms of service shall be investigated by the pharmaceutical service committee.

(3) Subject as hereinafter provided any complaint made by a person against a dental practitioner in respect of an alleged failure to comply with the terms of service shall be investigated by the dental service committee.

(4) (a) The person desiring to make a complaint under this regulation against a medical practitioner or a chemist shall within six weeks after the event which gave rise to the complaint give written notice to the clerk of the Council stating the substance of the matter which it is desired to have investigated.

(b) The person desiring to make a complaint under this regulation against a dental practitioner shall within six months after completion of the treatment or within six weeks after the matter which gave rise to the complaint came to the complainant's notice, whichever is the sooner, give written notice to the clerk of the Council stating the substance of the matter which it is desired to have investigated.

(c) Notwithstanding failure to give notice within the periods specified in the two preceding sub-paragraphs, the committee may investigate the matter if they are satisfied that such failure was occasioned by illness or other reasonable cause and—

(i) in the case of a complaint against a medical practitioner or chemist the complaint is made within two months after the said event, or

(ii) in the case of a complaint against a dental practitioner the complaint is made within six months after the completion of the treatment or within two months after the matter came to the complainant's notice, whichever is the sooner, or

(iii) the practitioner or chemist, as the case may be, consents to the investigation taking place notwithstanding the failure to give notice in time, or

(iv) the Minister's consent to the investigation has been obtained. In applying for such consent the committee shall furnish the Minister and the practitioner or chemist, with a copy of the said notice, a statement of the reasons for the failure to give notice in time and with any further information which the Minister may require, and the practitioner or chemist shall be entitled within seven days after the receipt by him of such statement or further information to forward to the Minister a statement of the grounds on which he contends that the investigation should not take place.

(5) Subject as hereinafter provided the medical service committee shall in relation to medical practitioners, the pharmaceutical service committee shall in relation to chemists, and the dental service committee shall in relation to dental practitioners, investigate any matters referred to them by the Council, or any committee of the Council duly authorised in that behalf by the Council, or the Dental Estimates Board relating to the administration of general medical services, pharmaceutical services or general dental services, whether or not any such matter has been raised on complaint under the foregoing provisions of this regulation :

Provided that no question which involves an allegation against a practitioner of a breach of the terms of service shall, without the consent of the Minister, or of the practitioner concerned, be referred for investigation under this paragraph, except within the period specified in sub-paragraphs (a) and (b) of the last preceding paragraph, and the provisions of sub-paragraph (c) of that paragraph with reference to the procedure to be adopted on application for the Minister's consent shall mutatis mutandis apply to any application for his consent under this paragraph.

(6) The pharmaceutical service committee shall perform such duties in connection with the testing of drugs and appliances as may be imposed on them by the scheme made for that purpose under regulation 26 of the General Service Regulations.

(7) If in the opinion of the medical service committee any matter referred to that committee involves a question relating to a dental practitioner or a chemist, or if in the opinion of the dental service committee any matter referred to that committee involves a question relating to a medical practitioner or a chemist, or if in the opinion of the pharmaceutical service committee any matter referred to that committee involves a question relating to a practitioner, the committee shall, in lieu of dealing with the matter themselves, refer it to the joint services committee.

(8) Any matter which would otherwise be referred by the Council or any committee duly authorised in that behalf by the Council to the medical service committee or pharmaceutical service committee or the dental service committee for investigation may, if the Council or committee are satisfied that it is appropriate to the joint services committee, be referred by them to that committee. [2442]

5. Procedure of service committees.—(1) A service committee shall permit a party to an investigation to be assisted in the presentation of his case by some other person : Provided that no person shall be entitled in the capacity of counsel, solicitor or other paid advocate to conduct the case for any party by addressing the committee or examining or cross-examining witnesses.

(2) The proceedings at the hearing before the committee shall be private and no person shall be admitted to those proceedings except—

(a) the parties to the investigation and the persons, if any, permitted to appear for the purpose of assisting them ;

(b) the secretary or other officer of the Local Medical, Pharmaceutical or Dental Committee whichever is concerned ;

(c) persons whose attendance is required for the purpose of giving evidence and who shall, unless the committee otherwise direct, be excluded from the hearing except when they are actually giving evidence ; and

(d) such officers of the Council as they may appoint for the purpose.

(3) The first schedule to these regulations shall apply with respect to the investigation of complaints, and the procedure of the committee.

(4) The committee shall draw up a report stating such relevant facts as appear to them to be established by the evidence placed before them and the inferences which in their opinion may properly be drawn from the facts, together with a recommendation as to the action, if any, which should be taken and shall present the report to the Council, and the Council shall accept as conclusive any finding of fact contained in the report. In presenting such report to the Council the committee may, if they think fit, draw the attention of the Council to any previous reports made by that committee in connection with the practitioner or chemist and to any action taken by the Minister on such reports and may recommend that account should be taken thereof by the Council in reaching their decision. [2443]

6. Action by Council.—The Council shall furnish the Minister with a copy of the report of the service committee and a statement of the Council's decision thereon, which may include action in any one or more of the following ways :—

(a) If the investigation relates to the conduct of a medical practitioner and the Council are satisfied, after consultation with the Local Medical Committee, that owing to the number of persons included in his list the practitioner is unable to give adequate treatment to all those persons they may impose a special limit on the number of persons for whom the practitioner may undertake to provide treatment and in that event any number in excess of that limit shall be dealt with as though the list of the practitioner was by that number in excess of the general limit fixed for the list of practitioners in the area.

(b) The Council may recover from the practitioner or chemist as the case may be, by a deduction from his remuneration or otherwise, any expenses (other than expenses incurred in connection with an investigation by the appropriate committee) which have been reasonably and necessarily incurred by any person owing to the failure of the practitioner or chemist to comply with the terms of service, and any sum so recovered shall be paid to that person : Provided that in the case of a dental practitioner, the maximum amount which may be deducted shall not exceed the cost of the treatment provided by another dental practitioner to the person concerned calculated in accordance with regulations made under the Act.

(c) The Council may make representations to the Minister that, owing to the failure of the practitioner or chemist to comply with the terms of service, an amount should be withheld from his remuneration.

(d) If the Council are of the opinion that the continued inclusion of the medical practitioner on the medical list or of the chemist on the pharmaceutical list or of the dental practitioner on the dental list, would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the services in question, they may make representations to that effect to the Tribunal.

(e) In the case of a dental practitioner the Council may until further notice require the practitioner, in respect of any treatment other than an examination or emergency treatment, to submit for prior approval to the Dental Estimates Board estimates in respect thereof. [2444]

7. Appeal to Minister from decision of Council.—(1) The Council shall furnish the parties to an investigation with a copy of the service committee's report and of their decision and shall inform them of their right of appeal to the Minister against any decision other than a decision to take action under paragraph (d) of the last preceding regulation and of the Minister's power on such an appeal to award costs.

(2) Subject to the next following regulation any party aggrieved by such decision shall be entitled to appeal to the Minister by sending to the Minister notice of appeal within one month from the date on which notification of the decision was received.

(3) The notice of appeal shall contain a concise statement of the facts and contentions upon which the appellant intends to rely.

(4) The Minister may, on the application of any person desiring to appeal, extend the time for giving notice of appeal and may do so although the application is not made until after the expiration of one month from the date on which notice of the Council's decision was received.

(5) An application for the extension of the time for giving notice of appeal must be made in writing to the Minister, stating the grounds for the application. [2445]

8. Representation by Council to Tribunal.—No appeal shall lie against a decision of a Council to make representations with regard to the continued inclusion in any list of the name of any practitioner or chemist and if a Council decides to make such representations and an appeal to the Minister is made against their decision on other matters, the Minister may treat as conclusive for the purpose of the appeal any relevant findings of the Tribunal. [2446]

9. Procedure on appeal.—(1) If the Minister, after considering the notice of appeal and any further particulars furnished by the appellant, is of opinion that the said notice and particulars disclose no reasonable grounds of appeal or that the appeal is otherwise vexatious or frivolous, he may dismiss the appeal forthwith: Provided that an appeal against a decision of the Council to take action under paragraphs (a), (b), (c) or (e) of regulation 6 of these regulations shall not be dismissed without an oral hearing unless the appellant does not desire such a hearing.

(2) The Minister shall, unless he dismisses the appeal for the aforementioned ground, send a copy of the notice of appeal and of any further particulars furnished by the appellant to the Council and to the person or persons, if any, who were parties to the proceedings before the service committee or who appear to him to be interested in the appeal.

(3) Subject to the proviso to paragraph (1) of this regulation, the Minister may, if he is of opinion that the case is of such a nature that it can properly be determined without an oral hearing, dispense with an oral hearing and determine the appeal summarily.

(4) In the event of an oral hearing the Council or any person who has received notice of appeal may appear and take such part in the proceedings as the persons holding the inquiry think proper.

(5) For the purpose of an oral hearing the Minister may appoint an officer or officers of the Ministry of Health or some other person or persons, not exceeding three in number, to hold an inquiry and to draw up a report. The Minister, after taking such report into consideration, shall give his decision, which shall be final and conclusive:

Provided that—

(a) where one of the parties to an appeal is a medical practitioner and the decision of the Council involves a finding that the practitioner has been guilty of any breach of the terms of service referred to in regulation 11 (3) (b) of these regulations the persons appointed to hear the appeal shall include a medical practitioner selected by the Minister from the panel of medical practitioners referred to in that regulation;

(b) where one of the parties to an appeal is a dental practitioner and the decision of the Council involves a finding that the dental practitioner has failed to complete satisfactorily dental treatment, or has failed to exercise reasonable care and skill, the persons appointed to hear the appeal shall include a dental practitioner selected by the Minister from the panel of dental practitioners referred to in regulation 11 of these regulations.

(6) (a) A party to an appeal when an oral hearing takes place shall be entitled to appear and be heard in person, or by counsel or solicitor, or by any officer or member of any organisation of which he is a member, or by any member of his family, or by any friend.

(b) A Council or other body being a party to any appeal shall be entitled to appear by a member or by their clerk or other officer duly appointed for the purpose or by counsel or solicitor.

(7) A party to an appeal shall not, except with the consent of the Minister or, in the case of an oral hearing, of the person or persons before whom the hearing takes place, be entitled to rely upon any facts or contentions which do not appear to the Minister or to the person or persons holding the inquiry to have been raised before the committee in the course of the proceedings in respect of which the appeal is brought: Provided that this paragraph shall not apply in the case of a hearing if at least seven days before the hearing notice is given in writing to the Minister or to the person or persons holding the inquiry of any new facts or contentions upon which the party intends to rely.

(8) The Council may, with the consent of the Minister, make such contribution as they think fit and if directed by the Minister shall make such contribution as he may determine towards the cost of the appeal incurred by the complainant or by the practitioner or chemist. [2447]

10. Provisions of Local Government Act, 1933, to apply.—The provisions of sub-sections (2), (3) and (5) of section 290 of the Local Government Act, 1933, which relate to the summoning of witnesses, the awarding of costs and other matters, shall apply to any inquiry held by the Minister under the last foregoing regulation as if in sub-section (5) the word "Minister" were substituted for the word "Department". [2448]

11. Procedure on withholding money.—(1) If the Minister is satisfied :—

(a) after considering any report made by a service committee under paragraph (4) of regulation 5 of these regulations and the decision of the Council thereon or the report of the person or persons hearing an appeal against such decision under paragraph (5) of regulation 9 of these regulations or any report of the Tribunal after an inquiry under Part III of these regulations that a practitioner or chemist has failed or neglected to comply with the terms of service applicable to him ; or

(b) after considering the report of a medical officer or where a matter has been referred to a Local Medical Committee for consideration under regulation 14 of these regulations the report of the Local Medical Committee or of any other person or persons determining any matter under that regulation that a medical practitioner has failed to comply with sub-paragraphs (12) and (13) of paragraph 7 of the terms of service applicable to him ; or

(c) after considering the report of a dental officer or, where a matter has been referred to a Local Dental Committee for consideration under regulation 14 of these regulations, the report of the Local Dental Committee or any other person or persons determining any matter under that regulation that any dental practitioner practising elsewhere than at a health centre has failed to comply with paragraph 5 of the terms of service applicable to him ;

he may direct the Council to recover such amount as he thinks fit either by deduction from the remuneration of the practitioner or chemist or otherwise, and such sum shall be a debt owing by the practitioner or chemist to the Council:

Provided that, except in cases in which the facts have already been the subject of an investigation in the course of an appeal made to the Minister, the Minister shall, before directing that any such amount shall be withheld, afford the practitioner or chemist concerned a reasonable opportunity of making representations to him on the matter and if he decides to make representations orally the Minister shall appoint a person or persons to hear the case. The Council and the Local Medical, Pharmaceutical or Dental Committee as the case may be, shall be entitled to be represented at such hearing and to take such part in the proceedings as the persons appointed to hear the case may think fit.

(2) The persons appointed to hear the oral representations of a practitioner under this regulation shall include a practitioner selected for the purpose by the Minister from the panel of medical or dental practitioners as the case may be hereinafter referred to in this regulation.

(3) (a) An advisory committee (hereinafter referred to as "the medical advisory committee") shall be constituted for the purpose of assisting the Minister in the discharge of his duties under this regulation in relation to medical practitioners. Before directing the Council to withhold money in respect of an alleged breach of the terms of service applicable to medical practitioners the Minister shall, where such breach is of a kind specified in the following sub-paragraph, and in any other case may, refer the case to such committee and consider any report which they may make to him thereon.

(b) Breaches of the terms of service to which the last preceding sub-paragraph of this regulation relates are failure to exercise reasonable skill and care in the treatment of a patient, failure to visit or treat a patient whose condition so requires, failure to order or supply any necessary drugs or appliances for the use of a patient or failure to discharge the obligations imposed on a medical practitioner to give a patient the requisite assistance to enable him to obtain any treatment which is not within the scope of the practitioner's obligations under the terms of service.

(4) The medical advisory committee shall consist of the Chief Medical Officer of the Ministry of Health or his deputy and of two other medical practitioners in the service of the Ministry of Health and of three medical practitioners selected so far as may be in rotation by the Minister from a panel of practitioners who are, or have been, practitioners engaged in the provision of general medical services nominated by a body which is, in the Minister's opinion, representative of practitioners engaged in the provision of general medical services. The Chief Medical Officer, or in his absence his deputy, shall act as chairman.

(5) An advisory committee (hereinafter referred to as "the dental advisory committee") shall be constituted for the purpose of assisting the Minister in the discharge of his duties under this regulation in relation to dental practitioners. Before directing the Council to withhold money in respect of an alleged breach of the terms of service applicable to dental practitioners the Minister shall, where such breach consists of failure to complete satisfactorily dental treatment, or failure to exercise reasonable care and skill, and in any other case may, refer the case to such committee and consider any report which they may make to him thereon.

(6) The dental advisory committee shall consist of the Principal Dental Officer of the Ministry of Health or his deputy and two other dental practitioners in the service of the Ministry of Health and of three dental practitioners selected by the Minister from a panel of dental practitioners who are or have been engaged in the provision of general dental services nominated by organisations which are, in the Minister's opinion, representative of the dental profession. The Principal Dental Officer, or in his absence, his deputy, shall act as chairman. [2449]

12. Investigation of excessive prescribing.—(1) Where it appears to the Minister after an investigation of the orders for drugs and appliances given by a medical practitioner to persons on his list and of the accounts furnished by the practitioner for drugs and appliances supplied to those persons that there is a prima facie case for considering that by reason of the character or quantity of the drugs or appliances so ordered or supplied the cost is in excess of what was reasonably necessary for the proper treatment of those persons, the Minister may refer the matter to the Local Medical Committee for their consideration.

(2) Where a case has been referred to the Local Medical Committee under the preceding paragraph, the Committee shall furnish the practitioner concerned with a statement indicating the matters on which an explanation is required and shall afford him reasonable opportunity of appearing before and being heard by them, or, if he thinks fit, of submitting to them any statement in writing, and a representative or representatives of the Minister shall be entitled in case of a hearing to be heard by the Local Medical Committee.

(3) After considering the case the Local Medical Committee shall decide whether any cost has been incurred in excess of what may reasonably be necessary by reason of the character or quantity of the drugs or appliances ordered or supplied by the practitioner as aforesaid and, if so, what is the amount of the excess cost.

(4) Where the Local Medical Committee have decided that excessive cost has been so incurred by reason of the drugs or appliances ordered or supplied by the practitioner, they shall inform the Council, the practitioner and the Minister of their decision and may add a statement of any considerations to which in their opinion the Council and the Minister should have regard in making any recommendation or decision with reference to the withholding of money from the practitioner.

(5) The practitioner shall be entitled to appeal against the decision of the Local Medical Committee by sending to the Minister notice of appeal within one month from the date on which notice of the Committee's decision was received. The Minister shall appoint a person or persons (not exceeding three in number and not being officers of the Ministry of Health) of whom at least one shall be a medical practitioner who shall hear and determine the appeal.

(6) If the Minister is dissatisfied with the decision of the Local Medical Committee in any case referred by him to that Committee under paragraph (1) of this regulation he may appoint a person or persons to hear and determine the matter in the manner provided in the last preceding paragraph and the provisions of that paragraph including those relating to the person or persons to be appointed shall apply accordingly.

(7) After consideration of the decision of the Local Medical Committee or, if an appeal has been made or the matter has been referred for hearing and determination under the last foregoing paragraph, after consideration of the decision of the person or persons determining the appeal or matter, the Council shall, if such decision is that excessive cost has been incurred, make a recommendation to the Minister with regard to the withholding of money from the practitioner and the Minister may direct the Council to withhold such sum as he thinks fit and the provisions of regulation 11 of these regulations, including the right of the practitioner to make representations to the Minister, shall apply accordingly. [2450]

13. Investigation of certification.—(1) Where it appears to the Minister, after an investigation of the medical certificates issued under and for the purposes of the National Insurance Acts, 1946, by a medical practitioner to persons for whose treatment he is responsible under the terms of service applicable to him, that there is a prima facie case for considering that the practitioner has failed to exercise reasonable care in the issue of such certificates, the Minister may refer the matter for consideration to the Local Medical Committee or to a joint committee of two or more Local Medical Committees constituted in such manner as he may approve and any reference in this regulation to the Local Medical Committee shall be construed as including any such joint committee.

(2) Any reference to the Committee under the last preceding paragraph shall be accompanied by a statement indicating the matters on which it appears to the Minister that an explanation is required.

(3) (a) The Committee shall furnish the practitioner concerned with a copy of the said statement and shall afford him reasonable opportunity of submitting to them a statement in writing and of appearing before and being heard by them.

(b) A copy of any such statement by the practitioner shall be forwarded to the Minister by the Committee for his observations and a representative or representatives of the Minister shall be entitled, in case of a hearing, to attend and be heard by the Committee.

(4) (a) After considering the case the Committee shall draw up a report of their findings on the question whether there has been a failure on the part of the practitioner to exercise reasonable care in certification, and, if so, what is the extent and gravity of the failure, together with a recommendation as to the action, if any, which should be taken by the Minister.

(b) The Committee shall forward the report to the Minister and shall furnish the practitioner with a copy of the report.

(5) (a) The practitioner shall be entitled to appeal against any findings of the Committee contained in the report by sending to the Minister notice of appeal within one month from the date on which a copy of the report was received by him and the provisions of paragraph (5) of regulation 12 of these regulations relating to the determination of appeals shall apply accordingly.

(b) If the Minister is dissatisfied with any findings of the Committee he may appoint a person or persons to hear and determine the matter in the manner provided in paragraph (5) of regulation 12 of these regulations and the provisions of that paragraph including those relating to the person or persons to be appointed shall apply accordingly.

(6) After consideration of the findings and recommendation of the Committee or, if an appeal has been made or the matter has been referred for hearing and determination under the last preceding paragraph, after consideration of the findings of the person or persons determining the appeal or matter, the Minister may, if he is satisfied that there has been a failure on the part of the practitioner to exercise reasonable care in certification, direct the Council to withhold such amount as he thinks fit from the remuneration of the practitioner and the provisions of regulation 11 of these regulations, including the practitioner's right to make representations to the Minister, shall apply accordingly. [2451]

14. Investigation of record keeping.—(1) Where it appears to the Minister, after an examination by the medical officer or the dental officer of any record cards held by a medical practitioner, or a dental practitioner practising elsewhere than at a health centre, that there is a prima facie case for considering that the medical practitioner has failed to carry out his obligations under sub-paragraph (12) of paragraph 7 of the terms of service, so far as such obligations involve the recording of clinical data regarding his patients, or that the dental practitioner has failed to carry out his obligations under paragraph 5 of the terms of service, the Minister may refer the matter for consideration of the Local Medical or Dental Committee, whichever is appropriate.

(2) Any such reference to a Committee shall be accompanied by a statement of the grounds for considering that such obligations have not been fulfilled.

(3) (a) The Committee shall furnish the practitioner concerned with a copy of the said statement and shall afford him reasonable opportunity of submitting to them a statement in writing and of appearing before and being heard by them.

(b) A copy of any such statement by the practitioner shall be forwarded to the Minister by the Committee for his observations and a representative or representatives of the Minister shall be entitled, in case of a hearing, to attend and be heard by that Committee.

(4) If so required by notice in writing signed by the chairman of the Committee, the practitioner shall—

(a) produce at the hearing all record cards held by him or such of the record cards as may be specified in the notice;

(b) give in the case of a medical practitioner to any members of the Committee specified in the notice or in the case of a dental practitioner to the dental officer, access at all reasonable times to the practitioner's surgery or other place where the record cards are kept, for the purpose of inspection of such record cards and furnish such persons with any such record cards and with any necessary information with regard thereto as they may require.

(5) After considering the case, the Committee shall report to the Minister whether there has been a failure on the part of the practitioner to carry out his said obligations and, if so, the extent and gravity of such failure and shall make a recommendation as to the action, if any, which should be taken by the Minister. A copy of such report shall be forwarded by the Committee to the practitioner.

(6) (a) The practitioner shall be entitled to appeal against any findings of the Committee contained in the report by sending to the Minister notice of appeal within one month from the date on which a copy of the report was received by him and the provisions of paragraph (5) of regulation 12 of these regulations relating to the determination of appeals shall apply accordingly: Provided that if the appellant is a dental practitioner, a reference to a dental practitioner shall be substituted for the reference to a medical practitioner.

(b) If the Minister is dissatisfied with the findings of the Committee he may appoint a person or persons to hear and determine the matter in the manner provided in paragraph (5) of regulation 12 of these regulations as modified by the preceding sub-paragraph and those provisions, including those relating to the person or persons to be appointed, shall apply accordingly.

(7) In this regulation "record cards" means

(a) in the case of a medical practitioner, the cards on which he is required to keep records of the illnesses of his patients and of his treatment of them under sub-paragraph (12) of paragraph 7 of the terms of service, and

(b) in the case of a dental practitioner, the records which under paragraph 5 of the terms of service he is required to keep of the clinical conditions present in the mouth of the person for whom he is providing general dental services and of the treatment provided by him. [2452]

15. Decisions as to treatment for which fees may be charged.—(1) If any question arises, either in the course of an investigation by the medical service committee or otherwise as to whether any treatment given by a medical practitioner to a patient is treatment for which he may demand or accept a fee from that patient (unless it arises in relation to sub-paragraph (1) (a) or (e) of paragraph 10 of the terms of service or is whether a certificate is reasonably required by the patient under or for the purposes of any enactment), the question shall be referred for determination to the Local Medical Committee. If the Committee and the Council disagree, the matter shall be submitted to referees appointed under these regulations for decision in accordance with the rules set out in the second schedule to these regulations; and the decision of the referees, given after hearing such parties and taking such evidence as they think just, shall be final.

(2) For the purpose of giving effect to this regulation the Minister shall, upon any such disagreement arising, nominate as referees two medical practitioners not being officers of the Ministry of Health (who shall be selected from any panel of practitioners set up by the Minister for the purpose or if no such panel exists, from among practitioners in actual practice) and one barrister-at-law or solicitor in actual practice.

(3) The referees may decide any question coming before them by a majority but, subject as aforesaid, their procedure shall be such as they may from time to time determine.

(4) If on any question referred to the Local Medical Committee under this regulation the Committee and the Council are agreed, the Council shall report the matter to the Minister and he may, if he thinks fit, refer the question for decision to referees in the manner provided in this regulation and the foregoing provisions of this regulation shall apply accordingly. [2453]

16. Determination of question whether a substance was a drug.—(1) Any question whether a substance supplied by a medical practitioner or chemist on the prescription of a medical practitioner was a drug forming part of pharmaceutical services provided under the Act, shall, if the practitioner concerned so desires in accordance with regulation 17 of these regulations and may, in any other case in which the Council or the Minister think fit, be referred to the Local Medical Committee, and the Council or the Minister, as the case may be, shall inform the Local Pharmaceutical Committee that the question has been so referred.

(2) The Local Medical Committee shall furnish the practitioner concerned with a statement indicating the nature of the question referred to them under this regulation and shall afford him reasonable opportunity of appearing before and being heard by them or, if he thinks fit, of submitting to them any statement in writing.

The Committee shall further consider any representations made to them by the Council or the Minister and, if the practitioner appears before and is heard by them, shall afford an opportunity to a representative of the Council and the Minister of appearing before and being heard by them.

(3) The Committee shall inform the practitioner, the Council and the Minister of the finding at which they have arrived on the question referred to them.

(4) If the practitioner, or the Council are dissatisfied with the finding of the Committee and inform the Minister accordingly within one month from the date on which the notice of the finding was received, the question shall be referred for decision to referees nominated by the Minister under this regulation and if the Minister is dissatisfied with the finding of the Committee he may, if he thinks fit, also refer the question for decision to referees so nominated.

(5) For the purpose of obtaining a decision under paragraph (4) of this regulation the Minister shall nominate as referees a person or persons (not exceeding three in number and not being an officer or officers of the Ministry of Health) of whom at least one shall be a medical practitioner. The referees may decide any question coming before them by a majority, but, subject as aforesaid, their procedure shall be such as they may determine. [2454]

17. Recovery of cost of substance held not to be a drug.—(1) If it appears to the Council that any substance supplied to a person under these regulations was not a drug forming part of pharmaceutical services provided under the Act, the Council shall recover from the practitioner, by deduction from his remuneration or otherwise, an amount calculated in the manner provided in paragraph (2) of this regulation:

Provided that before recovering any such amount the Council shall, unless it has already been decided in accordance with the last foregoing regulation that the substance supplied in that case was not such a drug, bring the question to the practitioner's notice in writing and inquire whether he desires it to be referred for decision under that regulation; and if the practitioner within one week after the receipt of such notice informs the Council that he desires the question to be so referred, the Council shall refer it to the Local Medical Committee and the provisions of regulation 16 shall apply accordingly.

(2) For the purpose of paragraph (1) of this regulation the amount to be recovered in respect of the supply of any substance shall be a sum calculated in the manner set forth in the Drug Tariff:

Provided that if any substance which was not a drug was an ingredient in a preparation of which other ingredients were drugs, the amount to be recovered shall be the price of that substance calculated in the manner set forth in the Drug Tariff, together with half the amount of the dispensing fee payable in respect of the supply of the preparation. [2455]

18. Appeals from Dental Estimates Board.—(1) Any person aggrieved by a decision of the Dental Estimates Board shall be entitled to appeal by sending to the Minister a notice of appeal within one month from the date on which notice of the decision of the Board was received by that person.

(2) The notice of appeal shall contain a concise statement of the facts and contentions upon which the appellant intends to rely.

(3) The Minister shall appoint two dental practitioners, of whom one shall be selected from the panel referred to in paragraph (6) of regulation 11 of these regulations, who shall hear the representations of the appellant and the Dental Estimates Board and determine the appeal. [2456]

19. Power of Local Medical Committee to consider complaints.—The Local Medical Committee shall have power to consider any complaint made to them by any medical practitioner against a medical practitioner practising in the area for which the Committee is constituted involving any question of the efficiency of the general medical services. [2457]

20. Power of Local Pharmaceutical Committee to consider complaints.—The Local Pharmaceutical Committee shall have power to consider any complaint made to them by any chemist against a chemist carrying on business in the area for which the Committee is constituted involving any question of the efficiency of the pharmaceutical services. [2458]

21. Power of Local Dental Committee to consider complaints.—The Local Dental Committee shall have power to consider any complaint made to them by any dental practitioner against a dental practitioner practising in the area for which the Committee is constituted involving any question of efficiency of the general dental services. [2459]

PART III

Inquiries relating to practitioners and chemists

22. Interpretation and forms.—(1) In this part of these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" inquiry " means an inquiry held in accordance with the provisions of this part of these regulations ;

" representation " means a representation made to the Tribunal that the continued inclusion of a medical practitioner in any medical list or a chemist in any pharmaceutical list or a dental practitioner in any dental list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the general medical, pharmaceutical or general dental services as the case may be ;

" complainant " means any person or body making a representation to the Tribunal ;

" respondent " means any practitioner or chemist against whom a representation is made.

(2) The forms set out in the third schedule to these regulations or forms substantially to the like effect shall be used in all cases to which those forms are applicable. [2460]

23. Chairman of Tribunal.—(1) The chairman of the Tribunal shall hold office during the pleasure of the Lord Chancellor.

(2) The members of the Tribunal shall hold office during the pleasure of the Minister. [2461]

24. Officers of Tribunal.—The chairman of the Tribunal shall appoint a person approved by the Minister to act as clerk of the Tribunal and shall also appoint such other officers as may be necessary. [2462]

25. Representation and preliminary statement.—(1) A representation shall be in writing signed by or on behalf of the complainant and addressed to the clerk of the Tribunal.

(2) The Tribunal may, if they think fit, require the complainant to send them a preliminary statement setting out the alleged facts and grounds on which the representation is based and, where a fact is not within the personal knowledge of the complainant, the source of the information and grounds for the belief of the complainant that the information is true, together with such further particulars as they may think necessary and they may require the preliminary statement to be verified by statutory declaration. [2463]

26. Power to refuse inquiry.—If it appears to the Tribunal, after due consideration of any representation or of any preliminary statement furnished to them by the complainant, not being a Council, that no good cause has been shown why an inquiry should be held, they may refuse to hold an inquiry and shall inform the complainant accordingly. [2464]

27. Notices to be sent in case of inquiry.—(1) The Tribunal shall, in all cases where an inquiry is to be held, send the following notices, namely :—

(a) A notice to the respondent informing him that it is proposed to hold an inquiry as to the representation made by the complainant ; and

(b) A notice to the complainant informing him that it is proposed to hold an inquiry as to the representation made by him and requiring him, within a time specified in the notice, to send to the Tribunal a concise statement of the alleged facts and grounds on which the representation is based (in this part of these regulations referred to as " the statement of complaint ") together with a list of all the documents which he proposes to put in evidence :

Provided that where the complainant has sent a preliminary statement to the Tribunal, the Tribunal may, if they think fit, dispense with a statement of complaint and in that case the preliminary statement shall, for the purposes of the inquiry, be treated as the statement of complaint.

(2) The Tribunal may, if they think proper, on the application of the complainant extend the time for sending to them the statement of complaint. [2465]

28. Respondent may admit or deny allegations.—The Tribunal shall send to the respondent a copy of the statement of complaint and of the list of documents which the complainant proposes to put in evidence together with a notice informing him that he may, if he so desires, within a time specified in the notice, by a statement in writing addressed to the clerk of the Tribunal admit or dispute the truth of all or any of the allegations appearing in the statement of complaint. [2466]

29. Amendment of statement of complaint.—The Tribunal at any time before the conclusion of the inquiry, may allow the statement of complaint to be amended upon such conditions as they may think just. [2467]

30. Right of respondent to inspect documents.—(1) The respondent may, on giving due notice to the complainant, inspect, either personally or by an agent authorised in writing, the documents included in the list sent by the complainant to the Tribunal and the complainant shall give reasonable facilities for the purpose.

(2) The respondent shall be entitled, on making application to the Tribunal, to a copy of any document in that list and the Tribunal may require the complainant to furnish to the clerk of the Tribunal a copy of the document for the respondent's use. [2468]

31. Notice of inquiry to be given.—(1) The Tribunal shall appoint a day for the holding of the inquiry and shall, not less than fourteen days before the appointed day, send notices to the complainant and the respondent informing them of the date, time and place of the inquiry.

(2) The Tribunal shall if they think fit also send to any other Council on whose medical, pharmaceutical or dental list the name of the respondent appears, notice of the date, time and place of the inquiry and each such Council may appear and take such part in the proceedings at the inquiry as the Tribunal shall think proper. [2469]

32. Power to postpone inquiry.—The Tribunal may, if they think fit or on the application of either party, postpone the date for the holding of the inquiry. [2470]

33. Power to treat representation as withdrawn in certain cases.—If the complainant fails, within the time specified in the notice or within any extended period, to send a statement of complaint to the Tribunal or if he fails to comply with any other requirement of this part of these regulations, the Tribunal may treat the representation as having been withdrawn. [2471]

34. Withdrawal of representation.—(1) The complainant may at any time before the inquiry, with the consent of the Tribunal and on such terms as the Tribunal think fit, withdraw the representation by giving notice of withdrawal in writing to the clerk of the Tribunal.

(2) Where the representation has been withdrawn or is treated by the Tribunal as having been withdrawn, the Tribunal shall (without prejudice to their power to hold an inquiry as hereinafter provided) forthwith inform the respondent that the representation has been withdrawn or is treated as having been withdrawn, as the case may be. [2472]

35. Procedure at inquiry.—The proceedings shall be held in camera unless the respondent has applied for the inquiry to be held in public but otherwise the procedure at the inquiry shall be within the discretion of the Tribunal. [2473]

36. Appearance by representatives.—(1) Any Council or other body (whether corporate or incorporate) entitled to appear at the inquiry may appear by their clerk or other officer duly appointed for the purpose or by counsel or solicitor.

(2) The complainant and the respondent shall be entitled to appear and be heard at the inquiry in person or by counsel or solicitor, or by any officer or member of any organisation of which he is a member, or by any member of his family, and shall be entitled to call witnesses and to produce other evidence upon his behalf. [2474]

37. Provisions of Local Government Act, 1933 to apply.—The provisions of sub-sections (2), (3) and (5) of section 290 of the Local Government Act, 1933, which relate to the summoning of witnesses, awarding of costs and other matters shall apply to an inquiry held under this part of these regulations as if in sub-section (5) the word " Tribunal " were substituted for the word " Department ". [2475]

38. Power to suspend proceedings in certain cases.—Where it appears to the Tribunal that the alleged facts on which any representation is based are or may be the subject of investigation by any other tribunal, they may, if they think fit, direct that no further steps shall be taken under this part of these regulations pending the issue of such other investigation. [2476]

39. Power to dispense with oral inquiry.—Notwithstanding anything in this part of these regulations, where the grounds on which any representation is based consist solely of an allegation that the respondent has been convicted of a criminal offence and he admits the truth of such allegation, the Tribunal may, with the consent of the respondent, dispense with an oral inquiry and determine the case upon such documentary evidence as may be submitted to them. [2477]

40. Report by Tribunal.—(1) At the conclusion of the inquiry the Tribunal shall, as soon as may be, issue a statement under the hand of the chairman containing their findings of fact, the conclusion which they have reached and such directions as they may give under subsection (3) of section 42 of the Act, and any order they may decide to make with respect to the costs of the parties.

(2) A copy of such statement shall be forwarded by the Tribunal to the Minister, the respondent and the complainant, and the Minister shall send a copy of the statement to such Councils as appear to him to be concerned. [2478]

41. Appeal to Minister.—The Tribunal shall give notice to the respondent of his right of appeal to the Minister against any direction given by them for the removal of his name from any list, and the right may be exercised by submitting to the Minister a notice of appeal within fourteen days after such notice has been forwarded to the respondent, or within such further time as the Minister may allow.

The notice of appeal shall contain a concise statement of the facts and contentions upon which the appellant intends to rely. [2479]

42. Procedure on appeal.—(1) The Minister shall appoint a person to hear the appeal and report thereon to him. He shall also appoint :—

(a) where the appellant is a medical practitioner, a medical practitioner from the panel of medical practitioners referred to in regulation 11 of these regulations ; or

(b) where the appellant is a chemist, a registered pharmacist ; or (c) where the appellant is a dental practitioner, a dental practitioner from the panel of dental practitioners referred to in regulation 11 of these regulations ; for the purpose of assisting the person hearing the appeal.

The Minister shall consider the report made by the person hearing the appeal and in the case of a medical or dental practitioner any recommendation made by the medical or dental advisory committee constituted under regulation 11 of these regulations to whom he shall refer such report and thereafter give his decision and shall send a notice thereof to the appellant, the Tribunal, the complainant and such Councils as may appear to him to be concerned.

(2) Regulations 30, 31, 32, 35 and 36 of these regulations shall, with the necessary modifications, apply to the hearing of appeals under this regulation in like manner as to an inquiry.

(3) The appellant may, at any time before the day appointed for the hearing, withdraw the appeal by giving notice of such withdrawal in writing to the Minister.

(4) When an appeal has been withdrawn the Minister shall forthwith confirm the direction of the Tribunal. [2480]

43. Publication of decisions of Tribunal, etc.—Notice of any decision of the Tribunal or the Minister under section 42 of the Act and of the imposition and removal of any disqualification imposed by virtue of subsection (6) of the said section (which provides for the removal from lists in England and Wales of persons who have been disqualified for inclusion in similar lists in Scotland) shall be published by the Minister in such manner as he thinks fit. [2481]

PART IV

Notices

44. Service of notices, etc.—(1) Any document which is required or authorised by these regulations to be given to or served on any person may be given or served either—

(a) by delivering it to that person ; or
(b) in the case of the Minister, the Tribunal or any Council, or committee, by delivering it to their secretary or clerk or by sending it in a prepaid letter, addressed to them at their principal office ; or
(c) in the case of a practitioner or chemist, by sending it in a prepaid letter addressed to him at the address given in the list in which he is included ; or
(d) in any other case, by sending it in a prepaid letter addressed to him at his usual or last known address.

(2) Where a party to an inquiry is represented by a solicitor it shall be a sufficient compliance with this regulation if the document required to be given or served is sent by post to the solicitor at his professional address.

(3) Until the contrary is proved, any document sent as aforesaid shall be deemed to be served at the time at which a letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post. [2482]

45. Power to dispense with requirements as to notices.—The Minister or the Tribunal may dispense with any requirements of these regulations respecting notices, applications, documents or otherwise in any case where it appears to the Minister or the Tribunal just and proper to do so. [2483]

PART V

The Isles of Scilly

46. Application of regulations.—These regulations shall extend to the Isles of Scilly subject to the following exceptions, adaptations and modifications :—

(a) Any provision in the regulations requiring consultation with, or the opinion of the Local Medical, Pharmaceutical or Dental Committees in respect of any matter shall not apply to the Council unless a Local Medical, Pharmaceutical or Dental Committee has been formed for the Isles and recognised by the Minister under section 32 of the Act.

(b) For regulation 3 there shall be substituted the following provision :—

"3.—(1) The Council shall appoint a medical service committee, a pharmaceutical service committee, a dental service committee, and a joint services committee.

(2) Each committee shall consist of a chairman and such other members as the Council shall think fit.

(3) The following provisions shall have effect with regard to the appointment of the chairman of each of the said committees :—

(a) The chairman shall be appointed at a meeting of the members of the committee to be specially summoned for the purpose. The chairman of the Council or, if he is a member of the committee or is unable to attend, the vice-chairman or some other member of the Council (not being a member of the committee) to be nominated by the chairman shall preside at the meeting but shall not be entitled to vote. The appointment shall be made by a majority of the votes cast at the meeting.

(b) The persons eligible for appointment shall be any member of the Executive Council being also a member of the Council of the Isles of Scilly.

(c) The foregoing provisions with respect to the appointment of a chairman shall apply to the appointment of a deputy chairman.

(d) If the person appointed as chairman or deputy chairman of a committee is already a member of the committee, he shall thereupon cease to be a member other than as chairman or deputy chairman, and a new member shall be appointed to take his place.

(4) If in the opinion of the chairman any member of a committee is interested, or is partner, principal, assistant or manager to a practitioner or chemist who is interested, in a question referred to them, that member shall take no part in the hearing thereof.

(5) The deputy chairman if the chairman is absent shall exercise and perform the powers and duties of the chairman, and shall otherwise be entitled to be present at, and take part in, the proceedings of the committee, but not to vote.

(6) The Council may make standing orders with respect to the term of office of the chairman, deputy chairman, members and deputy members of the committee : Provided that the term of office of the chairman shall not exceed one year unless he is re-appointed."

(c) Regulations 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17 shall not apply to the Isles.

SCHEDULES

FIRST SCHEDULE

RULES OF PROCEDURE UNDER REGULATION 5

1. Procedure of medical, pharmaceutical and dental service committees.—(1) Where under the provisions of the regulations any question or matter is required to be investigated by any medical, pharmaceutical or dental service committee, the following procedure shall be adopted :—

(a) If in the opinion of the chairman the statement made by the complainant discloses no prima facie ground of complaint, or is frivolous or vexatious, the clerk of the Council shall so inform the complainant and shall invite him within seven days to submit a further statement. If no further statement is submitted by the complainant within that period, or if the statement so submitted does not in the opinion of the chairman render a hearing of the case necessary, the case shall be brought before the committee which shall have power to dispense with a hearing and to report on the matter forthwith.

(b) The clerk of the Council shall, as soon as practicable, send to the chairman of the appropriate committee and to the practitioner or chemist concerned a copy of the complainant's statement and any ensuing correspondence on the matter.

(c) Except in cases dealt with under (a) without a hearing the clerk shall give to both parties and to the secretary of the Local Medical, Pharmaceutical or Dental Committee, as the case may be, not less than fourteen days' notice of the meeting at which the case will be heard.

(d) The chairman may, upon the application of either party, postpone the hearing if he is satisfied that the attendance of the party or any witness on the date fixed for the hearing is not reasonably practicable or if for any other reason he thinks fit.

(e) The clerk shall three clear days before the hearing supply to each member of the committee copies of the statement and the reply, if any, thereto, and of any further correspondence relating to the matter which has taken place between the clerk and either party.

(f) Either party shall be entitled to be present at the hearing and to give and call such evidence as the committee may think relevant to the matters at issue, and may put questions relevant to the matter in dispute to the other party or to any witness called by him, either directly, or, if the committee so direct, through the chairman of the committee. Subject as aforesaid, the procedure at the hearing shall be such as the committee may determine.

(g) If either party fails to appear at the hearing, and the committee are satisfied that his absence is due to illness or other reasonable cause, or if for any other reason the committee think fit, they may adjourn the hearing.

(h) If in the course of a hearing the complainant introduces any issue which in the opinion of the chairman was not sufficiently disclosed in the written statement or statements sent to the respondent, it shall be within the discretion of the chairman to admit or exclude such issue as he thinks fit, but if the issue is admitted the hearing will be adjourned if the respondent desires an opportunity of producing further evidence, and desires an adjournment for that purpose.

(i) In the case of any medical service committee the chairman, together with one lay member and one medical member and in the case of any pharmaceutical service committee the chairman, together with one lay member and one pharmacist member, and in the case of any dental service committee the chairman together with one lay member and one dental member shall form a quorum.

(2) The foregoing provisions of this schedule shall apply to cases which are referred to any medical, pharmaceutical or dental service committee by the Council or by any other committee with such modifications as the circumstances may require.

(3) Where a case has been opened before any committee and the meeting is adjourned for the purpose of hearing further evidence or of preparing or considering the report, a member of the committee who was not present at the meeting shall not be entitled to be present or take part in the proceedings at the adjourned meeting, and it shall not be necessary for the clerk to send him notice of such meeting.

2. Procedure of joint services committees.—Where any question is referred to any joint services committee the following procedure shall be adopted :—

(a) The clerk of the Council shall, as soon as practicable, send to the chairman of the committee and to the practitioner and chemist (if any) concerned a copy of the complainant's statement and any ensuing correspondence on the matter.

(b) A quorum shall be formed by the chairman together with one lay member and, in the case of a question relating to

(i) a medical practitioner and a chemist, one medical member and one pharmaceutical member ;

(ii) a chemist and a dental practitioner, one pharmaceutical member and one dental member ;

(iii) a medical practitioner and a dental practitioner, one medical member and one dental member.

(c) Subject as aforesaid, the procedure of any joint services committee shall be similar to that of a medical service committee with such modifications as are rendered necessary by the inclusion of a third party.

3. Interpretation.—In these rules, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" chairman " includes a deputy chairman acting in his place.

" member " includes a deputy member acting in the place of a member.

" lay member " means a member appointed to the medical, pharmaceutical or dental services committees or the joint services committee by and from the members of the Council who were appointed by the local health authority or the Minister.

" medical member ", " pharmaceutical member " or " dental member " of a service committee means a member appointed by the Local Medical, Pharmaceutical or Dental Committee, as the case may be, and in the case of a joint services committee a member appointed by and from the medical, pharmaceutical or dental members of the medical, pharmaceutical or dental service committee. [2485]

SECOND SCHEDULE

RULES OF PROCEDURE UNDER REGULATION 15

1. Where a Council and a Local Medical Committee fail to agree as to the decision of any question

(1) The Council shall prepare and submit to the Committee a written statement of the facts in connection with which the question has arisen and of the decision given by the Council and the grounds on which the decision is based.

(2) The Committee shall, as soon as may be after receipt of the said statement, furnish to the Council a written statement of the decision given by the Committee and the grounds on which the decision is based and shall inform the Council whether it concurs in the statement of facts prepared by the Council and, if not, in what respects it does not concur in that statement.

(3) The Council shall send the statements prepared by the Council and the Committee to the Minister and he may, if he thinks fit, require both or either of the said bodies to furnish to him further particulars either with regard to the facts of the case or the decision or the grounds of the decision.

2. Where the Minister thinks fit to refer for decision to referees any question on which the Council and the Committee are agreed, the Minister may require either or both of the said bodies to furnish written statements of the facts in connection with which the question has arisen and of their decision and the grounds on which the decision is based and the Minister shall inform the body or bodies furnishing such statements whether he concurs in the statement of facts contained therein and, if not, in what respect he does not concur therein and shall further inform the body or bodies of his grounds for disagreeing with their decision.

3. The Minister shall furnish copies of all such documents to each of the referees appointed by him for the purpose of deciding the question.

4. If the referees on consideration of such documents are of the opinion that the question referred to them is similar to a question previously determined by referees under regulation 15 of these regulations they may dispense with a hearing and determine the case summarily.

5. Except in a case in which the referees dispense with a hearing in accordance with the last foregoing rule the Minister shall fix the time and place of the hearing and shall give not less than twenty-one days' notice thereof to the Council and the Committee.

6. Each body shall be entitled to appear at the hearing by the chairman, clerk or secretary of the body or by counsel or solicitor and the Minister may appear by one of his officers and the bodies and the Minister may produce such evidence as in the opinion of the referees may be relevant to the matters at issue.

7. The referees shall, as soon as may be after the hearing or after determining a case summarily, report to the Minister the decision at which they have arrived. [2486]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The regulations provide for disciplinary matters and the determination of disputes arising in connection with the provision of general medical and dental services and pharmaceutical services under Part IV of the National Health Service Act 1946. Provision is made for the constitution by an Executive Council of service committees, for their investigation of complaints and for the action which may be taken against practitioners on such complaints. In certain cases it is provided that disputes may be referred to Local Medical or Dental Committees. The regulations include provisions governing the procedure before the Council, the service committees, and the Local Medical and Dental Committees, and for appeals against the decisions of these bodies.

The regulations further prescribe the procedure to be followed in the hearing of representations for the removal of a practitioner or chemist from a list under section 42 of the Act.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (TRANSFER OF LOCAL AUTHORITY FUNCTIONS) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 567

March 19 1948

The Minister of Health in pursuance of the powers conferred on him by section 69 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Transfer of Local Authority Functions) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into force on the first day of April, 1948. [2488]

2.—(1) In these regulations the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" the Minister " means the Minister of Health ;

" Council " means the Common Council of the City of London, the Council of a Metropolitan Borough or the Council of a county district ;

" appointed day " means the 5th day of July, 1948.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2489]

3.—(1) Subject to the provisions of these regulations there shall on the appointed day be transferred to and vest in the local health authority by virtue of these regulations all property and liabilities held by a Council, or to which a Council is subject, immediately before the appointed day being property or liabilities held or incurred solely for the purpose of carrying out functions which by virtue of the Act are transferred from the Council to the local health authority.

(2) The property and liabilities transferred as aforesaid shall include the unexpended balances of any loans raised by the Council solely for the said purpose and any sinking fund established by the Council in connection with any such loan.

(3) The local health authority and the Council may agree that, in lieu of a transfer of a loan, the local health authority shall from time to time repay to the Council all sums required to meet the loan charges ; and in the event of any such agreement being made the loan and any such sinking fund as aforesaid shall not be transferred to the local health authority.

(4) This regulation shall not apply to rights and liabilities arising under contracts for the rendering of personal services or to rights and liabilities arising under any enactment scheme or contract for the payment of superannuation benefits. [2490]

4.—(1) If not later than six weeks before the appointed day a Council or a local health authority submit to the Minister a representation in writing that it is inexpedient that any property or liability should be transferred to the local health authority under regulation 3 the provisions of that regulation shall not apply to such property or liability until the Minister by order so determines.

(2) Where any such representation as aforesaid is made the Minister may by order determine either that the provisions of regulation 3 shall apply to the property or liability as from the date of the order or that, subject to such conditions as he may thereby impose, the property or liability shall not be transferred. [2491]

5.—(1) Where immediately before the appointed day any property is held by a Council or a Council is subject to any liability, and the property or liability is held or incurred partly for the purpose of carrying out functions which by virtue of the Act are transferred from the Council to the local health authority and partly for some other purposes, the Council and the authority may make agreements for the purpose of adjusting such property or liability and the agreements may provide for the transfer or retention of any property or liability with or without conditions and for the joint use of any property on such terms as may be agreed.

(2) In default of agreement as to any matter requiring adjustment under this regulation such adjustment shall be made in such manner as the Minister may by order direct. [2492]

6. The Minister may, at the request of the local health authority to which or the Council from which, any property or liability is transferred by virtue of regulation 3 of these regulations, by order amend any document relating to the said property or liability to such extent as appears to the Minister to be necessary for the purposes of the transfer. [2493]

7. Any proceedings with respect to any property or liability transferred to a local health authority by virtue of regulation 3 of these regulations or any functions transferred from a Council to a local health authority by virtue of the Act and pending on the appointed day shall not be prejudicially affected by these regulations or by the Act and any such proceedings may be amended in such manner as may appear necessary or proper for enabling them to be prosecuted and enforced by or against the local health authority. [2494]

8. Subject to the provisions of regulation 3 (4) all agreements made or any other acts done by or in relation to a Council for the purpose of carrying out functions which on the appointed day are transferred to a local health authority shall be of full force and effect against or in favour of the local health authority and may be enforced as fully and effectually as if, instead of the Council, the local health authority had been a party thereto. [2495]

9. Save as otherwise provided, any question arising under these regulations shall in default of agreement be determined by the Minister. [2496]

* * * * *

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The Regulations make provision consequential on and supplementary to the transfer of functions, by virtue of the National Health Service Act, 1946, from the Common Council of the City of London, the Councils of Metropolitan Boroughs, and the Councils of County Districts to local health authorities, and in particular for the transfer to local health authorities of property and liabilities held or incurred for the purposes of those functions.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (CENTRAL HEALTH SERVICES COUNCIL AND STANDING ADVISORY COMMITTEES) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 575

March 19, 1948

The Minister of Health in exercise of his powers under paragraph 2 of the First Schedule to the National Health Service Act, 1946, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Central Health Services Council and Standing Advisory Committees) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the first day of April, 1948. [2497]

2.—(1) In these regulations unless the context otherwise requires the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Minister " means the Minister of Health ;

" Council " means the Central Health Services Council ;

" Advisory Committee " means a Standing Advisory Committee constituted under section 2 of the Act ;

" appointed member " in relation to the Council means a person who is a member of the Council otherwise than by virtue of holding one of the offices referred to in paragraph 1 of the First Schedule to the Act ; and

" the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2498]

3. One third (as near as may be) of the original appointed members of the Council shall go out of office on the thirty-first day of March, 1950, another third (as near as may be) on the thirty-first day of March, 1951, and the remainder on the thirty-first day of March, 1952. [2499]

4.—(1) A person appointed to be a member of an Advisory Committee by reason of his membership of the Council and his experience in the service with which the Committee is concerned shall, subject to regulation 5 (2), hold office for so long as his membership of the Council continues :

Provided that for the purpose of this paragraph such a member of the Council shall not be deemed to discontinue his membership thereof if on the termination of his period of office as a member of the Council he is reappointed thereto.

(2) Of the original members of an Advisory Committee, other than those to whom paragraph (1) of this regulation relates, one third (as near as may be) shall be appointed for a period ending on the thirty-first day of March in the second year following the year in which the Committee is constituted, another third (as near as may be) for a period ending on the thirty-first day of March in the third year, and the remainder on the thirty-first day of March in the fourth year. [2500]

5.—(1) Subject as in these regulations provided, the appointed members of the Council and the members of any Advisory Committee shall be appointed for a period expiring on the thirty-first day of March in the third year following the year in which they are appointed.

(2) Any appointed member of the Council or any member of an Advisory Committee may resign on giving notice in writing to the Minister.

(3) A person appointed to fill a casual vacancy shall hold office for the remainder of the period for which his predecessor was appointed.

(4) Any member shall on the expiration of his term of office, be eligible for re-appointment. [2501]

* * * * *

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The regulations prescribe the periods for which members of the Central Health Services Council (other than the ex-officio members) and of any Standing Advisory Committee constituted under the National Health Service Act, 1946, are to be appointed.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (DESIGNATION OF TEACHING HOSPITALS (NO. 1)) ORDER, 1948

March 24, 1948

General note.—This order has been amended by the inclusion of the Chesterton Hospital, Cambridge, in the United Cambridge Hospitals mentioned in the Schedule to the present order, (see S.I. 1948 No. 1579, post). As to further designations of hospitals as teaching hospitals, see S.I. 1948 Nos. 979 and 1920, post.

Whereas by section 11 (8) of the National Health Service Act, 1946, it is provided that the Minister of Health may after consultation with the university concerned designate as a teaching hospital any hospital or group of hospitals which appears to him to provide for any university facilities for undergraduate or post-graduate clinical teaching;

And whereas each of the groups of hospitals mentioned in the second column of the Schedule hereto appears to the Minister to provide facilities for undergraduate or post-graduate clinical teaching for the university mentioned in the third column of the said Schedule opposite to the group:

Now therefore the Minister, in exercise of his powers under section 11 (8) of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and after consultation with the universities concerned, hereby orders as follows:—

1. This order may be cited as the National Health Service (Designation of Teaching Hospitals (No. 1)) Order, 1948, and shall come into operation on the date hereof. [2502]

2. Each of the groups of hospitals set out in the second column of the Schedule hereto is hereby designated as a teaching hospital and shall be known by the name inserted in the first column of the Schedule opposite thereto. [2503]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

This order is made by the Minister of Health under section 11 (8) of the National Health Service Act, 1946 for the purpose of designating certain hospitals and groups of hospitals outside the Metropolitan Area as teaching hospitals.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (APPORTIONMENT AND TRANSFER) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 888

April 27, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred upon him by sections 6 (5), 7 (9) and 9 (8) of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

PART I

General

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Apportionment and Transfer) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the first day of May, 1948. [2505]

2.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" the appointed day " means the fifth day of July, 1948 ;

" the apportionment date " means the date of the agreement or of the award of the arbitrator under Part IV of these regulations ; and other expressions used in these regulations have the same meaning as in the Act.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2506]

PART II

Provisions relating to the apportionment, transfer and vesting of property and liabilities under section 6 of the Act

3. Any interests in premises, other than workhouse premises, used partly for the purposes of any hospital to which section 6 of the Act applies and partly for other purposes shall be apportioned between the Minister and the other person or persons concerned according to the extent to which such premises are used for each of such purposes. [2507]

4. On the apportionment date or the appointed day, whichever shall be the later, the appropriate interests determined by the apportionment shall, without the necessity of any deed, transfer, assignment or other instrument (other than the agreement or the award of the arbitrator under these regulations), vest in the Minister and the other person or persons concerned. [2508]

5.—(1) On the apportionment under this part of these regulations of a leasehold interest, if the lease does not reserve separate rents for the several parts of the premises, the rent shall be apportioned between the apportioned parts of the premises according to their value and the covenants on the lessee's part and the conditions contained in the lease shall be severed.

(2) After the apportionment date or the appointed day, whichever shall be the later, the non-payment of rent or the breach of a covenant or condition by the person or persons (other than the Minister) to whom a part of the premises has been apportioned shall not give rise to any claim against the Minister or to any right or remedy against or in respect of the part of the premises apportioned to the Minister and the non-payment of rent or the breach of any covenant or condition by the Minister or his successors in title shall not give rise to any claim against, or to any right or remedy against or in respect of the part of the property apportioned to, such other person or persons.

(3) Save as aforesaid, nothing contained in these regulations shall prejudice or affect any of the rights, powers or remedies which under or by virtue of any such lease or otherwise are conferred on the lessor in respect of the rent reserved by or the premises comprised in the lease, and the same rights, powers and remedies shall continue in full force and shall extend and apply to the apportioned parts of the rent and of the premises as fully as they applied before the apportionment to the whole of the rent and of the premises respectively. [2509]

6. Any periodical sum (other than rent in respect of an apportioned leasehold interest) payable in respect of any property or liability which is apportioned between the Minister and the other person or persons concerned under this part of these regulations shall be apportioned between the Minister and such other person or persons in the same proportions as the property or liability in respect of which it is payable. [2510]

7.—(1) Any liability (other than a liability mentioned in sub-section (6) of section 6 of the Act) incurred partly for the purposes referred to in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of that section and partly for other purposes shall be apportioned between the Minister and the other person or persons concerned according to the extent to which it was incurred for each of such purposes.

(2) Where any liability which is apportioned under the preceding paragraph of this regulation is charged on any property nothing contained in that paragraph shall affect the person entitled to the benefit of such liability and accordingly any apportionment made under that paragraph, or under regulation 6 in respect of a periodical sum payable in respect of a liability apportioned under that paragraph, shall have effect only as between the Minister and the other person or persons concerned and so far as concerns the person entitled to the benefit of the liability (but without prejudice to the rights of the Minister and the other person or persons concerned as between themselves by reason of the apportionment under the preceding paragraph of this regulation or under regulation 6) the liability so charged as aforesaid and any periodical sums payable in respect of such liability shall be apportioned between the Minister and the other person or persons concerned in the same proportions as the property on which it is charged is apportioned under this part or under Part III of these regulations or, if such property is not apportioned under these regulations, shall remain charged thereon in the same manner as if the Act had not been passed.

(3) Where a liability which is charged on property is apportioned under the last preceding paragraph of this regulation then as from the apportionment date or the appointed day, whichever shall be the later—

(a) such part only of that liability as is apportioned to the Minister shall be charged on the share of the property apportioned to the Minister, and such part only of the liability as is apportioned to the other person or persons concerned shall be charged on the share of the property apportioned to such person or persons ;

(b) the covenants and conditions contained in the deed or other document creating the liability or charging it on such property as aforesaid shall be severed so that no breach of any covenant or condition on the part of any other person or persons than the Minister shall give rise to any claim against the Minister or to the exercise of any right, power or remedy in respect of the liability or property apportioned to the Minister, and no breach of any covenant or condition on the part of the Minister shall give rise to any claim against such other person or persons or to the exercise of any right, power or remedy in respect of the liability or property apportioned to such person or persons ;

(c) save as aforesaid, nothing contained in these regulations shall prejudice or affect any of the rights, powers or remedies which under or by virtue of any deed or document or otherwise are conferred on any person in respect of any liability apportioned under these regulations, and the same rights, powers and remedies shall continue in full force and apply to the apportioned parts of the liability and the apportioned parts of the property as fully as they applied before the apportionment to the whole of the liability and the whole of the property respectively. [2511]

8. Any apportionment made under this part of these regulations shall take effect on the apportionment date or the appointed day, whichever shall be the later, and shall save as is otherwise expressly provided be binding upon the person or persons entitled to the benefit of any liability which is apportioned. [2512]

9.—(1) There shall, on the appointed day, be transferred to and vested in the Minister without the necessity of any deed, transfer, assignment or other instrument, any interests held solely for the purposes of two or more voluntary hospitals to which section 6 of the Act applies in premises used for the purposes of those hospitals, and any property and liabilities which would, if the interests were held and the premises used solely for the purposes of one such hospital, be transferred to the Minister under sub-section (1) of that section.

(2) Any interest in premises, and any rent, periodical sum or liability which is used or held or has been incurred partly for the purposes of two or more voluntary hospitals to which section 6 of the Act applies and partly for other purposes and which would be directed to be apportioned under this part of these regulations if it were used or held or had been incurred partly for the purpose of one such voluntary hospital and partly for other purposes shall be apportioned between the Minister and the other person or persons concerned in the same manner and with the like consequences as if it had been used, held or incurred partly for the purposes of one such voluntary hospital and partly for other purposes. [2513]

10. Any property transferred to the Minister under this part of these regulations shall vest in him free of any trust existing immediately before the appointed day and the Minister may use any such property for the purpose of any of his functions under the Act but shall so far as practicable secure that the objects for which any such property was used immediately before the appointed day are not prejudiced by the provisions of this regulation. [2514]

11.—(1) Where any interests in premises fall to be apportioned under this part of these regulations and have not been apportioned before the appointed day, then as from that day (but without prejudice to any subsequent apportionment)—

(a) such parts of the premises as were immediately before the appointed day used mainly for hospital purposes shall, pending apportionment, be controlled and managed by the appropriate hospital authority as if those parts of the premises formed part of or were used for the purposes of a hospital transferred on the appointed day to the Minister by virtue of the Act, and the appropriate hospital authority may exercise in respect of those parts of the premises all such functions as would be exerciseable by them if those parts of the premises formed part of or were used for the purposes of a hospital transferred as aforesaid.

(b) such parts of the premises as were immediately before the appointed day used mainly for purposes other than hospital purposes shall, pending apportionment, be controlled and managed by the persons who, if the premises were used solely for purposes other than hospital purposes, would be entitled to the control and management thereof:

Provided that:

(i) in any case falling within sub-paragraph (a) of this paragraph the appropriate hospital authority shall, so far as practicable and to the satisfaction of the Minister, afford to the other person or persons concerned the like accommodation and facilities as were immediately before the appointed day available for purposes other than hospital purposes.

(ii) in any case falling within sub-paragraph (b) of this paragraph the other person or persons concerned shall, so far as practicable and to the satisfaction of the Minister, afford to the appropriate hospital authority such accommodation and facilities as were immediately before the appointed day available for hospital purposes.

(2) The question whether any part of any premises falls within sub-paragraph (a) or sub-paragraph (b) of the preceding paragraph of this regulation shall, in default of agreement between the appropriate hospital authority and the other person or persons concerned, be determined by the Minister.

(3) (a) Where it is agreed between the Minister and the other person or persons concerned that any premises were immediately before the appointed day used partly for the purposes of any hospital to which section 6 of the Act applies and partly for other purposes this regulation shall apply notwithstanding (but without prejudice to) any dispute which relates only to the extent of the interests to be vested, on apportionment, in the Minister and such other person or persons.

(b) This regulation shall not apply in respect of any premises if it is disputed that the interests in those premises fall to be apportioned under these regulations.

(4) The appropriate hospital authority who, by virtue of this regulation have the control and management of any parts of any premises shall, in respect of the period from the appointed day to the apportionment date, be responsible for the maintenance of those parts of those premises and for the payment of such proportion of any rent and other outgoings due in respect of the whole of the premises as may be agreed between the appropriate hospital authority and the other person or persons concerned or as may, in default of agreement, be determined by arbitration.

(5) For the purpose of this regulation, "appropriate hospital authority" means, in relation to a teaching hospital, the Board of Governors of that hospital, and in relation to a hospital other than a teaching hospital, the Regional Hospital Board for the area acting (to the extent specified in the National Health Service (Functions of Regional Hospital Boards, etc.) Regulations, 1948) through the agency of the Hospital Management Committee for the hospital or for the group of hospitals of which the hospital forms part. [2515]

PART III

Provisions relating to the apportionment transfer and vesting of property and liabilities under section 7 of the Act

12. In this part of these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, "hospital authority" used in relation to any property or to any right or liability relating to property means the Minister or the Board of Governors of a teaching hospital or the Hospital Management Committee to whom the property would have been transferred if it had been an endowment within the meaning of the Act. [2516]

13. Any property held by the governing body of a voluntary hospital to which section 7 of the Act applies partly for the purposes of that hospital and partly for other purposes, being property which would, if it were held solely for the purposes of the hospital, constitute an endowment of that hospital shall, unless a direction requiring the disposal of such property is given by the Minister under regulation 21, be apportioned between the hospital authority and the other person or persons concerned according to the extent to which such property is held for each of such purposes. [2517]

14. On the apportionment date or the appointed day, whichever shall be the later, the appropriate shares determined by the apportionment shall, without the necessity of any deed, transfer, assignment or other instrument (other than the agreement or the award of the arbitrator under these regulations), vest in the hospital authority and the other person or persons concerned. [2518]

15. On an apportionment under this part of these regulations of the reversion expectant on the term granted by a lease the rent shall be apportioned in the same proportions as the reversionary estate in the land and from the apportionment date or the appointed day, whichever shall be the later, an apportioned part of the rent and the benefit of every covenant condition and provision relating to the subject matter of the lease (but in the case of the covenant for the payment of rent only to the extent of the apportioned rent) shall be annexed and incident to and go with the reversionary estate in each apportioned part of the land expectant on the terms granted by the lease. [2519]

16. On the apportionment under this part of these regulations of any moneys secured by covenant the covenant shall after the apportionment date or the appointed day, whichever shall be the later, have effect as separate covenants relating to the shares into which the money is apportioned. [2520]

17.—(1) On the apportionment under this part of these regulations of a leasehold interest in property, if the lease does not reserve separate rents for the several parts of the property, the rent shall be apportioned between the apportioned parts of the property according to their value and the covenants on the lessee's part and the conditions contained in the lease shall be severed.

(2) After the apportionment date or the appointed day, whichever shall be the later, the non-payment of rent or the breach of a covenant or condition by the person or persons (other than the hospital authority) to whom a part of the property has been apportioned shall not give rise to any claim against the hospital authority or to any right or remedy against or in respect of the part of the property apportioned to the hospital authority, and the non-payment of rent or the breach of any covenant or condition by the hospital authority or their successors in title shall not give rise to any claim against, or to any right or remedy against or in respect of the part of the property apportioned to, such other person or persons.

(3) Save as aforesaid, nothing contained in these regulations shall prejudice or affect any of the rights, powers or remedies which under or by virtue of any such lease or otherwise are conferred on the lessor in respect of the rent reserved by or the property comprised in the lease, and the same rights, powers and remedies shall continue in full force and shall extend and apply to the apportioned parts of the rent and of the property as fully as they applied before the apportionment to the whole of the rent and of the property respectively. [2521]

18. Any periodical sum (other than rent in respect of an apportioned leasehold interest) payable in respect of any property which is apportioned between the hospital authority and the other person or persons concerned under this part of these regulations shall be apportioned between the hospital authority and the other person or persons concerned in the same proportions as the property in respect of which it is payable. [2522]

19.—(1) Any right or liability acquired or incurred for the purposes of managing any property which is apportioned between the hospital authority and the other person or persons concerned under this part of these regulations, shall, unless such liability is charged on such property, be apportioned between the hospital authority and the other person or persons concerned in the same proportions as the property for the management of which such right or liability was acquired or incurred.

(2) Any liability charged on any property which is apportioned between the hospital authority and the other person or persons concerned under this part of these regulations shall be apportioned between the hospital authority and the other person or persons concerned in the same proportions as the property on which it is charged.

(3) Where any liability which is charged on property is apportioned under the last preceding paragraph of this regulation then as from the apportionment date or the appointed day, whichever shall be the later—

(a) such part only of that liability as is apportioned to the hospital authority shall be charged on the share of the property apportioned to the hospital authority, and such part only of the liability as is apportioned to the other person or persons concerned shall be charged on the share of the property apportioned to such person or persons ;

(b) the covenants and conditions contained in the deed or other document creating the liability or charging it on such property as aforesaid shall be severed so that no breach of any covenant or condition on the part of any other person or persons than the hospital authority shall give rise to any claim against the hospital authority or to the exercise of any right, power or remedy in respect of the liability or property apportioned to the hospital authority, and no breach of any covenant or condition on the part of the hospital authority shall give rise to any claim against such other person or persons or to the exercise of any right, power or remedy in respect of the liability or property apportioned to such other person or persons ;

(c) save as aforesaid, nothing contained in these regulations shall prejudice or affect any of the rights, powers or remedies which under or by virtue of any deed or document or otherwise are conferred on any person in respect of any liability apportioned under these regulations, and the same rights, powers and remedies shall continue in full force and apply to the apportioned parts of the liability and the apportioned parts of the property as fully as they applied before the apportionment to the whole of the liability and the whole of the property respectively. [2523]

20. Any apportionment made under this part of these regulations shall take effect on the apportionment date or the appointed day, whichever shall be the later, and shall be binding upon the person or persons entitled to the benefit of any liability which is apportioned. [2524]

21.—(1) In lieu of the apportionment of property to which this part of these regulations refers, the Minister may, by a direction given under this regulation, require the persons who, prior to the appointed day, were the governing body of a voluntary hospital to dispose of such property.

(2) Any such direction may require the persons to whom it is given—

(a) to sell the property, whether in consideration of a capital sum or of a rent charge or other similar periodical payment; or

(b) to exchange the property, either with or without receiving any money for equality of exchange;

and may contain such provisions incidental to or consequential on the requirement to dispose of the property as appear to the Minister to be necessary or expedient.

(3) The persons required to dispose of property by a direction given by the Minister under this regulation shall have power to dispose of such property as directed by the Minister notwithstanding that the property is held for charitable purposes, or is subject to a restraint on alienation, and without the necessity of obtaining any order, consent or approval which apart from these regulations would be necessary for the purposes of the transaction.

(4) When any property is disposed of pursuant to a direction given by the Minister under this regulation the proceeds (including any property taken in exchange), after deduction of any costs and expenses properly incurred in connection with the transaction, shall be apportioned between the hospital authority and the other person or persons concerned in the same proportions as the property would have been apportioned but for the direction under this regulation. [2525]

22.—(1) Any property (including the benefit of any rent or other periodical sum) apportioned—

(a) to the Minister, shall vest in him free of any trust existing immediately before the appointed day and shall be transferred by him to the Hospital Endowments Fund;

(b) to the Board of Governors of a teaching hospital, shall vest in the Board free of any trust existing immediately before the appointed day, and shall be held by the Board on trust for such purposes relating to hospital services or to the functions of the Board under Part II of the Act with respect to research as the Board think fit, and the Board may dispose of the whole or any part of such property and hold the proceeds thereof on trust for any of the said purposes;

(c) to a Hospital Management Committee, shall vest in that Committee free of any trust existing immediately before the appointed day, and shall be held by the Committee on trust for such purposes relating to hospital services or to the functions of the Committee under Part II of the Act with respect to research as the Committee think fit, and the Committee may dispose of the whole or any part of such property and hold the proceeds thereof on trust for any of the said purposes.

(2) Every Board of Governors and Hospital Management Committee shall, in the case of any property apportioned to them under these regulations, and the Minister shall, in the case of any property apportioned to him and transferred to the Hospital Endowments Fund under these regulations, secure, so far as is reasonably practicable, that the objects for which the property was held immediately before the appointed day and the observance of any conditions attaching to the property, including in particular conditions intended to preserve the memory of any person or class of persons, are not prejudiced by the provisions of this regulation. [2526]

PART IV

Methods of apportionment

23. Any apportionment directed to be made under Part II or Part III of these regulations shall be made—

(a) by agreement in writing between the Minister, the Board of Governors of the teaching hospital, or the Hospital Management Committee and the other person or persons concerned ; or

(b) failing such agreement, by arbitration. [2527]

24.—(1) The Minister, the Board of Governors of a teaching hospital, a Hospital Management Committee and any other person or persons concerned shall have power to enter into agreements for the purposes of regulation 23, and, notwithstanding that the property to which such agreement relates is held for charitable purposes, or is subject to a restraint on alienation, any such agreement shall be valid without the necessity of obtaining any order, consent or approval which apart from these regulations would be necessary for the purposes of the transaction.

(2) Any such agreement may provide for the transfer or retention of any interest in premises or other property or of any rent liability or periodical or other sum or any part thereof with or without any conditions reservations exceptions or restrictions and for the joint use of any premises or other property and for the payment to or by any party of a capital or periodical sum and may include such other provisions as may be necessary or expedient for effecting the apportionment. [2528]

25. The arbitrator shall have power to determine any question arising as to any matters referred to in these regulations and to provide in his award for any matter for which an agreement might have provided and which the arbitrator considers fair and reasonable and necessary to give effect to the apportionment directed to be made by these regulations. [2529]

PART V

Supplementary and consequential provisions

26. The Minister may, in respect of any hospital which appears to him to be, or to be likely to be, within the provisions of Part II of the Act relating to the transfer of property and liabilities, require the governing body or trustees of that hospital, or the local authority in whom that hospital is vested, to deliver to him, or to such person or persons as he may specify, within such reasonable time as he may require, a statement setting out full particulars of all interests in or attaching to premises and of all property, endowments, rights and liabilities held used or incurred, whether solely or partly, for the purposes of that hospital, and may require such further information to be supplied (including plans, title deeds, securities, contracts and other documents) as may appear to him to be necessary in connexion with the said provisions relating to the transfer of property and liabilities. [2530]

27. In the construction and for the purposes of any Act of Parliament, judgment, decree, order, award, deed, contract or other document passed or made in relation to, but before the date of the vesting of, any property or liabilities transferred under Part II of the Act or under these regulations, the name of the Minister or the other person or persons to whom the property or liabilities is or are transferred, shall be deemed to be substituted, in respect of the transferred property or liabilities so transferred, for the name of the person or persons entitled or subject thereto immediately before such transfer. [2531]

28.—(1) Where any property vested in or transferred to the Minister or any other person or persons by virtue of the Act or under these regulations consists of any stock standing, immediately before the appointed day, in the books of a company in the name of a governing body of a voluntary hospital, or of trustees, or of a local authority, it shall be obligatory upon the company, on production to it of a certificate signed by the Minister, or by a person authorised to act on his behalf, to transfer the stock into the name of, and to pay the dividends in respect thereof to, the Minister, the Board of Governors, the Hospital Management Committee, or the other person or persons named in the certificate.

(2) In this regulation the expression :—

"company" includes the Bank of England and any company or person keeping books in which any stock is registered or inscribed ;

"stock" includes any share annuity or other security. [2532]

29. Any proceedings affecting any property or liabilities transferred under the aforesaid provisions of Part II of the Act or under these regulations, and pending at the date of such transfer, shall not be prejudicially affected by reason of the Act or these regulations or of anything done thereunder, but any such proceedings may be amended in such manner as may appear necessary or proper for enabling them to be prosecuted and enforced by or against the Minister, the Board of Governors of a teaching hospital, the Hospital Management Committee or any other person or persons concerned as the case may be. [2533]

30. Any question as to whether any property or liability will be or has been transferred under the provisions of Part II of the Act relating to the transfer of property and liabilities, or as to whether any property or liability falls to be apportioned under these regulations or as to the person to whom it will be or has been transferred shall, in default of agreement, be determined by arbitration. [2534]

31.—(1) If after the appointed day an arbitration under the last preceding regulation is pending in relation to any property or liabilities then, while such arbitration is pending, such property shall be maintained and such liabilities as they fall due shall be discharged by the person or persons who maintained the property or discharged the liabilities immediately before the appointed day, but nothing in this provision shall prejudice the right of such person to recover the moneys so expended after the appointed day from the Minister, the Board of Governors of a teaching hospital, or the Hospital Management Committee or the other person or persons in or to whom the property or liabilities are by the award of the arbitrator held to have been vested or transferred on the appointed day.

(2) Except as provided in regulation 11, where any property or liabilities fall to be apportioned under these regulations then, pending apportionment, such property shall be maintained and such liabilities as they fall due shall be discharged by the person or persons who maintained the property or discharged the liabilities immediately before the appointed day. [2535]

32.—(1) For the purposes of the determination of any question which under these regulations is to be determined by arbitration, a panel of persons to act as arbitrators shall be appointed by the Lord Chancellor, and the Lord Chancellor shall nominate two members of the panel as chairman thereof and as deputy chairman respectively.

(2) Any such question as aforesaid shall be determined by the arbitration of such member of the panel as the chairman, or, in the event of the chairman's being temporarily absent or unable to act, the deputy chairman, may select. [2536]

33. Where, after the date on which any property or liability has, by virtue of the Act or under these regulations, been vested in or transferred to the Minister, the Board of Governors of a teaching hospital, a Hospital Management Committee or any such governing body as is referred to in section 8 of the Act, any person retains possession of any document relating to the title to, or to the control or management of, any such property, or relating to any such liability, he shall be deemed to have given to the Minister, the Board of Governors of the teaching hospital, the Hospital Management Committee or governing body concerned, as the case may be, an acknowledgment in writing of the right to production of that document and to delivery of copies thereof, and section 64 of the Law of Property Act, 1925 (which relates to the production and safe custody of documents) shall apply as if the acknowledgment had been given without any such expression of contrary intention as is referred to in sub-section (13) of that section. [2537]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The regulations provide for the apportionment and vesting of interests in premises used partly for hospital purposes and partly for other purposes, and of property which, if held solely for the purposes of a single voluntary hospital, would constitute an "endowment" of that hospital; for the apportionment of rents and other periodical payments payable in respect of transferred property; and for the apportionment of liabilities incurred partly for hospital purposes and partly for other purposes. Provision is also made for the control and management of apportionable premises pending apportionment.

The regulations also provide for the transfer to the Minister of Health of interests in premises and of liabilities held or incurred for the purposes of two or more voluntary hospitals.

Part V of the regulations contains provisions supplementary to or consequential on the transfer and apportionment of property and liabilities, including a provision for arbitration in respect of disputed transfers.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (DESIGNATION OF TEACHING HOSPITALS (NO. 2)) ORDER, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 979

May 7, 1948

General note.—This order has been amended as regards the Bethlem and Maudsley Hospitals mentioned in the Schedule to the present order by S.I. 1948 No. 1920, post. As to other designations of hospitals as teaching hospitals, see S.I. 1948 No. 656, ante, and S.I. 1948 No. 1579, post.

Whereas by section 11 (8) of the National Health Service Act, 1946, it is provided that the Minister of Health may after consultation with the university concerned designate as a teaching hospital any hospital or group of hospitals which appears to him to provide for any university facilities for undergraduate or post-graduate clinical teaching :

And Whereas each of the hospitals or groups of hospitals mentioned in the second column of the Schedule hereto appears to the Minister to provide facilities for undergraduate or post-graduate clinical teaching for the University of London :

Now, therefore, the Minister, in exercise of his powers under section 11 (8) of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and after consultation with the University of London, hereby orders as follows :—

1. This order may be cited as the National Health Service (Designation of Teaching Hospitals (No. 2)) Order, 1948, and shall come into operation on the date hereof. [2538]

2. Each of the hospitals or groups of hospitals set out in the second column of the Schedule hereto is hereby designated as a teaching hospital and shall be known by the name inserted in the first column of the Schedule opposite thereto. [2539]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

This order is made by the Minister of Health under section 11 (8) of the National Health Service Act, 1946, for the purpose of designating certain hospitals and groups of hospitals in the Metropolitan Area as teaching hospitals.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (EXECUTIVE COUNCILS) AMENDMENT REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1156

May 31, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under sections 41 and 79 of and the Fifth Schedule to the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1.—(1) These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Executive Councils) Amendment Regulations, 1948, and these regulations and the National Health Service (Executive Councils) Regulations, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as the " principal regulations ") may be cited together as the National Health Service (Executive Councils) Regulations, 1947 and 1948.

(2) These regulations shall come into operation on the third day of June, 1948. [2541]

2. The principal regulations shall have effect as if the following regulation were added after regulation 6 :—

" 6A. Vacation of office.—If a member of the council, being a member appointed by the local health authority, is also a member or officer of that authority, he shall upon ceasing to be a member or officer of the authority, also cease to be a member of the council :

Provided that for the purpose of this regulation a person shall not be deemed to have ceased to be a member of the local health authority, if he has been re-elected a member thereof not later than the day of his retirement." [2542]

3. In paragraph (1) of regulation 8 of the principal regulations there shall be substituted for the word " resignation " the words " vacation of office ". [2543]

4. The following regulation shall be added after regulation 18 of the principal regulations :—

" 18A. Vacancy in membership.—The proceedings of an ophthalmic services committee shall not be invalidated by any vacancy in the membership of the committee or by any defect in the appointment or qualification of any member thereof." [2544]

5. In paragraph (1) of regulation 19 of the principal regulations the word " or " shall be inserted at the end of sub-paragraph (c) and the following sub-paragraph shall be added immediately after the said sub-paragraph (c) :—

" (d) had immediately before the appointed day his name included in the list of medical practitioners prepared by either the British Medical Association, the National Ophthalmic Treatment Board or the Incorporated Ophthalmic Council for use by approved societies for the purpose of ophthalmic benefit under the National Health Insurance Act, 1936 ; ". [2545]

6. After paragraph (3) of the said regulation 19 there shall be inserted the following paragraphs :—

" (4) The qualifications required by an ophthalmic optician or a dispensing optician, being a firm or company (whether corporate or unincorporate), for the purposes of Part IV of the Act and these regulations, shall be that at all premises at which the firm or company provide supplementary ophthalmic services such services shall be in the charge of a director or member or employee of the firm or company who possesses—

(a) in the case of a firm or company who propose to provide services as ophthalmic opticians, the qualifications required under paragraph (2) of this regulation, or

(b) in the case of a firm or company who propose to provide services as dispensing opticians, the qualifications required under paragraph (3) of this regulation.

(5) Notwithstanding the above provisions of this regulation a person who has the qualifications prescribed for a medical practitioner, ophthalmic optician or dispensing optician for the purpose of providing supplementary ophthalmic services in Scotland under the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947, or in Northern Ireland under the Health Services (Northern Ireland) Act, 1948, shall for the purpose of Part IV of, and the Seventh Schedule to, the Act and these regulations be deemed to have the corresponding qualifications prescribed by these regulations." [2546]

* * * * *

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The regulations amend the National Health Service (Executive Councils) Regulations, 1947 (S. R. & O., 1947, No. 889), by inserting further provisions as to the retirement of members, provision for validating the acts of an Ophthalmic Services Committee notwithstanding a defect in its membership and further provisions with respect to the qualifications to be held by persons and companies providing supplementary ophthalmic services.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (TRANSFER OF PROPERTY AND LIABILITIES OF INSURANCE COMMITTEES, ETC.) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1237

June 10, 1948

The Minister of Health in pursuance of the powers conferred on him by section 69 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Transfer of property and liabilities of Insurance Committees, etc.) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into force on the 20th day of June, 1948. [2547]

2.—(1) In these regulations the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" the Minister " means the Minister of Health ;

" the Dental Benefit Council " means the Dental Benefit Council constituted under the National Health Insurance Act, 1936 ;

" Insurance Committee " includes a joint committee constituted under section 94 of the National Health Insurance Act, 1936 ;

" the Ophthalmic Benefit Approved Committee " means the Committee approved for the purpose of administering ophthalmic benefit under the National Health Insurance Act, 1936 ;

" appointed day " means the fifth day of July, 1948 ;

and other expressions used in these regulations have the same meanings as in the Act.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2548]

3. Subject to the provisions of regulation 6, there shall on the appointed day be transferred to and vest in the Executive Council, by virtue of these regulations, all property held by any Insurance Committee for any area comprised in the area of the Executive Council, and all liabilities to which the Insurance Committee were subject immediately before the appointed day :

Provided that in the case of a joint committee constituted under section 94 of the National Health Insurance Act, 1936, the property and liabilities of the joint committee shall be transferred to and vest in such Executive Council as the Minister shall determine. [2549]

4. The Executive Council shall deal with any moneys or fund transferred by the foregoing regulation in such manner as the Minister may, with the approval of the Treasury, determine. [2550]

5. Subject to the provisions of regulation 6, there shall on the appointed day be transferred to and vest in the Minister, by virtue of these regulations, all property held by the Dental Benefit Council or the Ophthalmic Benefit Approved Committee and all liabilities to which such Council or Committee were subject immediately before the appointed day. [2551]

6. These regulations shall not apply to rights and liabilities arising under contracts with officers for the rendering of personal services or to rights and liabilities arising under any enactment scheme or contract providing for the payment of superannuation benefit but this regulation shall be without prejudice to any regulations made under Part VI of the Act relating to the transfer and compensation of officers and the superannuation of officers [2552]

7. The Minister may by order amend any contract or other document relating to any property or liability transferred under these regulations to such extent as appears to the Minister to be necessary for the purposes of such transfer. [2553]

8.—(1) Any proceedings with respect to any property or liability transferred under these regulations and pending on the appointed day shall not be prejudicially affected by these regulations and may be prosecuted and enforced by or against the Executive Council or the Minister as the case may be, to whom the property or liability is transferred :

Provided that proceedings with respect to any property or liability transferred from a joint committee may be prosecuted and enforced by or against such Executive Council as the Minister shall determine.

(2) Any such proceedings may be amended in such manner as may appear necessary or proper for enabling them to be prosecuted and enforced in accordance with the preceding provisions of this regulation. [2554]

9. Save as otherwise provided, any question arising under these regulations shall in default of agreement be determined by the Minister. [2555]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The Regulations make provision in accordance with section 69 (2) of the National Health Service Act, 1946, for the transfer of the property and liabilities of Insurance Committees to Executive Councils and of the Dental Benefit Council and the Ophthalmic Benefit Approved Committee to the Minister.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (EXECUTIVE COUNCILS AND DENTAL ESTIMATES BOARD) FINANCIAL REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1239

June 10, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 40, 54 and 55 of and the Fifth Schedule to the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf and with the approval of the Treasury hereby makes the following regulations :—

PART I

General

1. Short title, commencement and extent.—These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Executive Councils and Dental Estimates Board) Financial Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the first day of July nineteen hundred and forty-eight. [2556]

2. Interpretation.—(1) In these regulations unless the context otherwise requires the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;
" Council " means the Executive Council constituted for any area ;
" Board " means the Dental Estimates Board ;
" Ophthalmic Services Committee " includes a joint committee constituted under subsection (4) of section 31 of the Act for providing supplementary ophthalmic services ;
" financial year " means a period of 12 months ending on the 31st day of March ;
" auditor " means an auditor appointed by the Minister ;

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2557]

PART II

Executive Council

3. Annual and supplementary estimates.—(1) It shall be the duty of the finance committee to prepare and submit to the Council not later than the 30th day of September of each year an estimate (hereinafter referred to as

" the annual estimate ") of the receipts and payments of the Council during the next financial year. Such estimate shall include estimated receipts and payments in connection with supplementary ophthalmic services.

(2) If at any time after the annual estimate has been submitted it appears to the finance committee that there will be additional receipts or payments of the Council during the financial year for which provision has not been included in the annual estimate, the committee shall as soon as may be prepare and submit to the Council an estimate (hereinafter referred to as " a supplementary estimate ") of such additional payments or receipts.

(3) The Council shall consider the annual and any supplementary estimate submitted to them by the finance committee and subject to such amendments therein, if any, as they may think fit to make, shall adopt such estimates of the Council and shall transmit them to the Minister in a form to be approved by him, in the case of the annual estimate not later than the 15th day of October prior to the commencement of the financial year and in the case of a supplementary estimate within 14 days of its adoption by the Council.

(4) No expenses chargeable to administration account shall be incurred by or on behalf of the Council unless provision for such expenses has been included in the annual or supplementary estimates. [2558]

4. Advances of Funds by Minister.—The Minister shall from time to time issue to the Council such sums as appear to him to be necessary to meet expenses incurred or to be incurred by the Council (or by an Ophthalmic Services Committee on behalf of the Council) for the purpose of discharging their functions under the Act and for this purpose the Council shall furnish to the Minister estimates and statements of receipts and payments at such times and in such form as the Minister (with the approval of the Treasury) may direct. [2559]

5. Banking accounts.—The Council shall open a banking account or accounts with such bankers and upon such terms and conditions as the Minister, with the consent of the Treasury, may approve. [2560]

6. Financial officer.—(1) The Council shall appoint the clerk or another of their officers approved by the Minister as the officer (hereinafter in this part of these regulations referred to as " the financial officer ") who shall, subject to these regulations, be responsible for the receipt and payment of moneys of the Council, the safe custody of any moneys not lodged with the Council's bankers and any other duties to be performed by him under these regulations or at the direction of the Council.

(2) The financial officer shall be responsible for the prompt and correct entry and the balancing of the accounts of the Council, for presenting the accounts to the Council, for the completion of all financial records or returns required by the Council, or by the Minister, and for the submission of accounts to the auditor at such times and for such periods as the auditor may require.

(3) The financial officer shall also be responsible for supervising the accounts, books and records of a financial nature kept by other officers of the Council. [2561]

7. Receipt of moneys.—Every officer who receives money on behalf of the Council shall keep and punctually enter up a cash account and receipt books and shall pay to the bankers of the Council or to the financial officer all moneys received by him at such times and in such manner as the Council may direct but in no case less frequently than once a week. [2562]

8. Payments of moneys.—(1) Except as provided in paragraph (4) of this regulation no payment shall be made by or on behalf of the Council unless authorised by a prior resolution of the Council or the finance committee.

(2) Except as otherwise herein expressly provided all payments by or on behalf of the Council shall be made by cheque or other order drawn on the bankers of the Council.

(3) All cheques or other orders for the payment of money by the bankers of the Council shall be signed by a member of the finance committee and countersigned by the financial officer or his authorised deputy:

Provided that where the bankers are furnished with a schedule of payees and amounts payable, signed and countersigned as aforesaid and showing in words and figures the total payable, a cheque drawn in favour of the payee for the amount shown in the schedule in respect of that payee may be signed by the financial officer or his authorised deputy.

(4) (i) The Council may advance to the financial officer a sum of money not exceeding such amount as shall be fixed from time to time by the Council to be disbursed by him on behalf of the Council.

(ii) Out of any moneys so advanced disbursements may be made by the financial officer (a) in respect of the remuneration of officers and servants falling due for payment at intervals of less than one month, (b) in respect of accounts not exceeding £2, and (c) in respect of accounts of an urgent nature, but for no other purpose.

(iii) Disbursements so made shall be recorded in a book kept for the purpose and the financial officer shall submit the book with all necessary vouchers and receipts to the finance committee at their meeting next following the payment.

(iv) Any moneys so advanced which are not required for immediate use may be deposited with the Council's bankers in a separate account and may from time to time be withdrawn by cheque signed by the financial officer or his authorised deputy.

(5) The Minister may on the application of the Council approve any variation of the system of payment. [2563]

9. Books and accounts.—(1) Every Council shall record their transactions in the books and accounts specified in the First Schedule to these regulations.

(2) If any Council satisfy the Minister that it is necessary or desirable that they should keep any other books or accounts which will furnish substantially the same information as the books or accounts specified in the First Schedule to these regulations, the Minister may approve such books or accounts and they shall, as respects that Council, be deemed to be substituted for the books or accounts specified in the said Schedule.

(3) The financial officer of the Council shall keep an account of all sums received or paid on behalf of the Council and shall balance and sign the account at the end of each financial year and at the end of such shorter periods as the Council may determine.

(4) The accounts of the Council shall be posted from time to time and made up and balanced at the end of the financial year. As soon as may be after the close of the financial year and in any case not later than the 15th day of May the financial officer shall prepare a statement in the form set out in the Second Schedule to these regulations and shall certify the same to be correct. He shall submit the account to the Council for their approval and adoption, which shall be signified by the signature of the Chairman thereon, and to the auditor.

(5) The Council shall also prepare and submit to the Minister such further accounts or statements relating to their transactions as the Minister may with the approval of the Treasury from time to time require. [2564]

10. Audit.—(1) The auditor shall have a right of access at all reasonable times to the books and accounts and vouchers of the Council, of the Ophthalmic Services Committee, and of their officers. He may by writing under his hand require the production before him of all books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, receipts and other documents, and shall be entitled to require from the members or officers of the Council such information and explanation as he may deem necessary for the purposes of the audit.

(2) After the completion of the audit, the auditor shall certify the accounts and the form set out in the Second Schedule to these regulations with or without reservation and shall transmit the form to the Minister with his report thereon. [2565]

PART III

Dental Estimates Board

11. Keeping of accounts.—The provisions of regulations 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 shall apply to the Dental Estimates Board in the same way as they apply to Executive Councils with the following modifications :—

(1) The word " Board " shall be substituted for the word " Council ".
(2) References to the finance committee shall be construed as references to the Board.
(3) References to the Ophthalmic Services Committee shall be omitted. [2566]

12. Estimates.—(1) It shall be the duty of the financial officer to prepare and submit to the Board not later than the 30th day of September of each year an estimate (hereinafter referred to as " the annual estimate ") of the administration expenses of the Board during the next financial year.

(2) If at any time it appears to be necessary to make additional payments for which provision has not been included in the annual estimate the financial officer shall as soon as may be prepare and submit to the Board an estimate (hereinafter referred to as " a supplementary estimate ") of such additional payments.

(3) The Board shall consider the annual and any supplementary estimate submitted to them by the financial officer and subject to such amendments therein, if any, as they may think fit to make, shall adopt such estimates as estimates of the Board and shall transmit them to the Minister in a form to be approved by him, in the case of the annual estimate not later than the 15th day of October in each year and in the case of a supplementary estimate within 14 days of its adoption by the Board.

(4) No expenses shall be incurred by or on behalf of the Board unless provision for such expenses has been included in the annual or supplementary estimates of the Board. [2567]

13. Books and accounts.—(1) The Board shall record their transactions in such books and accounts as may from time to time be approved by the Minister.

(2) The accounts of the Board shall be posted from time to time and made up and balanced at the end of the financial year. As soon as may be after the close of the financial year and in any case not later than the 30th day of April the financial officer shall prepare a statement in a form to be approved by the Minister and shall certify the same to be correct. He shall submit the form to the Board for their approval and adoption, which shall be signified by the signature of the Chairman thereon, and to the auditor.

(3) The provisions of paragraphs (3) and (5) of regulation 9 with the substitution of the word " Board " for the word " Council " shall apply to the Dental Estimates Board. [2568]

14. Audit.—The payment of moneys to the Board under the provisions of subsection (4) of section 54 of the Act shall be subject to the condition that the provisions of this Part of these regulations are observed and that the books and accounts of the Board and of their officers shall be audited by the auditor in the same way and with the like incidents and consequences as the books and accounts of a Council and regulation 10 of these regulations shall mutatis mutandis apply to the Dental Estimates Board. [2569]

PART IV

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The regulations lay down the financial procedure to be followed by the Executive Councils and the Dental Estimates Board in the exercise of their functions under Part IV of the National Health Service Act, 1946. The regulations further provide for the form of accounts to be kept by the Councils and the Board, for the accounts to be furnished by them to the Minister and for the audit of these accounts.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (SUPPLEMENTARY OPHTHALMIC SERVICES) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1273

June 15, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under sections 41, 42, 44, 45 and 74 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

PART I

General

Short title and commencement

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Supplementary Ophthalmic Services) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, 1948. [2573]

Interpretation

2.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" Committee " means an Ophthalmic Services Committee appointed in accordance with the National Health Service (Executive Councils) Regulations, 1947 and 1948 (hereinafter referred to as the Executive Councils Regulations) ;

" Council " means the Executive Council for any area ;

" dispensing optician " means a person, firm or company qualified as a dispensing optician in accordance with the Executive Councils Regulations ;

" glasses " includes any optical appliance which may be supplied under supplementary ophthalmic services ;

" glasses of a special type " means glasses of a more expensive type than standard glasses ;

" ophthalmic medical practitioner " means a medical practitioner having the qualifications prescribed by the Executive Councils Regulations ;

" ophthalmic optician " means a person, firm or company qualified as an ophthalmic optician in accordance with the Executive Councils Regulations ;

" replacement " means the supply of glasses in place of glasses previously supplied under these regulations which have been lost, damaged or destroyed and which contained lenses conforming to the same prescription ;

" standard glasses " means glasses specified as such in the statement referred to in regulation 3 ;

" supply " in relation to glasses includes replacement ;

" the Tribunal " means the Tribunal constituted under section 42 of the Act.

(2) Any references to a form in these regulations shall include references to a form substantially to the like effect.

(3) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2574]

PART II

General arrangements for the provision of supplementary ophthalmic services

Preparation of statement determining fees, etc.

3.—(1) The Minister shall, after consultation with such organisations as he may recognise as representative of medical practitioners and opticians providing supplementary ophthalmic services, cause to be prepared a statement which shall specify :—

(a) the fees payable for the testing of sight by ophthalmic medical practitioners and ophthalmic opticians and for the dispensing of glasses by ophthalmic and dispensing opticians ;

(b) the types and quality of standard glasses and glasses of a special type ;

(c) a scale of charges for the supply or repair of standard glasses ;

(d) the charges which may be made to persons to whom, at their request, an ophthalmic or dispensing optician supplies glasses of a special type or in respect of the repair of any such glasses.

(2) The said statement may be amended from time to time by the Minister after consultation with such organisations as aforesaid. [2575]

Terms of service for ophthalmic medical practitioners ophthalmic opticians and dispensing opticians

4. The arrangements which a Council is required by section 41 of the Act to make with ophthalmic medical practitioners and ophthalmic and dispensing opticians for the provision of supplementary ophthalmic services shall incorporate the terms of service contained in Parts I, II and III respectively of the first schedule to these regulations and the statement referred to in the last foregoing regulation. [2576]

Ophthalmic list

5.—(1) The Committee shall prepare a list in three parts, to be called " the ophthalmic list ", of ophthalmic medical practitioners, ophthalmic opticians and dispensing opticians respectively who having made application to the Committee on the appropriate form set out in the second schedule to these regulations, are entitled to be included in the list.

(2) The ophthalmic list shall contain, in addition to the names of ophthalmic medical practitioners and ophthalmic and dispensing opticians :—

(a) the address of any place at which they undertake to test sight or supply glasses ;

(b) particulars of the days and hours at which the service will normally be provided.

(3) Copies of the ophthalmic list shall be available for inspection at the offices of the Council and the Committee, at post offices, at surgeries, consulting rooms and other premises where general medical services and supplementary ophthalmic services are provided, and at such other places as appear to the Committee to be convenient for informing all persons interested and shall be kept revised up to date.

(4) The Committee shall send a copy of the ophthalmic list to the Council and to the Minister and shall within seven days inform each of them of any alteration which may from time to time be made therein. The Committee shall send a copy of the list to the Local Medical Committee and the local health authority, the Regional Hospital Board, the Hospital Management Committees of hospitals serving the area and the Board of Governors of any teaching hospital in the area, and at intervals of not more than three months shall notify each of them of any alteration made therein. [2577]

Publication of particulars

6. The Committee shall cause to be published in such manner as appears to them best calculated to inform all persons interested, particulars of the arrangements made by the Committee, including a statement of the places where copies of the terms of service for ophthalmic medical practitioners and ophthalmic and dispensing opticians and copies of the ophthalmic list may be seen, and any other particulars which the Committee think proper. [2578]

PART III

Method of obtaining supplementary ophthalmic services involving the testing of sight

7.—(1) A person receiving from a medical practitioner a recommendation in writing for supplementary ophthalmic services may present the same to any ophthalmic medical practitioner or ophthalmic optician whose name appears on an ophthalmic list.

(2) If a person is unable or unwilling on conscientious grounds to obtain such a recommendation he may apply to the Committee for authority to receive such services, and such an authority signed by the clerk of the Committee shall confer on the person the same rights as a recommendation given by a medical practitioner.

(3) If a person has previously received supplementary ophthalmic services involving a testing of the sight he shall be entitled to receive such services without producing such a recommendation or authority as aforementioned. [2579]

8. An ophthalmic medical practitioner or ophthalmic optician, on receiving an application for supplementary ophthalmic services which involve the testing of sight, may if such a recommendation or authority as is mentioned in regulation 7 is produced to him or if the applicant states that he has previously had his sight tested under the supplementary ophthalmic services, make such examination of the applicant's eyes as may be required and shall forthwith

(1) see that part I of the form No. 1 in the third schedule hereto is completed by or on behalf of the applicant;
(2) complete part II if glasses are required and part V of the said form and secure the completion of part IV, and
(3) forward the form with the recommendation or authority (if any) to the Committee. [2580]

9.—(1) Where the Committee, on the receipt of such form and after any such inquiry as they think proper, are satisfied that any glasses prescribed therein are not required by way of replacement or that, if they are required by way of replacement, such replacement is not necessitated by lack of care, they shall send to the applicant the upper detachable part of the form endorsed to the effect that the supply of glasses under the supplementary ophthalmic services is authorised, together with a note informing him that he may take it for dispensing to any ophthalmic or dispensing optician on the ophthalmic list.

(2) Where the Committee, on the receipt of such form and after any such inquiry as they think proper, are satisfied that the applicant is already in possession of such glasses as are prescribed therein, or that any glasses prescribed therein are required by way of replacement which has been necessitated by lack of care, they shall send him the upper detachable part of the form endorsed to the effect that the glasses will not be supplied at the cost of the Council, together with a note confirming the Council's decision. The provisions of paragraphs (1), (2) (except the last sentence) and (3) of regulation 12 shall apply to the case of replacement necessitated by lack of care. [2581]

10.—(1) The form No. 1 endorsed with the Committee's approval shall authorise the optician to whom it is presented to supply the glasses in accordance with the prescription: Provided that glasses shall not be supplied until inquiry has been made whether the applicant is in possession of a frame for glasses which has been supplied under these regulations.

(2) If on inquiry it is ascertained that the applicant possesses such a frame, or if the applicant produces a frame which has not been so supplied, and it is not worn out or otherwise unsuitable or required for use with lenses of another type, it shall be used for the glasses so supplied.

(3) When the glasses have been supplied to the applicant the optician shall complete part VII of the form and obtain the applicant's signature to part IX and subject to the next following paragraph shall forthwith return the form to the Committee for payment.

(4) If the glasses are of a special type supplied by arrangement with the applicant, the optician shall return the form to the Committee for payment with part VIII thereof duly completed. [2582]

PART IV

Method of obtaining supplementary ophthalmic services not involving the testing of sight

Replacement and repairs

11.—(1) Where a person requires a supplementary ophthalmic service which does not involve the testing of sight by reason of the fact that

(a) the service consists of the replacement of glasses, or

(b) the service consists of the repair of glasses whether or not supplied under these regulations, and in either case the prescription for the glasses was issued less than two years previously, he shall be entitled to apply for such service to any opthalmic or dispensing optician whose name appears on an ophthalmic list.

(2) On receiving the application the optician may complete, or as the case may be secure the completion of, part I and so far as is applicable parts II, III, IV and V of form No. 2 set out in the third schedule to these regulations and forward it to the Committee for approval and on receipt of such approval and subject to any decision of the Committee under paragraph (2) of the next following regulation may provide the required service: Provided that the optician may provide such service without waiting for the Committee's approval—

(a) When the form contains an admission signed by the applicant that the service is necessitated by lack of care on his part, and he has signed the undertaking in part III of the form to pay for replacement or repairs so necessitated, or (b) in any other case, where the applicant has paid to the optician by way of deposit a sum equal to the optician's charges under these regulations.

(3) After providing the service the optician shall complete parts III and V, if applicable, and part VII of the form, and secure the applicant's signature to part VIII and forward the form to the Committee.

(4) When the optician receives a deposit under this regulation he shall give to the applicant a receipt in the form provided by the Committee for that purpose. [2583]

PART V

Services for which charges may be made

Replacements and repairs due to lack of care

12.—(1) Where in the case of replacement or repair of glasses (a) it is admitted that the service is necessitated by lack of care on the part of the applicant, or (b) it is determined in accordance with the following provisions of this regulation that the service is so necessitated, the appropriate charges shall be recoverable from the applicant and not from the Council.

(2) Where the Committee have reason to think that the replacement or repair is necessitated by lack of care on the part of the applicant but such lack of care has not been admitted by him, they shall consider any representation which he may make or has made in writing with reference thereto, or if in their opinion the circumstances so require, they shall afford him an opportunity of making any further representations in writing or orally, and shall take any such representations into consideration before making a decision. Their decision shall be communicated in writing to the optician and the applicant and the Committee shall in returning the form indicate on the form, if the decision is that there has been carelessness, that the charges will be payable by the applicant and not by the Council.

(3) Any replacement or repair of glasses for which the prescription was issued within a period of two years previous to the application shall be presumed to be necessitated by lack of care on the part of the applicant unless he satisfies the Committee by such representations as aforesaid that the replacement or repair is not so necessitated.

(4) Where under paragraph (2) of the last preceding regulation an optician has taken a deposit, he shall be entitled to retain it in satisfaction of his charges, but unless it is decided that the service is necessitated by lack of care the Council shall, if a claim for the repayment of the deposit is made to the Committee within three months after the payment thereof or such longer period as the Committee may in special circumstances allow, pay to the person who made the deposit a sum equal to the amount thereof. [2584]

Glasses of a special type

13.—(1) Where an optician has agreed at a person's request to supply, as part of the supplementary ophthalmic services, any glasses of a special type or to repair such glasses, he may require such person to pay in respect thereof a charge not exceeding such amount as is specified in the statement prepared under regulation 8.

(2) In a case to which paragraph (1) of this regulation applies the fee payable by the Council shall subject to the provisions of the last preceding regulation be the appropriate charge specified in the said statement for the supply or repair of glasses of a standard type. [2585]

PART VI

School Children

14.—(1) Without prejudice to their right to obtain supplementary ophthalmic services under and in accordance with the foregoing regulations, the provisions of this Part of these regulations shall have effect in relation to pupils in attendance at any educational establishment maintained by a Local Education Authority, or at any other educational establishment with the proprietors of which the Local Education Authority have made arrangements for securing the medical inspection of, and the provision of medical treatment for, pupils attending the establishment in accordance with section 78 of the Education Act, 1944.

(2) In this Part of the regulations " ophthalmic surgeon " means an ophthalmic medical practitioner on the ophthalmic list who is acting on behalf of a Local Education Authority ; " medical officer " means a medical officer of a Local Education Authority within the meaning of the Education Act, 1944, who is not on such a list ; and references to forms No. 1 and No. 2 shall be deemed to be references to forms No. 1 and No. 2 in the third schedule hereto stamped or marked in a conspicuous position thereon with the name of the said authority.

(3) When, on the examination of the eyes of a pupil, an ophthalmic surgeon or medical officer is of the opinion that he needs to be supplied with glasses he may issue a prescription for the same on form No. 1 and after completing the appropriate parts of the form forward it to the Committee, together with, if the glasses are needed by way of replacement, a note of the circumstances in which replacement is required.

The appropriate parts of the form are, in the case of an ophthalmic surgeon, part I, part II and part V and, in the case of a medical officer, part I and part II (except the panel headed " Name and Address of Ophthalmic Medical Practitioner ").

(4) On receiving the form the Committee, if satisfied that the pupil is not already in possession of lenses conforming to the prescription, shall deliver or send the upper detachable part of the form to the parent, guardian or other person having the charge of the pupil and shall at the same time inform him that the glasses may be obtained from any optician providing supplementary ophthalmic services.

(5) When, on the examination of the eyes of a pupil, an ophthalmic surgeon is of the opinion that he does not need to be supplied with glasses he may after completing the appropriate parts of form No. 1 forward the form to the Committee.

The appropriate parts of the form are part I, the " Remarks " panel in part II and part V.

(6) The Council shall pay to the ophthalmic surgeon the appropriate fee in respect of the testing of the pupil's sight.

(7) The provisions of regulation 10 shall apply to the supply by an optician of the glasses prescribed as aforesaid.

(8) Where the replacement or repair of glasses is required by a pupil, an ophthalmic surgeon or medical officer or other duly authorised officer of the Local Education Authority may furnish him on form No. 3 set out in the third schedule to these regulations with authority to obtain the service from any optician providing supplementary ophthalmic services. The form shall be stamped with the name of the Local Education Authority and shall contain a brief statement signed by the parent, guardian or other person having charge of the pupil of the circumstances necessitating the service.

(9) On the presentation to him of the said authority the optician may replace or repair the glasses and shall thereupon complete, or as the case may be secure the completion of, the appropriate parts of form No. 2 and forward it to the Committee for payment. The appropriate parts of the form are—part I (excluding the last panel).

part II (if applicable) and parts IV, VII and VIII.

(10) If the Committee, on investigation of the circumstances necessitating the replacement or repair of glasses, determine that they involved lack of care on the part of the pupil they shall give written notice of their determination to the Local Education Authority and the Council shall thereupon be entitled to recover the cost of the service from that Authority.

(11) The provisions of regulation 13 shall apply to the supply or to the replacement or repair of glasses under this Part of these regulations.

(12) Save so far as they are specifically applied the provisions of parts III, IV and V of these regulations shall not apply to services provided under this Part. [2586]

PART VII

Exercise of choice of person by whom services are to be provided

15. The right to choose the person by whom supplementary ophthalmic services are to be provided shall be exercised—

(a) on behalf of any person under the age of sixteen by the mother, or in her absence, the father, or, in the absence of both parents, the guardian or other person who has the care of the child ; and

(b) on behalf of any other person who on account of old age, sickness or other infirmity is incapable of choosing a person to provide the services, by a relative or any person who has the care of such person. [2587]

PART VIII

Investigations

Investigations by Committee

16.—(1) Any complaint made by a person against an ophthalmic medical practitioner or ophthalmic or dispensing optician, in respect of an alleged failure to comply with the terms of service applicable to him, shall be investigated by the Committee.

(2) A person desiring to make a complaint under this regulation against an ophthalmic medical practitioner or ophthalmic or dispensing optician shall within six weeks after the event which gave rise to the complaint give written notice to the clerk of the Committee stating the substance of the matter which it is desired to have investigated.

(3) Notwithstanding failure to give notice within the period specified in the last preceding paragraph, the Committee may investigate the matter if they are satisfied that such failure was occasioned by illness or other reasonable cause, and either—

(i) the notice is given within two months after the said event, or
(ii) the practitioner or optician consents to the investigation taking place notwithstanding the failure to give notice in time, or
(iii) the Minister's consent to the investigation has been obtained. In applying for such consent the Committee shall furnish the Minister and the practitioner or optician with a copy of the said notice, a statement of the reasons for the failure to give notice in time and any further information which the Minister may require, and the practitioner or optician, shall be entitled within seven days after the receipt by him of such statement or further information to forward to the Minister a statement of the grounds on which he contends that the investigation should not take place.

(4) The Committee shall investigate any matters referred to them by the Council (or any committee of the Council duly authorised in that behalf by the Council) relating to the administration of supplementary ophthalmic services, whether or not any such matter has been raised on complaint under the foregoing provisions of this regulation :

Provided that no question which involves an allegation against a practitioner or optician of a breach of the terms of service shall, without the consent of the Minister, or of the practitioner or optician concerned, be referred for investigation under this paragraph, except within the period specified in paragraph (2) of this regulation and the provisions of paragraph (3) thereof with reference to the procedure to be adopted on application for the Minister's consent shall mutatis mutandis apply to any application for his consent under this paragraph. [2588]

Procedure of Committee

17.—(1) The Committee shall permit a party to an investigation to be assisted in the presentation of his case by some other person : Provided that no person shall be entitled in the capacity of counsel, solicitor or other paid advocate to conduct the case for any party by addressing the Committee or examining or cross-examining witnesses.

(2) The proceedings at the hearing before the Committee shall be private and no person shall be admitted to those proceedings except—

(a) the parties to the investigation and the persons, if any, permitted to appear for the purpose of assisting them ;

(b) the secretary or other officer of the Local Medical Committee or a committee representing opticians ;

(c) persons whose attendance is required for the purpose of giving evidence and who shall, unless the Committee otherwise direct, be excluded from the hearing except when they are actually giving evidence ; and

(d) such officers of the Committee or Council as they may appoint for the purpose.

(3) The provisions of the fourth schedule to these regulations shall apply with respect to the investigation of complaints, and the procedure of the Committee.

(4) The Committee shall draw up a report stating such relevant facts as appear to them to be established by the evidence placed before them and the inferences which in their opinion may properly be drawn from the facts, together with a recommendation as to the action, if any, which should be taken and shall present the report to the Council, and the Council shall accept as conclusive any finding of fact contained in the report. In presenting such report to the Council the Committee may, if they think fit, draw the attention of the Council to any previous reports made by the Committee in connection with the practitioner or optician and to any action taken by the Minister on such reports and may recommend that account should be taken thereof by the Council in reaching their decision. [2589]

Action by Council

18. The Council shall furnish the Minister with a copy of the report of the Committee and a statement of the Council's decision thereon which may include action in any one or more of the following ways—

(a) The Council may recover from the ophthalmic medical practitioner or ophthalmic or dispensing optician, as the case may be, by a deduction from his remuneration or otherwise, any expenses (other than expenses incurred in connection with an investigation by the Committee) which have been reasonably and necessarily incurred by any person owing to the failure of the practitioner or optician to comply with the terms of service, and any sum so recovered shall be paid to that person.

(b) The Council may make representations to the Minister that owing to the failure of the practitioner or optician to comply with the terms of service, an amount should be withheld from his remuneration.

(c) If the Council are of the opinion that the continued inclusion of the practitioner or optician on the ophthalmic list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of supplementary ophthalmic services, they may make representations to that effect to the Tribunal. [2590]

Appeal to Minister from decision of Council

19.—(1) The Council shall furnish the parties to an investigation with a copy of the Committee's report and of their decision and shall inform them of their right to appeal to the Minister against the decision, except in so far as it is a decision under paragraph (c) of the last preceding regulation, and of the Minister's power on such an appeal to award costs.

(2) Any appeal shall be made by sending to the Minister notice thereof within one month from the date on which notification of the decision was received.

(3) The notice of appeal shall contain a concise statement of the facts and contentions upon which the appellant intends to rely.

(4) The Minister may, on the application of any person desiring to appeal, extend the time for giving notice of appeal and may do so although the application is not made until after the expiration of one month from the date on which notice of the Council's decision was received.

(5) An application for the extension of the time for giving notice of appeal must be made in writing to the Minister, stating the grounds for the application. [2591]

20. No appeal shall lie against a decision of the Council to make representations with regard to the continued inclusion in any list of the name of any practitioner or optician and if the Council decide to make such representations and an appeal to the Minister is made against their decision on other matters, the Minister may treat as conclusive for the purpose of the appeal any relevant findings of the Tribunal. [2592]

Procedure on appeal

21.—(1) If the Minister, after considering the notice of appeal and any further particulars furnished by the appellant, is of opinion that the notice and particulars disclose no reasonable grounds of appeal or that the appeal is otherwise vexatious or frivolous, he may dismiss the appeal forthwith: Provided that an appeal against a decision of the Council to take action under paragraphs (a) or (b) of regulation 18 shall not be dismissed without an oral hearing unless the appellant does not desire such a hearing.

(2) The Minister shall, unless he dismisses the appeal for the aforementioned ground, send a copy of the notice of appeal and of any further particulars furnished by the appellant to the Council, the Committee and to the person or persons, if any, who were parties to the proceedings before the Committee or who appear to him to be interested in the appeal.

(3) Subject to the proviso to paragraph (1) of this regulation, the Minister may, if he is of opinion that the case is of such a nature that it can properly be determined without an oral hearing, dispense with an oral hearing and determine the appeal summarily.

(4) In the event of an oral hearing the Council or any person who has received notice of appeal may appear and take such part in the proceedings as the persons holding the inquiry think proper.

(5) For the purpose of an oral hearing the Minister may appoint an officer or officers of the Ministry of Health or some other person or persons, not exceeding three in number, to hold an inquiry and to draw up a report. The Minister, after taking such report into consideration, shall give his decision, which shall be final and conclusive.

(6) (a) A party to an appeal when an oral hearing takes place shall be entitled to appear and be heard either in person or by counsel or solicitor, by any officer or member of any organisation of which he is a member, by any member of his family, or by any friend.

(b) A council or other body being a party to any appeal shall be entitled to appear by either a member or their clerk or other officer duly appointed for the purpose or by counsel or solicitor.

(7) A party to an appeal shall not, except with the consent of the Minister or, in the case of an oral hearing, of the person or persons before whom the hearing takes place, be entitled to rely upon any facts or contentions which do not appear to the Minister or to the person or persons holding the inquiry to have been raised before the Committee in the course of the proceedings in respect of which the appeal is brought: Provided that this paragraph shall not apply in the case of a hearing if at least seven days before the hearing notice is given in writing to the Minister or to the person or persons holding the inquiry of any new facts or contentions upon which the party intends to rely.

(8) The Council may, with the consent of the Minister, make such contribution as they think fit, and shall if directed by the Minister make such contribution as he may determine, towards the cost of the appeal incurred by the complainant or by the practitioner or optician. [2595]

Provisions of Local Government Act, 1933, to apply

22. The provisions of sub-sections (2), (3) and (5) of section 290 of the Local Government Act, 1933, which relate to the summoning of witnesses, the awarding of costs and other matters, shall apply to any inquiry held by the Minister under the last foregoing regulation as if in sub-section (5) the word "Minister" were substituted for the word "department." [2594]

Procedure on withholding money

23.—(1) If the Minister is satisfied after considering either any report made by the Committee under paragraph (4) of regulation 17 and the decision of the Council thereon or the report of a person or persons hearing an appeal against such decision under paragraph (5) of regulation 21 or any report of the Tribunal after an inquiry under Part IX of these regulations that a practitioner or optician has failed or neglected to comply with the terms of service applicable to him, he may direct the Council to recover such amount as he thinks fit either by deduction from the remuneration of the practitioner or optician or otherwise, and such sum shall be a debt owing by the practitioner or optician to the Council:

Provided that, except in cases in which the facts have already been the subject of an investigation in the course of an appeal made to the Minister, the Minister shall, before directing that any such amount shall be withheld, afford the practitioner or optician concerned a reasonable opportunity of making representations to him on the matter and if he decides to make representations orally the Minister shall appoint a person or persons to hear the case. The Council and the Local Medical Committee or any organisation which the Minister recognises as representative of opticians, as the case may be, shall be entitled to be represented at such hearing and to take such part in the proceedings as the persons appointed to hear the case may think fit.

(2) The persons appointed to hear the oral representations shall be, or include, a person belonging to the same branch of the service as the person making the representations. [2595]

PART IX

Inquiries by Tribunal

Interpretation

24. In this Part of these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" inquiry " means an inquiry held in accordance with the provisions of this Part of these regulations ;

" representation " means a representation made to the Tribunal that the continued inclusion of an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician in any ophthalmic list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of supplementary ophthalmic services ;

" complainant " means any person or body making a representation to the Tribunal ;

" respondent " means any ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician against whom a representation is made. [2596]

Representation and preliminary statement

25.—(1) A representation shall be in writing signed by or on behalf of the complainant and addressed to the clerk of the Tribunal.

(2) The Tribunal may, if they think fit, require the complainant to send them a preliminary statement setting out the alleged facts and grounds on which the representation is based and, where a fact is not within the personal knowledge of the complainant, the source of the information and grounds for the belief of the complainant that the information is true, together with such further particulars as they may think necessary and they may require the preliminary statement to be verified by statutory declaration. [2597]

Power to refuse inquiry

26. If it appears to the Tribunal, after due consideration of any representation or of any preliminary statement furnished to them by the complainant, not being a council, that no good cause has been shown why an inquiry should be held, they may refuse to hold an inquiry and shall inform the complainant accordingly. [2598]

Notices to be sent in case of inquiry

27.—(1) The Tribunal shall, in all cases where an inquiry is to be held, send the following notices, namely :—

(a) A notice to the respondent informing him that it is proposed to hold an inquiry as to the representation made by the complainant ; and

(b) A notice to the complainant informing him that it is proposed to hold an inquiry as to the representation made by him and requiring him, within a time specified in the notice, to send to the Tribunal a concise statement of the alleged facts and grounds on which the representation is based (in this Part of these regulations referred to as " the statement of complaint ") together with a list of all the documents which he proposes to put in evidence :

Provided that where the complainant has sent a preliminary statement to the Tribunal, the Tribunal may, if they think fit, dispense with a statement of complaint and in that case the preliminary statement shall, for the purposes of the inquiry, be treated as the statement of complaint.

(2) The Tribunal may, if they think proper, on the application of the complainant extend the time for sending to them the statement of complaint. [2599]

Respondent may admit or deny allegations

28. The Tribunal shall send to the respondent a copy of the statement of complaint and of the list of documents which the complainant proposes to put in evidence together with a notice informing him that he may, if he so desires, within a time specified in the notice, by a statement in writing addressed to the clerk of the Tribunal, admit or dispute the truth of all or any of the allegations appearing in the statement of complaint. [2600]

Amendment of statement of complaint

29. The Tribunal, at any time before the conclusion of the inquiry, may allow the statement of complaint to be amended upon such conditions as they may think just. [2601]

Right of respondent to inspect documents

30.—(1) The respondent may, on giving due notice to the complainant, inspect, either personally or by an agent authorised in writing, the documents included in the list sent by the complainant to the Tribunal and the complainant shall give reasonable facilities for the purpose.

(2) The respondent shall be entitled, on making application to the Tribunal, to a copy of any document in that list and the Tribunal may require the complainant to furnish to the clerk of the Tribunal a copy of the document for the respondent's use. [2602]

Notice of inquiry to be given

31.—(1) The Tribunal shall appoint a day for the holding of the inquiry and shall, not less than fourteen days before the appointed day, send notices to the complainant and the respondent informing them of the date, time and place of the inquiry.

(2) The Tribunal shall if they think fit also send to any Council on the ophthalmic list of whose area the name of the respondent appears, notice of the date, time and place of the inquiry and each such Council may appear and take such part in the proceedings at the inquiry as the Tribunal shall think proper. [2603]

Power to postpone inquiry

32. The Tribunal may, if they think fit or on the application of either party, postpone the date for the holding of the inquiry. [2604]

Power to treat representation as withdrawn in certain cases

33. If the complainant fails, within the time specified in the notice or within any extended period, to send a statement of complaint to the Tribunal or if he fails to comply with any other requirement of this Part of these regulations, the Tribunal may treat the representation as having been withdrawn. [2605]

Withdrawal of representation

34.—(1) The complainant may at any time before the inquiry, with the consent of the Tribunal and on such terms as the Tribunal think fit, withdraw the representation by giving notice of withdrawal in writing to the clerk of the Tribunal.

(2) Where the representation has been withdrawn or is treated by the Tribunal as having been withdrawn, the Tribunal shall forthwith inform the respondent that the representation has been withdrawn or is treated as having been withdrawn, as the case may be. [2606]

Procedure at inquiry

35. The proceedings shall be held in camera unless the respondent has applied for the inquiry to be held in public but otherwise the procedure at the inquiry shall be within the discretion of the Tribunal. [2607]

Appearance by representatives

36.—(1) Any council or other body (whether corporate or unincorporate) entitled to appear at the inquiry may appear by their clerk or other officer duly appointed for the purpose or by counsel or solicitor.

(2) The complainant and the respondent shall be entitled to appear and be heard at the inquiry in person or by counsel or solicitor or by any officer or member of any organisation of which he is a member, or by any member of his family or any friend and to call witnesses and to produce other evidence on their behalf. [2608]

Provisions of Local Government Act, 1933 to apply

37. The provisions of sub-sections (2), (3) and (5) of section 290 of the Local Government Act, 1933, which relate to the summoning of witnesses, awarding of costs and other matters, shall apply to an inquiry held under this Part of these regulations as if in sub-section (5) the word " Tribunal " were substituted for the word " department." [2609]

Power to suspend proceedings in certain cases

38. Where it appears to the Tribunal that the alleged facts on which any representation is based are or may be the subject of investigation by any other tribunal, they may, if they think fit, direct that no further steps shall be taken under this Part of these regulations pending the result of such other investigation. [2610]

Power to dispense with oral inquiry

39. Notwithstanding anything in this Part of these regulations, where the grounds on which any representation is based consist solely of an allegation that the respondent has been convicted of a criminal offence and he admits the truth of such allegation, the Tribunal may, with the consent of the respondent, dispense with an oral inquiry and determine the case upon such documentary evidence as may be submitted to them. [2611]

Report by Tribunal

40.—(1) At the conclusion of the inquiry the Tribunal shall, as soon as may be, issue a statement under the hand of the chairman containing their findings of fact, the conclusion which they have reached and such directions as they may give under sub-section (3) of section 42 of the Act, and any order they may decide to make with respect to the costs of the parties.

(2) A copy of such statement shall be forwarded by the Tribunal to the Minister, the respondent and the complainant, and the Minister shall send a copy of the statement to such Councils as appear to him to be concerned. [2612]

Appeal to Minister

41. The Tribunal shall give notice to the respondent of his right of appeal to the Minister against any direction given by them for the removal of his name from any list, and the right may be exercised by submitting to the Minister a notice of appeal within fourteen days after such notice has been forwarded to the respondent, or within such further time as the Minister may allow.

The notice of appeal shall contain a concise statement of the facts and contentions upon which the appellant intends to rely. [2613]

Procedure on appeal

42.—(1) The Minister shall appoint a person to hear the appeal and report thereon to him. He shall also appoint a person belonging to the same branch of the service as the appellant for the purpose of assisting the person hearing the appeal.

The Minister shall consider the report made by the person hearing the appeal and thereafter give his decision and shall send a notice thereof to the appellant, the Tribunal, the complainant and such councils as may appear to him to be concerned.

(2) Regulations 30, 31, 32, 35 and 36 of these regulations shall, with the necessary modifications, apply to the hearing of appeals under this regulation in like manner as to an inquiry.

(3) The appellant may, at any time before the day appointed for the hearing, withdraw the appeal by giving notice of such withdrawal in writing to the Minister.

(4) When an appeal has been withdrawn the Minister shall forthwith confirm the direction of the Tribunal. [2614]

Publication of decisions of Tribunal

43. Notice of any decision of the Tribunal or the Minister under section 42 of the Act, or of the imposition or removal of any disqualification imposed by virtue of sub-section (6) of the said section (which provides for the removal from lists in England and Wales of the names of persons who have been disqualified for inclusion in similar lists in Scotland) shall be published by the Minister in such manner as he thinks fit. [2615]

PART X

Notices

Service of notices, etc.

44.—(1) Any document which is required or authorised by these regulations to be given to or served on any person may be given or served either—

(a) by delivering it to that person ; or

(b) in the case of the Minister, the Tribunal or any Council, or Committee, by delivering it to their secretary or clerk or by sending it in a prepaid letter, addressed to them at their principal office ; or

(c) in the case of an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician, by sending it in a prepaid letter addressed to him at the address given in the list in which he is included ; or

(d) in any other case, by sending it in a prepaid letter addressed to him at his usual or last known address.

(2) Where a party to an inquiry is represented by a solicitor it shall be a sufficient compliance with this regulation if the document required to be given or served is sent by post to the solicitor at his professional address.

(3) Until the contrary is proved, any document sent as aforesaid shall be deemed to be served at the time at which a letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post. [2616]

Power to dispense with requirements as to notices

45. The Minister or the Tribunal may dispense with any requirements of these regulations respecting notices, applications, documents or otherwise in any case where it appears to the Minister or the Tribunal just and proper to do so. [2617]

PART XI

Isles of Scilly

46. In their application to the Isles of Scilly these regulations shall have effect as if—

(a) Elsewhere than in regulation 2 and part VIII references to the Executive Council for the Isles were substituted for references to the Ophthalmic Services Committee ;

(b) In part VIII references to a committee appointed by the said Executive Council were substituted for references to the Ophthalmic Services Committee ; and

(c) Any further consequential alterations of the regulations were made. [2618]

SCHEDULES

FIRST SCHEDULE

PART I

Terms of Service for Ophthalmic Medical Practitioners

Interpretation

1. In these terms of service, except so far as the context otherwise requires, the expression " the regulations " means the National Health Service (Supplementary Ophthalmic Services) Regulations, 1948, and other words and expressions have the same meaning as in the regulations.

Incorporation of provisions of regulations, etc.

2. Any provisions of the regulations or of the statement prepared under regulation 3 of the regulations affecting the rights and obligations of the practitioner shall be deemed to form part of these terms of service.

Standard of service

3. In testing sight in accordance with the provisions of the regulations, the practitioner shall give proper care and attention and where glasses are necessary shall prescribe for them on form No. 1 set out in the third schedule to the regulations.

4. Where a practitioner is of the opinion that a person whose eyes he has examined—

(a) does not require glasses, or

(b) shows on examination any abnormality of the eyes or otherwise requires treatment outside the scope of the supplementary ophthalmic services, or

(c) is not likely to secure a satisfactory standard of vision notwithstanding the application of corrective lenses, or

(d) should revisit him with a view to a further examination within six months, he shall so inform his general medical practitioner.

Premises

5.—(1) The practitioner shall provide proper and sufficient consulting and waiting room accommodation and suitable instruments for the testing of sight.

(2) The practitioner on receipt of a written request shall admit any medical practitioner being an authorised officer of the Minister or any authorised member or officer of the Committee at all reasonable times to any consulting or waiting room under the control of the practitioner for the purpose of inspecting the said consulting or waiting room.

Records

6. In each case in which the practitioner tests sight under these regulations, he shall keep proper records and shall, if required to do so, produce such records to any medical practitioner being an authorised officer of the Minister.

Remuneration

7. The practitioner shall not suggest, demand or accept any fee or remuneration otherwise than under the regulations in respect of any supplementary ophthalmic services provided by him :

Provided that nothing in this paragraph shall deprive the practitioner of any right to recover a reasonable charge from any person in respect of loss of remunerative time resulting from the failure of that person without sufficient excuse to keep an appointment, or in respect of a journey at the request of a person to his place of residence.

Deputies, assistants and partners

8.—(1) Save as provided in this paragraph in the case of deputies and assistants, a testing of sight shall be made by a practitioner personally, except where he is prevented by reason of other professional duties, temporary absence from home or other reasonable cause.

(2) A practitioner shall make all necessary arrangements for the testing of sight of any person where he is unable for any of the causes mentioned above to provide the service personally and shall inform the Committee of any standing arrangements for that purpose.

(3) A practitioner shall for the purposes of providing supplementary ophthalmic services employ only a deputy or assistant who is an ophthalmic medical practitioner.

(4) A practitioner shall not, without the consent of the Minister, employ as a deputy or assistant any practitioner who is disqualified under section 42 of the Act for inclusion in the ophthalmic list of the Committee.

(5) A deputy or assistant shall, in addition to signing with his own name any form or other document issued by him under these terms of service, insert therein, if it does not already appear, the name of the practitioner for whom he is acting as deputy or assistant.

(6) A practitioner shall be responsible for all acts and omissions of any practitioner acting as his deputy or assistant in relation to his obligations under these terms of service.

Revision of terms of service

9.—(1) The Committee may, subject to the approval of the Minister, alter the terms of service as from such date as the Minister may approve by giving notice of the proposed alterations to each practitioner.

(2) Except in the case of an alteration which results from the coming into operation of any Act of Parliament or from an amendment of the regulations, or of the statement prepared under regulation 3 of the regulations, the alteration shall not come into operation within a period of three months from the date of the issue of the notice.

Withdrawal from ophthalmic list

10. The practitioner shall be entitled at any time to give notice to the Committee that he desires to withdraw his name from the ophthalmic list and his name shall be removed therefrom at the expiration of three months from the date of such notice or of such shorter period as the Committee may agree :

Provided that if representations are made to the Tribunal under section 42 of the Act that the continued inclusion of a practitioner in the ophthalmic list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the supplementary ophthalmic services, he shall not, except with the consent of the Minister and subject to such conditions if any as the Minister may impose, be entitled to have his name removed from the list pending the termination of the proceedings on such representations.

Issue of notices to the practitioner

11. Any notice which a Committee is required or authorised by these terms of service to give to the practitioner shall be sufficiently given if it has been addressed to him and sent by post or delivered to or at the address which he has last notified the Committee as being his address. [2619]

PART II

Terms of Service for Ophthalmic Opticians

Interpretation

1. In these terms of service, except so far as the context otherwise requires, the expression " the regulations " means the National Health Service (Supplementary Ophthalmic Services) Regulations, 1948, and other words and expressions have the same meaning as in the regulations.

Incorporation of provisions of regulations, etc.

2. Any provisions of the regulations or of the statement prepared under regulation 3 of the regulations affecting the rights and obligations of ophthalmic opticians shall be deemed to form part of these terms of service.

Standard of service

3. In testing sight in accordance with the provisions of the regulations, the ophthalmic optician shall give proper care and attention and where glasses are necessary shall prescribe for them on form No. 1 set out in the third schedule to the regulations.

4. Where an ophthalmic optician is of the opinion that a person whose eyes he has examined—

(a) does not require glasses, or
(b) shows on examination any abnormality of the eyes or otherwise requires treatment outside the scope of the supplementary ophthalmic services, or
(c) is not likely to secure a satisfactory standard of vision notwithstanding the application of corrective lenses, or
(d) should revisit him with a view to a further examination within six months,

he shall so inform his general medical practitioner.

5.—(1) In supplying or repairing glasses in accordance with the provisions of the regulations, an ophthalmic optician shall employ proper care and attention and proceed with reasonable expedition.

(2) All glasses supplied by or through an ophthalmic optician shall conform to the types and quality set out in the statement referred to in regulation 3 of the regulations.

Premises

6.—(1) The ophthalmic optician shall provide proper and sufficient consulting, fitting and waiting room accommodation, and suitable instruments for the testing of the sight and the supplying or repairing of glasses.

(2) The ophthalmic optician on receipt of a written request shall admit an authorised officer of the Minister or any authorised member or officer of the Committee at all reasonable times to any such accommodation under the control of the optician for the purpose of inspecting the same.

Records

7. In each case in which the ophthalmic optician tests sight or supplies or repairs glasses under the regulations, he shall keep proper records, and shall, if required to do so produce such records to any authorised officer of the Minister.

Remuneration

8.—(1) The ophthalmic optician shall not suggest, demand or accept any fee or remuneration otherwise than under the regulations in respect of any supplementary ophthalmic services provided by him :

Provided that nothing in this sub-paragraph shall deprive the optician of any right to recover a reasonable charge from any person in respect of loss of remunerative time resulting from the failure of that person without sufficient excuse to keep an appointment, or in respect of a journey made at the request of a person to his place of residence.

(2) Any remuneration payable under these terms of service to an ophthalmic optician, who is a member, director or employee of a firm or company providing supplementary ophthalmic services may be paid by the Council to the firm or company.

Inability of an ophthalmic optician to complete service

9. If owing to the death of the person or other cause beyond the control of the ophthalmic optician, the optician is unable to supply the person with glasses which he has undertaken to supply under the regulations he shall notify the Committee in writing and he shall be entitled to such payment as may be approved by the Committee.

Arrangements for the provision of services

10.—(1) Where the name of a person, firm or company is included in the ophthalmic list as an ophthalmic optician in addition to the name of any employee, the person, firm or company shall be jointly responsible with such employee for any supplementary ophthalmic service provided by the employee.

(2) The ophthalmic optician shall make all necessary arrangements for the provision of supplementary ophthalmic services to persons to whom he has undertaken to provide such services.

(3) The ophthalmic optician for the purpose of testing sight shall only employ a person who is an ophthalmic optician.

(4) The ophthalmic optician shall not without the consent of the Minister employ for the purposes of supplementary ophthalmic services any person who is disqualified under section 42 of the Act for inclusion in the ophthalmic list of the Committee.

(5) An employee who is an ophthalmic optician whose name is not on the ophthalmic list shall, in addition to signing with his own name any form or other document issued by him under these terms of service, insert therein, if it does not already appear, the name of his employer.

(6) The ophthalmic optician shall be responsible for all acts and omissions of an employee whose name is not included in the ophthalmic list.

(7) " An employee " for the purposes of this paragraph includes a deputy, and in the case of a firm or company any member or director.

Advertising

11.—(1) Except as provided in sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph an ophthalmic optician shall not advertise either directly or by implication that his name is included in an ophthalmic list or that he provides or is authorised to provide services under the Act.

(2) Nothing in this paragraph shall prohibit the display at any premises at which the optician carries on his business of a notice supplied by the Committee in the following form :

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE

Ophthalmic Optician qualified to provide services under the National Health Service Act, 1946, under contract with the .....

Ophthalmic Services Committee.

(3) For the purposes of this paragraph, the expression " advertise " includes—

(a) the publication of a notice in any newspaper or other printed paper issued periodically for public circulation ;

(b) the issue of circular letters ;

(c) the use of letter headings, bill or account headings and the like ;

(d) the publication of booklets, leaflets and pamphlets ;

(e) canvassing in any form ;

(f) the making of any public announcement by means of wireless, gramophone records or loudspeaker ;

(g) the display of any poster, placard, streamer or sign ;

(h) the exhibition of any film, slide or announcement at a theatre, cinema or other place of public entertainment or resort.

Fair wages

12. An ophthalmic optician shall, in respect of the categories of staff whose wages and conditions of work are approved by the Joint Industrial Council for the Ophthalmic Optical Industry, pay rates of wages and observe conditions not less favourable than those for the time being so approved.

Revision of terms of service

13.—(1) The Committee may, subject to the approval of the Minister, alter the terms of service as from such date as the Minister may approve by giving notice of the proposed alterations to each ophthalmic optician.

(2) Except in the case of an alteration which results from the coming into operation of any Act of Parliament or from an amendment of the regulations, or of the statement prepared under regulation 3 of the regulations the alteration shall not come into operation within a period of three months from the date of the issue of the notice.

Withdrawal from ophthalmic list

14. The ophthalmic optician shall be entitled at any time to give notice to the Committee that he desires to withdraw his name from the ophthalmic list and his name shall be removed therefrom at the expiration of three months from the date of such notice or of such shorter period as the Committee may agree :

Provided that :—

(i) if representations are made to the Tribunal under section 42 of the Act that the continued inclusion of an ophthalmic optician in the ophthalmic list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the supplementary ophthalmic services, he shall not, except with the consent of the Minister and subject to such conditions if any as the Minister may impose, be entitled to have his name removed from the list pending the termination of the proceedings on such representations.

(ii) An optician shall make satisfactory arrangements for the completion of any service which he has undertaken under the regulations.

Issue of notices to ophthalmic opticians

15. Any notice which a Committee is required or authorised by these terms of service to give to an ophthalmic optician shall be sufficiently given if it has been addressed to him and sent by post or delivered to or at the address which he has last notified the Committee as being his address. [2620]

PART III

Terms of Service for Dispensing Opticians

Interpretation

1. In these terms of service, except so far as the context otherwise requires, the expression "the Regulations" means the National Health Service (Supplementary Ophthalmic Services) Regulations, 1948, and other words and expressions have the same meaning as in the regulations.

Incorporation of provisions of regulations, etc.

2. Any provisions of the regulations or of the statement prepared under regulation 3 of the regulations affecting the rights and obligations of dispensing opticians shall be deemed to form part of these terms of service.

Standard of service

3. In supplying or repairing glasses in accordance with the provisions of the regulations, a dispensing optician shall employ proper care and attention and proceed with reasonable expedition.

Premises

4.—(1) The dispensing optician shall provide proper and sufficient accommodation and suitable instruments for the supplying or repairing of glasses.

(2) The dispensing optician on receipt of a written request shall admit an authorised officer of the Minister or an authorised member or officer of the Committee at all reasonable times to any fitting or waiting room accommodation under the control of the optician for the purpose of inspecting the accommodation.

Records

5. In each case in which the dispensing optician supplies or repairs glasses under these regulations he shall keep proper records and shall, if required to do so, produce such records to any authorised officer of the Minister.

Remuneration

6.—(1) The dispensing optician shall not suggest, demand or accept any fee or remuneration otherwise than under the regulations in respect of any supplementary ophthalmic services provided by him :

Provided that nothing in this sub-paragraph shall deprive the optician of any right to recover a reasonable charge from any person in respect of loss of remunerative time resulting from the failure of that person without sufficient excuse to keep an appointment, or in respect of a journey made at the request of a person to his place of residence.

(2) Any remuneration payable under these terms of service to a dispensing optician, who is a member, director, or employee of a firm or company providing supplementary ophthalmic services, may be paid by the Council to the firm or company.

Inability of a dispensing optician to complete service

7. If owing to the death of the person or other cause beyond the control of the dispensing optician, the optician is unable to supply him with glasses which he has undertaken to supply under the regulations he shall notify the Committee in writing and he shall be entitled to such payment as may be approved by the Committee.

Arrangements for the provision of services

8.—(1) When the name of a person, firm or company is included in the ophthalmic list as a dispensing optician in addition to the name of any employee, the person, firm or company shall be jointly responsible with any such employee for any supplementary ophthalmic service provided by the employee.

(2) The dispensing optician shall make all necessary arrangements for the fitting and supply of glasses to persons to whom he has undertaken to provide them.

(3) The dispensing optician shall not without the consent of the Minister employ for the purposes of supplementary ophthalmic services any person who is disqualified under section 42 of the Act for inclusion in the ophthalmic list of the Committee.

(4) An employee who is a dispensing optician whose name is not on the ophthalmic list shall, in addition to signing with his own name any form or other document issued by him under these terms of service, insert therein if it does not already appear the name of his employer.

(5) The dispensing optician shall be responsible for all acts and omissions of an employee whose name is not included in the ophthalmic list.

(6) " An employee " for the purpose of this paragraph includes a deputy and in the case of a firm or company any member or director.

Advertising

9.—(1) Except as provided in sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph a dispensing optician shall not advertise either directly or by implication that his name is included in the list of an Ophthalmic Services Committee or that he provides or is authorised to provide services under the Act.

(2) Nothing in this regulation shall prohibit the display at or on any premises at which the optician carries on his business of a notice supplied by the Committee in the following form—

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE

Dispensing Optician qualified to provide services under the National Health Service Act, 1946, under contract with the.....Ophthalmic Services Committee.

(3) For the purposes of this paragraph, the expression " advertise " includes—

(a) the publication of a notice in any newspaper or other printed paper issued periodically for public circulation ;

(b) the issue of circular letters ;

(c) the use of letter headings, bill or account headings and the like ;

(d) the publication of booklets, leaflets and pamphlets ;

(e) canvassing in any form ;

(f) the making of any public announcement by means of wireless, gramophone records or loudspeaker ;

(g) the display of any poster, placard, streamer or sign ;

(h) the exhibition of any film, slide or announcement at a theatre, cinema or other place of public entertainment or resort.

Fair wages

10. A dispensing optician shall, in respect of the categories of staff whose wages and conditions of work are approved by the Joint Industrial Council for the Dispensing Optical Industry, pay rates of wages and observe conditions not less favourable than those for the time being so approved.

Revision of terms of service

11.—(1) The Committee may, subject to the approval of the Minister, alter the terms of service as from such date as the Minister may approve by giving notice of the proposed alterations to each dispensing optician.

(2) Except in the case of an alteration which results from the coming into operation of any Act of Parliament or from an amendment of the regulations, or of the statement prepared under regulation 3 of the regulations the alteration shall not come into operation within a period of three months from the date of the issue of the notice.

Withdrawal from ophthalmic list

12. The dispensing optician shall be entitled at any time to give notice to the Committee that he desires to withdraw his name from the ophthalmic list and his name shall be removed therefrom at the expiration of three months from the date of such notice or of such shorter period as the Committee may agree.

Provided that :—

(i) if representations are made to the Tribunal under section 42 of the Act that the continued inclusion of a dispensing optician in the ophthalmic list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the supplementary ophthalmic services, he shall not, except with the consent of the Minister and subject to such conditions if any as the Minister may impose, be entitled to have his name removed from the list pending the termination of the proceedings on such representations.

(ii) An optician shall make satisfactory arrangements for the completion of any service which he has undertaken under the regulations.

Issue of notices to dispensing opticians

13. Any notice which a Committee is required or authorised by these terms of service to give to a dispensing optician shall be sufficiently given if it has been addressed to him and sent by post or delivered to or at the address which he has last notified the Committee as being his address. [2621]

§Notes for the guidance of the Applicant.

You will normally have to pay the cost of replacing or repairing glasses lost or damaged unless you can show, to the satisfaction of the Ophthalmic Services Committee, that the loss or damage was not caused by personal carelessness.

If you admit personal carelessness the optician may proceed at once with the work at your expense.

If you do not admit personal carelessness, the optician cannot proceed at once with the work unless you pay him a deposit equal to the full cost of replacement or repair. The back of the receipt which the optician will give you in acknowledgement of the deposit may be used by you to ask the Ophthalmic Services Committee whether they will refund the amount you have paid. If you do not wish to pay a deposit, the approval of the Committee must be obtained before the work can be undertaken without charge. In this case the optician will ask you for a written statement of the cause of the loss or damage, and he will send your statement with this form to the Ophthalmic Services Committee who will notify you of their decision.

FOURTH SCHEDULE

RULES OF PROCEDURE UNDER REGULATION 17

Procedure

1. Where under the provisions of the regulations any question or matter is required to be investigated by an Ophthalmic Services Committee, the following procedure shall be adopted :—

(a) If in the opinion of the chairman of the Committee the statement made by the complainant discloses no prima facie ground of complaint, or is frivolous or vexatious, the clerk of the Committee shall so inform the complainant and shall invite him within seven days to submit a further statement. If no further statement is submitted by the complainant within that period, or if the statement so submitted does not in the opinion of the chairman render a hearing of the case necessary, the case shall be brought before the Committee which shall have power to dispense with a hearing and to report on the matter forthwith.

(b) The clerk of the Committee shall, as soon as practicable, send to the chairman of the Committee and to the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician concerned a copy of the complainant's statement and any ensuing correspondence on the matter.

(c) Except in cases dealt with under subparagraph (a) without a hearing the clerk shall give to both parties not less than fourteen days' notice of the meeting at which the case will be heard.

(d) The chairman may, upon the application of either party, postpone the hearing if he is satisfied that the attendance of the party or any witness on the date fixed for the hearing is not reasonably practicable, or if for any other reason he thinks fit.

(e) The complainant may subject to the consent of the chairman withdraw his statement of complaint at any stage of the proceedings.

(f) The clerk shall three clear days before the hearing supply to each member of the Committee copies of the statement and the reply, if any, thereto, and of any further correspondence relating to the matter which has taken place between the clerk and either party.

(g) Either party shall be entitled to be present at the hearing and to give and call such evidence as the Committee may think relevant to the matters at issue, and may put questions relevant to the matter in dispute to the other party or to any witness called by him, either directly, or, if the Committee so direct, through the chairman of the Committee. Subject as aforesaid, the procedure at the hearing shall be such as the Committee may determine.

(h) If either party fails to appear at the hearing, and the Committee are satisfied that his absence is due to illness or other reasonable cause, or if for any other reason the Committee think fit, they may adjourn the hearing.

(i) If in the course of a hearing the complainant introduces any issue which in the opinion of the chairman was not sufficiently disclosed in the written statement or statements sent to the respondent, it shall be within the discretion of the chairman to admit or exclude such issue as he thinks fit, but if the issue is admitted, the hearing shall be adjourned if the respondent desires an opportunity of producing further evidence, and desires an adjournment for that purpose.

(j) The chairman, one lay member and one professional member shall form a quorum.

Adjourned meetings

2. Where a case has been opened before any Committee and the meeting is adjourned for the purpose of hearing further evidence or of preparing or considering the report, a member of the Committee who was not present at the meeting shall not be entitled to be present or take part in the proceedings at the adjourned meeting, and it shall not be necessary for the clerk to send him notice of such meeting.

Interpretation

3. In these rules, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" chairman " includes a deputy chairman acting in his place.

" lay member " means a member appointed to the Committee by the Council from among the members of the Council other than those appointed by the Local Medical Committee.

" professional member " means a member belonging to the same branch of the service as the respondent. [2624]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The regulations provide for the arrangements which Executive Councils through Ophthalmic Services Committees are required to make under Part IV of the National Health Service Act 1946 for the provision of Supplementary Ophthalmic Services. The regulations also provide for disciplinary matters relating to the provision of supplementary ophthalmic services and prescribe the procedure to be followed in the hearing of representations for the removal of medical practitioners, ophthalmic opticians and dispensing opticians providing supplementary ophthalmic services from a list under section 42 of the Act.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (DISSOLVED AUTHORITIES) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1292

June 16, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 78 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Dissolved Authorities) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the twenty-first day of June, 1948. [2626]

2.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" the appointed day " means the fifth day of July, 1948 ;

" dissolved authority " means a body, other than a committee constituted under section 28 of the Mental Deficiency Act, 1913, for the care of the mentally defective, which by virtue of section 78 of the Act will be dissolved as from the appointed day ;

" successors of the dissolved authority " means, in relation to any property or liability transferred by virtue of these regulations, the person or persons to whom the property or liability is transferred ;

and other expressions used in these regulations have the same meaning as in the Act.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2627]

3. Every dissolved authority shall before the appointed day liquidate as far as possible all its current debts and liabilities. [2628]

4.—(1) The accounts of every dissolved authority and of the committees, sub-committees and officers of every such authority shall be made up to the appointed day and shall be audited in manner following :—

(a) in case of a dissolved authority whose accounts before the appointed day are subject to district audit, by the district auditor in accordance with the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1933, as modified and set out in the Schedule hereto ;

(b) in case of a dissolved authority which is the governing body of a voluntary hospital, by an auditor or auditors appointed by that body, or, failing any such appointment, by an auditor appointed by the Minister ;

(c) in case of any other dissolved authority, in like manner and subject to the like incidents and consequences as if the Act had not been passed.

(2) For the purpose of the audit of accounts under the foregoing paragraph of this regulation every dissolved authority shall before the appointed day nominate a person to be responsible for making up the accounts to the appointed day in manner hereinafter mentioned and submitting them to audit and for the performance of such other duties in relation to the audit as would, if the authority had continued in existence after the appointed day, have been performed by the authority or the appropriate officer or officers of the authority.

(3) The accounts to be made up to the appointed day in accordance with the last preceding paragraph shall include a revenue account on an income and expenditure basis and a balance sheet showing the assets and liabilities of the dissolved authority as at the appointed day.

(4) The name and address of the person nominated by a dissolved authority in pursuance of paragraph (2) of this regulation shall be notified in writing by the authority to the Minister and, in the case of an authority to which paragraph (1) (a) of this regulation applies, to the district auditor for the district.

(5) If a dissolved authority fails to nominate a person in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (2) of this regulation or if the person nominated by the authority fails, or for any reason is unable, to carry out the duties required of him in relation to the audit, the Minister may appoint a person to act in his place.

(6) Any expenses properly incurred in connection with the audit by the person nominated by a dissolved authority or appointed by the Minister shall be reimbursed by the Minister.

(7) Regulations and rules made under Part X of the Local Government Act, 1933, with respect to district audit and to appeals and applications to the High Court shall apply (with such modifications as may be necessary) to the audit of accounts under paragraph (1) (a) of this regulation. [2629]

5. Any person who holds any moneys on behalf of a dissolved authority shall so far as is reasonably practicable pay such moneys to the treasurer of the authority in time for him to bank them before the close of business on the third day of July, 1948. The treasurer shall at the same time bank any other moneys held by him on behalf of the authority. [2630]

6. Save as otherwise expressly provided by the Act or by regulations made under the Act—

(a) all contracts, deeds, bonds, agreements and instruments subsisting in favour of or against a dissolved authority in relation to property or liabilities transferred by these regulations shall be of full force and effect, as the case may require, in favour of or against the successors of the dissolved authority ;

(b) if immediately before the appointed day any action or proceeding or any cause of action or proceeding is pending or existing by or against a dissolved authority the same shall not be prejudicially affected by reason of the Act but may be continued, prosecuted and enforced by or against, as the case may require, the successors of the dissolved authority ;

(c) all legal proceedings pending immediately before the appointed day may be amended in such manner as may be necessary or proper for enabling them to be prosecuted and enforced by or against the successors of the dissolved authority or in relation to any interest of the dissolved authority whether vested or contingent in any property. [2631]

7.—(1) Subject to the provisions of regulation 10, all property and liabilities held by a dissolved authority or to which such an authority is subject immediately before the appointed day, and for the transfer and vesting of which no other provision is made by the Act or by regulations made under the Act, shall be dealt with in the following manner :—

(a) the local authority, other than a joint board or joint committee, which appointed a visiting committee constituted under section 7 of the Mental Treatment Act, 1930, shall, as from the appointed day, by virtue of these regulations be entitled to the property and subject to the liabilities of that committee ;

(b) property and liabilities of a joint visiting committee constituted under section 253 of the Lunacy Act, 1890, shall, on the appointed day, by virtue of these regulations be transferred to and vest in or attach to the transferee authority (as hereinafter defined) and shall thereafter be subject to apportionment and adjustment in accordance with the provisions with respect thereto contained in the agreement to unite or, in the absence of any such provisions, be apportioned among the constituent authorities in such manner as they may agree or, in default of agreement, as may be determined by the Minister;

(c) property and liabilities of a joint mental hospital board constituted under any local Act or of a joint board or joint committee constituted under section 29 of the Mental Deficiency Act, 1913, or of a joint board constituted under the Public Health Act, 1936, or any enactment repealed by that Act, shall, on the appointed day, by virtue of these regulations be transferred to and vest in or attach to the transferee authority (as hereinafter defined) and shall thereafter be subject to apportionment and adjustment in accordance with the provisions with respect thereto contained in the Act or instrument constituting the joint board or joint committee or, in the absence of any such provisions, be apportioned among the constituent authorities in such manner as they may agree or, in default of agreement, as may be determined by the Minister:

Provided that, nothing in this paragraph shall authorise any apportionment or adjustment in respect of property which, immediately before the appointed day, is held by a dissolved authority as trustee upon any charitable trust, and any such property shall be held by the authority to which by virtue of these regulations it is transferred upon and subject to the trust applicable to the property immediately before the appointed day.

(2) For the purposes of this regulation "transferee authority" in relation to a joint board or joint committee means the constituent authority whose district is shown by the census of 1931 to have had at that time the largest population, or such other constituent authority as the Minister may, on the application of all the constituent authorities, specify for the purpose of this regulation. [2632]

8. Where by these regulations or by any apportionment or adjustment made under these regulations the liability for the repayment of the whole or any part of a debt secured by a mortgage of the property of a dissolved authority is transferred to a local authority, the mortgage shall thenceforth, to the extent of the transferred liability, take effect in all respects as a mortgage by the local authority of their revenues to secure the transferred debt and the interest thereon, and the covenants contained in the mortgage so far as they relate to the transferred debt or the interest thereon, shall be enforceable against the local authority. [2633]

9.—(1) Where any property transferred by virtue of these regulations consists of stock standing, immediately before the appointed day, in the books of a company, in the name of a dissolved authority, it shall be obligatory upon the company, on production to it of a certificate signed by the Minister, or by a person authorised to act on his behalf, to transfer the stock into the name of, and to pay the dividends in respect thereof to, the authority named in the certificate as the authority entitled to that property.

(2) In this regulation the expression:—

"company" includes the Bank of England and any company or person keeping books in which any stock is registered or inscribed;

"stock" includes any share, annuity or other security. [2634]

10. Any property or liabilities (whether vested or contingent) of a dissolved authority, other than the governing body of a voluntary hospital, under any enactment, scheme or contract providing for the payment of or contribution towards superannuation benefits in respect of officers employed by that authority (including rights and liabilities arising in respect of officers who have ceased to be so employed before the appointed day) shall as from that day be transferred to the local authorities by which the dissolved authority was appointed or, in the case of a joint committee or joint board, be apportioned as follows :—

(a) if the Act or instrument constituting the joint board or joint committee provides for the dissolution thereof and the apportionment of the property or liabilities of the joint board or joint committee among the constituent authorities, the property and liabilities aforesaid shall be apportioned accordingly ;

(b) if such Act or instrument contains no such provision the said property and liabilities shall be apportioned among the constituent authorities in such manner as they may agree or in default of agreement as may be determined by the Minister. [2635]

11. The affairs of a committee constituted under section 28 of the Mental Deficiency Act, 1913, for the care of the mentally defective shall be wound up in such manner as the authority by which the committee was constituted may determine. [2636]

SCHEDULE

MODIFIED PROVISIONS OF THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT ACT, 1933, APPLIED TO THE AUDIT OF ACCOUNTS OF A DISSOLVED AUTHORITY UNDER REGULATION 4 (1) (a) OF THE REGULATIONS

1. In this Schedule, unless the context otherwise requires

(a) " dissolved authority " means a body which by virtue of section 78 of the Act will be dissolved as from the appointed day and whose accounts before that date are subject to district audit ;

(b) " appropriate officer " means the person nominated by a dissolved authority under paragraph (2) of regulation 4, or appointed by the Minister under paragraph (5) of that regulation ;

(c) other expressions have the meaning assigned to them in the Local Government Act, 1933.

2.—(1) The appropriate officer shall prepare and submit to the district auditor a financial statement of the accounts of the dissolved authority, in duplicate, in the prescribed form, and containing the prescribed particulars.

(2) The district auditor, at the conclusion of the audit, shall certify on each copy of the financial statement, in the prescribed form, the amount of the expenditure so audited and allowed, and further, that the regulations with respect to the statement have been duly complied with, and that he has ascertained by the audit the correctness of the statement.

(3) The district auditor shall, immediately after the conclusion of the audit, send one copy of the financial statement to the Minister.

3.—(1) A copy of every account which is subject to audit by a district auditor, duly made up and balanced, and all books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers and receipts relating to the accounts shall be deposited in the office of the appropriate officer or at such other place within the district of the dissolved authority as may be convenient, and shall for seven clear days before the audit be open at all reasonable hours to the inspection of all persons interested, and any such person shall be at liberty to make copies of or extracts from the deposited documents without payment.

(2) Before each audit the appropriate officer, on receiving from the auditor the requisite appointment, shall, by advertisement in one or more local newspapers circulating in the district, give at least fourteen days' notice of the deposit of accounts required by this paragraph, and the production of the newspaper containing such notice shall be sufficient proof of such notice in any legal proceeding.

4. A district auditor may by writing under his hand require the production before him of all books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, receipts and other documents which he may deem necessary for the purpose of the audit, and may require any person holding or accountable for any such document to appear before him at the audit or any adjournment thereof, and may require any such person to make and sign a declaration as to the correctness of the document.

5.—(1) A local government elector for the area to the accounts of which the audit relates may be present or may be represented at the audit and may make any objection to the accounts before the auditor.

(2) The district auditor shall, on the application of any person who is aggrieved by his decision on any matter with respect to which that person has made an objection, or of any person aggrieved by a disallowance or surcharge made by the auditor, state in writing the reasons for his decision.

6. Within fourteen days after the completion of the audit of the accounts of a dissolved authority the auditor shall report on the accounts audited and examined, and shall send a copy of the report to the Minister and to every authority appearing to the auditor to be interested.

7.—(1) It shall be the duty of the district auditor at every audit held by him—

(a) to disallow every item of account which is contrary to law ;

(b) to surcharge the amount of any expenditure disallowed upon the person responsible for incurring or authorising the expenditure ;

(c) to surcharge any sum which has not been duly brought into account upon the person by whom that sum ought to have been brought into account ;

(d) to surcharge the amount of any loss or deficiency upon any person by whose negligence or misconduct the loss or deficiency has been incurred ;

(e) to certify the amount due from any person upon whom he has made a surcharge ;

(f) to certify at the conclusion of the audit his allowance of the accounts, subject to any disallowances or surcharges which he may have made :

Provided that no expenses paid by an authority shall be disallowed by the auditor, if they have been sanctioned by the Minister.

(2) Any loss represented by a charge for interest or any loss of interest shall be deemed to be a loss within the meaning of this paragraph, if it arises from failure through wilful neglect or wilful default to issue such precepts as are necessary to cover the expenditure of the authority for any financial year (including any expenditure incurred in any previous year and not covered by precepts previously issued), or to collect other revenues.

8.—(1) Any person who is aggrieved by a decision of a district auditor on any matter with respect to which he made an objection at the audit, and any person aggrieved by a disallowance or surcharge made by a district auditor may, where the disallowance or surcharge or other decision relates to an amount exceeding five hundred pounds, appeal to the High Court, and may in any other case appeal either to the High Court or to the Minister.

(2) The Court or Minister on such an appeal shall have power to confirm, vary or quash the decision of the auditor, and to remit the case to the auditor with such directions as the Court or Minister thinks fit for giving effect to the decision on appeal, and if the decision of the auditor is quashed, or is varied so as to reduce the amount of the surcharge to five hundred pounds or less, the appellant shall not be subject to the disqualification by reason of the surcharge imposed by Part II of the Local Government Act, 1933, or by the corresponding provision of any enactment relating to London.

(3) Where an appeal is made to the Minister under this paragraph, he may at any stage of the proceedings, and shall, if so directed by the High Court, state in the form of a special case for the opinion of the Court any question of law arising in the course of the appeal, but save as aforesaid the decision of the Minister shall be final.

9.—(1) In the case of a surcharge, the person surcharged may, whether or not he appeals under the preceding paragraph, apply to the tribunal (whether the High Court or the Minister) to whom he appeals or, if he does not appeal, to the tribunal (whether the High Court or the Minister) to whom he might have appealed, for a declaration that in relation to the subject matter of the surcharge he acted reasonably or in the belief that his action was authorised by law, and the Court or Minister, if satisfied that there is proper ground for doing so, may make a declaration to that effect.

(2) Where such a declaration is made the person surcharged, if by reason of the surcharge he is subject to the disqualification imposed by Part II of the Local Government Act, 1933, or by the corresponding provision of any enactment relating to London, shall not be subject to that disqualification, and the Court or Minister may, if satisfied that the person surcharged ought fairly to be excused, relieve him either wholly or in part from personal liability in respect of the surcharge, and the decision of the Court or Minister under this paragraph shall be final.

10. Where under this Schedule an appeal or application is made to the Minister, the appellant or applicant shall be entitled, if he so desires, to a personal hearing by a person appointed for the purpose by the Minister.

11.—(1) Every sum certified by a district auditor to be due from any person shall, within the period specified in sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph, be paid by that person to the Minister or other person to whom the sum would have been transferred by or under the Act if it had been paid immediately before the appointed day.

(2) Every sum certified as aforesaid shall be paid within fourteen days after it has been so certified, or, if an appeal or application with respect to that sum has been made, within fourteen days after the appeal or application is finally disposed of or abandoned or fails by reason of the non-prosecution thereof.

12.—(1) Any sum which is certified by a district auditor to be due and has become payable shall, on complaint made or action taken by or under the direction of the district auditor, be recoverable either summarily or otherwise as a civil debt.

(2) In any proceedings for the recovery of such a sum, a certificate signed by a district auditor shall be conclusive evidence of the facts certified.

Unless the contrary is proved, a certificate purporting to be signed by a district auditor shall be deemed to have been signed by such auditor.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in the Summary Jurisdiction Acts, proceedings before a court of summary jurisdiction to recover sums certified by a district auditor to be due may be commenced at any time before the expiration of nine months from the date of the disallowance or surcharge, or, in the event of an appeal or application being made to the High Court or to the Minister, before the expiration of nine months from the date on which the appeal or application is finally disposed of or abandoned or fails by reason of non-prosecution thereof.

13.—(1) Any expenses incurred by a district auditor in the defence of any allowance, disallowance or surcharge made by him shall, so far as not recovered from any other party and except as may otherwise be ordered by the Court or the Minister, as the case may be, be reimbursed to him out of the fund to which the accounts subject to the audit relate, and the Court or Minister may make such order as may seem fit in regard to the payment out of that fund of the expenses incurred by the appellant or applicant or any other party to the proceedings.

(2) Subject to the approval of the Minister, the expenses incurred by a district auditor in any legal proceedings taken by him or under his direction shall, so far as not recovered from any other source, be paid out of the fund to which the accounts subject to the audit relate, and any expenses so payable shall include reasonable compensation for loss of time incurred by the district auditor in the proceedings.

14. Where an officer of a dissolved authority receives any money or property on behalf of the authority, or receives any money or property for which he ought to account to the authority, the accounts of the officer shall be audited by the auditor of the accounts of the authority, with the same powers, incidents and consequences as in the case of those accounts. EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Regulations provide for the winding up of bodies dissolved by section 78 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and for the vesting of the property and liabilities of those bodies, subject to the provisions of the Act, in the appropriate authorities.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (GENERAL DENTAL SERVICES) FEES REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1297

June 17, 1948

General note.—These regulations have been amended as from July 5, 1948, by S.I. 1948 No. 1507, post. They were further amended, while this volume was in the press, as from February 1, 1949, by S.I. 1948 No. 2803 (as itself amended by S.I. 1949 No. 48) and as from April 1, 1949, by S.I. 1949 No. 564.

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred upon him by sections 40 and 44 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf hereby makes the following regulations :—

PART I

General

1.—(1) These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (General Dental Services) Fees Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, 1948.

(2) The National Health Service (General Dental Services) Regulations, 1948 (hereinafter referred to as the principal regulations), and these regulations may be cited together as the National Health Service (General Dental Services and Fees) Regulations, 1948. [2638]

2.—(1) Expressions used in these regulations shall, except so far as the context otherwise requires, have the same respective meaning as in the principal regulations.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2639]

PART II

Remuneration of Dental Practitioners

3. Practitioners practising elsewhere than at a health centre.—(1) The Board on receipt of a dental estimate form duly completed in the manner provided in the principal regulations shall, in approving the estimate, authorise in accordance with the scale of fees set out in the first schedule to these regulations the fees payable to the practitioner in respect of the treatment specified in Part 8 of the form.

(2) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (4) of regulation 21 of the principal regulations, the Board on receipt of an estimate on the form set out in Part III of the fourth schedule to the principal regulations shall authorise—

(a) the additional charges payable by a person provided with a service under paragraph (1) (a) or (b) of regulation 21 of the principal regulations by subtracting from the fees approved by the Board in accordance with the scale of fees set out in Part II of the first schedule to these regulations the fees payable for the corresponding service specified in Part I of the said schedule ;

(b) the special charges payable by a person provided with a service under paragraph (1) (c) of regulation 21 of the principal regulations by subtracting from the fees approved by the Board in accordance with the scale of fees set out in Part II of the first schedule to these regulations, the fees which would have been payable for suitable alternative treatment in accordance with the scale set out in Part I of the schedule. [2640]

4. Conditions of payment.—The fees and charges provided for in the last preceding regulation shall be payable only if the practitioner complies with the conditions set out in Part III of the first schedule to these regulations. [2641]

5. Drugs.—The fees payable by a Council to a practitioner in respect of drugs supplied by him either in pursuance of regulation 5 of the principal regulations or in pursuance of sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 9 of Part I of the first schedule to the principal regulations for use before a supply can be obtained otherwise under the regulations shall be calculated in accordance with the provisions of the Drug Tariff referred to in regulation 28 of the National Health Service (General Medical Pharmaceutical Services) Regulations, 1948. [2642]

General note.—A new reg. 5A has been inserted after this regulation by S.I. 1948 No. 1507, post.

6. Special charges at a health centre.—The charges payable to a practitioner practising at a health centre by a person provided with a service specified in regulation 21 of the principal regulations shall be such sum as would have been payable by the person in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (2) of regulation 3 of these regulations, if the service had been provided by a practitioner practising elsewhere than at a health centre. [2643]

7. The principal regulations shall be amended as follows :—

(1) In paragraph (1) of regulation 21 the words " or in the case of repair treatment at a cost not exceeding £2 " shall be inserted after the words " emergency treatment ".

(2) After paragraph 11 of Part I of the first schedule there shall be inserted the following paragraph :—

" 11A. Fair wages for dental technicians.—A dental practitioner who employs a dental technician or dental technicians shall pay rates of wages and observe hours and conditions of work not less favourable than those approved for the time being by the National Joint Council for the Craft of Dental Technicians."

(3) In sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 11 of Part II of the first schedule there shall be substituted the words " or otherwise " for the words " made under section 40 of the Act ".

(4) In the second schedule item VII (Repairs of Dentures) shall be deleted and the following item shall be substituted.

" vii. Repairs	Repairs to plastic and vulcanite dentures, orthodontic appliances, obturators, splints and radium applicators. Repairs to metal dentures at a cost not exceeding £2.	Repairs to metal dentures at a cost exceeding £2."

PART III

CONDITIONS

I.—Conditions with respect to items of the Scale of Fees

Item 2.—Normal Scaling and Gum Treatment

The fee is to cover the removal of calculus and other deposits from the teeth, and the provision of necessary treatment for all ordinary or simple disorders of the gums.

Item 3.—Fillings

Fillings to which this fee applies are to be permanent in character.

Item 4.—Conservation of Deciduous Teeth

Treatment to which this fee applies is to include silver nitrate applications as well as fillings appropriate to deciduous teeth.

Item 5.—Root Treatment

Root treatment includes the filling of each root of the tooth, but does not include the insertion of any filling in the tooth itself.

Items 8, 9 and 25.—Dentures

An estimate for the provision of a metal denture is to specify the materials to be used.

All necessary adjustments of dentures within a reasonable time after completion are to be made without additional charge.

All necessary bands, wires and fastenings are to be supplied without extra charge.

Items 28 and 29.—Crowning and Inlays

The nature of the material to be used to be indicated on the estimate.

II.—Conditions with respect to Materials

(1) All filling materials shall be of first-grade quality and suitable for each individual cavity. Except in special circumstances (which must be stated to the Board) cements, guttapercha and copper amalgam are not to be regarded as permanent filling materials, though they may be used without reference to the Board for the conservation of deciduous teeth. Translucent silicate cements may be used in anterior teeth but are not to be used for fillings in teeth posterior to the canines except in buccal cavities. For the purposes of this paragraph cements are to be taken to include all filling materials which consist of powders in combination with liquids other than mercury.

(2) Where pin teeth are used for vulcanite or other plastic base dentures, all pins shall be of platinum, or nickel cased with gold or other precious metal or nickel alloy cased with gold or other precious metal. Pins sheathed with gold or platinum anchored within the porcelain are within this specification. The teeth, whether porcelain or acrylic shall be of first-grade quality.

(3) Diatoric teeth may only be used for the anterior teeth in vulcanite base dentures when artificial gum is necessary.

(4) Metal strengtheners shall be compatible with vulcanite or other base material used and not liable to corrode in the mouth.

(5) All materials used in dentures shall be of first-grade quality. A plastic base material other than vulcanite shall be used only if it is an approved acrylic resin (that is, a brand of acrylic resin approved for the time being by the Minister for use in the making of dentures).

(6) Bands and clasps shall be of either—

(a) alloys containing not less than 40 per cent. of gold, platinum or palladium (including not less than 15 per cent. of gold, and not more than 20 per cent. of base metal), or

(b) stainless steel, or

(c) such other material as may be approved by the Minister.

Bands shall be not less than No. 7 gauge in thickness.

(7) In cases of close bite where porcelain teeth cannot be used, cusps of—

(a) alloys containing not less than 33⅓ per cent. of gold, platinum or palladium and not more than 20 per cent. of base metal, or may be used.

(b) stainless steel, or

(c) such other material as may be approved by the Minister,

(8) Metal used, after approval by the Board of an estimate for denture plates, lingual or palatal bars, backings and tags, spiral springs, bolts and swivels, shall be—

(a) alloys containing not less than 33⅓ per cent. of gold, platinum or palladium and not more than 20 per cent. of base metal, or

(b) stainless steel, or

(c) such other materials as may be approved by the Minister, and shall be of adequate strength. [2647]

General note.—A Sched. II to the present regulations has been inserted after Sched. 1, supra, by S.I. 1948 No. 1507, post.

* * * * *

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The regulations provide for the fees and remuneration which are to be paid to dental practitioners practising elsewhere than at a health centre for the provision of general dental services. The regulations also prescribe the charges payable by persons in respect of the supply, replacement or repair of dental appliances of a more expensive type than the standard type and in respect of special dental treatment. The regulations amend the National Health Service (General Dental Services) Regulations, 1948, by providing that the remuneration of dental practitioners at a health centre shall be such as the Minister may from time to time determine by regulation or otherwise.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (JOINT PRICING COMMITTEE FOR ENGLAND) ORDER, 1948

June 14, 1948

Whereas it appears to the Minister of Health to be expedient in the interests of the efficiency of the Services provided under Part IV of the National Health Service Act, 1946, that a Joint Committee should be established for the areas of all Executive Councils of England for the purpose of exercising the functions of Executive Councils which are hereinafter mentioned :—

Now, therefore, the Minister of Health in exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 31 of the said Act hereby makes the following order :—

Short title and commencement

1. This Order may be cited as the National Health Service (Joint Pricing Committee for England) Order, 1948, and shall come into operation on the date hereof. [2648]

Interpretation

2.—(1) In this Order, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them—

" The Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946.
" The appointed day " means the 5th day of July, 1948.
" Council " means an Executive Council.
" The Minister " means the Minister of Health.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of this Order as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2649]

Constitution of Committee and Functions

3. A Joint Committee to be known as " the Joint Pricing Committee for England " (hereinafter referred to as " the Committee ") shall be constituted for the areas of all the Councils of England for the purpose of exercising the functions of the Councils in regard to the examination, checking and pricing of prescriptions for drugs, medicines and appliances supplied under the arrangements made by those Councils for the provision of pharmaceutical services. [2650]

Membership

4. The Committee shall consist of 18 members of whom 13 shall be persons appointed in the manner provided in article 5 hereof, 4 shall be registered pharmacists appointed by the Minister after consultation with such organisation as the Minister may recognise as representative of persons providing pharmaceutical services and one shall be a medical practitioner appointed by the Minister after consultation with such organisation as the Minister may recognise as representative of the general body of medical practitioners. [2651]

5. The appointment of the 13 members referred to in Article 4 shall be made in the following manner—

(a) 1 member shall be appointed by each of the Councils or groups of Councils specified in Part I of the Schedule hereto and 2 members by the group of Councils specified in Part II of the said Schedule.
(b) A person so appointed shall be a member or officer of the Council or of one of the Councils in the group by which the appointment is made.
(c) Such Association of Executive Councils as the Minister may recognise as representative of the Councils of England shall determine the method of appointment of the members and shall forthwith inform the Minister of the names and addresses of any member so appointed. [2652]

Chairman and Vice-Chairman

6.—(1) The Committee shall appoint a member of the Committee to be chairman and may appoint another to be vice-chairman. The chairman and vice-chairman shall continue in office until the termination of their membership of the Committee. For the purpose of this paragraph reappointment to membership of the Committee shall not be deemed to constitute a continuation of membership.

(2) The clerk of the Committee shall inform the Minister of the name and address of the chairman. [2653]

Term of Office of Members

7. Subject as hereinafter provided original members of the Committee shall hold office until the 31st day of March, 1950, and thereafter the term of office shall be for one year commencing on the 1st day of April in any year and ending on the 31st day of March in the following year: Provided that at the expiration of his term of office a member shall be eligible for reappointment. [2654]

Resignation or Removal of Members

8.—(i) A member of the Committee who desires to resign his membership shall give notice in writing to the clerk of the Committee.

(ii) If a member has not attended any meeting of the Committee for a period of six months the clerk of the Committee shall inform the Committee and unless the Committee are satisfied that his absence was due to illness or other reasonable cause, they shall declare that his seat on the Committee has become vacant. [2655]

Vacation of Office

9. If a member of the Committee who is appointed in accordance with the provisions of article 5 hereof ceases to be a member or officer of a Council, he shall also cease to be a member of the Committee. [2656]

Disqualification for Membership

10. Subject to paragraphs (ii), (iii) and (v) of the proviso to subsection (i) of Section 59 of the Local Government Act, 1933, the provisions of paragraphs (b) and (e) of that subsection (which disqualify a person for being elected or being a member of a local authority if he has been adjudged bankrupt or made a composition or arrangement with his creditors or has been sentenced to imprisonment for not less than 3 months without the option of a fine) shall apply as if the Section related to membership of the Committee. [2657]

Casual Vacancies

11.—(1) If a casual vacancy occurs by reason of the death, vacation of office or disqualification of a member of the Committee the clerk of the Committee shall forthwith inform the Minister and if the person whose seat is vacated was other than one appointed by the Minister he shall also inform the Secretary of the above-mentioned Association of Executive Councils.

(2) A person who is eligible for appointment as a member of the Committee under article 5 shall be appointed by the Committee to fill any casual vacancy occurring among the members appointed under that regulation and in the case of any other casual vacancy a person shall be appointed by the Minister as if he was making an appointment under article 4.

(3) A person appointed to fill a casual vacancy shall hold office for the remainder of the term of office of his predecessor. [2658]

Procedure

12.—(1) The provisions of Regulations 10 (meetings), 11 (minutes), 12 (officers), 13 (committees) and 14 (power to make standing orders) of the National Health Service (Executive Councils) Regulations, 1947, shall apply for the purposes of this Order as if for any reference therein to a Council there were substituted a reference to the Committee and as if for any reference to a Committee of a Council there were substituted a reference to a subcommittee.

(2) The proceedings of the Committee shall not be invalidated by any vacancy in the membership of the Committee or by any defect in the appointment or qualification of any member thereof. [2659]

Reports by Committee

13. The Committee shall make reports to the Councils at such times and in such manner as they or the Minister may require and shall furnish to the Minister such information as he may from time to time require. [2660]

Expenses

14. Any expenses incurred by the Committee shall be defrayed by the Councils of England in such proportions as the Minister may determine. [2661]

Accounts

15. The provisions of regulations 4 (advances of funds by Minister), 5 (banking accounts), 6 (financial officers), 7 (receipt of moneys) and 8 (payment of moneys) of the National Health Service (Executive Councils and Dental Estimates Board) Financial Regulations, 1948, shall apply to the Committee in the same way as they apply to Councils, with the following modifications :—

1. The word "Committee" shall be substituted for the word "Council."
2. References to the finance committee shall be construed as references to the Committee or, if a finance sub-committee is appointed, to that sub-committee.
3. References to the Ophthalmic Services Committee shall be omitted. [2662]

Annual and Supplementary Estimates

16.—(1) It shall be the duty of the financial officer to prepare and submit to the Committee not later than the 30th day of September of each year an estimate (hereinafter referred to as "the annual estimate") of the administration expenses of the Committee during the next financial year.

(2) If at any time it appears to be necessary to make additional payments for which provision has not been included in the annual estimate the financial officer shall as soon as may be prepare and submit to the Committee an estimate (hereinafter referred to as "a supplementary estimate") of such additional payments.

(3) The Committee shall consider the annual and any supplementary estimate submitted to them by the financial officer and subject to such amendments therein, if any, as they may think fit to make, shall adopt such estimates as estimates of the Committee and shall transmit them to the Minister in a form to be approved by him, in the case of the annual estimate not later than the 15th day of October in each year and in the case of a supplementary estimate within 14 days of its adoption by the Committee.

(4) No expenses shall be incurred by or on behalf of the Committee unless provision for such expenses has been included in the annual or supplementary estimates of the Committee. [2663]

17.—(1) The Committee shall record their transactions in such books and accounts as may from time to time be approved by the Minister.

(2) The accounts of the Committee shall be posted from time to time and made up and balanced at the end of the financial year. As soon as may be after the close of the financial year and in any case not later than the 30th day of April the financial officer shall prepare a statement in a form to be approved by the Minister and shall certify the same to be correct. He shall submit the statement to the Committee for their approval and adoption, which shall be signified by the signature of the chairman thereon, and to the auditor.

(3) The provisions of paragraphs (3) and (5) of Regulation 9 of the National Health Service (Executive Councils and Dental Estimates Board) Financial Regulations, 1948, with the substitution of the word "Committee" for the word "Council" shall apply to the Committee. [2664]

Audit

18. The Committee shall prepare and transmit to the Minister in respect of each financial year annual accounts in such form as the Minister may direct and such accounts shall be audited by an auditor appointed by the Minister. [2665]

Payment of Expenses of Members

19. The Committee may make to their members or the members of any sub-committee appointed by them payments in respect of loss of remunerative time, and in respect of travelling and subsistence expenses in accordance with the rates prescribed under, and as though the Committee were a Council for the purposes of, paragraph 3 (c) of the fifth Schedule to the Act. [2666]

Transfer of Officers

20. Any officer who immediately before the appointed day was employed by an Insurance Committee or by a Joint Committee constituted under Section 94 of the National Health Insurance Act, 1936, solely for the purposes of functions similar to those transferred to the Committee by virtue of this Order and who by virtue of the regulations made under Section 68 (2) of the Act is transferred to a Council, shall immediately after such transfer be transferred from that Council to, and become an officer of, the Committee. [2667]

Transfer of Property and Liabilities

21. All property other than land, and liabilities which were held by an Insurance Committee or a Joint Committee constituted under Section 94 of the National Health Insurance Act, 1936, or to which an Insurance Committee or Joint Committee so constituted were subject, immediately before the appointed day solely for the purposes of functions similar to those transferred to the Committee by virtue of this Order, and which are transferred to and vested in a Council by virtue of regulation 3 of the National Health Service (Transfer of Property and Liabilities of Insurance Committees, etc.) Regulations, 1948, shall immediately after such vesting be transferred to and vest in the Committee. [2668]

22. The Committee shall deal with any moneys or fund transferred by the last preceding article in such manner as the Minister may, with the approval of the Treasury, determine. [2669]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

The order provides for the constitution of a Joint Committee to carry out the duties of the Executive Councils of England with respect to the checking and pricing of the prescriptions for drugs, medicines and appliances supplied as pharmaceutical services under section 38 of the National Health Service Act, 1946. The order further provides for the procedure of the Committee and for the transfer to it of the officers of Insurance Committees and Joint Committees constituted under the National Health Insurance Act, 1936, who were engaged for the purposes of similar functions and the property and liabilities of such committees held or incurred for such functions.

DEFENCE REGULATIONS (NO. 5) ORDER, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1332

June 22, 1948

His Majesty, in pursuance of section three of the Supplies and Services (Transitional Powers) Act, 1945, as extended by the Supplies and Services (Extended Purposes) Act, 1947, and of all other powers enabling Him in that behalf, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

1. Regulation sixty-eight E of the Defence (General) Regulations, 1939 (which empowers welfare authorities to provide domestic help) is hereby revoked. [2672]

2. This Order may be cited as the Defence Regulations (No. 5) Order, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, nineteen hundred and forty-eight. [2673]

* * * * *

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note does not form part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

Regulation 68 E of the Defence (General) Regulations, 1939, which is revoked by this Order, conferred powers on local authorities in England and Scotland to provide domestic help. Similar provisions are contained in s. 29 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and in s. 28 of the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947. These sections will come into operation on the 5th July, 1948.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (EXPENSES IN ATTENDING HOSPITALS) REGULATIONS, 1948

June 25, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under section 3 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Expenses in attending Hospitals) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, 1948. [2674]

2.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires—

" the Minister " means the Minister of Health ;

" Hospital Authority " means, in relation to a hospital or clinic of the Minister of Pensions, that Minister ; in relation to a hospital or clinic controlled and managed by the Board of Governors of a teaching hospital or Hospital Management Committee, that Board or Committee ; and in relation to any hospital or clinic receiving patients under arrangements made between the governing body and a Regional Hospital Board, the Regional Hospital Board.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2675]

3. The Minister shall pay the travelling expenses necessarily incurred or to be incurred by a person (including the travelling expenses of a companion) in attending a hospital or clinic for the purpose of availing himself of hospital and specialist services if the Hospital Authority determine that, in the circumstances of the case, the payment of such expenses by the patient would involve hardship :

Provided that—

(a) If the Hospital Authority determine that the patient may reasonably be required to bear a part of such expenses the balance only shall be payable by the Minister ; and

(b) The travelling expenses of a companion shall not be payable by the Minister if the Hospital Authority determine that, having regard to the age or health of the patient or other relevant circumstances, it was unnecessary for the patient to be accompanied. [2676]

* * * * *

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These Regulations provide for the payment in certain circumstances of the travelling expenses of persons attending hospitals and clinics for the purpose of obtaining hospital and specialist services.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (HOSPITAL ACCOUNTS AND FINANCIAL PROVISIONS) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1414

June 24, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred upon him by sections 54 and 55 of and the Third Schedule to the National Health Service

Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf and with the approval of the Treasury hereby makes the following regulations :—

PART I

Citation and Interpretation

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Hospital Accounts and Financial Provisions) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, nineteen hundred and forty-eight. [2677]

2.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" auditor " means an auditor appointed by the Minister ;

" financial year " means the period of twelve months ending on the 31st day of March ;

" Board of Governors " means a Board of Governors of a teaching hospital ;

" chief financial officer " means the treasurer or other officer charged with the duty of keeping the accounts of a Regional Hospital Board, Hospital Management Committee or Board of Governors.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2678]

APPROVAL OF EXPENDITURE

Capital Expenditure

3. Each Board of Governors and Regional Hospital Board shall, not later than the 15th day of October in each year submit to the Minister an estimate in the form set out in the First Schedule to these regulations, of expenditure during the following financial year on works of construction, reconstruction or alteration and associated purchases of furniture and equipment. [2679]

4. The Minister may approve the estimate with or without modification but such approval shall not imply that specific schemes are approved if the consent of the Minister thereto is otherwise required by the National Health Service (Functions of Regional Hospital Boards, etc.) Regulations, 1948. [2680]

5. Not later than the 1st day of December in each year each Board of Governors and Regional Hospital Board shall furnish the Minister with revised estimates in the form set out in the First Schedule to these regulations and regulation 4 shall apply thereto. On receipt of the summary of annual accounts showing the capital expenditure of a Board for the year and after consideration of any report by the auditor thereon the Minister may approve the said expenditure with or without modification. [2681]

Maintenance Expenditure and Income

6. Each Board of Governors shall, not later than the 15th day of October in each year submit to the Minister an estimate of expenditure and income during the following financial year in the form set out in the Second Schedule to these regulations. The estimate shall show the amounts of hospital maintenance expenditure and income related to each unit comprising the teaching hospital group, together with totals for the group. The Minister may approve the estimate with or without modification and shall notify the Board of the approved gross and net expenditure for the teaching hospital group and, separately, of the approved amounts to be expended under the following sub-heads of expenditure :—

Administration	.. ..	central expenses of Board.
Hospital maintenance	..	salaries and wages provisions uniforms and clothing drugs, dressings, medical and surgical appliances and equipment fuel, light, power, water and laundry maintenance of buildings, plant and grounds domestic repairs, renewals and replacements all other expenses.
Other expenditure	.. ..	all expenses other than on administration or hospital maintenance. [2682]

7. Not later than the 1st day of December in each year each Board of Governors shall furnish to the Minister statements showing the estimated expenditure for the current financial year compared with the amount approved by the Minister under each sub-head, together with an estimate of total income for the year. The Minister may approve savings anticipated under one or more sub-heads being used to meet excess expenditure under other sub-heads but if the total gross expenditure is expected to exceed the amount approved, the Board shall forthwith submit a revised estimate for all sub-heads under which excess expenditure is anticipated together with a statement of savings. Any such revised estimate shall be in like form to the original estimate and may be approved by the Minister in like manner. On receipt of the summary of annual accounts showing the maintenance expenditure of the Board for the year and after consideration of any report by the auditor thereon the Minister may approve the said expenditure with or without modification. [2688]

8. Each Hospital Management Committee shall, not later than the 1st day of September in each year submit to the Regional Hospital Board an estimate of expenditure and income during the following financial year in the form set out in the Second Schedule. The estimate shall show the amount of hospital maintenance expenditure and income related to each unit for which the Committee is responsible together with the totals for the Committee as a whole. The Board shall examine the detailed estimate and shall, not later than the 15th day of October, submit it, with any modification or explanation it thinks fit, to the Minister together with a summary for all the Committees for which it is responsible and an estimate, in the form set out in the Second Schedule, of the Board's administration and other expenditure, and income (if any). [2684]

9. The Minister may approve the estimates of a Regional Hospital Board with or without modification and shall notify the Board of (a) the approved amount of central administration expenses of the Board, (b) the approved amount of expenditure by the Board other than on administration or hospital maintenance, (c) the approved gross and net expenditure of each Committee, and (d) separately, for each Committee, the approved amount to be expended under the following sub-heads of expenditure :—

Administration	.. ..	central expenses of Committee.
Hospital maintenance	..	salaries and wages provisions uniforms and clothing drugs, dressings, medical and surgical appliances and equipment fuel, light, power, water and laundry maintenance of buildings, plant and grounds domestic repairs, renewals and replacements all other expenses.
Other expenditure	.. ..	all expenses other than on administration or hospital maintenance.

On receipt of the Minister's approval the Board shall forthwith notify each Committee of the gross and net approved expenditure and the amount approved under each of the above-mentioned sub-heads. [2685]

10. Not later than the 1st day of November in each year each Hospital Management Committee shall furnish to the Regional Hospital Board a statement showing the estimated expenditure for the current financial year compared with the amount approved by the Minister under each sub-head together with an estimate of total income for the year. The Board may, on behalf of the Minister, approve savings anticipated under one or more sub-heads being used to meet excess expenditure under other sub-heads but if the total gross expenditure is expected to exceed the amount approved, the Committee shall forthwith submit a revised estimate for all sub-heads under which excess expenditure is anticipated together with a statement of savings. The Board shall, not later than the 1st day of December, furnish the Minister with a summary showing, for the Board as a whole, the estimated expenditure and income for the current financial year together with the revised estimates of Committees (if any) where an excess over the approved gross expenditure is anticipated. If the Board anticipate that its expenditure will exceed the amounts approved under either (a) or (b) of regulation 9 it shall submit a revised estimate. Any such revised estimate shall be in like form to the original estimate and may be approved by the Minister in like manner. [2686]

11. On receipt of the summary of annual accounts showing the expenditure of a Hospital Management Committee for the year and after consideration of the report by the auditor thereon the Minister may approve the said expenditure with or without modification. The Minister may likewise approve the expenditure of a Regional Hospital Board under (a) and (b) of regulation 9. [2687]

FINANCE COMMITTEE AND SUB-COMMITTEE

12. Each Board of Governors and Regional Hospital Board shall appoint a finance committee and each Hospital Management Committee shall appoint a finance sub-committee which, notwithstanding anything contained in regulation 4 (i) of the National Health Service (Regional Hospital Boards, etc.) Regulations, 1947, shall consist wholly of members of the appointing body. [2688]

ADVANCES, PAYMENTS AND RECEIPTS

13. Each Board of Governors and Regional Hospital Board shall furnish to the Minister each month on a form to be supplied by him, an estimate of net cash requirements together with a statement of receipts and payments and the Minister shall make advances to each Board at monthly intervals of such amount as appears to him to be necessary to meet the expenses of the Board :

Provided that nothing in this regulation shall prevent the Minister from making additional advances to meet an emergency or for other sufficient reason. [2689]

14. Each Hospital Management Committee shall furnish to the Regional Hospital Board each month an estimate of net cash requirements together with a statement of receipts and payments in such form as the Board may require, and the Board shall make advances to the Committee at intervals not exceeding one month of such amount as appears to it to be necessary to meet the expenses of the Committee. [2690]

15.—(1) No payments shall be made by or on behalf of a Board of Governors, Regional Hospital Board or Hospital Management Committee unless authorised by a prior resolution of the Board or Committee, or of its finance committee or sub-committee, as the case may be : Provided that payments made under the proviso to the next following paragraph may subsequently be ratified by the Board or Committee, or its finance committee or sub-committee, as the case may be.

(2) All payments by or on behalf of a Board or Committee shall be made by cheque or other order drawn on the bankers of the Board or Committee : Provided that the chief financial officer or his authorised deputy may make payments otherwise than by cheque or other order as aforesaid in respect of the remuneration of officers or servants falling due for payment at intervals of less than one month, the payment of accounts not exceeding £2, and payments of an urgent nature.

(3) All cheques or other orders for the payment of money by the bankers of a Board or Committee shall be signed by a member of the finance committee or sub-committee, as the case may be, and countersigned by the chief financial officer or his authorised deputy.

(4) A Board or Committee may advance to the chief financial officer or other officer approved by the Board or Committee a sum of money not exceeding such amount as it may fix from time to time for the purpose of making the payments mentioned in the proviso to paragraph (2) but for no other purpose. Any moneys so advanced which are not required for immediate use may be deposited with the bankers of the Board or Committee in a separate account and may from time to time be withdrawn by cheque signed by the said officer.

(5) The Minister may, on the application of a Board, approve any variation of the system of payment. [2691]

16. Every officer who receives money on behalf of a Board or Committee shall keep and punctually enter up a cash account and receipt books and shall pay to the bankers of the Board or Committee or to the chief financial officer, all moneys received by him at such times and in such manner as the Board or Committee may direct but in no case less frequently than once a week. [2692]

ACCOUNTS

Ledger System

17. The chief financial officer of a Board of Governors, Regional Hospital Board or Hospital Management Committee shall be responsible to the Board or Committee for the punctual keeping of a balancing system of double-entry ledger accounts recording all the transactions of the Board or Committee on an income and expenditure basis. The title of each ledger account shall be such as to define its purpose and, in the case of personal accounts, shall bear the name of the person or group of persons whose account with the Board or Committee it presents. Each item entered in a ledger account shall be adequately described and referenced to its corresponding debit or credit, and a statement of the reasons and authority for each item relating to adjustment, allocation, transfer of charge or other special matter shall be given by entry or by reference. [2693]

18. The ledger accounts shall be arranged and grouped with due regard to their nature, and to the bringing together of the totals required for entry in the annual accounts required to be furnished to the Minister under these regulations. They shall include the following personal, impersonal and final accounts :—

(a) Personal Accounts.

(i) Cash Book.—An account or accounts of the sums received on behalf of the Board or Committee and of the payments ordered to be made in respect of which a cheque or other authority has been issued to the payee, and, at each date when the account is balanced, a statement reconciling the balance with that appearing in the bank account or pass book.

Officers.—An account for each officer who collects or receives money on behalf of the Board or Committee, each officer who disburses money on behalf of the Board or Committee, and each officer charged with the receipt and issue of stores or material.

Debtors.—An account for each person or group of persons from whom money is due and owing to the Board or Committee during the year.

Creditors.—An account for each person or group of persons to whom money is due and owing by the Board or Committee during the year.

(ii) (a) Where the items of which account has to be taken in a personal account are duly classified and summarised in a primary account, the entries in the ledger personal account may be confined to the classified totals periodically shown in the primary account, and ledger personal accounts thus kept are in these regulations referred to as " control accounts ".

(b) Where two or more officers have similar transactions to be brought into account, their accounts may be aggregated in one control account.

(c) The balance shown on each control account shall be identified with the corresponding balance or balances appearing in the primary accounts.

(d) Where a control account relates to transactions of more than one person the balance thereof shall be analysed either in the ledger or in the primary account in such manner as to show the part thereof due from or to each person concerned.

(b) Impersonal Accounts.

Expenditure.—An account of the expenditure under each head of account relevant to the Board or Committee which appears in the form set out in Tables A, B and C of the Third Schedule or is needed for the purposes of preliminary classification together with such further classification under sub-heads as may be deemed necessary by the Board or Committee, or as may be required by the Minister.

Income.—An account of the income under each head of account relevant to the Board or Committee which appears in Table D of the form set out in the said Schedule together with such further classification under sub-heads as may be deemed necessary by the Board or Committee, or as may be required by the Minister.

(c) Final Accounts.

Capital.—A summary account by Boards only, of expenditure in respect of works of construction, reconstruction or alteration and associated purchases of furniture and equipment together with a summary of income of a capital nature.

Revenue.—An account bringing out a balance between the income and expenditure of the Board or Committee.

Balances.—A statement bringing together the balances on the several personal accounts in order to disclose the assets and liabilities of the Board or Committee at the close of the financial year. [2694]

Form of Annual Accounts

19. As soon as may be after the close of a financial year and in any case not later than the 31st day of August, the chief financial officer of a Hospital Management Committee shall prepare statements in the form set out in Tables A to D, X and Y of the Third Schedule together with a statement in such form as the Minister may specify, reconciling revenue and cash balances and after certifying the same to be correct shall submit them to the Committee for approval which shall be signified by the signature of the secretary thereon, and to the auditor. After completion of the audit, the auditor shall certify the accounts and the said statements with or without reservation and shall transmit the statements to the Minister with his report. The Committee shall transmit a copy of the audited statements and the auditor's certificate to the Regional Hospital Board for their information. [2695]

20. The preceding regulation, other than the last sentence, shall apply in the case of Boards of Governors and Regional Hospital Boards except that statements in the form set out in Tables A to E, X and Y shall be completed by Boards of Governors, and statements in the form set out in Tables A, C, D, E, X and Y by Regional Hospital Boards. [2696]

Cost Accounts

21. Each Board of Governors and Hospital Management Committee shall prepare annual cost accounts in such form as the Minister may require in respect of each hospital under its control and shall transmit a copy to the Minister; and a Committee shall also furnish copies to the Regional Hospital Board for their information. [2697]

Store Accounts and Inventories

22. The chief financial officer of a Board of Governors, Regional Hospital Board or Hospital Management Committee shall be responsible to the Board or Committee for the maintenance of proper records relating to articles, materials and provisions required for the hospital, specialist and ancillary services and in particular for—

(a) store accounts showing the quantities of the several articles, materials or provisions received into store, issued from store, returned into store, and remaining in store ;

(b) stock-taking returns showing side by side the quantity of the several articles, materials or provisions found in store and the quantity which according to the store account should be in store at the time of the stock-taking ;

(c) a summary account showing the total cost of articles, materials and provisions received into store, issued from store and remaining in store. [2698]

23. Each Board of Governors, Regional Hospital Board and Hospital Management Committee shall maintain inventories of such articles of equipment, not held on store charge, and in such form as the Minister may from time to time require. [2699]

GENERAL

24. The Minister may to such extent as he considers necessary or expedient dispense with any of the requirements of these regulations in respect of the financial year ending on the 31st day of March, 1949. The Minister may also, with the consent of the Treasury, amend from time to time any of the forms set out in the Schedules to these regulations. [2700]

25. The chief financial officer of a Board of Governors, Regional Hospital Board or Hospital Management Committee shall be responsible to the Board or Committee for the proper collection of all moneys due and the prompt payment of all debts, for the maintenance and completion of all financial records and returns required by the Board or Committee, or by the Minister, and for the submission of accounts to the auditor at such times and for such period as the auditor may require. [2701]

26. The auditor shall have a right of access at all reasonable times to the books, accounts and vouchers of a Board of Governors, Regional Hospital Board or Hospital Management Committee and their officers. He may, by writing under his hand, require the production before him of all books, deeds, contracts, accounts, vouchers, receipts and other documents, and shall be entitled to require from the members and officers of the Board or Committee such information or explanation as he may deem necessary for the purpose of the audit. [2702]

27. These regulations, other than regulations 19, 20 and 26 shall not apply to property or liabilities held, acquired or incurred by a Board of Governors, Regional Hospital Board or Hospital Management Committee under sections 7, 59 or 60 of the Act, but those bodies shall at the end of each financial year prepare an account of cash receipts and payments in respect thereof together with a statement of balances at the end of the year. EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The Regulations provide for the submission of estimates of income and expenditure by Regional Hospital Boards, Hospital Management Committees and Boards of Governors of Teaching Hospitals and for their approval by the Minister of Health, for the accountancy methods to be used and for incidental matters.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (QUALIFICATIONS OF HEALTH VISITORS AND TUBERCULOSIS VISITORS) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1415

June 25, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under section 66 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Qualifications of Health Visitors and Tuberculosis Visitors) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into force on the fifth day of July, 1948. [2707]

2.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" health visitor " means a woman employed by a local health authority for the visiting of persons in their homes for the purpose of giving advice as to the care of young children, persons suffering from illness, and expectant or nursing mothers, and as to the measures necessary to prevent the spread of infection and also includes a woman so employed by a voluntary organisation under arrangements with a local health authority ;

" tuberculosis visitor " means a woman employed by a local health authority for the visiting of the homes of persons suffering from tuberculosis for the purpose of giving advice as to the care of such persons and as to measures necessary to prevent the spread of infection and also includes a woman so employed by a voluntary organisation under arrangements with a local health authority ;

" the Minister " means the Minister of Health ;

" regulations of 1930 " means the Local Government (Qualifications of Medical Officers and Health Visitors) Regulations, 1930, as amended by the Local Government (Qualifications of Medical Officers and Health Visitors) (Amendment) Regulations, 1933.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2708]

3. Any person employed as a health visitor shall be a woman who—

(a) has been qualified prior to the 5th July, 1948, to hold the appointment of health visitor under the regulations of 1930, otherwise than in virtue of a dispensation given under regulation 10 thereof ; or

(b) has obtained the health visitors certificate issued by the Royal Sanitary Institute under conditions approved by the Minister ; or

(c) has obtained the health visitors certificate issued by the Royal Sanitary Association of Scotland under conditions approved by the Secretary of State for Scotland and duly endorsed by the Association as rendering the holder eligible for appointment as a health visitor in England and Wales as well as in Scotland. [2709]

4. Any person employed as a tuberculosis visitor shall be a woman who—

(a) is qualified for employment as a health visitor under the immediately preceding regulation ; or

(b) has been qualified prior to the 5th July, 1948, to hold the appointment of tuberculosis visitor under the regulations of 1930, otherwise than in virtue of a dispensation given under regulation 10 thereof; or

(c) is a nurse whose name is entered on the general part of the register kept under the Nurses Registration Act, 1919, or of the list kept under section 18 of the Nurses Act, 1943, and who has had at least three months' experience at a sanatorium or hospital for the treatment of tuberculosis or at a tuberculosis dispensary. [2710]

5. The Minister may dispense with any of the requirements of these regulations in any case in which it appears to him desirable to do so on such terms and conditions as he thinks fit. [2711]

* * * * *

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The Regulations prescribe the qualifications to be held by health visitors and tuberculosis visitors employed by local health authorities or employed by voluntary organisations under arrangement with local health authorities. Power is taken to dispense with the requirements of the regulations in order to enable persons now employed as visitors to continue to serve until the supply of fully qualified visitors becomes adequate.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (APPOINTMENT OF SPECIALISTS) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1416

June 25, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under section 14 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations:—

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Appointment of Specialists) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the 29th day of June, 1948. [2712]

2. The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2713]

3. These regulations apply to the appointment by a Regional Hospital Board or by the Board of Governors of a teaching hospital of any medical or dental officer, whether whole-time or part-time, to the staff of any hospital providing hospital and specialist services, being an officer appointed for the purpose of practising a special branch of medicine or dentistry, with full responsibility for the treatment of patients or the carrying out of clinical, pathological or ancillary methods of investigation, and the words "officer" and "office" shall be construed accordingly. [2714]

4. For the purpose of these regulations an advisory appointments committee shall be constituted on the occasion of each vacancy in an office, which for this purpose includes a new office which the Board propose to fill. The Committee shall be constituted, where an appointment to the office is to be made by a Regional Hospital Board, in accordance with the provisions in Part I of the schedule hereto, and where the appointment is to be made by a Board of Governors of a teaching hospital, in accordance with the provisions of Part II of the schedule. [2715]

5.—(1) Any vacancy in an office which it is proposed to fill shall be advertised in two or more journals circulating throughout England and Wales, being journals commonly used for advertisements of a similar kind relating to the profession concerned.

(2) The vacancy may also be advertised in such other journals or newspapers as the Board think fit. [2716]

6. The advertisement shall state—

(i) the nature of the appointment;
(ii) Whether the appointment is for whole-time or part-time service; if part-time the approximate length of time per week which will be required;
(iii) The duration of the appointment;
(iv) The remuneration;
(v) The closing date for the receipt of applications; and
(vi) That canvassing of members of the Board or Advisory Appointments Committee will lead to disqualification. [2717]

7. The Advisory Appointments Committee shall consider all applications submitted to the Board before the closing date specified in the advertisement and may if they think fit require an applicant to attend before them for the purpose of an interview. After considering all the applications the Committee shall select from the applicants such persons as they think suitable for the appointment and submit their names to the Board together with any comments they may wish to make. If they are of opinion that none of the applicants is suitable for the appointment they shall so inform the Board. [2718]

8. No appointment shall be made by the Board except from applicants selected in the manner aforesaid. [2719]

9. The Board may make to the members of an Advisory Appointments Committee constituted by them, payments in respect of travelling and subsistence expenses in accordance with the scales set out in Parts II and III of the schedule to the National Health Service (Travelling Allowances, etc.) Regulations, 1947, and subject to the conditions set out in regulation 5 of those regulations. [2720]

SCHEDULE

PART I

Non-Teaching Hospitals

1. The Advisory Appointments Committee shall consist of seven members appointed by the Regional Hospital Board of whom one shall be selected by the Board to act as chairman.

2. Two of the members, of whom at least one shall be a medical practitioner in the case of the appointment of a medical officer or a dental practitioner in the case of the appointment of a dental officer shall be appointed on the nomination of the Hospital Management Committee concerned or if two or more Hospital Management Committees are concerned, on the nomination of those Committees jointly.

3. Of the other five members four at least shall be medical practitioners in the case of the appointment of a medical officer or dental practitioners in the case of the appointment of a dental officer and at least one shall be appointed after consultation with the University with which the provision of hospital and specialist services in the area of the Board is associated.

4. Of the members who are medical or dental practitioners at least two shall be, or shall have been, engaged in the practice of the special branch of medicine or dentistry concerned and at least one shall be so engaged outside the area of the Board. [2721]

PART II

Teaching Hospitals

1. The Advisory Appointments Committee shall consist of seven members appointed by the Board of Governors of whom one shall be selected by the Board to act as chairman.

2. Two of the members shall be appointed on the nomination of the University with which the hospital is associated and at least one of such members shall be a medical practitioner in the case of the appointment of a medical officer or a dental practitioner in the case of the appointment of a dental officer.

3. Of the five members appointed otherwise than on the nomination of the University at least four shall be medical practitioners in the case of the appointment of a medical officer or dental practitioners in the case of the appointment of a dental officer and at least one shall be a person appointed after consultation with the Regional Hospital Board of the area in which the teaching hospital is situated or if the hospital is situated in the area of more than one Regional Hospital Board after consultation with both or all of such Boards.

4. Of the members who are medical or dental practitioners at least two shall be, or shall have been, engaged in the practice of the special branch of medicine or dentistry concerned and at least one shall be so engaged at some other teaching hospital. [2722]

* * * * *

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The regulations make provision with respect to the appointment of certain classes of medical and dental officers to the Hospital and Specialist Services. They require the advertising of posts to be filled and provide for the setting up of Advisory Appointments Committees to select and submit to the appointing body the names of the suitable applicants.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (GENERAL MEDICAL AND PHARMACEUTICAL SERVICES) AMENDMENT REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1448

June 28, 1948

General note.—These regulations amend S.I. 1948 No. 506, ante.

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under sections 32, 33 and 38 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (General Medical and Pharmaceutical Services) Amendment Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, 1948. [2723]

2. The National Health Service (General Medical and Pharmaceutical Services) Regulations, 1948, shall be amended as follows :—

(1) In paragraph (1) of regulation 2 the definition of " maternity medical services " shall be modified by the deletion of the words " having obstetric experience ", and the definition of " treatment " shall be modified by the addition of the words " in accordance with these regulations " after the word " services " at the end of the definition.

(2) For regulation 19 there shall be substituted the following regulation :—

19. "Application for Services.—A person who, after diagnosis of pregnancy by a medical practitioner, requires the provision of maternity medical services may arrange for the provision of such services either—

(a) with any practitioner on a medical list having obstetric experience or

(b) with the practitioner in whose list her name is included ".

(3) in paragraphs (1) and (2) of regulation 20 the words " in accordance with the last preceding regulation " shall be substituted for the words " with a practitioner having obstetric experience " and the words " with another practitioner having obstetric experience ".

(4) In sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph 3 and in (c) of sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 6 of Part I of the first schedule the words " having obstetric experience " shall be deleted.

(5) For sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph 6 of Part I of the first schedule, there shall be substituted the following sub-paragraph :—

" (2) In the case of maternity medical services all proper and necessary treatment shall include an initial medical and obstetric examination and an examination at or about the 36th week of pregnancy together with such other examination and ante-natal care as the practitioner thinks necessary ; attendance at an abortion or other emergency in connection with a pregnancy if the practitioner is summoned on behalf of the patient ; attendance at the confinement after the twenty-eighth week of pregnancy, if in the opinion of the practitioner it is required or if he is summoned to the confinement by the midwife in attendance ; a medical and pelvic examination of the mother at or about six weeks after confinement, together with such medical care of the mother and child for a period of 14 days after the confinement as may be required, and where the practitioner is not the general practitioner in whose list the name of the person is included, maternity medical services shall also include compliance with any request made by the general practitioner to examine or give any other assistance to that person and her child if, in the opinion of the practitioner having obstetric experience, it is necessary :

Provided that nothing in this sub-paragraph shall affect the responsibility of the practitioner in whose list the name of the person is included for treatment of a kind usually provided by general medical practitioners which is necessary for her general health."

(6) In sub-paragraph (7) of paragraph 7 of Part I of the first schedule the words " or their personal representatives " shall be inserted after the words " patients ".

(7) In sub-paragraph (1) of paragraph 10 of Part I of the first schedule the words " (which for the purpose of this paragraph shall include maternity medical services) " shall be inserted after the words " medical treatment ".

(8) The following sub-paragraph shall be substituted for sub-paragraph (i) of paragraph 1 of Part II of the first schedule :—

" (i) A fixed annual payment of £800 as part of the remuneration in respect of any practitioner who claims such payment, subject to the consent of the Council, who shall, before giving such consent, consult the Local Medical Committee, or, on appeal, of the Minister :

Provided that :—

(a) after such period as the scheme shall specify a practitioner shall not be entitled to receive a fixed annual payment, unless he has the minimum number of patients on his list specified by the scheme, or the Minister, in view of special circumstances, approves its continuance.

(b) a practitioner whose name is included in more than one medical list shall not be entitled to receive a fixed annual payment from more than one Council.

(c) a practitioner who is receiving a fixed annual payment shall be entitled to give to the Council not less than three months' notice expiring on 31st March, 30th June, 30th September, or 31st December in any year, that the payment shall be discontinued."

(d) the Council, if they think fit, shall be entitled to give to a practitioner who is receiving a fixed annual payment not less than three months' notice expiring on the 31st March, 30th June, 30th September, or 31st December, in any year that the payment shall be discontinued unless the Minister, on appeal, otherwise determines.

(9) In sub-paragraph (iii) of paragraph 3 of Part II of the first schedule the words "in accordance with the regulations" shall be substituted for the words "by practitioners having obstetric experience".

(10) The following paragraph shall be added in Part I of the fourth schedule after paragraph 8 :—

"8A. A chemist shall, in respect of the categories of staff whose wages and conditions of work are approved by the National Joint Industrial Council for Retail Pharmacy, pay rates of wages and observe conditions not less favourable than those for the time being so approved." [2724]

* * * * *

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These regulations amend the National Health Service (General Medical and Pharmaceutical Services) Regulations, 1948, for two main purposes : first to extend the arrangements for maternity medical services to enable a payment to be made to a woman's own doctor to provide her with maternity medical services notwithstanding that he is not possessed of qualifications recognised by the Local Obstetric Committee, and secondly to enable a doctor to claim to be paid partly by a fixed annual payment of £300 at his option, subject to the Executive Council agreeing or, on appeal, the Minister.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (SUPERANNUATION) (AMENDMENT) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1474

June 30, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred on him by subsection (1) of section 67 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, hereby makes the following regulations in the terms of a draft duly approved by resolution of each House of Parliament :—

1.—(1) These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Superannuation) (Amendment) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into force on the first day of July, 1948.

(2) These regulations and the National Health Service (Superannuation) Regulations, 1947, shall be construed as one, and may be cited together as the National Health Service (Superannuation) Regulations, 1947 and 1948.

(3) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament.

(4) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the principal regulations " means the National Health Service (Superannuation) Regulations, 1947 ; and

" regulation " means regulation contained in the principal regulations. [2725]

2. A person who by virtue of any employment would be an officer within the meaning of the principal regulations shall not be treated as such if he is a Chaplain to whom the Clergy Pensions Measure, 1948, applies. [2726]

3. In regulation 1, in paragraph (3) thereof—

(a) in the definition of " mental health officer ", there shall be added the words " and any officer employed as the Regional Psychiatrist by a Regional Hospital Board who immediately before entering their employment as such, whether before or after the date of these regulations, was such an officer as aforesaid or was an officer to whom the Superannuation (Prison Officers) Act, 1919, applied and had been such an officer for an aggregate period of not less than ten years " ; and

(b) in the definition of " national service ", there shall be added the words " but does not include, in a case where a person continues his national service otherwise than in pursuance of a legal obligation so to do arising otherwise than by reason of a voluntary undertaking by him to continue it, and the employing authority by whom he was employed immediately before he undertook his national service has notified him in writing that his national service for the purposes of these regulations will be deemed to cease on the expiration of a period of three months after the date of the service of the notification, any part of his national service after the expiration of the said period." [2727]

4. In regulation 2, in proviso (ii) (i) to paragraph (1) thereof, there shall be substituted for the words " local authority or governing body of a voluntary hospital " the words " authority or body from which functions are transferred by the Act, or under an officer of such an authority or body, or at or for the purposes of any hospital ". [2728]

5. In regulation 4—

(a) in paragraph (3) thereof, the words " otherwise than by reason of illness or injury " shall be omitted and the following proviso shall be added :—

" Provided that where the absence from duty is by reason of illness or injury the provisions of this paragraph shall not apply, unless the officer's remuneration is reduced solely by reason of his having become entitled to benefit under the National Insurance Acts, 1946 " ; and

(b) in paragraph (7) thereof, for the words " an officer ", there shall be substituted the words " a person ", after the word " reckon " there shall be inserted the words " any of ", the words " if his service pay equals or exceeds the remuneration of his former employment " shall be omitted, and there shall be substituted for the words " as if " the words " (if any) as he would have been liable to make if ". [2729]

6. In regulation 6, in proviso (c) to paragraph (2) thereof, and in regulation 10, in proviso (iv) thereto, there shall be substituted for the words " being reckoned at double its actual length " the words " being reckoned as contributing service." [2730]

7. In regulation 6, in proviso (i) to paragraph (3) thereof, and in the substituted regulation 6 as set out in regulation 38 (3) (e), in proviso (ii) to paragraph (1) thereof, there shall be substituted for all words after the words " forty years " the words " the pension shall be calculated by reference to the last forty years actual service, any non-contributing service within that period being reckoned as contributing service." [2731]

8. In regulation 6, in proviso (iii) to paragraph (4) thereof, and in the substituted regulation 6 as set out in regulation 38 (3) (e), in proviso (iv) to paragraph (2) thereof, there shall be substituted for all words after the words " forty years " the words " the amount of the allowance shall be calculated by reference to the last forty years actual service, any non-contributing service within that period being reckoned as contributing service." [2732]

9. In regulation 8, the words " more than " and the words " unless he is entitled to a retiring allowance " shall be omitted, and the following proviso shall be added :—

" Provided that if the officer is also entitled to a retiring allowance, the short service gratuity shall be reduced by the amount of the said allowance." [2733]

10. In regulation 10, in proviso (iii) thereto, and in regulation 38, in proviso (ii) to sub-paragraph (f) of paragraph (3) thereof, there shall be substituted for all words after the words " forty years " the words " the sum shall be obtained by reference to the last forty years actual service, any non-contributing service within that period being reckoned as contributing service." [2734]

11. In regulation 13—

(a) in proviso (a) to paragraph (2) thereof, there shall be inserted after the word " officer " the words " (not being an officer transferred under the Act) " ;

(b) in proviso (d) to paragraph (2) thereof, there shall be inserted after the words " established civil servant " where they first occur, the words " the foregoing provision shall apply as if for the reference to employment or war service or national service which would have been reckonable for the purpose of determining whether a person was entitled to receive a superannuation benefit, there were substituted a reference to employment or war service or national service which would have been reckonable for the purpose of determining whether the officer had served for the minimum period prescribed by the Superannuation Acts as necessary for the grant of any retiring award to him and " ;

(c) the following new paragraph shall be inserted :—

" (6A) Where a person in the employment of an employing authority, not being an officer, ceases to be employed in order to undertake national service, then, if on the termination of that service or within six months thereafter he returns to the employment of any employing authority, the period of his national service shall be taken into account for the purposes of these regulations in the same manner and to the same extent as it would have fallen to be taken into account if he had continued to follow his former employment throughout the period of his national service "; and

(d) in paragraph (8) thereof, there shall be inserted after the words " transferred by the Act " the words " or by the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947," and after the words " by the Minister under the Act " wherever they occur, the words " or by the Secretary of State under the said Act of 1947 ". [2735]

12. In regulation 14, the following new paragraph shall be inserted :—

" (2A) Any part of any national service which is reckonable as a period of service under regulation 13 (6A) in relation to any office, being a part in respect of which contributions have been made pursuant to regulation 4 (7), shall be reckonable as a period of contributing service." [2736]

13. In regulation 15, the following new paragraphs shall be added :—

" (6) Where a person becomes or has become an officer of an employing authority within twelve months after ceasing to be a contributory employee or local Act contributor in the employment of any local authority, the local authority may, within three months after the date on which the person becomes such an officer or if he has become such an officer before the date of the coming into operation of these regulations within three months after that date, exercise in relation to him any power which would have been exercisable in relation to him under paragraph (1) or (2) of this regulation had he been transferred under the Act.

(7) A person in relation to whom a resolution to add years has been passed or a discretion has been exercised pursuant to paragraph (6) of this regulation shall be entitled to reckon as contributing service in relation to his employment as such officer as aforesaid any number of years in respect of which the resolution was passed or the discretion was exercised." [2737]

14. In regulation 18—

(a) in proviso (b) to paragraph (1) thereof, there shall be inserted after the words " those contributions " the words " would not have been returnable or "; and

(b) in paragraph (2) thereof, there shall be omitted—

(i) sub-paragraph (b);

(ii) the words " in the case mentioned in sub-paragraph (a) of this paragraph "; and

(iii) all words (including the proviso) after the words " compound interest thereon " in line 11. [2738]

15. The following new regulation shall be inserted after regulation 18 :—

" Officers ceasing to be employed in consequence of the Act.

18A.—(1) Where an officer ceases to be employed by an employing authority in consequence of the Act without having become entitled to any benefit under these regulations other than a return of his contributions, and no transfer value is payable in respect of him, then, if compensation would be payable to him under regulations made by the Minister under section 68 of the Act but for the fact that he had not been employed in manner thereby prescribed for a period thereby prescribed, he shall be entitled to receive from the Minister a sum equal to the accrued value of his prospective rights under these regulations, less the amount of any contributions and interest to which he has become entitled pursuant to these regulations.

(2) For the purposes of the last preceding paragraph, the accrued value of an officer's prospective rights under these regulations shall be treated as being an amount equal to the amount of the transfer value which would have been payable in respect of him under regulation 49 had that regulation become applicable or, if he was a person to whom regulation 24 applied, such a sum as the Minister may consider reasonable:

Provided that no account shall be taken of any rights secured by a policy of insurance.

(3) For the purposes of these regulations, any sum received by a person under this regulation shall be treated as if it were a sum paid to him by way of a return of contributions.

(4) Where a person who has received a sum under this regulation gives notice to an employing authority under paragraph (9) of regulation 13 that he intends to make payments in accordance with that paragraph, he shall not be entitled to make such payments unless forthwith on giving such notice he pays to the employing authority an amount equal to the said sum, together with compound interest thereon, at the rate of two and one half per cent. per annum, calculated, with half yearly rests, as from the date on which the said sum was received." [2739]

16. In regulation 20, the following new paragraph shall be added—

" (5) The proceedings on any reference to a referee or board of referees under the last preceding paragraph shall not be deemed to be an arbitration to which anything in the Arbitration Acts, 1889–1934, applies." [2740]

17. In regulation 22, in paragraph (2) thereof, the words " or who attains pensionable age on, or within three months after, being so transferred " shall be omitted. [2741]

18. In regulation 24—

(a) in paragraph (2) thereof, there shall be added at the end of the paragraph the words " and in regulation 18A " ; and

(b) in paragraph (3) thereof, there shall be added at the end of the paragraph the words " regulation 18A and the next succeeding regulation ". [2742]

19. In regulation 28, the words " other than mental health officers " shall be omitted. [2743]

20. In regulation 29—

(a) the words " attained the age of fifty-five years and " shall be omitted, and there shall be inserted after the word " applied " where it occurs for the second time the words " or, if the Minister so directs, as a person subject to a scheme approved by the Minister under regulation 13 (3) (d) (v) " ; and

(b) the following new paragraphs shall be inserted—

" (2) These regulations, in their application to any mental health officer (not being an officer to whom the last preceding paragraph applies) who has been employed for an aggregate period of at least twenty years as such an officer and before he became such an officer as a person on the staff of a hospital used wholly or partly for the treatment of mental patients or an institution so used for the treatment of defectives devoting the whole or substantially the whole of his time to the treatment or care of such patients or defectives, shall have effect subject to the following modifications :—

(a) in regulations 5 and 20 (1), fifty-five years shall be substituted for sixty years ; and

(b) for the purposes of regulations 6, 9 (2) and 10, the proviso to regulation 11 (1) and regulations 30 (3) and 30 (4), account shall be taken as if it were two years of every year of contributing service as a mental health officer rendered after attainment of the age of fifty years or after the date on which this paragraph becomes applicable, whichever is the later.

(3) In reckoning the aggregate period of a mental health officer's employment for the purpose of this regulation account shall be taken as if it were a period of employment of any period of service which he is entitled to reckon by virtue of the exercise in relation to him of the power conferred by regulation 15 (3) ". [2744]

21. In regulation 30—

(a) the following new provision shall be substituted for proviso (a) to paragraph (2) thereof—

" (a) in the case of a mental health officer who by virtue of regulation 29 becomes entitled to reckon any year of contributing service as such officer as if it were two years, the amount of the reductions shall be doubled ; " ; and

(b) in paragraph (3) (b) thereof, the words " on being transferred under the Act or " shall be omitted, there shall be inserted after the words " date of acquisition " the words " or was such a person as is mentioned in paragraph (9) of this regulation ", there shall be inserted after the words " his age " the words " at the appointed day or ", and there shall be inserted after the words " on which he became an officer " where those words first occur the words " whichever is the later ". [2745]

22. The following new regulations shall be inserted after regulation 33 :—

" Application to officers formerly employed in hospitals vested in or requisitioned by the Crown.

33A. For the purposes of these regulations a person who immediately before the appointed day was solely or mainly employed at or for the purposes of any hospital which would have been transferred to the Minister by virtue of the Act but for the fact that the hospital or any interest therein was vested in or requisitioned by the Crown shall, if he becomes on the appointed day an employee of any employing authority, be treated as if he had been transferred under the Act, and employment at or for the purposes of any such hospital shall be treated as if it were employment at or for the purposes of a hospital transferred to the Minister under the Act.

Application to officers formerly employed in the Blood Transfusion Service.

33B. For the purposes of these regulations, a person who enters the employment of an employing authority on the appointed day, having immediately before that day been in employment under the Crown in the Blood Transfusion Service, shall be deemed to have been transferred under the Act to the employment of the employing authority, and the said employment under the Crown shall be deemed to be employment under a body from which functions are transferred by the Act ". [2746]

23. In regulation 34, there shall be inserted after the word " person " where it first occurs the words " (other than a person engaged wholly or mainly on clerical duties) ", there shall be substituted for the word " officer " the word " employee " and there shall be substituted for the words " left employment as an established civil servant and entered the employment of the Board " the words " been transferred under the Act to the employment of an employing authority immediately before the date on which this regulation became operative, and as if his former employment had been employment under any authority or body from which functions are transferred by the Act ". [2747]

24. In regulation 38—

(a) in paragraph (1) thereof, there shall be inserted after the word " practitioner " the words " other than a person rendering specialist services pursuant to section 3 of the Act " ;

(b) in paragraphs (2) and (3) thereof, the words " subject to the provisions of paragraph (5) of this regulation " shall be omitted ;

(c) in proviso (ii) to paragraph (2) of the substituted regulation 6, as set out in sub-paragraph (e) of paragraph (3) of regulation 38, there shall be inserted after the words " a practitioner who is " the words " a widower or " ;

(d) sub-paragraph (l) of paragraph (3) thereof shall be omitted ;

(e) the following new sub-paragraph shall be inserted in paragraph (3) thereof—

" (jj) the proviso to regulation 16 shall not apply in the case of a practitioner " ; and

(f) for paragraph (5) thereof, there shall be substituted the following paragraph :—

" (5) These regulations in their application to a person who is a practitioner by virtue of being a person rendering specialist services pursuant to section 3 of the Act shall have effect subject to the modifications contained in paragraph (3) of this regulation other than the modifications contained in sub-paragraphs (h), (k) and (m) thereof." [2748]

25. In regulation 39—

(a) in paragraph (1) (c) thereof, after the word " person " there shall be inserted the words " (other than such a person as is mentioned in either of the two preceding sub-paragraphs) " ; and

(b) the proviso to paragraph (1), and paragraph (2), shall be omitted. [2749]

26. In regulation 40—

(a) in paragraph (1) thereof, for the words " and any " there shall be substituted the words " or relevant ", the words " extend and " shall be omitted, and after the words " to whom this part applies " there shall be inserted the words " by virtue of his being such a person as is mentioned in sub-paragraph (a) or (b) of regulation 39 (1) " ;

(b) the following new paragraph shall be substituted for paragraph (2) :—

" (2) The Act of 1937 or relevant local Act scheme shall be further modified in relation to any such officer as aforesaid who is in the employment of a local health authority on the appointed day, and who immediately before that day was a contributory employee or local Act contributor, so as to confer on him rights corresponding to those conferred by regulations 22 and 23, and those regulations shall apply accordingly, with the modification that references to employing authorities in regulation 22 shall be read as references to local health authorities, and with any other necessary modifications "; and

(c) the following new paragraph shall be inserted after paragraph (4) :—

" (5) The Act of 1937 or relevant local Act scheme shall, if not otherwise applicable, apply in relation to any officer to whom this part applies by virtue of his being such a person as is mentioned in sub-paragraph (c) of regulation 39 (1), and in its application to any such officer, whether as so applied or otherwise, shall be modified so as to confer upon him a right corresponding to that conferred by regulation 22, and that regulation shall apply accordingly, with the modification that references to employing authorities shall be read as references to local health authorities, and with any other necessary modifications ". [2750]

27. After regulation 40, there shall be inserted the following new regulation—

" 40A.—(1) Where a person, being a contributory employee or local Act contributor in the employment of any local authority, will, if he remains in their employment, be transferred under the Act to the employment of a local health authority, the local authority may at any time before the date of transfer, or within three months thereafter if he is so transferred, exercise in relation to him the power conferred on them by regulation 15 in relation to any person to whom that regulation applies, and that regulation shall apply accordingly for the purpose, with any necessary modifications.

(2) Any number of years added to a person's service under the last preceding paragraph shall be deemed to be a number of years which was reckonable immediately before the date of transfer as contributing service for the purposes of the Act of 1937 or as service for the purposes of the local Act scheme.

(3) Where the amount of any transfer value is increased in consequence of the exercise by a local authority of any power conferred upon them by paragraph (1) of this regulation, the local authority shall repay the amount of the said increase to the superannuation fund out of which the transfer value is payable." [2751]

28. In regulation 42, there shall be substituted for the words " an officer falling within the class mentioned in regulation 39 (1) (a) " the words " a contributory employee or local Act contributor on the medical or nursing staff of the authority ". [2752]

29. In regulation 43, in paragraph (1) thereof, there shall be inserted after the words " school health service " the words " and he is not a person who has exercised such option as is mentioned in regulation 40 (2) or the proviso to regulation 42." [2753]

30. In regulation 47, the following new paragraphs shall be inserted—

" (8A) In the calculation of any transfer value under paragraph (1) or (5) of this regulation, or in the certification under paragraph (2) thereof of any liability of which any superannuation fund has been relieved, account shall be taken of any number of years that may have been added to a person's service under the provisions of regulation 15 as if that number of years had been reckonable as a number of years of contributing service or service, as the case may be, for the purposes of the Act of 1937, the local Act scheme or the Act of 1909 immediately before he ceased to be a contributory employee, local Act contributor or person subject to the Act of 1909.

(8B) Where before the coming into operation of these regulations any transfer value has been paid in respect of a person who has become an officer of an employing authority, and the local authority under whom he was a contributory employee or local Act contributor exercise any power conferred on them by paragraph (6) of regulation 15, the transfer value shall be re-calculated to take account of any years added or any service converted into contributing service by virtue of the exercise of that power.

(8C) Where the amount of any transfer value payable out of a superannuation fund under paragraph (1) of this regulation or the amount of any liability to be certified under paragraph (2) thereof is increased in consequence of the exercise by a local authority of any power conferred upon them by regulation 15, the local authority, or if that authority has been dissolved, the local authorities who appointed that authority, shall repay the amount of the said increase to the superannuation fund out of which the transfer value is payable or in relation to which the liability is to be certified." [2754]

31. The following new regulation shall be substituted for regulation 53—

"53. Any question arising under these regulations as to the rights or liabilities of an officer or retired officer of an employing authority, or of a person claiming to be treated as such or of the widow, any dependant or the legal personal representatives of an officer or retired officer shall be determined by the Minister." [2755]

32. In the Fourth Schedule to the principal regulations—

(a) in the 3rd column of Table V, there shall be substituted for the figures "£10 8s." the figures "£10 18s."; and

(b) in sub-paragraph (3) of paragraph 6 thereof, there shall be inserted a reference to Table IA, in addition to the references to the Tables there mentioned, and the following new Table shall be inserted after Table I—

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These regulations amend the National Health Service (Superannuation) Regulations, 1947. They correct certain anomalies in the principal regulations and make various drafting and minor amendments. In addition the regulations confer additional rights on persons subject to the provisions of the principal regulations and extend those regulations to additional classes of persons.

The benefits conferred upon mental health officers are extended to Regional Psychiatrists employed by Regional Hospital Boards (regulation 3). Employees who undertake national service and who were not superannuable when they left their employment are now enabled to become superannuable during their national service, if they would have done so had they continued in their employment (regulation 11 (c)). By regulation 15 of the principal regulations local authorities are given power to add years of service or to convert non-contributing service into contributing service in the case of such of their superannuable employees as are transferred under the Act to the central health service. This power is now to be exerciseable by them in relation to their employees who transfer at any time (regulation 13). The power conferred by regulation 15 of the principal regulations is now extended to transfers of employees under the Act from minor local authorities to local health authorities (regulation 27). Consequential provisions in respect of transfer values, etc., are made in regulations 27 and 30. Where a person ceases to be employed in consequence of the National Health Service Act, and he had not completed a sufficient number of years service to entitle him to compensation under regulations made under section 68 of the Act, he is to be entitled under the principal regulations to receive the accrued value of his superannuation rights instead of merely a return of the contributions to which he might otherwise be entitled (regulation 15). Certain mental health officers are entitled under the principal regulations to reckon part of their service at twice its actual length. The class of employment which qualifies an officer for this right is extended (regulation 20). Transferred officers enjoy certain special rights under the principal regulations, for example an option to retain pre-transfer superannuation rights. These rights are extended to persons employed in hospitals already vested in the Crown and therefore not transferred to the Minister by virtue of the Act, and to persons employed under the Crown in the Blood Transfusion Service (regulation 22). Persons in the employment of a local health authority on the appointed day are given an option to retain rights corresponding with those enjoyed immediately before the appointed day instead of becoming subject to Part III of the principal regulations (regulation 26).

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (TRANSFER OF OFFICERS AND COMPENSATION) REGULATIONS, 1948

June 30, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 68 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, as amended by sub-paragraph (4) of paragraph 7 of the Sixth Schedule to the National Assistance Act, 1948, hereby makes the following regulations in the terms of a draft duly approved by resolution of each House of Parliament :—

PART I

Citation and Interpretation

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Transfer of Officers and Compensation) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July 1948. [2759]

2. In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say—

" accrued pension ", in relation to a pensionable officer who has suffered loss of employment, means—

(a) if the pension scheme to which the officer was last subject before losing his employment consisted of arrangements for the provision of superannuation benefits in which he had no right to participate but had reasonable expectations of participating, such proportion of the pension of which he had reasonable expectations as the compensating authority considers equitable, having regard to his age, the length of this employment at the date of loss and all the other circumstances of the case ; and

(b) in any other case the pension to which he would have become entitled in respect of his pensionable service according to the method of calculation, as modified by paragraph 18 of the schedule to these regulations, prescribed by the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, if at the date on which he ceased to be subject thereto he had attained normal retiring age and complied with any requirement of the said scheme as to a minimum period of qualifying service or contribution, and includes the annual value as ascertained by an actuary of any contingent right under the scheme in respect of widow's pension or any other benefit which might have become payable to his widow or to his legal personal representatives on his death had he not lost his employment, but does not include any part of such pension as aforesaid which is attributable to any remuneration enjoyed, whether before or after the appointed day, in consequence of an increase between the 19th day of March, 1946, and the appointed day in the remuneration of any employment, if it can be shown that the increased remuneration was not granted in the ordinary course of that employment or in consideration of the person's assumption of increased responsibilities or new duties in connexion with the discharge of the existing functions of the body employing him;

"accrued incapacity pension" has the same meaning as "accrued pension" except that the reference to a person's having attained normal retiring age shall be construed as a reference to his having become incapable of discharging efficiently the duties of his employment by reason of permanent ill-health or infirmity of mind or body;

"accrued retiring allowance", in relation to a pensionable officer who has suffered loss of employment, means any lump sum payment to which he would have become entitled in respect of his pensionable service according to the method of calculation, as modified by paragraph 18 of the schedule to these regulations, prescribed by the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, if at the date on which he ceased to be subject thereto he had attained normal retiring age and complied with any requirement of the said scheme as to a minimum period of qualifying service;

"the Act" means the National Health Service Act, 1946;

"actuary" means a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries or of the Faculty of Actuaries in Scotland;

"appointed day" means the fifth day of July, 1948;

"compensating authority" means—

(a) in relation to a person who was or is an officer of a county or county borough council, not being a person transferred from their employment by virtue of these regulations, or an officer of any other local authority who suffers loss of employment or diminution of emoluments by reason of the transfer of functions from that authority to a county or county borough council as local health authority in consequence of the Act, the county or county borough council;

(b) subject as hereinafter provided, in relation to a person who was or is an officer of a local authority, not being a person transferred from their employment by virtue of these regulations, who suffers loss of employment or diminution of emoluments by reason of the cesser of any functions of that authority in consequence of the Act, that authority;

(c) in relation to a person who was or is an officer of any such body as is mentioned in paragraph (a) or (b) of subsection (1) of section 78 of the Act which is dissolved as from the appointed day by virtue of that section, not being a person transferred from the employment of that body by virtue of these regulations, the local authority by whom the said body was appointed or, in the case of a joint committee or joint board, such one of its constituent authorities as may be agreed between them or, in default of agreement, as may be determined by the Minister; and

(d) in any other case, the Minister;

"emoluments" means all salary, wages, fees and other payments paid or made to an officer as such for his own use, and includes the money value of any apartments, rations or other allowances in kind appertaining to his employment, but does not include payments for overtime or any allowances payable to him to cover the cost of providing office accommodation or clerical or other assistance, or any travelling or subsistence allowance or other moneys to be spent, or to cover expenses incurred by him, for the purposes of his employment, and also does not include any remuneration enjoyed, whether before or after the appointed day, in consequence of an increase between the 19th day of March, 1946, and the appointed day in the remuneration of any employment, if it can be shown that the increased remuneration was not granted in the ordinary course of that employment or in consideration of the person's assumption of increased responsibilities or new duties in connection with the discharge of the existing functions of the body employing him;

"existing officer" means a person who immediately before the appointed day—

(a) devoted the whole of his time to any of the following employments or to any combination of such employments, namely employment in Great Britain by the governing body of a voluntary hospital, a local authority, an insurance committee, the Ophthalmic Benefit Approved Committee, the Dental Benefit Council, or by any other body for the purposes of the local government service or by the Crown; and

(b) was employed for at least part of his time for the purposes of any hospital transferred to the Minister by virtue of the Act or for the purposes of functions which cease, or are transferred from the employing authority or body, in consequence of the Act;

and who had devoted the whole of his time for a period of not less than eight years before the appointed day after attaining the age of eighteen years without a break of more than twelve months at any one time to employment by any such authority or body as aforesaid, or employment under an officer of any such authority or body for the purposes of the functions of such authority or body, or employment by any voluntary organisation which provided services similar to those which local authorities may be required to provide in the discharge of their functions under Part III of the Act or under the Mental Deficiency Acts, 1913–1938, or to any combination of the said employments or to war service undertaken on ceasing to follow any of the said employments or any combination thereof;

"net emoluments", in relation to any officer who suffers loss of employment or diminution of emoluments, means the annual rate of his emoluments immediately before such loss or diminution, after deducting therefrom the like percentage thereof as the percentage of his emoluments which he was then liable to contribute under any pension scheme associated with his employment:

Provided that—

(a) if, for the purposes of the foregoing definition, account is required to be taken of any fees payable to a person as part of his emoluments, the amount thereof shall be taken to be the annual average of the fees paid to him during the three years immediately preceding the loss of employment or diminution of emoluments, or, if the fees were payable in respect of a shorter period, such shorter period; and

(b) any amount by which the annual rate of his emoluments exceeds £4,000 shall be disregarded; and

(c) if the officer was not a pensionable officer, no deduction shall be made on account of pension contributions;

" normal retiring age " means, in relation to an officer in whose case an age of compulsory retirement applied by virtue of any pension scheme associated with the employment he has lost or the emoluments of which have been diminished or by virtue of the conditions of that employment, that age, and, in any other case, the age of sixty-five years if the officer is a male, or sixty years if the officer is a female ;

" office " means any place, situation or employment, and the expression " officer " shall be construed accordingly ;

" pensionable officer ", in relation to an officer who has suffered loss of employment, means an officer who immediately before the appointed day was subject to a pension scheme ;

" pension scheme " means a scheme or arrangements for the payment of superannuation benefits to a person as part of the terms and conditions of any employment held by him, and includes arrangements for the provision of superannuation benefits in which by virtue of any employment held by him a person had reasonable expectations of participating on the 19th day of March, 1946, and immediately before the appointed day ;

" service " in relation to a person means any period of whole-time or part-time employment in Great Britain, after attaining the age of eighteen years, under a Regional Hospital Board, a Board of Governors of a teaching hospital, an Executive Council, a joint committee of Executive Councils, or under any such authority or body as is mentioned in Section 67 (1) (c) (i) of the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947, or under any authority or body functions of which cease or are transferred in consequence of the Act or the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947, or under the Crown or any other body for the purposes of the local government service, or under an officer of any such authority or body for the purposes of the functions of that authority or body, or at or for the purposes of any hospital transferred to the Minister by virtue of the Act, or any hospital transferred to the Secretary of State by virtue of the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947, or under the Ophthalmic Benefit Approved Committee or the Dental Benefit Council, and includes any period of war service undertaken on the person's ceasing to hold any such employment as aforesaid, but does not include employment of which account has been taken, or is required to be taken, in calculating the amount of any superannuation benefits to which the person has become entitled ;

" tribunal " means such referee or board of referees appointed by the Minister of Labour and National Service, after consultation with the Lord Chancellor, as has jurisdiction in respect of the district in which a claimant for compensation is or was last employed ;

" war service " in relation to any person means war service within the meaning of the Local Government Staffs (War Service) Act, 1939, or employment for war purposes within the meaning of the Superannuation Schemes (War Service) Act, 1940. [2760]

3. The Interpretation Act, 1889, shall apply to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2761]

PART II

Transfer of Officers

4. All officers who immediately before the appointed day were employed solely or mainly at or for the purposes of any hospital which is transferred to the Minister by virtue of the Act or of any such premises as are mentioned in paragraph 7 (1) of the Sixth Schedule to the National Assistance Act, 1948, shall on that day be transferred to and become officers of the Regional Hospital Board for the area in which the hospital or premises is situated or in the cases of a teaching hospital the Board or Governors of that hospital:

Provided that any officer employed as aforesaid for the purposes of two or more hospitals, not all of which will be administered by the same Regional Hospital Board or Board of Governors, shall be transferred to such Board as the Minister shall determine. [2762]

5. All officers who immediately before the appointed day were employed solely or mainly at or for the purposes of a medical or dental school for which a new governing body is constituted under Part II of the Act shall on that day be transferred to and become officers of that governing body. [2763]

6. All officers who immediately before the appointed day were employed by the Common Council of the City of London, the council of a metropolitan borough or the council of a county district solely or mainly for the purposes of functions transferred from that council in consequence of the Act to a local health authority shall on that day be transferred to and become officers of that authority. [2764]

7. All officers who immediately before the appointed day were employed by an insurance committee for any county or county borough shall on that day be transferred to and become officers of the Executive Council for the area comprising that county or county borough. [2765]

8. Any officer who immediately before the appointed day was employed by a joint insurance committee constituted under section 94 of the National Health Insurance Act, 1936, shall on that day be transferred to and become an officer of such Executive Council as the Minister shall determine. [2766]

9. Any question arising under any of the five last preceding regulations shall be determined by the Minister. [2767]

PART III

Compensation of Officers who suffer Loss of Employment or Diminution of Emoluments which is attributable to the passing of the Act

10. Subject to the provisions of the next succeeding regulation, every person who was an existing officer and who suffers loss of employment or diminution of emoluments which is attributable to the passing of the Act shall be entitled to have his case considered for the receipt of compensation under these regulations, such compensation to be determined in accordance with the provisions of the schedule hereto:

Provided that a person shall not be entitled to compensation for loss of employment at or for the purposes of a medical or dental school or for the diminution of the emoluments of any such employment. [2768]

11. Nothing in the last preceding regulation shall entitle a person to have his case considered for compensation unless—

(a) the cause of the claim to compensation arises not later than ten years after the appointed day, and the claim is made not later than two years after the date on which the cause of claim arises; and

(b) (i) his office is abolished and he is not offered a reasonably comparable office in the Government service or the local government service or under any body constituted under the Act; or

(ii) his appointment is determined because his services are not required or because his duties are diminished (no misconduct being established); or

(iii) his emoluments are diminished:

Provided that for the purposes of this regulation a person shall not be deemed to have been offered an office which is not reasonably comparable with an office which is abolished by reason only of the fact that the duties of the office offered are duties in relation to the administration of a different service from that in connection with which his office was held or are duties which involve a transfer of his employment from one place to another within England or Wales. [2769]

12. If a person who has claimed compensation under these regulations is aggrieved by the refusal of the compensating authority to accept his claim or by their failure to come to a decision on his claim within three months after the date on which it was received by them, or by a decision that no compensation should be paid to him or by the amount of compensation awarded, he may, within three months after the refusal or failure or after the date on which he received notice of the decision, as the case may be, refer the matter to the tribunal, and the tribunal shall consider any matter so referred in accordance with the provisions of these regulations and determine accordingly whether any, and if so what, compensation ought to be awarded to the claimant, and the compensating authority shall give effect to the decision of the tribunal. [2770]

13.—(1) Any compensation to which an officer becomes entitled under these regulations shall be paid by the compensating authority and shall be payable to, or in trust for, the person who is entitled to receive it, and shall not be assignable.

(2) Any sum payable as compensation to a person by a local authority shall be recoverable as a debt due from the authority.

(3) Where the compensating authority is a constituent authority of a body which is dissolved as from the appointed day by virtue of section 78 of the Act, the other constituent authorities shall contribute towards the payment of any compensation payable by the first mentioned authority in such proportions as may be agreed between the constituent authorities or, in default of agreement, as may be determined by the Minister. [2771]

PART IV

Officers on War Service on the Appointed Day

14. Any person (hereinafter referred to as an "officer on war service") who is engaged in war service, immediately before the appointed day and who, if he had continued to be employed until the appointed day in the capacity in which he was employed before becoming engaged in war service, would have been an existing officer, shall be deemed to be an existing officer within the meaning of these regulations, and if at the date on which he ceased to be so employed he was subject to a pension scheme, and his war service or any part thereof would be reckonable for the purposes of that scheme if he again became subject thereto on the termination of his war service, he shall also be deemed to be a pensionable officer within the meaning of these regulations. [2772]

15.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the next succeeding regulation, if an officer on war service ceases to be engaged in war service and in consequence of the Act—

(a) is not given or offered re-employment in his former office or in any reasonably comparable office, or is not employed or offered employment in any office to which, but for his war service, he would have been transferred by these regulations, or in any reasonably comparable office; or

(b) is so re-employed or employed with reduced emoluments,

he shall be deemed for the purposes of these regulations, in the former case, to have suffered loss of employment which is attributable to the Act owing to the abolition of his office at the date of the refusal to re-employ him or employ him as aforesaid, and, in the latter case, to have suffered diminution of emoluments which is attributable to the Act.

(2) If an officer on war service to whom the preceding paragraph applies would, but for his war service, have been transferred by these regulations, the compensating authority in relation to him shall, if he would have been transferred to a local health authority, be that authority, and shall, in any other case, be the Minister. [2773]

16. No person shall, by virtue of the last preceding regulation, be entitled to have his case considered for compensation for any loss suffered by him by reason of his not being re-employed or employed as therein mentioned unless within a period of two months after the date on which he ceased to be engaged in war service he gives notice in writing to his former employer or to the authority to whom he would have been transferred by these regulations, as the case may be, that he is available for employment:

Provided that if the person is prevented from giving notice within the said period by his sickness or other reasonable cause, the notice may be given as soon as reasonably may be after the expiration of that period. [2774]

17. For the purpose of ascertaining the net emoluments of a person to whom regulation 15 applies such person shall be deemed to have continued to follow his former employment until the cause of claim arose and to have been entitled to the emoluments thereof. [2775]

18. In relation to a pensionable officer to whom sub-paragraph (a) of paragraph (1) of regulation 15 applies, the expression "accrued pension" means the pension to which he would have become entitled according to the method of calculation, as modified by paragraph 18 of the schedule to these regulations, prescribed by the pension scheme to which he was subject before becoming engaged in war service, if at the date on which he ceased to be engaged in war service he had been serving in his civil capacity and had attained normal retiring age, having complied with any requirement of the said pension scheme as to a minimum period of qualifying service. [2776]

SCHEDULE

DETERMINATION OF COMPENSATION

I. General

1. A person desiring to make a claim for compensation under these regulations shall make his claim in a form approved by the Minister for the purpose, and shall deliver his claim to the compensating authority. The claim shall be accompanied by a statutory declaration as to the truth of the statements contained therein.

2.—(1) Where the compensating authority are a local authority, a claimant, if so required by the local authority, by notice sent through the clerk of the authority, shall attend at a meeting of the authority, or of any committee appointed by the authority for the purpose, and answer all questions asked by any member of the authority or committee touching the matters set forth in his claim, and shall further produce all books, papers and documents in his possession or under his control relating to the claim.

(2) Where the compensating authority is the Minister a claimant, if so required by the Minister, shall attend before a person appointed by him for the purpose, and answer all questions asked by that person touching the matters set forth in his claim, and shall further produce all such books, papers and documents as aforesaid.

(3) A claimant required to attend at a meeting pursuant to sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph or before a person appointed by the Minister pursuant to sub-paragraph (2) thereof may further be required to make a statutory declaration as to the truth of any of the answers given by him to questions asked on the occasion of such attendance touching the matters set forth in his claim.

(4) Such a claimant as aforesaid may be accompanied by a representative who shall be entitled to address the authority, committee or person before whom the claimant is required to attend touching the matters set forth in his claim.

II. Compensation for Loss of Employment

3. On receipt of a claim for compensation in respect of loss of employment, the compensating authority shall consider forthwith whether the claimant satisfies the conditions of eligibility for the payment of compensation set out in regulations 10 and 11 and if they are satisfied that these conditions are not fulfilled, shall reject the claim and advise the claimant in writing accordingly within one month after the receipt of the claim.

A. Interim payments of Compensation

4. If the compensating authority accept the claim, then, unless they are satisfied that the claimant has substantially made good his loss by virtue of having obtained other employment, they shall forthwith commence to make interim payments of compensation to the claimant subject to and in accordance with the provisions of the next succeeding paragraph, and shall continue to make such payments until, in accordance with paragraph 6 of this schedule, they decide whether any further compensation is payable to him under these regulations.

5.—(1) Interim compensation shall be payable as from the date of claim, and shall be at a rate not exceeding two-thirds of the net emoluments of the employment which the claimant has lost, less two-thirds of any unemployment benefit to which the claimant may be entitled, and less any sum to which the claimant may be entitled by way of compensation under the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, 1944.

(2) In determining the amount of interim compensation, the compensating authority shall have regard to any payments to which the claimant becomes entitled in consequence of the loss of his employment under any contract or arrangement with the authority or body by whom he was employed (other than payments by way of a return of contributions under a pension scheme).

(3) The payments shall be made at intervals equivalent to those at which the said emoluments were previously payable, and the payments shall be reduced or terminated if the claimant obtains other employment or the compensating authority are satisfied that he is not actively seeking employment or has unreasonably refused suitable employment which has been offered to him.

(4) If the claimant obtains other employment, he shall immediately notify the compensating authority in writing accordingly.

(5) The compensating authority may require, as a condition of making or continuing to make interim payments, that the claimant should be registered for employment at an Employment Exchange, or the Appointments Department of the Ministry of Labour and National Service, at the option of the claimant.

B. Assessment of Compensation

6. Having determined the amount of the interim payments (if any) to be made under the preceding provisions of this schedule to a claimant whose claim has been accepted, the compensating authority shall, within a period of three months after the date of receipt of the claim, assess the just amount (if any) of the compensation payable under the succeeding provisions of this schedule, and shall forthwith notify the claimant in writing of their decision.

7.—(1) The compensating authority shall, within a period of two years after the date on which any decision is notified to a claimant under paragraph 6 of this schedule, or if the claimant has referred any such decision to the tribunal under regulation 12, within a period of two years after the date of the decision of the tribunal, review their decision or the decision of the tribunal, as the case may be, at intervals of not more than six months, and on any review the compensating authority may, in the light of any material change in the circumstances of the case, award compensation or increase or reduce the amount of any compensation awarded.

(2) If the claimant obtains other employment within the said period of two years, he shall immediately notify the compensating authority in writing accordingly.

(3) A claimant to whom a decision under paragraph 6 of this schedule has been notified may, within the like period as is mentioned in sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph, require the compensating authority to review their decision or the decision of the tribunal, as the case may be, if he considers that there has been a material change in the circumstances of his case.

(4) The compensating authority shall forthwith notify the claimant in writing of their decision on any review under the preceding provisions of this paragraph, and if the claimant is aggrieved by such decision he may refer the matter to the tribunal within three months after the date on which he receives notice of the decision, and the tribunal shall determine any matter so referred, and the compensating authority shall give effect to the determination of the tribunal.

Compensation payable, subject to earlier cesser in certain cases, until normal retiring age

8. For the purpose of determining whether any compensation, apart from any interim compensation paid under paragraphs 4 and 5 of this schedule, is payable to any person for loss of employment, and if so the amount of the compensation to be paid, subject to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this schedule, until normal retiring age, the compensating authority shall have regard to—

(a) the conditions upon which his appointment was made ;

(b) the nature of his office ;

(c) the extent to which he has sought suitable alternative employment ; and

(d) all the other circumstances of the case.

9.—(1) Compensation for loss of employment shall be an annual sum, calculated in accordance with the provisions of sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph, and shall be payable, subject to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this schedule, until normal retiring age, as from the date of loss, if the claim was made within three months thereafter, and in any other case, as from the date on which the claim was made or from such earlier date, not being more than three months before the date on which the claim was made, as the compensating authority may in their discretion allow.

(2) The said annual sum shall, subject as hereinafter provided, be the aggregate of the following sums, namely—

(a) for every completed year of the claimant's service, one-sixtieth of the net emoluments of the employment he has lost ; and

(b) in the case of a claimant over the age of forty-five years at the date of loss, a further one-sixtieth of the said net emoluments for every completed year of service since he attained the age of forty-five :

Provided that—

(i) where the claimant has undertaken or obtained other work or employment in place of the employment he has lost or has been offered other suitable employment, the said annual sum shall be calculated by reference only to the amount (if any) by which the annual rate of the emoluments of the employment he has lost exceeds the annual rate of the emoluments of the work or employment undertaken, obtained or offered to him as aforesaid ;

(ii) if the said annual sum is required to be calculated in accordance with proviso (i) to this sub-paragraph, it shall be reduced or increased by such amount (if any) as the compensating authority think fit, having regard to the relative security of tenure of the employment lost and the work or employment undertaken, obtained or offered as aforesaid, so however that the said annual sum shall not by virtue of any such increase as aforesaid be greater than if it were calculated without reference to proviso (i) and this proviso ;

(iii) the said annual sum shall also be reduced by such an amount (if any) as the compensating authority think fit having regard to the matters to which they are required to have regard by the last preceding paragraph and to any compensation payable to the claimant under the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, 1944, or under or in pursuance of any other enactment ; and

(iv) the said annual sum shall in no case exceed two-thirds of the net emoluments of the employment which the claimant has lost.

10. There shall be deducted from any payments made under paragraph 9 of this schedule in respect of any period in respect of which interim payments have been made under paragraphs 4 and 5 the amount of such payments, so far as they do not exceed the payments due under paragraph 9 in respect of that period.

Compensation payable to pensionable officer on his becoming incapacitated or reaching pensionable age

11.—(1) If the claimant was a pensionable officer, and before attaining normal retiring age—

(a) he become incapacitated in circumstances in which if he had continued in the employment he has lost he would have become entitled to a pension under the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment ; or

(b) he attains an age at which had he continued to serve in the employment he has lost he would have become entitled to retire with a pension on the ground of having attained that age and completed a prescribed period of service.

and compensation is not then payable to him under these regulations, or compensation by way of an annual sum equal to the amount of his accrued incapacity pension or his accrued pension, as the case may be, together with the annual value of his accrued retiring allowance (if any), would be greater than the annual amount of any compensation to which he may then be entitled under these regulations, he shall be entitled, if he so requests at any time thereafter by notice in writing to the compensating authority, as from the date on which the compensating authority receive such notice, in lieu of any compensation to which he would otherwise be entitled under these regulations—

(i) in the case mentioned in head (a) of this sub-paragraph, to an annual sum equal to the amount of his accrued incapacity pension, and a lump sum equal to the amount of his accrued retiring allowance (if any) ; and

(ii) in the case mentioned in head (b) of this sub-paragraph, to an annual sum equal to the amount of his accrued pension and a lump sum equal to the amount of his accrued retiring allowance (if any) :

Provided that if in calculating the amount of compensation payable to a person who has given such notice as aforesaid, the compensating authority, by virtue of paragraph 20 of this schedule, have credited him with additional years of service or contributions, no account shall be taken for the purpose of the foregoing provision of any number of such additional years beyond the number of years which he could have served, had he not lost his employment, before the date on which such notice as aforesaid was received by the compensating authority.

(2) On receipt of a notice under the last preceding sub-paragraph, the compensating authority shall consider forthwith whether the person giving the notice is a person to whom that sub-paragraph applies, and within three months after the date of the receipt of the notice—

(a) if they are satisfied that he is not such a person, they shall notify him in writing accordingly ; and

(b) if they accept the notice, they shall assess the amount of compensation payable to the person and notify him in writing accordingly,

and any such notification shall, for the purposes of these regulations, be deemed to be a notification by the authority of a decision on a claim to compensation.

(3) A compensating authority may require any such person as is mentioned in head (a) of sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph, who gives a notice under that sub-paragraph, to submit himself to a medical examination by a registered medical practitioner selected by that authority, and, if they do so, they shall also offer the person an opportunity of submitting a report from his own medical adviser as a result of an examination by him, and the authority shall take that report into consideration, together with the report of the medical practitioner selected by them.

Compensation payable to a pensionable officer on attainment of normal retiring age

12. Subject as hereinafter provided, the compensation payable to a claimant who was a pensionable officer (not being a person to whom paragraph 11 has been applied) on his attaining normal retiring age shall be—

(a) an annual sum equal to the amount of his accrued pension ; and

(b) a lump sum equal to the amount of his accrued retiring allowance (if any).

Supplementary provisions as to compensation payable to pensionable officer

13.—(1) Where a claimant, after suffering loss of employment, enters employment in which he participates in the benefits of the pension scheme associated with the employment he has lost, or becomes entitled to participate in any other pension scheme, in circumstances in which he is entitled to reckon for the purposes thereof service which falls to be taken into account for the purpose of assessing compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this schedule, no compensation under either of those paragraphs shall be payable unless the amount of the annual rate of the emoluments of the employment he has lost exceeds the amount of the annual rate of the emoluments to which he becomes entitled on entering such employment as aforesaid by more than 5 per cent. of the first-mentioned amount, and any compensation payable thereunder shall be calculated by reference only to the amount of the difference.

(2) If a claimant has unreasonably refused a suitable offer of such employment as is mentioned in the preceding sub-paragraph, he shall be deemed for the purposes of that sub-paragraph to have entered the employment so offered to him.

14. The provisions of paragraphs 11 and 12 of this schedule shall not apply to a person who had been participating in a scheme for providing superannuation benefits by means of contracts or policies of insurance, and who, on losing his employment, continued to participate in that scheme, or became entitled to a benefit or prospective benefit thereunder other than a return of contributions.

15.—(1) If the claimant was a person in respect of whose service a widow's pension might have become payable under the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, then, if he so desires and informs the compensating authority by notice in writing accordingly when making his claim, he may surrender so much of any annual sum which may become payable to him as compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this schedule as represents the annual value of the contingent right in respect of widow's pension, in consideration of the payment by the compensating authority to the person who as his widow might have become entitled to such widow's pension as aforesaid in the event of her surviving him—

(a) if he dies before attaining normal retiring age, and without having given a notice pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this schedule, of an annual sum equal to the amount of the pension to which she would have become entitled had he, immediately before he died, become entitled to a pension under the pension scheme on grounds of ill-health of an amount equal to the amount of his accrued incapacity pension, less the part thereof surrendered under the provisions of this paragraph and any part thereof surrendered under the provisions of paragraph 17 ; and

(b) if he dies on or after attaining normal retiring age, or after giving a notice pursuance to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this schedule, of an annual sum equal to the amount of the pension to which she would have become entitled in accordance with the method of calculation prescribed by the pension scheme had he, at the date on which he attained normal retiring age, or gave the said notice, become entitled to a pension under the pension scheme of an amount equal to the amount of his accrued pension or accrued incapacity pension, as the case may be, less the part thereof surrendered under the provisions of this paragraph and any part thereof surrendered under the provisions of paragraph 17.

(2) In the calculation of the amount of the annual sum payable to a widow under the preceding sub-paragraph, account shall be taken of any additional years of service or additional contributions credited to the claimant under paragraph 20 of this schedule :

Provided that no account shall be taken of any number of such additional years of service or contributions beyond the number of years which the claimant could have served before his death had he not lost his employment.

(3) Any sum payable to a widow under this paragraph shall cease to be payable or shall be suspended in any circumstances in which a widow's pension under the aforesaid pension scheme would have ceased to be payable or would have been suspended.

16. If under the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, the claimant would have been entitled to surrender a proportion of any pension which might have become payable to him in favour of his spouse or any dependent, then, if he so desires and informs the compensating authority in writing accordingly within one month after becoming entitled to compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this schedule, he may surrender a proportion of so much of the said compensation as is payable by way of an annual sum on the like terms and conditions and in consideration of the like payments by the compensating authority as if the said annual sum were a pension to which he had become entitled under the said pension scheme.

17.—(1) If the claimant was a person in respect of whose service a death benefit might have become payable to his legal personal representatives under the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, then, if he so desires, and informs the compensating authority in writing accordingly when making his claim, he may surrender so much of any annual sum which may become payable to him as compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this schedule as represents the annual value of the contingent right in respect of the said benefit, in consideration of the payment by the compensating authority to his legal personal representatives—

(a) if he dies before attaining normal retiring age, and without having given a notice pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this schedule, of a sum equal to the amount of any death benefit which would have become payable in accordance with the method of calculation, as modified by the next succeeding paragraph, prescribed by the pension scheme to which he was last subject before losing his employment, had he died immediately before the date on which he lost his employment and complied with any requirement of the said scheme as to a minimum period of qualifying service ; or

(b) if he dies on or after attaining normal retiring age or after giving a notice pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 11 of this schedule, of a sum equal to the amount of any such death benefit as aforesaid, less a sum equal to the aggregate amount of any payments made to him by way of compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this schedule.

(2) In the calculation of the amount of the sum payable under the preceding sub-paragraph, account shall be taken of any additional years of service or additional contributions credited to the claimant under paragraph 20 of this schedule :

Provided that no account shall be taken of any number of such additional years of service or contributions beyond the number of years which the claimant could have served before his death had he not lost his employment.

18. For the purposes of these regulations—

(a) the amount of any accrued pension or accrued incapacity pension, if the number of years of service by reference to which the pension is to be calculated is less than any minimum number of years of qualifying service prescribed by the pension scheme, shall, notwithstanding any minimum benefit prescribed by the pension scheme, not exceed such proportion of such minimum benefit as the number of years of pensionable service bears to the minimum number of years of qualifying service ; and

(b) if the amount of any death benefit falls to be ascertained, by virtue of any pension scheme, wholly or partly by reference to the emoluments or average emoluments of a pensionable officer, and the number of years of his pensionable service is less than any minimum number of years of qualifying service prescribed by the pension scheme for the receipt of a death benefit, the said amount shall not exceed such proportion of the emoluments or average emoluments of the officer as the number of years of pensionable service bears to the minimum number of years of qualifying service.

19. If under the pension scheme to which the claimant was last subject before suffering loss of employment the amount of any pension to which he might have become entitled might have been increased at the discretion of the authority administering the pension scheme or of any other body or if under the said pension scheme any additional or supplementary payments might have been made to the claimant on his becoming entitled to a pension, the compensating authority may increase the compensation payable under paragraph 11 or 12 of this schedule by an annual sum not exceeding the amount by which his accrued incapacity pension or accrued pension might have been increased or the annual value of the payments which might have been made to him by way of addition to or supplementation of his accrued pension.

20. If the claimant had attained the age of forty years at the date on which he lost his employment, the compensating authority in calculating the amount of the compensation payable to him under paragraph 11 or 12 of this schedule may credit him with additional years of service or additional contributions not exceeding one year of service or one year's contributions for each completed year between the date on which he attained the age of forty years and the date on which he lost his employment, but not in any case exceeding ten years or such number of years as the claimant could have served had he continued in his employment until attaining normal retiring age, whichever is the less.

21. In deciding whether to add any number of years under the last preceding paragraph, the compensating authority shall have regard to the considerations set out in paragraph 8 of this schedule, and also to the claimant's rights under any pension scheme associated with any employment which he may have obtained in place of the employment he has lost.

22.—(1) If the claimant was such an officer as is mentioned in paragraph 14 of this schedule, the compensating authority may make such payments to or in respect of him, whether by way of the payment of premiums or otherwise, as are actuarially equivalent to the compensation which could have become payable to him by virtue of paragraph 19 or 20 of this schedule if he had been a person to whom paragraph 11 or 12 applied.

(2) If the claimant is such an officer as aforesaid, and he becomes entitled to a benefit under such a scheme as is mentioned in paragraph 14 of this schedule before reaching normal retiring age, the compensating authority may reduce any compensation payable to him under paragraph 9 of this schedule accordingly.

23.—(1) Compensation shall not be payable or shall cease to be payable under paragraph 11 or 12 of this schedule to a person who has received any sum by way of a return of contributions under the pension scheme to which he was last subject on his ceasing to be subject thereto, unless forthwith on receiving such sum he pays to the compensating authority an amount equivalent thereto, such amount to be held by the compensating authority subject to the condition that if the pension scheme made no provision for death benefit and he dies before he has received in the aggregate by way of compensation under paragraph 11 or 12 of this schedule a sum equal to the amount so paid as aforesaid to the compensating authority, together with compound interest thereon, calculated at the rate of 2½ per cent. per annum, with half-yearly rests, up to the date of his death, as from the first day of April or the first day of October following the half year in which the amount was paid, there shall be paid to his legal personal representatives the difference between the aggregate amount received by way of compensation and the said sum:

Provided that—

(a) if a sum becomes payable to his widow on his death under paragraph 15 of this schedule and on her death or re-marriage the sum ceases to be payable, and the aggregate amount of the payments which were made to her on her husband under these regulations is less than a sum equal to the amount so paid to the compensating authority by her husband as aforesaid on account of contributions, after the addition thereto of interest thereon as aforesaid, there shall be paid to her or her legal personal representatives the difference between the aggregate amount of the payments made to her or her husband as aforesaid and the said sum ;

(b) this paragraph shall not apply to a person to whom paragraph 13 of this schedule applies, and in the event of a claimant becoming such a person after having made a payment under this paragraph, the amount of the sum so paid shall be returned to him by the compensating authority ; and

(c) this paragraph shall not apply to a person who has been an officer on war service to whom regulation 15 applies, and who received a return of contributions before ceasing to be engaged in war service.

(2) A person to whom paragraph 11 or 12 of this schedule may become applicable shall on or before the date on which compensation may become payable to him thereunder be entitled, if he so desires and informs the compensating authority in writing accordingly, to receive from the compensating authority in lieu of any such compensation—

(a) if the person has paid any sum to the compensating authority under sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph, an amount equivalent thereto, together with interest thereon, calculated in the manner provided by the pension scheme as from the date of payment of the said sum ; and

(b) if the person has not received a return of contributions under the pension scheme, and if, being entitled to such a return he has relinquished that right, an amount equivalent to the amount of such contributions together with interest thereon, calculated in manner provided by the pension scheme ;

and any liability of the compensating authority under paragraph 15 or 17 of this schedule shall cease in the event of his giving such notice as aforesaid.

Compensation payable to non-pensionable officer after attainment of normal retiring age

24.—(1) If the claimant was not a pensionable officer, the compensating authority may, on his attaining normal retiring age, if they are satisfied that he would in the normal course have continued in the employment he has lost for a substantial period beyond that age, continue to pay compensation to him for the remainder of his life at half its former rate.

(2) If the claimant was not a pensionable officer and suffers loss of employment on or after attaining normal retiring age, the compensating authority may, if they are satisfied that he would in the normal course have continued in the employment he has lost for a further substantial period, pay compensation to him for the remainder of his life at half the rate to which he would have been entitled under paragraph 9 of this schedule had he not attained normal retiring age at the date on which he lost his employment.

III. Compensation for diminution of emoluments

25. On receipt of a claim for compensation for diminution of the emoluments of any employment the compensating authority shall within a period of three months after the date of receipt of the claim decide whether any compensation is payable and, if so, the amount of that compensation, and shall forthwith notify the claimant in writing of their decision.

26. A decision under the last preceding paragraph shall be subject to review in like manner as a decision under paragraph 6 of this schedule :

Provided that :—

(a) no review shall take place after the date on which the claimant loses that employment, except a review as at that date ; and

(b) while the claimant continues to hold that employment, there shall be no limit to the period within which a review may take place.

27. In determining whether compensation is payable and, if so, the amount of that compensation, the compensating authority shall have regard to the conditions upon which the claimant's appointment was made, the nature of his office, and all the other circumstances of the case. No compensation shall be payable where the diminution is less than five per cent. of the net emoluments of the claimant.

28. Compensation for diminution of emoluments shall be an annual sum payable as from the date of loss, if the claim was made within three months thereafter, and in any other case as from the date on which the claim was made, or from such earlier date, not being more than three months before the date on which the claim was made, as the compensating authority may in their discretion allow.

29. Compensation to a person for diminution of the emoluments of any employment shall be payable for the same period or periods as compensation for loss of employment and shall not during any period exceed a sum bearing the same proportion to the maximum amount of compensation which could have been awarded in respect of that period had he lost his employment as the amount by which his net emoluments are diminished bears to their amount before diminution :

Provided that the compensation shall cease if the person voluntarily relinquishes his employment without the consent of his employer otherwise than on reaching pensionable age.

30. A person entitled to compensation for diminution of emoluments shall have the like rights in relation to such compensation as are conferred by paragraphs 15, 16 and 17 upon a person entitled to compensation for loss of employment.

IV. Miscellaneous

31. Any dispute as to who are the compensating authority for the purposes of these regulations shall, in default of agreement, be determined by the Minister :

Provided that if the Minister is a party to the dispute, the matter shall be determined by the Treasury.

32.—(1) A notification of a decision by a compensating authority to a claimant for compensation under these regulations shall contain a statement directing the attention of the claimant to his right, if he is aggrieved by the decision, to refer the matter to the tribunal, and giving him the address of the office to which the reference should be sent.

(2) The proceedings on any reference under these regulations to the tribunal shall not be deemed to be an arbitration to which anything in the Arbitration Acts, 1889 to 1934, applies.

(3) On any such reference the tribunal may, if it thinks fit, appoint a person having special knowledge or experience in relation to the subject matter of the reference to sit with the tribunal as an assessor.

33. For the purpose of determining the amount of any compensation payable in respect of the loss of a whole-time office or of any two or more offices which in the aggregate involved the whole-time employment of an officer, any previous period of part-time employment shall be treated as though it were whole-time employment for a proportionately reduced period.

34. For the purpose of making any calculation under these regulations in respect of the service of an officer all periods of his service shall be aggregated, and if the aggregated service includes a fraction of a year, that fraction shall, if it equals or exceeds six months, be treated as a year, and in any other case be disregarded.

35. If in determining the amount of any compensation payable to a person under these regulations account is taken of any employment prior to the first world war and that person was temporarily absent from that employment during that war whilst serving in His Majesty's Forces or the Forces of the Allied or Associated Powers, either compulsorily or with the sanction or permission of the authority in whose employment he was immediately before such temporary absence, such period of temporary absence shall be reckoned as a period of service :

Provided that, in the case of a person who after the 11th day of November, 1918, voluntarily extended his terms of service in such Forces, no period of absence during any such extension shall be reckoned.

36.—(1) Where a person to whom compensation is payable under these regulations for loss of employment has become or becomes entitled to a pension in respect of the employment he has lost otherwise than on losing such employment or where a person to whom compensation is payable under these regulations for loss of employment or diminution of emoluments has become or becomes entitled to a pension in respect of any employment the remuneration of which was payable out of public rights that may have existed under the pension scheme in respect of widow's pension, death benefit or incapacity pension (paragraphs 11, 12, 15, 16 and 17). For persons over 40, an addition may be made in recognition of their loss of future pensionable service (paragraph 20). If the claimant was not pensionable, compensation will cease at normal retiring age unless he had expected to continue for a substantial period thereafter, in which case he will receive compensation after that age, for life, at half the rate he was getting up to that age (paragraph 24). Overlap with pension or remuneration from public funds is avoided (paragraphs 13, 36 and 37). A claimant who is aggrieved by a decision of a compensating authority may appeal to referees appointed by the Minister of Labour and National Service, after consultation with the Lord Chancellor (regulation 12).

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (SUPERANNUATION) (ENGLAND AND SCOTLAND) REGULATIONS, 1948

June 30, 1948

The Minister of Health and the Secretary of State, in exercise of the powers conferred on them by subsection (2) of section 67 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and subsection (2) of section 66 of the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947, hereby make the following regulations in the terms of a draft duly approved by resolution of each House of Parliament :—

"Scottish teacher" means a person in service recorded in terms of the Superannuation Scheme framed and approved under the Education (Scotland) Superannuation Acts, 1919 to 1939, and any amendment thereof. [2778]

Application of Scottish regulations to employees of English employing authorities, English contributory employees or local Act contributors and English teachers who become employees of Scottish employing authorities

2. Where a person becomes an employee of a Scottish employing authority after ceasing to be an employee of an English employing authority, an English contributory employee or local Act contributor or an English teacher, the Scottish regulations shall have effect in relation to him subject to such modifications as may be necessary to secure that he shall enjoy rights substantially similar to those which he would have enjoyed by virtue of the English regulations had he become an employee of an English employing authority. [2779]

Application of English regulations to employees of Scottish employing authorities, Scottish contributory employees or local Act contributors and Scottish teachers who become employees of English employing authorities

3. Where a person becomes an employee of an English employing authority after ceasing to be an employee of a Scottish employing authority, a Scottish contributory employee or local Act contributor or a Scottish teacher, the English regulations shall have effect in relation to him subject to such modifications as may be necessary to secure that he shall enjoy rights substantially similar to those which he would have enjoyed by virtue of the Scottish regulations had he become an employee of a Scottish employing authority. [2780]

Application of Scottish regulations to employees of Scottish employing authorities who become English contributory employees or local Act contributors or English teachers

4. Where a person becomes an English contributory employee or local Act contributor or an English teacher after having ceased to be an employee of a Scottish employing authority, the Scottish regulations shall have effect in relation to him subject to such modifications as may be necessary to secure that he shall enjoy rights substantially similar to those which he would have enjoyed by virtue of the said regulations had he become a Scottish contributory employee or local Act contributor or a Scottish teacher, as the case may be. [2781]

Application of English regulations to employees of English employing authorities who become Scottish contributory employees or local Act contributors or Scottish teachers

5. Where a person becomes a Scottish contributory employee or local Act contributor or a Scottish teacher after having ceased to be an employee of an English employing authority, the English regulations shall have effect in relation to him subject to such modifications as may be necessary to secure that he shall enjoy rights substantially similar to those which he would have enjoyed by virtue of the said regulations had he become an English contributory employee or local Act contributor or an English teacher. [2782]

Transfer Values payable to and by the Secretary of State

6.—(1) Where a person becomes an employee of a Scottish employing authority after ceasing to be an English contributory employee or local Act contributor, the like transfer value (if any) shall be payable to the Secretary of State out of the fund in relation to which the person was a contributor by the authority maintaining that fund as would have been payable to the Minister of Health by virtue of the English regulations had the person become an employee of an English employing authority.

(2) Where a person becomes an employee of a Scottish employing authority after ceasing to be an English teacher, the like transfer value (if any) shall be payable by the Minister of Education to the Secretary of State as would have been payable to the Minister of Health by virtue of the English regulations had the person become an employee of an English employing authority after ceasing to be a contributory employee.

(3) Where a person becomes an English contributory employee or local Act contributor after ceasing to be an employee of a Scottish employing authority, the like transfer value (if any) shall be payable by the Secretary of State to the authority maintaining the fund in relation to which the person so becomes a contributory employee or local Act contributor as would have been payable by virtue of the Scottish regulations had the person become a Scottish contributory employee.

(4) Where a person becomes an English teacher after ceasing to be an employee of a Scottish employing authority the like transfer value (if any) shall be payable by the Secretary of State to the Minister of Education as would have been payable by the Secretary of State by virtue of the Scottish regulations had the person become a Scottish contributory employee. [2783]

Transfer Values payable to and by the Minister of Health

7.—(1) Where a person becomes an employee of an English employing authority after ceasing to be a Scottish contributory employee or local Act contributor, the like transfer value (if any) shall be payable to the Minister of Health out of the fund in relation to which the person was a contributor by the authority maintaining that fund as would have been payable to the Secretary of State by virtue of the Scottish regulations had the person become an employee of a Scottish employing authority.

(2) Where a person becomes an employee of an English employing authority after ceasing to be a Scottish teacher the like transfer value (if any) shall be payable by the Secretary of State to the Minister of Health as would have been payable to the Secretary of State by virtue of the Scottish regulations had the person become an employee of a Scottish employing authority after ceasing to be a Scottish contributory employee.

(3) Where a person becomes a Scottish contributory employee or local Act contributor after ceasing to be an employee of an English employing authority, the like transfer value (if any) shall be payable by the Minister of Health to the authority maintaining the fund in relation to which the person so becomes a contributory employee or local Act contributor as would have been payable by virtue of the English regulations had the person become an English contributory employee.

(4) Where a person becomes a Scottish teacher after ceasing to be an employee of an English employing authority the like transfer value (if any) shall be payable by the Minister of Health to the Secretary of State as would have been payable by the Minister of Health by virtue of the English regulations had the person become an English contributory employee. [2784]

Accounts and actuarial investigations

8.—(1) Any revenue received and expenditure incurred under these regulations by the Minister of Health or the Secretary of State (other than revenue received and expenditure incurred by the Secretary of State under paragraphs (2) and (4) of regulation 7 of these regulations) shall be treated for the purposes of paragraph (1) of regulation 37 of the English regulations or the Scottish regulations, as the case may be, as if it were received and incurred, in the former case, under the English regulations and in the latter case under the Scottish regulations.

(2) Paragraph (2) of regulation 37 of the English regulations shall have effect as if the reference therein to the transfer of a person to or from employment subject to those regulations from or to any such other employment as is therein mentioned included a reference to the transfer of a person to or from employment subject to those regulations from or to employment subject to the Scottish regulations, and as if the reference therein to the liability of which the Treasury, the Minister of Education or the Minister of Health is relieved included a reference to the liability of which the Secretary of State is relieved as a result of any such transfer.

(3) Paragraph (2) of regulation 37 of the Scottish regulations shall have effect as if the reference therein to the transfer of a person to or from employment subject to those regulations from or to any such other employment as is therein mentioned included a reference to the transfer of a person to or from employment subject to those regulations from or to employment subject to the English regulations, and as if the reference therein to the liability of which the Treasury or the Secretary of State is relieved included a reference to the liability of which the Minister of Health or the Minister of Education is relieved as a result of any such transfer. [2785]

Determination of questions

9. Any question arising under these regulations shall be determined by the Minister of Health and the Secretary of State jointly. [2786]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The Minister of Health has made regulations under subsection (1) of section 67 of the National Health Service Act, 1946 providing superannuation benefits for persons employed in the central health service and in local health authority service. The Secretary of State has made similar provision as respects Scotland under subsection (1) of section 66 of the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947. These regulations provide for interchangeability of service with preservation of superannuation rights between the English and Scottish health services, and between either of those services and the Local Government Service and the Teaching Service in Great Britain. Consequential provision is made for the payment of transfer values, etc., to and by the Minister of Health, the Secretary of State and the other authorities concerned.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (WELSH JOINT PRICING COMMITTEE) ORDER, 1948

June 30, 1948

Whereas it appears to the Minister of Health to be expedient in the interests of the efficiency of the services provided under Part IV of the National Health Service Act, 1946, that a Joint Committee should be established for the areas of all the Executive Councils in Wales for the purpose of exercising the functions of Executive Councils which are hereinafter mentioned :—

Now, therefore, the Minister of Health in exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 31 of the said Act hereby makes the following order :—

1. Short title and commencement.—This Order may be cited as the National Health Service (Welsh Joint Pricing Committee) Order, 1948, and shall come into operation on the third day of July, 1948. [2787]

2. Interpretation.—(1) In this Order, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them—

" The Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;
" The appointed day " means the 5th day of July, 1948 ;
" Council " means an Executive Council ;
" The Minister " means the Minister of Health ;
" Financial year " means a period of 12 months ending on the 31st day of March ;
" Wales " means " Wales and Monmouthshire " and " Welsh " has a corresponding meaning.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of this Order as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2788]

3. Constitution of Committee and functions.—A Joint Committee to be known as " the Welsh Joint Pricing Committee " (hereinafter referred to as " the Committee ") shall be constituted for the areas of all the Councils in Wales for the purpose of exercising the functions of the Councils in regard to the examination, checking and pricing of prescriptions for drugs, medicines and appliances supplied under the arrangements made by those Councils for the provision of pharmaceutical services. [2789]

4. Membership.—The Committee shall consist of 14 members of whom 10 shall be persons appointed in the manner provided in article 5 hereof, 3 shall be registered pharmacists appointed by the Minister after consultation with such organisation as the Minister may recognise as representative of persons providing pharmaceutical services and one shall be a medical practitioner appointed by the Minister after consultation with such organisation as the Minister may recognise as representative of the general body of medical practitioners. [2790]

5. The appointment of the 10 members referred to in article 4 shall be made in the following manner—

(a) Each Council or group of Councils named in the Schedule hereto shall appoint the number of members specified in the Schedule opposite the name of that Council or group of Councils.
(b) A person so appointed shall be a member or officer of the Council or of one of the Councils in the group by which the appointment is made.
(c) Such Association of Executive Councils as the Minister may recognise as representative of the Councils in Wales shall determine the method of appointment of the members appointed by the groups of Councils.

The name and address of every member appointed hereunder shall be notified to the Minister without delay by either the Clerk of the Council or the Secretary of the above-mentioned Association as is appropriate. [2791]

6. Chairman and Vice-Chairman.—(1) The Committee shall appoint a member of the Committee to be Chairman and may appoint another to be Vice-Chairman. The Chairman and Vice-Chairman shall continue in office until the termination of their membership of the Committee. For the purpose of this paragraph reappointment to membership of the Committee shall be deemed not to constitute a continuation of membership.

(2) The Clerk of the Committee shall inform the Minister of the name and address of the Chairman. [2792]

7. Term of Office of Members.—Subject as hereinafter provided original members of the Committee shall hold office until the 31st day of March, 1950, and thereafter the term of office shall be for one year commencing on the 1st day of April in any year and ending on the 31st day of March in the next following year: provided that at the expiration of his term of office a member shall be eligible for reappointment. [2793]

8. Resignation or Removal of Members.—(i) A member of the Committee who desires to resign his membership shall give notice in writing to the Clerk of the Committee.

(ii) If a member has not attended any meeting of the Committee for a period of six months the Clerk of the Committee shall inform the Committee and unless the Committee are satisfied that his absence was due to illness or other reasonable cause, they shall declare that his seat on the Committee has become vacant. [2794]

9. Vacation of Office.—If a member of the Committee who is appointed in accordance with the provisions of article 5 hereof ceases to be a member or officer of a Council, he shall also cease to be a member of the Committee. [2795]

10. Disqualification for Membership.—Subject to paragraphs (ii), (iii) and (v) of the proviso to subsection (1) of section 59 of the Local Government Act, 1933, the provisions of paragraphs (b) and (e) of that subsection (which disqualify a person for being elected or being a member of a local authority if he has been adjudged bankrupt or made a composition or arrangement with his creditors or has been sentenced to imprisonment for not less than 3 months without the option of a fine) shall apply as if the section related to membership of the Committee. [2796]

11. Casual Vacancies.—(1) If a casual vacancy occurs by reason of the death, vacation of office or disqualification of a member of the Committee the Clerk of the Committee shall forthwith inform the Minister and if the person whose seat is vacated was other than one appointed by the Minister he shall also inform either the Clerk of the Council or the Secretary of the above-mentioned Association of Executive Councils as is appropriate.

(2) A person who is eligible for appointment as a member of the Committee under article 5 shall be appointed by the Committee to fill any casual vacancy occurring among the members appointed under that regulation and in the case of any other casual vacancy a person shall be appointed by the Minister as if he were making an appointment under article 4.

(3) A person appointed to fill a casual vacancy shall hold office for the remainder of the term of office of his predecessor. [2797]

12. Procedure.—(1) The provisions of regulations 10 (Meetings), 11 (Minutes), 12 (Officers), 13 (Committees) and 14 (Power to make Standing Orders) of the National Health Service (Executive Councils) Regulations, 1947, shall apply for the purposes of this Order as if for any reference therein to a Council there were substituted a reference to the Committee and as if for any reference to a Committee of a Council there were substituted a reference to a sub-Committee.

(2) The proceedings of the Committee shall not be invalidated by any vacancy in the membership of the Committee or by any defect in the appointment or qualification of any member thereof. [2798]

13. Reports by Committee.—The Committee shall make reports to the Councils at such times and in such manner as they or the Minister may require and shall furnish to the Minister such information as he may from time to time require. [2799]

14. Expenses.—Any expenses incurred by the Committee shall be defrayed by the Councils in Wales in such proportions as the Minister may determine. [2800]

15. Accounts.—The provisions of regulations 4 (advances of funds by Minister), 5 (banking accounts), 6 (financial officers), 7 (receipt of moneys) and 8 (payment of moneys) of the National Health Service (Executive Councils and Dental Estimates Board) Financial Regulations, 1948, shall apply to the Committee in the same way as they apply to Executive Councils, with the following modifications :—

1. The word " Committee " shall be substituted for the word " Council."
2. References to the finance committee shall be construed as references to the Committee or, if a finance sub-Committee is appointed, to that sub-Committee.
3. References to the Opthalmic Services Committee shall be omitted. [2801]

16. Annual and Supplementary Estimates.—(1) It shall be the duty of the financial officer to prepare and submit to the Committee not later than the 30th day of September of each year an estimate (hereinafter referred to as " the annual estimate ") of the administration expenses of the Committee during the next financial year.

(2) If at any time it appears to be necessary to make additional payments for which provision has not been included in the annual estimate the financial officer shall as soon as may be prepare and submit to the Committee an estimate (hereinafter referred to as " a supplementary estimate ") of such additional payments.

(3) The Committee shall consider the annual and any supplementary estimate submitted to them by the financial officer and subject to such amendments therein, if any, as they may think fit to make, shall adopt such estimates as estimates of the Committee and shall transmit them to the Minister in a form to be approved by him, in the case of the annual estimate not later than the 15th day of October in each year and in the case of a supplementary estimate within 14 days of its adoption by the Committee.

(4) No expenses shall be incurred by or on behalf of the Committee unless provision for such expenses has been included in the annual or supplementary estimates of the Committee. [2802]

17.—(1) The Committee shall record their transactions in such books and accounts as may from time to time be approved by the Minister.

(2) The accounts of the Committee shall be posted from time to time and made up and balanced at the end of the financial year. As soon as may be after the close of the financial year and in any case not later than the 30th day of April the financial officer shall prepare a statement in a form to be approved by the Minister and shall certify the same to be correct. He shall submit the statement to the Committee for their approval and adoption, which shall be signified by the signature of the Chairman thereon, and to the auditor.

(3) The provisions of paragraphs (3) and (5) of regulation 9 of the National Health Service (Executive Councils and Dental Estimates Board) Financial Regulations, 1948, with the substitution of the word " Committee " for the word " Council " shall apply to the Committee. [2803]

18. Audit.—The Committee shall prepare and transmit to the Minister in respect of each financial year annual accounts in such form as the Minister may direct and such accounts shall be audited by an auditor appointed by the Minister. [2804]

19. Payment of Expenses of Members.—The Committee may make to their members or the members of any sub-Committee appointed by them payments in respect of loss of remunerative time, and in respect of travelling and subsistence expenses in accordance with the rates prescribed under and as though the Committee was a Council for the purposes of paragraph 3 (c) of the fifth Schedule to the Act. [2805]

20. Transfer of Officers.—Any officer who immediately before the appointed day was employed by the Welsh Joint Insurance (Pricing) Committee constituted under Section 94 of the National Health Insurance Act, 1936, solely for the purposes of functions similar to those transferred to the Committee by virtue of this Order and who by virtue of the regulations made under Section 68 (2) of the Act is transferred to a Council, shall immediately after such transfer be transferred from that Council to, and become an officer of, the Committee. [2806]

21. Transfer of Property and Liabilities.—All property (other than land) and liabilities which were held by the Welsh Joint Insurance (Pricing) Committee constituted under Section 94 of the National Health Insurance Act, 1936, or to which the Joint Committee so constituted were subject, immediately before the appointed day solely for the purposes of functions similar to those transferred to the Committee by virtue of this Order, and which are transferred to and vested in a Council by virtue of regulation 3 of the National Health Service (Transfer of Property and Liabilities of Insurance Committees, etc.) Regulations, 1948, shall immediately after such vesting be transferred to and vest in the Committee. [2807]

22. The Committee shall deal with any moneys or fund transferred by the last preceding article in such manner as the Minister may, with the approval of the Treasury, determine. [2808]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

The Order provides for the constitution of a Joint Committee to carry out the duties of the Executive Councils in Wales with respect to the checking and pricing of the prescriptions for drugs, medicines and appliances supplied as pharmaceutical services under Section 38 of the National Health Service Act, 1946. The Order further provides for the procedure of the Committee and for the transfer to it of the officers of the Welsh Joint Insurance (Pricing) Committee constituted under the National Health Insurance Act, who were engaged for the purposes of similar functions and the property and liabilities of the Committee held or incurred for such functions.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (CONTROL AND MANAGEMENT OF HOSPITAL ENDOWMENT FUND) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1489

June 30, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 7 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Control and Management of Hospital Endowment Fund) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, 1948. [2810]

2.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, " the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946, " the Minister " means the Minister of Health, " the Fund " means the Hospital Endowments Fund established under the Act, " the Commissioners " means the National Debt Commissioners, " Company " includes the Bank of England and any company or person keeping books in which any stock is registered or inscribed, and " Stock " includes any share, annuity or other security.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2811]

3. Subject as in these regulations provided the Minister shall control and manage the Fund and for that purpose may sell or otherwise dispose of the assets of the Fund, and all expenses incurred by the Minister or his agents in that behalf shall be discharged out of such assets. [2812]

4. The Minister may appropriate any land forming part of the Fund for the purposes of his functions under Part II of the Act and shall thereupon credit the Fund with a sum certified by an officer of the Valuation Office of the Inland Revenue Department appointed by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue for the purpose to be the amount of the compensation which in his opinion would have been payable had the land been acquired compulsorily under section 58 of the Act. [2813]

5.—(1) The Comptroller General and Assistant Comptroller for the time being of the National Debt Office shall severally have authority, in the name of the Minister and on his behalf, to do and execute the following acts and deeds—

(a) To sell any stocks however constituted and wheresoever domiciled which are vested in the Minister by virtue of section 7 of the Act or Part III of the National Health Service (Apportionment and Transfer) Regulations, 1948, and any stock vested in the Minister by virtue of subsection (2) of section 6 of the Act and which the Minister is required by subsection (11) of section 7 of the Act to transfer to the Fund.

(b) For that purpose to employ and pay brokers and other agents.

(c) To give good receipts and discharges for all purchase money payable in respect of such sales.

(d) To execute all deeds and other instruments necessary or proper for transferring such stock to the purchaser thereof.

(2) The Comptroller and Assistant Comptroller shall pay to the Minister the proceeds of any sale of stock effected as aforesaid. [2814]

6. Any expenses incurred by the said Comptroller General or Assistant Comptroller in exercising the powers conferred on him by regulation 4 and any expenses incurred by the Commissioners for the purpose of subsection (2) of section 56 of the Act shall be refunded to him or them by the Minister out of the assets standing to the credit of the Fund. [2815]

7. The Commissioners shall pay to the Minister at such times as he may require the dividends and interest on stock or other investments held by them on account of the Fund in pursuance of the provisions of subsection (2) of section 56 of the Act and the moneys so paid shall be carried by the Minister to the credit of the Fund. [2816]

8. The Commissioners, where required to do so by the Minister, shall pay over to him out of sums in their hands awaiting investment or out of other funds held by them on account of the Minister for the purposes of the Fund such amounts as may be needed to meet the requirements of the Minister, and they may realise such securities held by them on account of the Minister as they think fit to such amount as may be needed for this purpose. The Commissioners may also realise securities held by them on account of the Minister at any time for the purpose of investing in other securities. [2817]

9. Nothing in these regulations shall authorise the payment out of the assets of the Fund of the remuneration of a person holding an established or unestablished post in the Civil Service. [2818]

* * * * *

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These regulations provide for the control and management of the Hospital Endowment Fund by the Minister of Health and enable the Minister to appropriate for hospital purposes any land belonging to the Fund on payment to the Fund of an appropriate sum by way of compensation. The regulations also enable the Comptroller and Assistant Comptroller of the National Debt Office to act on the Minister's behalf in realising securities belonging to the Fund.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (PAY-BED ACCOMMODATION IN HOSPITALS, ETC.) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1490

June 30, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under sections 4 and 5 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations.

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Pay-Bed Accommodation in Hospitals, etc.) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the 5th day of July, 1948 :— [2819]

2.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" The Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" The average daily cost per in-patient " means the average daily cost per in-patient of the maintenance of the hospital and the staff thereof and the maintenance and treatment of the in-patients therein ;

" Specialist " means a medical practitioner appointed to a hospital for the purpose of practising a special branch of medicine with full responsibility for the treatment of patients or the carrying out of clinical, pathological or ancillary methods of investigation ;

" The Minister " means the Minister of Health.

(2) Where any charge authorised to be made by the Minister under these regulations for accommodation or services includes a fraction of a shilling that fraction shall be disregarded if it represents less than sixpence, but otherwise it shall be reckoned as one shilling.

(3) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2820]

Charges for accommodation in single rooms or small wards

3. The charge to be made by the Minister under section 4 of the Act for accommodation in a single room or small ward in a hospital shall be :—

(a) for accommodation in a single room, six shillings a day or any part of a day,

(b) for accommodation in a small ward with two or more beds, three shillings a day or any part of a day :

Provided that, if in the latest financial year for which information is available the average daily cost per in-patient in the hospital as calculated by the Hospital Management Committee or Board of Governors was less than twenty-four shillings the said charges shall be reduced proportionately. [2821]

Charges for private accommodation

4. The charge to be paid under section 5 (1) of the Act in respect of the accommodation and services provided for an in-patient in special accommodation set aside under that section for patients who undertake, or in respect of whom an undertaking is given, to pay such charges as are therein mentioned shall be for each day or any part of a day the standard daily charge as determined in accordance with the provisions of the next following regulation, but subject to any deduction which may be required to be made under regulation 6. [2822]

5. The standard daily charge for the purpose of regulation 4 shall be determined in manner following :—

(1) If the Board of Governors or Hospital Management Committee are in possession of data which enable them to estimate for the current financial year the total cost of the maintenance of the accommodation set aside in a hospital under section 5 (1) of the Act and the maintenance and treatment of the patients treated therein, the standard daily charge to be made in respect of each in-patient shall be determined by reference to the nature of the accommodation occupied by that patient, so however that the total of the standard daily charges fixed in respect of the various types of such accommodation will so far as can be calculated cover in the financial year the total cost above mentioned.

(2) If the Board of Governors or Hospital Management Committee are not in possession of such data, the average daily cost per in-patient during the said financial year at the hospital is estimated by the Board or Committee increased by twenty-five per centum in case of a single room, fifteen per centum in case of a double bedded room or five per centum in case of a room containing more than two beds, shall be the standard daily charge. [2823]

6. If an in-patient occupying special accommodation set aside under section 5 of the Act makes arrangements under subsection (2) of that section for treatment by a medical practitioner as a private patient there shall be deducted from the standard daily charge—

(1) Where the practitioner is a specialist, an amount representing the average daily cost per in-patient as estimated by the Board of Governors or Hospital Management Committee of the remuneration of the specialists on the staff of the hospital during the financial year, and

(2) Where the practitioner is a general medical practitioner an amount representing the average daily cost per in-patient as estimated by the Board of Governors or Hospital Management Committee of the remuneration of the whole of the medical staff of the hospital during the financial year. [2824]

7. The charges to be paid under section 5 (1) of the Act in respect of accommodation and pathological, radiodiagnostic, radiotherapeutic or physiotherapeutic services provided for a patient who makes arrangements under subsection (2) of that section with a specialist for treatment as an out-patient, shall in the case of those services described in the First Schedule to these regulations be the charges specified therein :

Provided that, if the Board of Governors or Hospital Management Committee are satisfied on data in their possession that the cost of the accommodation and any radiodiagnostic or radiotherapeutic services is greater or less than the charge so specified, they may make such adjustment of the charge as may be required to secure that it is designed to cover the cost thereof. [2825]

Medical fees payable by private patients

8. The charges to be made and recovered by a medical practitioner in respect of the treatment of his private patients in pursuance of arrangements made under section 5 (2) of the Act shall not in the case of any treatment described in the Second Schedule to these regulations exceed the charges specified therein or in the case of treatment not so described the charge so specified in respect of the treatment which approximates most nearly to the one in question. Any question arising as to the proper classification of any treatment shall be determined by the Minister :

Provided that if the total of the maximum charges which might under the foregoing provisions of this regulation be made by all the medical practitioners concerned in respect of one series of treatments of a patient for relief of the same condition exceeds 75 guineas the amount of the maximum charge which may be made for any treatment in that case by any medical practitioner under this regulation shall in the case of each medical practitioner concerned be an amount bearing the same proportion to the appropriate charge specified in the said Schedule as 75 guineas bears to the total of the maximum charges referred to above :

Provided also that if the Board of Governors or Hospital Management Committee are satisfied that the patient or some person acting in his behalf has agreed with the practitioner to pay charges in excess of those so specified they may, subject to the provisions of the next following regulation, give notice to the practitioner and the patient or the person acting in his behalf, that the limitation on charges imposed by this regulation shall not apply to that case. [2826]

9. The Board of Governors or Hospital Management Committee shall secure as far as may be reasonably practicable that not more than fifteen per centum of the accommodation made available in a hospital for the purposes of section 5 (2) of the Act is occupied at any one time by patients in respect of whom the limitation on charges has been removed under the last preceding regulation :

Provided that if such accommodation comprises less than twenty beds three beds may be so occupied. [2827]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These regulations prescribe the charges to be made for accommodation in hospitals consisting of single rooms or small wards and the charges to be made for special accommodation in hospitals provided for patients who undertake to pay charges designed to cover the whole cost of the accommodation and services provided by the hospital.

The regulations also limit the fees which may be charged by medical practitioners to their private patients in such special accommodation.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (CHARGES FOR APPLIANCES) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1505

July 1, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 3 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Charges for Appliances) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the 5th day of July, 1948. [2831]

2. The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2832]

3.—(1) Where the Minister of Health, in providing hospital and specialist services—

(a) supplies a person, at his request, with a denture or with an optical appliance (hereinafter referred to as " glasses ") which is of a more expensive type than the standard type, or

(b) repairs such a denture or glasses at a cost in excess of the cost of repairing a denture or glasses of a standard type, the Minister may charge and recover from the person so supplied or for whom such repair is undertaken a sum representing the difference between the cost of supplying or repairing such article and the cost of supplying or repairing an article of a standard type.

For the purpose of this paragraph the standard type is, in case of a denture, the type made of plastic or vulcanite which is ordinarily supplied as part of the hospital and specialist services, and, in case of glasses, the type prescribed as the standard for the purpose in the National Health Service (Supplementary Ophthalmic Services) Regulations, 1948.

(2) Where an artificial limb supplied by the Minister of Pensions under arrangements made by the Minister of Health for the provision of hospital and specialist services is, at the request of the person supplied, of a more expensive type than the corresponding type supplied under contract to the Minister of Pensions for issue to war-disabled persons, or an artificial limb of the more expensive type which has been so supplied is repaired under those arrangements, the Minister of Health may charge and recover from the person so supplied or for whom such repair is undertaken a sum representing the difference between the cost of supplying or repairing such appliance and the cost of supplying or repairing an appliance of the corresponding type.

(3) Any denture, glasses or artificial limb to which this regulation applies which, in the opinion of the Surgeon or other person responsible for the case, are required by the person supplied owing solely to his clinical condition, or any repair of a denture, glasses or artificial limb so required shall be supplied or repaired free of charge. [2833]

4.—(1) Where any appliance (other than an artificial limb or invalid chair or tricycle) supplied as part of the hospital and specialist services by a hospital vested in the Minister of Health requires to be replaced or repaired the Hospital Management Committee or Board of Governors of the Hospital concerned may, if they think fit, refer to a sub-committee or committee, as the case may be, appointed by them the question whether the replacement or repair is necessitated by lack of care on the part of the person so supplied. The said sub-committee or committee may be appointed ad hoc or may be a standing sub-committee or committee appointed for the consideration of such questions.

(2) On the receipt of such a reference the sub-committee or committee shall make such inquiry into the matter as they think fit, and if in their opinion the circumstances so require or if the person concerned so demands the inquiry shall take the form of an oral hearing.

(3) After the completion of such inquiry the sub-committee or committee shall report thereon to the Hospital Management Committee or Board of Governors who shall then determine whether the replacement or repair is necessitated by lack of care on the part of the person supplied.

(4) The Minister of Health may recover from the person concerned the whole or any part of the cost of the replacement or repair of an appliance determined in manner aforesaid to have been necessitated by lack of care on the part of such person. [2834]

5.—(1) Where any appliance (other than an artificial limb, an invalid chair or a tricycle) supplied by a hospital (other than a hospital vested in the Minister of Health) under arrangements made by the Minister of Health for the provision of hospital and specialist services requires to be replaced or repaired the Regional Hospital Board for the area in which that hospital is situated may if they think fit, on the report of the hospital authority, refer to a committee of the Board the question whether the replacement or repair is necessitated by lack of care on the part of the person so supplied. The said committee may be appointed ad hoc or may be a standing committee appointed for the consideration of such questions.

(2) The provisions of paragraphs (2) (3) and (4) of regulation 4 shall apply to the proceedings of the committee and to the action which may be taken on their report, as if those paragraphs had been included in this regulation with the substitution of a reference to the Regional Hospital Board for the reference therein to a Hospital Management Committee or Board of Governors. [2835]

6.—(1) Where an appliance, consisting of an artificial limb, or an invalid chair or tricycle, supplied by the Minister of Pensions under arrangements made by the Minister of Health for the provision of hospital and specialist services requires to be replaced or repaired, and the Minister of Pensions has reason to suspect that such replacement or repair is necessitated by lack of care on the part of the person supplied, he may appoint a person or persons to investigate the matter.

(2) The person or persons so appointed shall make such inquiry into the matter as they think fit, and if in their opinion the circumstances so require or if the person concerned so demands the inquiry shall take the form of an oral hearing.

(3) The persons holding such inquiry shall report thereon to the Minister of Pensions who shall thereupon determine whether the replacement or repair is necessitated by lack of care on the part of the person supplied and if he determines that there has been such lack of care he shall so inform the Minister of Health.

(4) The Minister of Health may recover from the person concerned the whole or any part of the cost of the replacement or repair of an appliance determined in manner aforesaid to have been necessitated by lack of care on the part of such person. [2836]

7. For the purposes of regulations 4 and 5 any replacement or repair of glasses supplied as part of the hospital and specialist services which is required by a person within a period of two years after the date on which they were supplied to him shall be presumed to be necessitated by lack of care on his part unless he satisfies the authority concerned that the replacement or repair is not so necessitated. [2837]

8.—(1) Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing regulations, where the person applying to a hospital for the replacement or repair of an appliance supplied as part of the hospital and specialist services is a pupil in attendance at an educational establishment to which this regulation applies, and in making the application produces a request in the form contained in the Schedule to these regulations, or a form to the like effect, signed by a medical practitioner acting on behalf of the Local Education Authority or by some other duly authorised officer of the authority, the Minister of Health shall be entitled, if it is decided in manner hereinbefore provided that the service is necessitated by lack of care on the part of the pupil, to recover the cost of the service from the Local Education Authority and not from the pupil.

(2) This regulation applies to educational establishments maintained by a Local Education Authority and educational establishments with the proprietors of which a Local Education Authority have made arrangements for securing the medical inspection of, and the provision of medical treatment for, pupils attending those establishments in accordance with section 78 of the Education Act, 1944. EXPLANATORY NOTE

These regulations provide for the recovery by the Minister of Health of charges for the supply of glasses, dentures and artificial limbs of a more costly kind than those ordinarily supplied under the hospital and specialist services, and in respect of the repair of such articles. The regulations also provide for the recovery of the cost of replacing or repairing appliances which have been lost or damaged through carelessness.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (MEDICAL PRACTICES COMPENSATION) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1506

July 1, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under sections 36 and 74 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

PART I

General

1. Short title and commencement.—These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Medical Practices Compensation) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the 5th day of July, 1948. [2840]

2. Interpretation.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Act " means the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" the appointed day " means the fifth day of July, 1948 ;

" accounting year " in relation to a medical practice means the period of twelve months for which the accounts of the practitioner engaged in that practice are made up ;

" medical list " means the list prepared by an Executive Council of medical practitioners undertaking to provide general medical services ;

" practitioner " means a registered medical practitioner ;

" aggregate amount of compensation " means the aggregate amount of compensation payable to practitioners in England and Wales under section 36 of the Act ;

" qualified accountant " means a person who is a member of one or more of the following bodies :—

The Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales ;
The Society of Incorporated Accountants and Auditors ;
The Society of Accountants in Edinburgh ;
The Institute of Accountants and Actuaries in Glasgow ;
The Society of Accountants in Aberdeen ;
The Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland ;
The Association of Certified and Corporate Accountants Limited.

(2) For the purposes of these regulations references to the goodwill of a medical practice shall, unless the context otherwise requires, in relation to a practitioner practising in partnership be construed as referring to his share of the goodwill of the partnership practice.

(3) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2841]

PART II

Submission of claims, determination of loss, and payment of compensation

3. Claims for compensation.—(1) A practitioner whose name is entered on the appointed day on a medical list and who claims to be entitled to compensation under section 36 of the Act in respect of any loss suffered by him by reason that he is, or will be, unable to sell the goodwill, or any part of the goodwill of his medical practice by virtue of section 35 of the Act shall make application to the Minister in the form set out in the schedule to these regulations or in a form to the like effect. If any such practitioner dies without having submitted a claim for compensation the application shall be made by the personal representative of that practitioner.

(2) Where a practitioner or the personal representative of a practitioner has obtained a certificate from the Medical Practices Committee certifying that the conditions of section 37 of the Act have been satisfied in relation to that practitioner and to his practice, the practitioner or the personal representative, as the case may be, shall be entitled to apply for compensation as if the practitioner were entitled to do so under paragraph (1) of this regulation.

(3) The form of application shall be duly completed by the applicant and delivered or sent by post to the Minister on or before the thirty-first day of October, 1948: Provided that, where the Minister is satisfied that by reason of unavoidable delay in the appointment of the personal representative of a deceased practitioner or in obtaining a certificate from the Medical Practices Committee under section 37 of the Act or for any other reason it is not or has not been practicable to submit an application by the thirty-first day of October, 1948, the Minister may allow such further period not exceeding six months for the submission of the claim as appears to him to be reasonable. [2842]

4. Medical practitioners in partnership.—The provisions of the succeeding regulations shall be subject, so far as they affect medical practitioners practising in partnership, to any provisions made hereafter either by further regulations under section 36 of the Act or by or under any Act amending the Act, [2843]

5. Determination of loss.—Subject to the provisions of these regulations, every medical practitioner engaged immediately before the appointed day as a principal in general medical practice whose name is entered on the appointed day on a medical list, and every practitioner in respect of whom and of whose practice a claim for compensation can be made in accordance with paragraph (2) of regulation 3, shall be deemed to have suffered loss, and he or his estate, as the case may be, shall be entitled to compensation: Provided that a practitioner who on the appointed day would have the right to sell, but for the provisions of the Act, the goodwill or any part of the goodwill of a medical practice in respect of which a claim has been made under section 37 of the Act shall not, if compensation is payable in respect of that claim, be deemed to have suffered loss in respect of that goodwill or any part of it. [2844]

6. Extent of loss.—The extent of the loss of a medical practitioner or the personal representative of a medical practitioner who is entitled to compensation under the last preceding regulation shall be determined in accordance with the following provisions of these regulations. [2845]

7. Annual loss.—(1) There shall be ascertained the annual value of the goodwill of the practice of each practitioner who has claimed compensation or in respect of whom and of whose practice a claim for compensation has been made. Such annual value is hereinafter referred to as " the annual loss ".

(2) For the purpose of these regulations " the annual loss " means :—

(a) in respect of the practice (not being a partnership practice) in which the practitioner was engaged on the appointed day, the average gross yearly receipts of that practice, as certified by a qualified accountant, calculated by reference to the last two accounting years immediately preceding the appointed day ;

(b) in respect of a partnership practice in which the practitioner was engaged on the appointed day, such proportion of the average gross yearly receipts of that practice, as certified by a qualified accountant, calculated by reference to the last two accounting years immediately preceding the appointed day, as the share of the goodwill of the partnership practice held by him on that day bears to the whole goodwill of the partnership practice ;

(c) in respect of a practice to which section 37 of the Act applies, the average gross yearly receipts of that practice, as certified by a qualified accountant, calculated by reference to the last two accounting years immediately preceding the date of the retirement from practice or death of the practitioner :

Provided that :—(i) in the case of the goodwill of a practice acquired by purchase after the beginning of the first of the two accounting years by reference to which the average gross yearly receipts of the practice are, under the preceding provisions of this regulation, to be calculated, the annual loss means the average gross yearly receipts of the practice as estimated for the purpose of the purchase ;

(ii) in the case of any claim referred to the Committee appointed under the next succeeding regulation the Committee shall fix as the annual loss in respect of the practice such sum as they estimate fairly to represent the average gross yearly receipts of the practice.

(3) A practitioner or the personal representative of a practitioner submitting a claim for compensation under these regulations may, if he so elects, instead of having the gross receipts of the practice certified by a qualified accountant, submit with his claim a certificate, in such form as may be agreed between the Minister and the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, signed by the Inspector of Taxes to whom income tax returns in respect of that practice have been submitted.

(4) In calculating the average gross yearly receipts of a practice for the purposes of paragraph (2) of this regulation no account shall be taken of fees or remuneration received for or in respect of the holding of any appointment or of any other fees or remuneration which would not normally be taken into account in assessing the value of the goodwill of a general medical practice for the purposes of the sale thereof. [2846]

8. Practices Compensation Committee.—(1) There shall be constituted a committee to be called the Practices Compensation Committee (hereinafter referred to as " the Committee ").

(2) The Committee shall consist of a chairman and four other members. Three of the five members shall be medical practitioners.

(3) The chairman and members shall be appointed by the Minister after consultation with such organisation as the Minister may recognise as representing the medical profession.

(4) The Minister shall appoint a Secretary to the Committee and such organisation as the Minister may recognise as representing the medical profession may also appoint a Secretary to the Committee who shall act jointly with the Secretary appointed by the Minister. The Minister may also provide the services of such other officers as the Committee may require. [2847]

9. Claims submitted to Committee.—(1) The Minister shall refer to the Committee all claims for compensation submitted in accordance with regulation 8 which in his opinion should be considered by the Committee.

(2) It shall be the duty of the Committee to consider the claims referred to them and to report their findings to the Minister. [2848]

10. Decisions on Claims.—The Minister, after considering each claim for compensation and, if the claim has been referred to the Committee, the findings of the Committee, shall notify the claimant or his personal representative of the annual loss as determined by the Minister for the purpose of calculating compensation under these regulations. [2849]

11. Arbitration.—(1) Any claimant or his personal representative who is aggrieved by the decision of the Minister under the last preceding regulation may within fourteen days of the date of the notice given under that regulation apply to have the annual loss determined by arbitration.

(2) Any such application shall be sent to the Minister who shall thereupon refer the matter to the arbitration of a single arbitrator sitting with two assessors. The arbitrator and assessors shall be appointed by the Minister after consultation with such organisation as the Minister may recognise as representing the medical profession. [2850]

12. Distribution of aggregate amount of compensation.—(1) For the purpose of calculating the distribution of the aggregate amount of compensation among persons who under these regulations are deemed to have suffered loss by reason of the matters referred to in regulation 3 there shall be calculated the aggregate of all annual losses determined in accordance with these regulations. The aggregate of such losses is hereinafter referred to as the aggregate annual loss.

(2) Subject as is otherwise provided in these regulations, there shall be payable out of the aggregate amount of compensation by way of compensation—

(a) to a practitioner practising otherwise than in partnership, or the estate of such a practitioner, who is entitled to compensation, such proportion of the aggregate amount of compensation as the annual loss determined to have been suffered by him or his estate on the appointed day bears to the aggregate annual loss ;

(b) to a practitioner practising in partnership, or the estate of such a practitioner, who is entitled to compensation, such sum as may be determined by or under regulations made hereafter under section 36 of the Act or by or under any Act amending the Act.

(3) A practitioner or the personal representative of a practitioner to whom compensation has become payable under the last preceding paragraph shall be notified by the Minister of the amount of compensation so payable. [2851]

13. Payment of compensation.—(1) Subject as hereinafter provided, the compensation payable to a practitioner or the estate of a practitioner under the last preceding regulation shall be paid to the practitioner or his personal representative—

(a) in the case of a practitioner to whom and to whose practice section 37 of the Act applies as soon as may be after the amount of compensation so payable has been ascertained ;

(b) in any other case, on the retirement from practice or death of the practitioner concerned, whichever shall first occur: Provided that if the amount of compensation payable has not then been ascertained payment shall be made as soon as may be after the amount due has been ascertained.

(2) (a) A practitioner or the personal representative of a practitioner to whom and to whose practice Section 37 of the Act applies may, on the ground of hardship suffered or likely to be suffered by that practitioner or the persons entitled to his estate, at any time after the appointed day submit to the Minister a request for an advance payment on account of compensation in respect of which a claim has been made by that practitioner or his personal representative.

(b) Where a practitioner whose name is entered on the appointed day on a medical list retires or dies without having received payment of compensation to which he is entitled, the practitioner or his personal representative may, notwithstanding that the compensation payable in respect of the goodwill of the practice of the practitioner has not been ascertained, submit to the Minister on the ground of hardship suffered or likely to be suffered by him or the persons entitled to his estate a request for an advance payment on account of compensation in respect of which a claim has been made by the practitioner or his personal representative.

(c) In any case not falling within sub-paragraphs (a) or (b) of this paragraph a practitioner who claims to suffer hardship by reason of the non-payment before the date of his retirement from practice or death of compensation to which he is entitled under these regulations may at any time submit to the Minister a request for immediate payment of the whole or any specified part of the compensation to which he is entitled or, if the amount of compensation payable to him has not been ascertained, for an advance payment on account thereof.

(d) Any such request shall specify the grounds on which it is made and shall be supported by such written evidence as the practitioner or the personal representative of the practitioner considers necessary to justify the request.

(e) The Minister shall forthwith on receiving any such request consider the request and if he is satisfied, after making such investigations as appear to him necessary, that the request or some part thereof should be met, shall pay on such terms as he thinks fit to the practitioner or the personal representative of the practitioner such sum as the Minister considers to be fair and reasonable having regard to the evidence before him.

(3) For the purpose of paragraphs (1) (b) and (2) (b) and (c) of this regulation retirement from practice means retirement from practice as a medical practitioner providing general medical services under Part IV of the Act or under Part IV of the National Health Service (Scotland) Act, 1947. [2852]

14. Interest on amount of compensation.—(1) Subject as hereinafter provided there shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament interest at the rate of two and three quarters per cent. per annum less tax at the standard rate on the compensation payable to a practitioner or his personal representative under these regulations, in respect of any period from the appointed day until the time when the compensation is paid.

(2) Where an advance payment of compensation is made in pursuance of paragraph (2) of regulation 13, interest on the sum so paid shall no longer be payable.

(3) The first payment of interest due under these regulations shall be paid on the fifth day of July 1949 and thereafter interest shall be paid by half yearly instalments on the fifth day of January and the fifth day of July in each year. [2853]

Note :—In the following questions (a) the practitioner means the medical practitioner claiming compensation, or the deceased medical practitioner whose personal representative claims compensation (b) accounting year means the period of twelve months for which the accounts of the practitioner are made up.

1. Was the practitioner on the 5th July, 1948 (or, at the date of his retirement from practice before the 5th July, 1948, or death) engaged in medical practice alone or, in partnership with other medical practitioners ?

2. If the practitioner was in practice alone (i.e. not in partnership with any other medical practitioner).

(a) state (i) the average gross yearly receipts of that practice calculated by reference to the last two complete accounting years before the 5th July, 1948 (or before the date of his retirement from practice or death as the case may be) and (ii) the date on which the two accounting years ended ; or

(b) if the practitioner has not been in that practice for two complete accounting years after the date on which he acquired the goodwill of his practice state—

(i) the date when he acquired the goodwill of his practice ;

(ii) the average gross yearly receipts on which the purchase price (if any) paid for the goodwill was calculated ;

(iii) if he acquired the goodwill of his practice otherwise than by purchase, the name and address of the person from whom the goodwill was acquired, the circumstances in which it was acquired and the gross receipts of the practice in respect of the period from the date when the goodwill was acquired to the 5th July, 1948 (or the date when the practitioner retired or died).

3. If the practitioner was in practice in partnership with any other medical practitioner or practitioners ;

(a) state the practitioner's share in the goodwill of the partnership practice ;

(b) state (i) the average gross yearly receipts of the partnership practice as it existed on the 5th July, 1948 calculated by reference to the last two complete accounting years before 5th July, 1948 (or before the date of the practitioner's retirement or death, as the case may be), and (ii) the date on which the two accounting years ended ;

(c) if the partnership as constituted on the 5th July, 1948 (or the date of the practitioner's retirement or death as the case may be) had not then been in existence for two complete accounting years state :

(i) the date on which the partnership was constituted.

(ii) if the practitioner acquired his share of the goodwill of the practice by purchase, the average gross yearly receipts on which the purchase price paid for the goodwill was calculated.

(iii) if he acquired his share of the goodwill of the practice otherwise than by purchase, the name and address of the person from whom the goodwill was acquired, the circumstances in which it was acquired and the amount of his share of the gross receipts of the partnership practice in respect of the period from the date when he joined the partnership to the 5th July, 1948 (or the date when he retired or died).

(d) give on a separate statement :

(i) the full names and addresses of the partners (indicating separately those whose names were entered on any medical list on 5th July, 1948).

(ii) full particulars of any agreement in force immediately before the 5th July, 1948, whereby the practitioner was under any obligation or had any option to buy or sell the goodwill or any part of the goodwill of the partnership practice.

It is requested that a copy of the partnership agreement should accompany this form.

Notes.—1. In the case of a partnership it will be convenient if all partners who have suffered loss submit their claims for compensation together. If this is done only one copy of the partnership agreement need be submitted for all partners.

2. All information supplied in connection with this claim will be treated as strictly confidential. [2854]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The regulations make provision for a medical practitioner whose name is included on the appointed day in the medical list of an Executive Council to claim compensation for the loss of the right to sell the goodwill of his practice. The regulations also prescribe the method of determining the loss of a practitioner and provide for the distribution of compensation to practitioners practising otherwise than in partnership. The determination of loss in the case of medical practitioners practising in partnership and the distribution of compensation to such practitioners has not been finally provided for in these regulations but left subject to further regulations or an amending Act of Parliament.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (GENERAL DENTAL SERVICES) FEES (AMENDMENT) REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1507

June 30, 1948

General note.—These regulations amend S.I. 1948 No. 1297, ante.

The Minister of Health, in exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 40 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. Title and commencement.—These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (General Dental Services) Fees (Amendment) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, 1948. [2855]

2. The National Health Service (General Dental Services) Fees Regulations, 1948, shall be amended as follows :—

(1) After regulation 5 there shall be inserted the following regulation—

" 5A. Practitioners practising at a health centre.—The remuneration payable by a Council to a dental practitioner practising at a health centre shall be calculated in accordance with the rates and subject to the provisions set out in the second schedule to these regulations.

(2) After the First Schedule there shall be inserted the following schedule—

" SECOND SCHEDULE

Remuneration of dental practitioners practising at a health centre

1. Rates applicable to whole-time employment at a health centre :—

Grade.	Scale of Remuneration.
I	Commencing at £1,400 per annum and rising by annual increments of £50 to £2,000 per annum.
II	Commencing at £900 per annum and rising by annual increments of £35 and a final increment of £5 to £1,500 per annum.
III	Commencing at £650 per annum and rising by annual increments of £25 to £900 per annum.

2. Rates applicable to part-time employment at a health centre :—

In respect of one half or three-quarter time employment, one half or three-quarters, as the case may be, of the rates specified for whole-time employment or such other proportion as may be appropriate to the amount of the employment.

3. Rates of sessional remuneration :—

Grade.	Fee per session of 3 hours.
I	£4 4*s.* 0*d.*
II and III	£3 3*s.* 0*d.*

4. In determining the appropriate rate of remuneration payable to a dental practitioner under the preceding paragraphs of this schedule the following provisions shall apply :—

(1) Subject to the provisions of the next succeeding sub-paragraph a practitioner shall be appointed in Grade III.

(2) A Council, if they are satisfied that the qualifications experience and capacity of a practitioner justify his appointment in a higher Grade than Grade III, may, after consultation with the Local Dental Committee and subject to the approval of the Minister, appoint the practitioner in Grade I or Grade II.

(3) Payment of the annual increments for which provision is made in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this schedule shall be conditional on the satisfactory service of the practitioner concerned.

(4) A practitioner who is regularly employed for six or more sessions a week shall be deemed to be employed whole-time or part-time, as the case may be, and be remunerated accordingly. [2856]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The regulations amend the National Health Service (General Dental Services) Fees Regulations 1948 by adding provisions for the remuneration of dental practitioners practising at health centres.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (DESIGNATION OF TEACHING HOSPITALS—CAMBRIDGE HOSPITALS) ORDER, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1579

July 6, 1948

General note.—This order amends S.I. 1948 No. 656, ante. As to other designations of hospitals as teaching hospitals, see S.I. 1948 No. 979, ante, and S.I. 1948 No. 1920, post.

Whereas by the National Health Service (Designation of Teaching Hospitals) (No. 1) Order, 1948, a group of hospitals, consisting of Addenbrooke's Hospital, Cambridge (including Addenbrooke's Home of Recovery and Charlotte Rebecca Waley Home of Rest for Nurses, Hunstanton) the County Hospital, Cambridge and the Cambridge Borough Isolation Hospital, was designated as a teaching hospital to be known by the name of The United Cambridge Hospitals ;

And Whereas by the National Health Service (Constitution of Boards of Governors of Teaching Hospitals) (No. 1) Order, 1948, made on the 5th day of June, 1948, by the Minister of Health under section 11 (8) of the National Health Service Act, 1946, a Board of Governors was constituted for the administration of the said group of hospitals ;

And Whereas the Chesterton Hospital in the Borough of Cambridge was immediately before the 5th July, 1948, a workhouse to which the provision of paragraph 8 of the 6th Schedule to the National Assistance Act, 1948, applied, and consequently the Hospital is now vested in the Minister as a hospital under the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

And Whereas the East Anglian Regional Hospital Board have in pursuance of the provisions of the said paragraph 8 made arrangements with the County Council of Cambridge, being the authority by which the Institution was provided, whereby accommodation therein is made available for the purposes of section 17 and section 21 of the National Assistance Act, 1948 ;

And Whereas the Minister has consulted the University of Cambridge and is of opinion that the Hospital should be included in the said group of hospitals known as The United Cambridge Hospitals and designated as aforesaid :

Now therefore the Minister of Health in pursuance of his powers under section 11 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and paragraph 8 of the 6th Schedule to the National Assistance Act, 1948, hereby orders as follows :—

1.—(1) This order may be cited as the National Health Service (Designation of Teaching Hospitals—Cambridge Hospitals) Order, 1948, and shall come into operation on the 6th day of July, 1948.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, shall apply to the interpretation of this order as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2857]

2. The Chesterton Hospital shall be included in the group of hospitals designated as a teaching hospital and known as The United Cambridge Hospitals. [2858]

3. There shall be transferred to the Board of Governors of the United Cambridge Hospitals all officers who immediately before the 5th day of July, 1948, were employed at or for the purposes of the said Hospital and were transferred on that day to the East Anglian Regional Hospital Board by regulation 4 of the National Health Service (Transfer of Officers and Compensation) Regulations, 1948. [2859]

4. Any arrangements entered into between the East Anglian Regional Hospital Board and the Cambridge County Council under paragraph 8 of the 6th Schedule in the National Assistance Act, 1948, whereby accommodation and facilities in relation thereto in the said Hospital are made available for the purposes of section 17 or section 21 of that Act shall have effect as if the said Board of Governors were substituted for the said Regional Hospital Board as a party thereto, and the amount of any payments to be made in respect of such accommodation and facilities shall, unless it has been determined before the date of this order, be agreed between the County Council and the said Board of Governors or, in default of agreement, shall, subject to the provisions of the said paragraph 8, be determined by the Minister of Health. [2860]

5. The payments referred to in article 4 of this order shall be made to the said Board of Governors. [2861]

* * * * *

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

This Order provides for the inclusion of the Chesterton Hospital, Cambridge, in the group of Cambridge hospitals which has been constituted a teaching hospital. The hospital has been a poor law institution and arrangements have been made between the East Anglian Regional Hospital Board and the County Council under the National Assistance Act, 1948, for the provision of some accommodation in the hospital for the purposes of that Act. The Order accordingly provides for the transfer of rights and liabilities under those arrangements from the Regional Hospital Board to the Board of Governors of the teaching hospital. It also provides for the transfer of the hospital staff to the Board of Governors.

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (DESIGNATION OF TEACHING HOSPITALS—THE BETHLEM ROYAL HOSPITAL AND THE MAUDSLEY HOSPITAL) ORDER, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1920

August 17, 1948

General note.—This order amends S.I. 1948 No. 979, ante. As to other designations of hospitals as teaching hospitals, see S.I. 1948 Nos. 650 and 1579, ante.

Whereas by the National Health Service (Designation of Teaching Hospitals (No. 2)) Order, 1948, two hospitals therein respectively described as The Bethlem Royal Hospital for Nervous and Mental Disorders, Beckenham, and The Maudsley Hospital S.E.5 were together designated as a teaching hospital by the name of The Bethlem and Maudsley Hospitals;

And Whereas since the date of the said order His Majesty the King has approved as the name of the said teaching hospital the name "The Bethlem Royal Hospital and The Maudsley Hospital:"

Now therefore the Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under sections 11 and 75 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and after consultation with the University of London, hereby orders as follows:—

1. This order may be cited as the National Health Service (Designation of Teaching Hospitals—The Bethlem Royal Hospital and The Maudsley Hospital) Order, 1948, and shall come into operation on the date hereof. [2862]

2. The said teaching hospital shall be known as The Bethlem Royal Hospital and The Maudsley Hospital and accordingly in column (1) of the schedule to the National Health Service (Designation of Teaching Hospitals (No. 2)) Order, 1948, there shall be substituted for the words "The Bethlem and Maudsley Hospitals" the words "The Bethlem Royal Hospital and The Maudsley Hospital." SIR,

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT, 1946

Renewal of Hospital Contracts

1. I am directed by the Minister of Health to say that he understands that authorities administering hospitals liable to transfer under the Act are in some uncertainty as to the proper course of action to be followed in relation to the renewal of contracts for supplies and other services due to expire before the appointed day. As hospital authorities will be aware, it is contemplated that the appointed day for the purpose of transfer will be 5th July, 1948; and doubt may exist whether contracts expiring before that date should be renewed, and if so for what period.

2. The first consideration must be to ensure that there is no interruption in the provision of the services of transferred hospitals through lack of essential supplies, etc., and the Minister is confident that hospital authorities will have this in mind. Rights and liabilities in connection with any contracts entered into for the purpose of supplying or maintaining a hospital, and operative on the appointed day, will be transferred to the Minister with the hospital itself; and in general it will be for the Boards of Governors of teaching hospitals, and for Hospital Management Committees—with whom responsibility will lie for the control and management of the hospitals—to take them over and continue them until such time as they may decide to make other arrangements. Accordingly hospital authorities are requested to renew contracts due to expire before the appointed day on the basis and for the period which would have been adopted if no transfer under the Act was impending.

3. Separate proposals have already been made to local authorities in Circular 134/47 of 8th August on the question of arrangements with Regional Hospital Boards for the continuance for a transitional period of the provision by these authorities of centralised services on an agency basis. Future contracts in connection with the centralised services will no doubt be covered by those arrangements but pending agreement with the Boards the principle of this circular should be applied to all services, whether centralised or not. [2864]

I am, Sir, etc.

To County Councils and County Borough Councils (England). } For action

All other Local Authorities (England). } For information

SIR,

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT, 1946

Health Centres

1. The Minister asks me to refer to Section 21 of the above Act, and to the question of Health Centres.

2. The Minister regards the provision of Health Centres as likely, when properly designed and conducted, to prove a key feature in the general reconstruction of the country's health services.

3. It is very clear that the building situation makes it impossible to undertake, for some time to come, any general programme of their provision. The alternative, of conversion of existing buildings, is not only restricted by lack of available and suitable accommodation in the right places but—more important—involves a real risk that second-rate production may prejudice the attractiveness of the whole Health Centre conception. Health Centre development is essentially something which, if it is to be done at all, must be done well. It is imperative that it should not be badly started.

4. Apart from this major difficulty—of new provision in the near future—there is another vital consideration to keep in mind. The Health Centre idea cuts new ground. Possibilities, in type and function, are diverse. While some material has already been gained from limited experience elsewhere, there is need for more intense expert scrutiny of the likely lines of first experiments. Such a task falls naturally to a special committee or working party associated with the main central advisory machinery of the new Act. The Minister proposes, as soon as the Central Health Services Council is in being, to set up such a committee in collaboration with it and to charge this committee with the task of gathering all useful existing information and formulating expert guidance on the best kinds and purposes of Health Centres at which development should aim.

5. For both reasons, then—the sheer practical impossibility of a new building programme and the need for intensive research and thought about design before the new development is launched—the Minister does not expect Local Health Authorities normally to submit any proposals to him yet for the immediate provision of Health Centres. The date previously specified by him under Section 20 (in Circular 105/47) has already been cancelled. He will, at the appropriate time, specify another date for this purpose, in the light of what has been said above.

6. This is not meant entirely to rule out of consideration proposals which, despite the building stringency, the Local Health Authority, after consultation with the Executive Council and other interests concerned, regard as particularly urgent, or conversions which they may find to be both practicable and attractive without the need for delay.

7. Nor is it meant to exclude proposals relating to dispensaries, etc., at which facilities obviously suitable in a health centre are already provided—such as the general practitioner services of certain medical aid societies and similar bodies, or dental clinics for the adult population—the future of which must be determined before the appointed day. In many such cases it may well be sensible for the Authority to seek to acquire such premises by agreement if they are reasonably satisfactory for the purpose, or can be made so by adaptation, and the Minister will consider proposals to that end. When such premises are to be so continued, it will be for the local Executive Council (no doubt, in close consultation with the Authority) to offer any medical or dental practitioners in them the opportunity of continuing to work there on the new basis of Part IV of the Act. Local Health Authorities will remember that the Act precludes them from themselves engaging such practitioners for the purpose of general medical or dental services under the Act.

8. A copy of this circular is enclosed for the Financial Officer and a copy has also been sent direct to the Medical Officer of Health. Further copies can be purchased through any bookseller or directly from His Majesty's Stationery Office. [2865]

SIR,

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT, 1946

National Health Service (Transfer of Local Authority Functions) Regulations, 1948

1. I am directed by the Minister of Health to enclose for your information a copy of the National Health Service (Transfer of Local Authority Functions)

Regulations, 1948, made by the Minister under the powers conferred by Section 69 of the National Health Service Act. The Regulations include provision for the transfer to Local Health Authorities of property and liabilities held by Local Authorities for the purpose of functions transferred to Local Health Authorities by virtue of the Act; for the making of adjustments in respect of such property and liabilities; and for certain other matters consequential on the transfer of functions.

2. The general effect of the Regulations is that on the 5th July, 1948, property held by a non-county borough or district council (including the Common Council of the City of London and a metropolitan borough council) solely for the purposes of functions which will on that date be transferred from that council to a Local Health Authority will be transferred to the Local Health Authority. There will be a similar transfer of liabilities incurred by the council for the purposes of transferred functions. Provision is made (Regulation 4) whereby the Minister may, on a representation by either party that it is inexpedient that any particular property or liability should be transferred, make an order excluding that property or liability from transfer.

3. Where a property is held, or a liability has been incurred, partly for the purposes of transferred functions, the Local Health Authority and the council concerned are enabled to make an agreement for adjusting the property or liability (Regulation 5 (1)). In default of agreement the adjustment will be made by the Minister (Regulation 5 (2)).

4. County Councils will no doubt have acted on the advice given in paragraph 29 of Circular 66/47 and will have ascertained what property is held by local authorities in their respective counties for the purpose of transferred functions. In order that so far as possible the position in regard to property should be established before the transfer of functions on 5th July next, it is suggested that County Councils should, as the next step, seek by agreement with the authorities concerned to identify—

(i) the property which is held solely for the purposes of transferred functions, and which will consequently be transferred on that date, subject to the decision on any representation made under Regulation 4; and

(ii) any property which is partly held for the purpose of such functions and which it is considered should form the subject of a formal agreement under Regulation 5.

It would be convenient at the same time to deal with the corresponding questions concerning liabilities.

5. There are unlikely to be many instances in which the transfer of property held solely, or a liability incurred solely, for the purposes of a transferred function would be inexpedient. A local authority desiring to make a representation under Regulation 4 should first seek to secure the agreement of the other authority concerned both as to the making of a representation and as to the conditions, if any, which the two authorities might jointly recommend the Minister to impose if he sees fit to accede to the representation. It will be noted that any representation under this Regulation must be made not later than six weeks before 5th July next. A copy of any such representation should be sent to the other authority concerned at the time it is made, and the Minister should be informed that this has been done. This will enable the other authority to submit any observations they may wish the Minister to take into consideration in connection with the representation without awaiting a request for observations; at the same time a copy of such observations should be sent to the authority making the representation. A similar procedure should be followed in referring any question to the Minister under Regulation 5 (2) or 9.

6. In a case where the disposition of any property has not been determined by 5th July next—whether by reason of its being the subject of a representation under Regulation 4 or because agreement has not been concluded under Regulation 5, or because of some other outstanding question—the local authorities concerned should agree, without prejudice to the decision of the question in issue, to such interim arrangements being made in regard to the property as may be requisite to ensure the continuity and efficiency of the service. Similarly where property held for the purpose of a function not transferred under the Act is being used temporarily for the purposes of a transferred function, the two authorities should agree arrangements whereby the County Council may have the use of the property for the time being, where this is necessary in the interests of the service.

Requisitioned Property

7. Where a property held on requisition is used for the purpose of a transferred function, the authority by whom the property is held should transfer to the Local Health Authority the records relating to the property, and County Councils are hereby authorised to use such property for the same purposes as those for which use had previously been authorised. A County Council should, on taking the place of another authority as the body using requisitioned premises, inform the owner that they will now be responsible for payment of compensation and for general administration on the Minister's behalf and should also send details of the properties concerned to the Regional Office of the Ministry.

8. A copy of this Circular is enclosed for the Financial Officer of the Council, and a copy has been sent direct to the Medical Officer of Health.

9. Further copies of this Circular and of the Regulations can be purchased from H.M. Stationery Office at any of the addresses shown below, or through any bookseller. [2866]

LONDON, S.W.1.
5th May, 1948.

To Local Health Authorities.

SIR,

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT, 1946—SECTION 26

Records and Returns regarding Diphtheria Immunisation and Vaccination

1. I am directed by the Minister of Health to furnish the following information, in accordance with paragraph 9 of Circular 66/47 dated 3rd April, 1947, about the forms of record which he would wish Local Health Authorities to use after the appointed day (5th July, 1948) regarding diphtheria immunisation and vaccination, and about the returns that Authorities will be asked to send to the Department.

Record Cards

2. The standard record card for Diphtheria Immunisation will be similar to that already in general use and is shown in Appendix A to this Circular. The record card for Vaccination, which is now being introduced for the first time, is shown in Appendix B.

3. It will rest with each Local Health Authority to print its own record cards, and to supply them as required to medical officers and general practitioners taking part in its arrangements under Section 26 of the Act. The receipt of completed record cards from general practitioners will be the basis for the Authority's arrangements in paying the appropriate fees (which will be the subject of a later circular).

Returns

4. For Diphtheria Immunisation there will be, as at present, two forms of return—one to be made every six months as soon as possible after 30th June and 31st December respectively, and the other, an annual return, to be made about the month of May in respect of the preceding calendar year.

As regards the annual return for the year ending 31st December, 1948, it will be necessary for County Councils to obtain the required information relating to the first half of the year, before they assumed responsibility as Local Health Authorities, from the local authorities concerned.

5. For Vaccination there will be only one form of return, to be made annually as at 31st December each year.

The first of these returns, however, which will be asked for as at 31st December, 1948, will cover only the period of six months from July to December of this year.

6. The particulars that Authorities will be asked to give in the three returns mentioned in paragraphs 4 and 5 are described in Appendix C. The forms for them will be sent by the Ministry to each Authority as the time comes for making the particular return concerned.

Special Reports

7. The Minister wishes to receive from Medical Officers of Health of Local Health Authorities reports about individual immunised children who die from diphtheria. These reports should be sent in with the annual return about diphtheria immunisation, in respect of children who have died during the year covered by the return. The particulars to be given in such reports, as at present, are indicated in Appendix D.

8. The Minister also wishes to receive from Medical Officers of Health of Local Health Authorities reports about individual vaccinations in association with which any of the following occur or are alleged to have occurred :—

(a) Generalised vaccinia.
(b) Post-vaccinal encephalomyelitis.
(c) Death from complications of vaccination other than (a) and (b).

The particulars to be given in such reports are indicated in Appendix E.

These reports should be severally sent to the Ministry at the time the case concerned occurs ; they should not be held over (as with the reports mentioned in paragraph 7) until the annual return is made.

9. A copy of this Circular is being sent to the Medical Officer of Health.

I am, Sir, etc.

Note of Particulars which will be asked for in Returns

DIPHTHERIA IMMUNISATION

A. Half-yearly Return (as at 30th June and 31st December)

Number of children who completed a full course of immunisation in the Local Health Authority's area during the six months to which the return relates, shown in two age groups (0–4 years and 5–14 years) according to age at date of final injection.

B. Annual Return (as at 31st December)

(a) Number of children who had completed a full course of immunisation at any time up to the 31st December to which the return relates, shown in the following age groups—Under 1, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 to 9, 10 to 14.

(b) Estimated mid-year population of children in two age groups 0–4 and 5–14.

[The purpose of this part of the return is to show the proportion of the child population in an immunised state at the end of each year.]

(c) Number of cases of diphtheria notified during year in age groups as under (a) above; and the number of these cases in which the child was immunised.

(d) As in (c), but in relation to deaths from diphtheria.

NOTE.—This return will be asked for in the month of May following the end of the calendar year to which it relates, by which time account can be taken, as regards (c) and (d) above, of the number of notifications as corrected and of the number of death registrations "transferred" by the General Register Office in respect of the calendar year concerned. Particulars of these corrections and transfers are communicated by the General Register Office to Borough and District Medical Officers of Health.

VACCINATION

Annual Return (as at 31st December)

(a) Number of persons primarily vaccinated during year shown in age groups—Under 1 year, 1 to 4 years, 5 to 14 years and 15 years or over.

(b) Ditto as regards persons re-vaccinated.

(c) Numerical totals (in age groups as above) of cases specially reported during year because of actual or alleged complications of vaccination as referred to in (a), (b) and (c) of paragraph 8 of this Circular.

APPENDIX D

Report on immunised child who dies from diphtheria (see paragraph 7 of Circular).

The particulars to be included in the report are as follows :—

(a) Name, age and sex of child.

(b) Dates of (i) onset of diphtheria; (ii) case first seen by doctor; (iii) administration of anti-toxin; (iv) death.

(c) Clinical Type and Bacteriological Type.

(d) Date on which primary immunisation was completed (i.e. by administration of not fewer than 2 doses of A.P.T. or 3 doses of T.A.F. or their accepted equivalents).

(e) Prophylactic used; Maker's name; Serial No.; Dosages.

(f) Date and result of post-Schick test (if any).

(g) Date of any secondary or re-inforcing injection (subsequent to primary immunisation).

(h) Any other information, e.g. post-mortem findings., Coroner's verdict, etc.

Circular 100/48

MINISTRY OF HEALTH,
WHITEHALL,
LONDON, S.W.1.
18th June, 1948.

To County Councils and County Borough Councils (England).

SIR,

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT, 1946—PART III

Recovery of charges under Sections 22 (2), 28 (2) and 29 (2)

1. In view of the information supplied by some Local Health Authorities with their proposals under Sections 22, 28 and 29 of the Act, I am directed by the Minister of Health to make the following observations in amplification of what was said in paragraphs 10, 50 and 60 of Circular 118/47 (dated 10th July, 1947) about the recovery of charges for articles or services provided under these Sections.

2. It was agreed in Parliament during the discussion of these provisions that it would be unreasonable that persons able to pay the whole or part of the cost of these articles or services should not be asked to do so. The points were also made that persons availing themselves of the services would be entitled to know, in advance, what charges they are likely to be called upon to pay ; and that the charge ought not to vary from day to day or as between one beneficiary and another, though the extent of recovery must be determined according to ability to pay.

3. It was because of the desirability in a National Health Service that there should be reasonable uniformity of practice that the County Councils Association and the Association of Municipal Corporations set out, in consultation with the London County Council, to frame recommendations for the guidance of their constituents. It is understood that these recommendations are being circulated by the Associations.

4. Tariffs of Charges.

In the light of the Associations' recommendations and of the approval given below, the Authority will be able to settle tariffs specifying the articles and services for the supply or loan of which it is proposed to charge, and the standard charges it is proposed to make for them. Copies of these tariffs should be sent to the Ministry in due course for purposes of record.

5. Articles and services for which the Minister approves the making of charges.

The Minister hereby approves the making of charges for the following articles and services on the basis indicated :

(1) Under Section 22 (2) : All articles provided under Section 22, including meals supplied and equipment lent for use in day nurseries, mother and baby homes, etc., except—

(a) welfare foods as defined in the Welfare Foods Order which may from time to time be supplied by the Ministry of Food for distribution by the Authority ;
(b) maternity outfits for expectant mothers and dressings required during the lying-in period ;
(c) special cots for premature babies ;
(d) medicaments ; and
(e) dentures, eyeglasses and similar appliances, not being replacements necessitated by lack of care on the part of the person concerned, on the basis that the standard charge shall not exceed the actual cost to the Authority plus an addition of not more than 10 per cent. for handling expenses.

(2) Under Section 28 (2) : All articles of extra nourishment or clothing, all garden shelters, beds, bedding, nursing requisites and sick-room equipment (including that provided for the use of patients being nursed at home under Section 25) supplied or lent under the Authority's care and after-care service, on the basis that the standard charge shall not exceed the actual cost (taking into account, in the case of articles supplied on loan, their normal useful life) plus an addition of not more than 10 per cent. for handling expenses.

(3) Under Section 29 (2) : All services provided under the Authority's approved domestic help proposals, on the basis that the standard charge per hour or per day shall not exceed the actual cost—including wages, insurances, allowances for travelling time, retaining fees (if paid) and organisational and clerical expenses—to the Authority.

6. Assessment of ability to pay.—It is for the Local Health Authority to determine in each individual case whether any, and if so what, charge—within the limits of the standard charge specified in the tariff—would be reasonable, having regard to the means of the person concerned. It is assumed that the Authority will tell a person seeking the benefit of any of these services what the standard charge for it is, and that only if he says that this is more than he can afford will the Authority seek information about his means with a view to assessing what smaller sum—if any—he can pay. It is understood that the document which the Associations of Local Authorities are circulating recommends a basis of assessment, and, in view of the obvious desirability of a reasonable degree of uniformity of practice among Authorities, the Minister hopes that each Authority will give these recommendations careful consideration. But this is a matter within the Authority's discretion, and their decision on it is not subject to the Minister's approval.

7. A copy of this Circular is enclosed for the use of the Financial Officer of the Authority and a copy has been sent direct to the Medical Officer of Health. Further copies may be purchased through any bookseller or directly from His Majesty's Stationery Office. [2868]

MENTAL DEFICIENCY REGULATIONS, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1000

May 10, 1948

General Note.—Reg. 29 was amended, as from December 27, 1948, by the Mental Deficiency (Amendment) Regulations 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 2553).

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under sections 10, 16, 18, 20, 25, 30, 40, 41, 49, 50, 51 and 59 of the Mental Deficiency Act, 1913, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, and as regards regulations 8 and 107 with the concurrence of the Lord Chancellor, hereby makes the following regulations :—

PART I

GENERAL

1. Short title and commencement.—These regulations may be cited as the Mental Deficiency Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, 1948. [2869]

2. Division of regulations into parts.—These regulations are divided into thirteen parts, namely :—

Part I.—General.
Part II.—Duties of Local Health Authority.
Part III.—Procedure on Petitions.
Part IV.—The Grant, Renewal, Revocation and Surrender of Certificates for Institutions and Houses for Defectives and of Approvals of Homes for Defectives.
Part V.—General Provisions as to Management of Institutions and Certified Houses.
Part VI.—Special Provisions as to Management of Certified Institutions.
Part VII.—Special Provisions as to Management of Certified Houses.
Part VIII.—Inspection of Institutions and Certified Houses and visitation of Patients therein.
Part IX.—Guardianship.

Part X.—Transfer of Patients from one Institution to another.
Part XI.—Transfer of Patient under Guardianship to an Institution or Certified House or to another Guardian or from an Institution or Certified House to Guardianship.
Part XII.—Absence of Patients from Institutions and Certified Houses.
Part XIII.—Miscellaneous. [2870]

3. Interpretation.—(1) In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the respective meanings hereby assigned to them :—

" the Act " means the Mental Deficiency Act, 1913, as amended by the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" the Acts " means the Mental Deficiency Acts, 1913 to 1938, as amended by the National Health Service Act, 1946 ;

" the Minister " means the Minister of Health ;

" the Board " means the Board of Control ;

" Commissioner " includes a Senior Commissioner and a Commissioner other than a Senior Commissioner ;

" Inspector " means an Inspector of the Board ;

" Visitors " means visitors of institutions for defectives ;

" institution " and " certified institution " have the meanings assigned to them by subsection (1) of section 71 of the Act ;

" state institution " means an institution vested in the Minister and designated by him for the reception of defectives of violent or dangerous propensities ;

" committee of management " means :—

(a) in relation to an institution vested in the Minister, the hospital management committee appointed under section 11 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and includes any sub-committee of such a hospital management committee to which any of the functions required by these regulations to be performed by a committee of management may have been delegated ;

(b) in relation to a certified institution, the committee of management appointed in accordance with Regulation 50 of these regulations to manage the institution ;

" private patient " means a patient maintained wholly or partly at the expense of some person other than the Minister or a local health authority ;

" health service patient " means a patient other than a private patient ;

" superintendent " in relation to a certified house or an approved home means the owner or other person residing in the house or home and having charge of the patients therein ;

" medical practitioner " means a registered medical practitioner ;

" responsible local health authority " means the local health authority, as defined in section 19 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, responsible for carrying out, in relation to defectives resident in their area, the duties imposed upon local health authorities by the Acts ;

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889 applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2871]

4. Penalties.—Except as otherwise provided in these regulations the maximum penalty to which a person who is guilty of a breach of any provision of these regulations shall be liable shall be a fine of £5. [2872]

5. Consents and licences.—Where under these regulations a consent or licence is required to be given in relation to any patient by the petitioner or person who placed the patient in an institution or under guardianship or the parent or guardian of the patient, then if the petitioner or other person is dead, or abroad, or cannot be found or is incapable of validly giving the consent or licence, the consent or licence may be given by the person who made the last payment on account of the patient's maintenance. [2873]

6. Records and notices.—Where under any provision of these regulations the duty of making entries in records or of sending notices is imposed on the superintendent, such duty may be performed by some other person duly authorised by him in that behalf. [2874]

7. Forms.—The forms set out in the Schedule to these regulations or forms substantially to the like effect shall be used in all cases to which those forms are applicable. [2875]

8. Revocation of existing regulations.—The following regulations are hereby revoked, the Mental Deficiency Regulations, 1935, the Mental Deficiency (Amendment) Regulations, 1940, the Mental Deficiency (Amendment) Regulations, 1944, and the National Health Service (Mental Deficiency) Amendment Regulations, 1947. [2876]

PART II

DUTIES OF LOCAL HEALTH AUTHORITY

9. Ascertainment of defectives.—For the purpose of ascertaining whether a person is a defective subject to be dealt with under the Acts, otherwise than under paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section 2 of the Act, the local health authority shall have regard to his mental condition, behaviour and circumstances. [2877]

10. Agencies for carrying out ascertainment and supervision.—(1) The local health authority shall perform their duties under paragraphs (a), (b) and (cc) of section 30 of the Act by means of either :—

(a) officers specially trained for the purpose ; or

(b) members or officers of such societies for assisting or supervising defectives as are approved by the local health authority for the purpose ; or

(c) such other trained persons as are approved by the local health authority for the purpose.

The power of approving societies or persons under this paragraph shall be subject to the provisions of any proposals approved by the Minister under section 20 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and to such conditions, if any, as the Minister may prescribe.

(2) Every officer or other person employed by or acting on behalf of the local health authority in connection with any of the above-mentioned duties shall be furnished by the local health authority with evidence of his authority to act and shall, when required, produce that evidence. [2878]

11. Conveyance to institution and provision of attendants.—(1) Where a defective is ordered to be sent to an institution the local health authority for the area in which he resided shall provide for his conveyance to the institution and for his care and protection during removal.

(2) In the case of the removal of a female defective at least one attendant shall be a woman. [2879]

12. Reports.—The local health authority shall, not later than the thirtieth day of June in every year, make a report to the Minister for the year ending on the thirty-first day of December preceding, on the performance of their duties under the Acts. [2880]

PART III

PROCEDURE ON PETITIONS

13. Presentation of petition.—No person shall present a petition, unless he is at least 21 years of age and has, within 28 days before the presentation of the petition, personally seen the alleged defective. [2881]

14. Recommendation of person as guardian.—The local health authority shall not, without the consent of the Board, recommend to a judicial authority as a person suitable to undertake the duties of guardianship any person who already has charge of three defectives or of a person received under the Lunacy and Mental Treatment Acts, 1890 to 1930. [2882]

15. Dismissal of petition.—(1) If a petition is dismissed, the judicial authority shall deliver to the petitioner a statement in writing of his reasons for dismissing the petition.

(2) If the petition was presented on behalf of a local health authority, they shall send a copy of such statement to the Board, but in all other cases a copy of the statement shall be sent to the Board by the judicial authority. [2883]

16. Presentation of further petition.—If, after a petition has been dismissed, another petition is presented with respect to the same person, the petitioner shall, if he has knowledge of the previous petition, obtain from the Board, and present with his petition, a copy of the statement referred to in the last preceding Regulation. [2884]

17. Information to be furnished by judicial authority.—Any judicial authority making or refusing to make an order, shall give to the Board such information, if any, as they may require in regard to the circumstances in which the order was made or refused. [2885]

18. Medical certificates and statutory declarations.—(1) Every medical certificate accompanying a petition shall state the facts upon which the signatory has formed his opinion that the alleged defective is a defective within the meaning of section 1 of the Act, distinguishing facts observed by himself from facts communicated by others, and an order shall not be made upon a certificate which is not founded wholly or in part upon facts observed by the signatory.

(2) An order shall not be made unless each medical practitioner who signs a certificate has personally examined the alleged defective not more than 21 clear days before the date of the presentation of the petition.

(3) Neither of the persons signing a certificate shall be the petitioner, or the husband or wife, father or father-in-law, mother or mother-in-law, son or son-in-law, daughter or daughter-in-law, brother or brother-in-law, sister or sister-in-law, partner, or assistant of the petitioner or the other signatory.

(4) An order shall not be made sending any defective to an institution or certified house or placing him under guardianship in any case in which a certificate or statutory declaration accompanying the petition was signed by any of the following persons :—

(a) the managers of any certified institution or the owner of any certified house, as the case may be, to which it is proposed to send the defective, or the person proposed to be appointed guardian ;

(b) any person interested in payments on account of the defective's maintenance ;

(c) the superintendent or any medical officer of any certified institution or certified house to which it is proposed to send the defective ;

(d) the husband or wife, father or father-in-law, mother or mother-in-law, son or son-in-law, daughter or daughter-in-law, brother or brother-in-law, sister or sister-in-law, partner, or assistant of the foregoing persons.

(5) Where the person who joins with the petitioner in making the statutory declaration is not one of the persons who gave a medical certificate he or she shall not be the husband or wife, father or father-in-law, mother or mother-in-law, son or son-in-law, daughter or daughter-in-law, brother or brother-in-law, sister or sister-in-law, partner or assistant of the petitioner or of either of the persons who gave the medical certificates. [2886]

19. Authority for reception of patient.—The documents upon which an order is founded shall be attached to the order, and the order and documents shall be delivered or sent by post to the petitioner and shall be delivered by him or his agent to the superintendent of the institution or certified house into which the defective is to be received or to the person appointed to be his guardian. [2887]

20. Amendment of orders and other documents.—(1) When a patient has been received under an order into an institution or certified house or under guardianship :—

(a) if the order or any document upon which the order was made is found to be in any respect incorrect or imperfect, it may, with the consent of the Board, be amended by the person who signed it within 28 days after the reception of the patient ;

(b) if the Board deem the order or any document upon which the order was founded to be incorrect or imperfect they may require the order or document to be amended by the person who signed it and if the order or document is not amended to the satisfaction of the Board within 28 days after the reception of the patient the Board may, if they think fit, make an order for the patient's discharge.

(2) Every order and document so amended shall take effect as if the amendment had been contained therein when it was signed. [2888]

21. Hearing of petition.—No proceedings on a petition shall be conducted in a police court or other court or room normally used for the hearing of criminal charges. [2889]

PART IV

THE GRANT, RENEWAL, REVOCATION AND SURRENDER OF CERTIFICATES FOR INSTITUTIONS AND HOUSES FOR DEFECTIVES AND OF APPROVALS OF HOMES FOR DEFECTIVES

22. Application for certificate or approval.—An application for the grant of a certificate in respect of an institution or house or of approval of premises as an approved home shall be made on the appropriate form and sent to the Minister accompanied by the following documents :—

(a) a general description of the property, together with a plan showing the site of the buildings and of the land occupied in connection therewith distinguishing the parts of the buildings which are appropriated for the use of patients ;

(b) a detailed description of the buildings and plans thereof drawn to a scale of 16 feet to 1 inch or to such other scale as the Minister may approve, showing the area, height, and proposed use of the rooms (distinguishing those to be occupied by the patients from those of the officers and servants), and the workshops, external offices and conveniences, and the baths, fire escapes, and the heating, lighting, ventilation and sanitary arrangements ;

(c) a plan of the drains drawn to such a scale as the Minister may require, and a statement as to the mode of disposal of the sewage and as to the water supply;

(d) a statement of the number, ages and types of patients whom it is proposed to receive, and if of both sexes a statement of the number of either sex, and the arrangements for keeping the sexes apart;

(e) if the patients are to be limited to any particular type or class or age of defective or to defectives sent from any particular locality or belonging to any particular religious persuasion, information as to the limitations proposed;

(f) a statement of the name of the superintendent, of the grades of staff whom it is proposed to employ and the number in each grade and of the arrangements proposed for the medical care of the patients;

(g) a statement respecting the work upon which the patients are to be employed and the arrangements for affording them simple education, industrial training and recreation. [2890]

23. Revocation of certificate or approval.—(1) The Minister, if dissatisfied with the condition or management of any certified institution, certified house or approved home may give notice to the managers or owner thereof that he proposes to consider the question of revoking the certificate or approval or of modifying the conditions upon which it was granted, and before arriving at a decision the Minister shall take into consideration any statement which the managers or owner may submit to him not later than 28 days after the date of the said notice.

(2) The Minister shall, as soon as may be, inform the managers or owner of his decision, and if he decides to revoke a certificate or approval or to modify any of its conditions the revocation or modification shall take effect at such date, not being less than two months from the date on which the managers or owner are notified of the decision, as the Minister may determine.

(3) The Minister shall publish in the London Gazette notice of the revocation of any certificate or approval. [2891]

24. Surrender of certificate or approval.—The managers or owner may at any time surrender a certificate or approval as from such date as the Minister may approve. [2892]

25. Death of sole or surviving manager or owner.—If the sole or surviving manager or owner of any institution, house or home to whom a certificate or approval has been granted in respect of that institution, house or home dies, the Minister may permit his personal representatives for a period not exceeding three months to conduct the premises as a certified institution, certified house or approved home, as the case may be, on the terms and conditions of the certificate or approval applicable thereto, subject to such modifications, if any, as the Minister may think fit. [2893]

26. Application for renewal.—An application for the renewal of a certificate or approval shall be made on the appropriate form at least six weeks before the expiration of the certificate or approval and shall in the case of a certified house or approved home be accompanied by a statement signed by or on behalf of the applicant of the number of patients of either sex on the books at the time of application. [2894]

27. Alterations in premises or user thereof not to be made without consent of the Minister.—(1) Before any alteration or addition is made in or to any certified institution, certified house or approved home, the managers or owner shall give to the Minister notice in writing, accompanied by a detailed description of the proposed alteration or addition, and shall not carry out the proposal without the previous consent of the Minister.

(2) If the Minister so requests, he shall be furnished with plans of the proposed alteration or addition drawn to a scale of 16 feet to 1 inch or to such other scale as he may approve.

(3) The use of any part of the premises for a purpose different from that authorised by the certificate or approval shall be deemed to be an alteration within the meaning of this Regulation. [2895]

28. Powers to continue after expiration or revocation of certificate or approval.—The powers of the Board and of the Visitors with reference to any certified institution or certified house and the patients therein and the powers of the Board with reference to any approved home and the patients therein and all powers and provisions of the Acts and any regulations made thereunder relating to the discharge, removal and transfer of patients, shall, notwithstanding the expiration or revocation of a certificate or approval, continue in force so long as any patients remain in the premises. [2896]

29. Patients not to be received beyond number authorised.—(1) The managers or owner of a certified institution, certified house or approved home shall not, without the previous consent of the Minister, receive into the institution, house or home any patient beyond the number specified in the certificate or approval.

(2) The maximum penalty for a breach of this Regulation shall be a fine of £50. [2897]

30. Fees.—The fee payable to the Minister by the managers or owner of a certified house or approved home upon the grant, whether in the first instance or by way of renewal, of a certificate or approval shall be the sum of £5, with an additional sum of 10s. for every patient beyond the number of ten for whom accommodation is or is proposed to be provided :

Provided that—

(i) The Minister may remit the whole or any part of the fee in respect of the approval of a home, if in any particular case he thinks fit so to do ; and

(ii) if the period for which the certificate or approval is granted is less than twelve months, the Minister may reduce the amount of the fee. [2898]

PART V

GENERAL PROVISIONS AS TO MANAGEMENT OF INSTITUTIONS AND CERTIFIED HOUSES

31. Classification of patients.—The patients in an institution or certified house shall be classified generally according to their age, sex, capabilities, habits and behaviour. [2899]

32. Males not to be employed in personal custody of females.—(1) No male person in an institution or certified house shall be employed in the personal custody or restraint of any female patient : Provided that nothing in this Regulation contained shall be deemed to prohibit the employment of male persons on such occasions of urgency as may in the judgment of the superintendent render such employment necessary, but the superintendent shall in each such case report the employment to the Commissioner, Inspector or Visitor next visiting the premises.

(2) The maximum penalty for a breach of this Regulation shall be a fine of £20. [2900]

33. Mechanical means of restraint.—(1) Mechanical means of bodily restraint shall not be applied to any patient in an institution or certified house, unless the restraint is necessary for the purposes of surgical or medical treatment, or to prevent the patient from injuring himself or others.

(2) In every case where such restraint is applied a medical certificate shall be obtained, as soon as may be, describing the mechanical means used, and stating the grounds upon which the restraint was employed.

(3) The certificate shall be signed by the superintendent of the institution or certified house if he is a medical practitioner, and if he is not by the medical officer thereof.

(4) A full record of every case of restraint by mechanical means shall be kept from day to day in the register of mechanical restraint and seclusion kept under Regulation 36 of these regulations and the superintendent shall, at the end of each quarter, send to the Board copies of all entries relating to mechanical restraint made during the quarter in the said register.

(5) In this Regulation " mechanical means " means such instruments and appliances as are specified in the regulations made by the Board on the 7th day of January, 1925, under section 40 of the Lunacy Act, 1890 or in such other regulations under that section as may from time to time be in force.

(6) Any person who wilfully acts in contravention of this Regulation shall be guilty of a misdemeanour. [2901]

34. Seclusion.—(1) The total number of hours during which a patient is kept in seclusion shall be recorded every week in the register of mechanical restraint and seclusion.

(2) For the purposes of this Regulation a patient shall be deemed to be kept in seclusion, if at any time between the period commencing at 8 a.m. and ending at 7 p.m. he is isolated in a room the door of which is fastened or held so that he is unable to leave the room at will, but not if he is isolated in a room in which the lower half of the door is so fastened or held but the upper half is left open. [2902]

35. Corporal punishment.—In no case shall corporal punishment be administered to any patient. [2903]

36. Records.—(1) There shall be kept in every institution and certified house :—

(a) a general register ;
(b) an alphabetical register (which may, if desired, be kept by means of a card index) ;
(c) a patient's record in book or loose leaf form ;
(d) a visitors' book and a patients' book in which minutes by members of the committee of management and by the Visitors and other persons visiting patients shall be entered, minutes mentioning patients by name being entered only in the patients' book ;
(e) a register of mechanical restraint and seclusion ;
(f) if the Board so direct, a casualty book and caution cards.

(2) There shall be kept in every institution and certified house in which a medical officer is not resident a diary in which the visiting medical officer shall at each routine visit enter a minute of the welfare of the patients as a whole and of any exceptional circumstances with regard to any of them. [2904]

37. Entries in general register.—The superintendent of an institution or certified house shall, immediately on the reception of a patient, make the appropriate entries with respect to the patient in the general register, and the medical officer shall within 7 days after the reception of the patient make the entries as to mental condition. [2905]

38. Entries on patient's record.—(1) Immediately after a patient has been examined upon admission to an institution or certified house there shall be entered on his record the following particulars :—

(a) name, date of admission, age, sex, occupation, civil state, whether subject to epilepsy, whether of the private or health service class, and of what religious persuasion ;

(b) a record of a complete examination of the patient, special note being made of the presence or absence of bruises or other injuries, his height and weight and the colour of hair and eyes, and any distinguishing marks or scars ;

(c) a statement of the mental condition of the patient.

(2) The following additional particulars shall be obtained as soon as possible and entered on the record :—

(a) the family history of the patient, special attention being directed to the presence or absence of mental or nervous disorder in the relatives ;

(b) the personal history of the patient.

(3) Subsequent entries describing the progress of the patient and recording the medical and other treatment given shall be made on the record at least twice a year and one of these entries shall contain the result of a physical examination.

All special circumstances affecting a patient, including any special form of treatment given, and the results of bacteriological or other investigations made, shall be recorded in the patient's record.

(4) Entries which are of a purely medical character shall be made by a member of the medical staff but other entries may be made by the superintendent.

(5) In the event of the death of any patient, a copy of the death notice and statement shall be attached to, or entered on, the patient's record. [2906]

39. Entry of transfer, discharge or death.—The superintendent of an institution or certified house shall within 2 days after the transfer, discharge or death or the transfer of any patient from the private to the health service class, or vice versa, make an entry of the fact in the general register. [2907]

40. Notices and copies of reports.—(1) The superintendent of an institution or certified house shall send to the Board the following written notices and copies of reports :—

(a) within 7 days thereafter, notice of the appointment, resignation or death of any medical officer ;

(b) within 2 days thereafter, notice of the dismissal or resignation to escape dismissal for misconduct in connection with a patient of any officer or servant and such notice shall state the circumstances giving rise to the dismissal or resignation ;

(c) within 7 days thereafter, notice of the admission of a patient, accompanied by a medical statement to be made and signed by the medical officer, copies of the order under which the patient was received and of the documents on which the order was founded, or, if the patient was received without order, copies of the authority of and the statement by his parent or guardian and of the relative certificates ;

(d) within 48 hours thereafter, notice of the admission of any persons not dealt with under the Acts ;

(e) immediate notice of any patient's mental condition becoming such that he ought to be transferred to an institution for persons of unsound mind ;

(f) within 2 days thereafter, notice of the transfer, discharge, escape or recapture of a patient ;

(g) within 2 days after entry, copies of every entry made in the visitors' book, or the patients' book by any Commissioner, Inspector or Visitor ;

(h) if required by the Board, copies of all the entries, or of any particular entry, in any official book relative to a patient who is, or has been, resident;

(i) not more than 2 months nor less than 14 days before the expiration of the order or authority under which a patient is detained, the special reports and certificates required under sections 11 and 12 of the Act for the continuance of the order or authority and any report that may have been made under either of those sections by a medical practitioner at the request of the patient or the parent or guardian or any relative or friend of the patient.

(2) The superintendent of an institution or certified house shall, where weekly returns are not required by the Minister, send to him immediate notice of any infectious disease and its nature and, where weekly returns are required by the Minister, immediate notice of any outbreak of any infectious disease of exceptional severity or unusual character.

(3) The superintendent of an institution or certified house shall, if so required by the Minister, furnish him with copies of all entries or of any particular entry in any official book relative to a patient who is, or has been, resident.

(4) The committee of management of an institution and the owner of a certified house shall send to the Minister notice of the appointment, resignation or death of the superintendent within 7 days thereafter. [2908]

41. Notice of death.—(1) The superintendent of an institution or certified house shall before the expiration of the second day after the day of the death of a patient send on the appropriate form notice thereof and a statement of particulars relating thereto which statement shall be signed by the medical officer or other medical practitioner who attended the patient:—

(a) to the coroner of the district;

(b) to the Board;

(c) to the registrar of deaths for the district;

(d) in the case of a health service patient, to the local health authority from whose area the patient was admitted and, in the case of such a patient received into a certified institution in pursuance of a contract with a Regional Hospital Board, to that Board;

(e) in the case of a private patient, to the person who made the last payment on account of the patient;

(f) in the case of a patient in a certified house, to the clerk to the Visitors.

(2) The superintendent shall also notify the occurrence of the death and send written intimation that a certificate has been signed, to the relative or one of the relatives named in the statement of particulars accompanying the order or authority for detention of the patient or, if none is so named, to the person named for the purpose in such statement.

(3) The notice required under paragraph (1) to be sent to the Board shall be accompanied by a copy of any letter written or a written summary of any verbal report made by the superintendent to the coroner concerning the death.

(4) In any case in which mechanical restraint was applied within 7 days before the death of the patient particulars of its character and duration shall be given in the statement of particulars relating to the death. [2909]

42. Notice of transfer, discharge, etc.—Immediately upon the transfer, discharge, escape or recapture of any patient the superintendent of an institution or certified house shall send notice thereof to such of the authorities and persons specified in sub-paragraphs (d) to (f) of paragraph (1) and in paragraph (2) of the last preceding Regulation as may be appropriate to the circumstances of the case. [2910]

43. Quarterly returns to Visitors.—(1) The superintendent of an institution or certified house shall at the beginning of each quarter send to the Visitors :—

(a) a list of the names and particulars of the patients on the books of the institution or house who will attain the age of 21 years during that quarter ; and

(b) a list of the names and particulars of the patients on the books of the institution or house whose cases will during the quarter require consideration under section 11 or 12 of the Act otherwise than by reason of their attaining the age of 21 years.

(2) The superintendent shall also send notice to the Visitors immediately after the admission of any patient who is admitted after the quarterly notice and in regard to whom the Visitors will have statutory duties to perform during the current quarter.

(3) A notice to the Visitors under paragraph (1) shall contain the names and addresses of the persons to whom, under Regulation 101 of these regulations, the Visitors are required to give notice of their intention to reconsider the case. [2911]

44. Correspondence.—(1) The superintendent of an institution or certified house shall forward unopened all letters written by any patient and addressed :—

(a) to the Lord Chancellor or to any Judge in Lunacy ;

(b) to the Minister ;

(c) to the Board or any Commissioner ;

(d) to the person who placed him in the institution or certified house or on whose petition an order for his admission was made ;

(e) to the Chancery Visitors or to any Chancery Visitor or to the Visitors or any Visitor ; or

(f) in the case of an institution to the committee of management or to any member of such committee.

(2) The superintendent may also at his discretion forward to its address any other letter written by a patient.

(3) The maximum penalty for a breach of this Regulation shall be a fine of £20. [2912]

45. Power of superintendent to limit correspondence.—(1) Patients shall be allowed to write letters at reasonable intervals, but, except as hereinbefore provided, every letter to or from a patient may be read by the superintendent, and if the contents are objectionable or if the superintendent considers it undesirable that intercourse should be maintained between the patient and the person to whom the letter is addressed or from whom it is received, it shall not be forwarded or delivered.

(2) No patient shall be permitted to sign any legal document without the knowledge of the superintendent. [2913]

46. Notices to be exhibited.—(1) Wherever the Board so direct, there shall be posted up in every institution and certified house printed notices setting forth :—

(a) the conditions prescribed by Regulations 44 and 45 (1) in regard to the forwarding and delivery of the letters of patients ;

(b) the right of every patient to request a personal and private interview with a Commissioner, Inspector or Visitor at any visit he may make to the institution or certified house.

(2) The notices shall be posted in such a position that every patient is able to see them, and the visiting Commissioners or Inspectors may give directions as to the places in which such notices are to be posted.

(3) If any superintendent makes default in posting such notices or does not within ten days carry out any directions given as aforesaid, he shall for each offence be liable to a fine not exceeding £20. [2914]

47. Visits.—(1) Subject to the provisions of section 18 of the Act, visits to a patient may be paid at such times as the superintendent may direct, but the interval between any two visits by the nearest adult relative or guardian of a patient shall not be fixed at more than one month, and the special consent of the superintendent shall be obtained before any patient is visited by any person in connection with business transactions.

(2) If there is reasonable ground for suspecting that any person visiting a patient is exercising a bad influence on him or encouraging him to break the rules or any special directions given by the superintendent, he may be removed from the premises.

(3) The superintendent may report the circumstances of any such removal to the Board, and if the Board on any such report consider that further visits by the person so removed would be contrary to the interests of the patient, they may suspend the person's right to visit the patient. [2915]

48.—Power for Board to permit visits.—(1) The Board may at any time grant permission in writing for the admission of any person to visit a patient either on a single occasion or for a limited number of times or generally at all reasonable times and with or without restriction as to the presence of an attendant or otherwise.

(2) If the superintendent refuses, prevents or obstructs the admission of any person duly authorised by the Board to visit a patient he shall for every offence be liable to a fine not exceeding £20. [2916]

49. Visitation by members of Committee.—(1) Not less than 2 members of the committee of management of an institution shall regularly visit and inspect the institution and see each patient therein, giving him as far as possible, an opportunity of speaking to them.

(2) They shall have submitted to them the documents authorising the detention of every patient admitted since the last visitation as well as the general books kept in the institution.

(3) They shall enter in the visitors' book or other book kept for that purpose any remarks that they think proper with regard to the condition and management of the institution and in the patients' book any similar remarks with regard to the patients, and shall sign both books upon every visit. [2917]

PART VI

SPECIAL PROVISIONS AS TO MANAGEMENT OF CERTIFIED INSTITUTIONS

50. Committee of Management.—The managers shall manage the certified institution through a committee of management appointed by them consisting of such number of members being not less than seven, as the Minister may approve. [2918]

51. Superintendent and medical officer.—(1) The managers shall appoint a person to be superintendent of the certified institution, and it shall be a term of his appointment that he shall reside in or in the immediate vicinity thereof.

(2) If the superintendent is not a medical practitioner, the managers shall appoint a medical officer but the Minister may at any time direct that from such date as he may fix a medical practitioner shall be appointed as superintendent.

(3) It shall be a term of the appointment of any medical officer who is not resident in or in the immediate vicinity of the institution that he shall visit the institution at least once in each week or at such intervals as the Minister may direct.

(4) The superintendent shall be the chief officer of the institution, and he shall be responsible for the general management thereof in accordance with any directions which may be given by the committee of management. The superintendent may for reasons which appear to him sufficient suspend any member of the staff and shall forthwith report such suspension, together with the cause thereof, to the committee of management. [2919]

52. Rules.—(1) The committee of management of a certified institution shall within six months after the certification of the institution prepare and submit to the Minister rules for the government of the institution, and such rules, when approved by the Minister, shall be printed and observed.

(2) The rules may from time to time be altered with the approval of the Minister.

(3) The superintendent of the certified institution shall give such information as the Minister, the Board or any Commissioner or Inspector may at any time require as to the manner in which the rules are carried out, and shall furnish to the Minister or the Board, at such times and in such form as he or they may from time to time direct, such annual and other returns and information relating to the certified institution, or the patients therein, as the Minister or the Board may require. [2920]

53. Religious services and instruction.—The committee of management of every certified institution shall make such arrangements as may be approved by the Minister for the holding of religious services and for securing as far as practicable that religious services shall be held for, and religious instruction given to, the patients according to their religious persuasions. [2921]

54. Accounts.—(1) The accounts of every certified institution shall be audited once a year by an auditor to be approved by the Minister.

(2) The Minister may, if he thinks fit, direct the form in which the accounts shall be kept, and the day of the year to which they are to be made up.

(3) The committee of management shall, within one month after the accounts have been audited, send to the Minister an abstract of the accounts in such form as he may direct. [2922]

PART VII

SPECIAL PROVISIONS AS TO MANAGEMENT OF CERTIFIED HOUSES

55. Visits by medical practitioner.—(1) In every house which is certified for the accommodation of one hundred patients or more, the superintendent, if the Minister so direct, shall be a medical practitioner.

(2) Every house which is certified for the accommodation of more than fifty patients not having a resident medical officer shall be visited by a medical practitioner daily or at such longer intervals as the Minister may direct.

(3) Every house which is certified for the accommodation of fifty or less than fifty patients not having a resident medical officer shall be visited by a medical practitioner twice a week or at such longer intervals as the Minister may direct.

(4) The Minister may direct that any certified house shall be visited by a medical practitioner at any time. [2923]

56. Records.—In addition to the records required by Part V of these regulations to be kept in a certified house, there shall be kept by the superintendent in every certified house lists of the patients for the time being on the books of the house, with the rates of payment made for their maintenance, care and treatment, and such lists shall be at all times accessible to the Commissioners, Inspectors and Visitors visiting the house. [2924]

57. Rules.—(1) The superintendent of a certified house shall within six months after the certification of the house prepare and submit to the Minister rules for the government of the house, and such rules, when approved by the Minister, shall be printed and observed.

(2) The rules may from time to time be altered with the approval of the Minister.

(3) The superintendent of the certified house shall give such information as the Minister, the Board or any Commissioner or Inspector may at any time require as to the manner in which the rules are carried out, and shall furnish to the Minister or the Board, at such times and in such form as he or they may from time to time direct, such annual and other returns and information relating to the house, or the patients therein, as the Minister or the Board may require. [2925]

58. Religious services and instruction.—The superintendent of every certified house shall make such arrangements as may be approved by the Minister for the holding of religious services and for securing so far as is practicable that religious services shall be held for, and religious instruction given to, the patients according to their religious persuasions. [2926]

59. Plan to be exhibited.—In every certified house a copy of the plan showing the allocation of the accommodation approved by the Minister shall at all times be exhibited in some prominent position. [2927]

PART VIII

INSPECTION OF INSTITUTIONS AND CERTIFIED HOUSES AND VISITATION OF PATIENTS THEREIN

60. Visitation by Commissioners, etc.—(1) Every institution and certified house may at any time, by day or night, be visited by any one or more of the Commissioners or Inspectors.

(2) The visits of the Commissioners and Inspectors shall, unless there is reason to the contrary, be made without previous notice. [2928]

61. Duty of Visitors to visit.—The Visitors shall visit an institution as often as may be necessary for the due performance of their duties under sections 11 and 12 (2) of the Act, and shall record, by entries in the visitors' and patients' books, the duties which they perform. [2929]

62. Visitors' right of inspection, etc.—(1) Any one or more of the Visitors may visit a certified house at any time, by day or night, as he or they think necessary.

(2) Every certified house in respect of which the Board so direct, shall be visited six times a year, of which visits not less than four shall be paid by at least two of the Visitors, of whom one shall be a medical practitioner.

(3) The Visitors or Visitor shall, at every visit to a certified house which they or he are required under the last preceding paragraph to make, and may, at any other visit, do all or any of the following things :—

(a) inspect every part of the buildings and grounds which constitute the certified house ;

(b) see every patient, and inquire whether he is under restraint and, if so why ;

(c) consider the observations made in the visitors' book and the patients' book ;

(d) enter in the visitors' book a minute of the condition of the house, of the patients therein, and the number of patients who have been restrained or secluded, with the reasons for such restraint or seclusion ;

(e) inquire :—

(i) when divine service is held, and what average number of patients attend ;

(ii) what occupations and recreations are provided for the patients ;

(iii) how the patients are classified, trained, educated and employed ;

(iv) as to the diet and clothing of the patients ;

(v) as to the moneys paid to the managers on account of any patient under their care ;

(vi) as to such other matters as may in their or his opinion require investigation. [2930]

63. Right of members of Regional Hospital Board to visit.—During the continuance of a contract made by a Regional Hospital Board with the managers of any certified institution for the reception therein of patients, members of the Regional Hospital Board or one or more of their officers may visit the institution and see and examine the patients received under the contract. [2931]

64. Entries in patients' book.—Any visitor may at any visit enter in the patients' book observations as to the state of mind or body of any patient, and any other observations that he may desire to make. [2932]

65. Information to be supplied to visiting Commissioners, etc.—The superintendent of a certified house shall lay before every visiting Commissioner, Inspector or Visitor, at each visit :—

(a) a list of all the patients on the books of the house (distinguishing males from females) ;

(b) the several books required by these regulations to be kept ;

(c) the certificate then in force for the house ;

(d) such other orders, certificates, documents, and papers relating to any of the patients at any time received into the house as the visiting Commissioner, Inspector or Visitor may require ;

(e) such other information as the visiting Commissioner, Inspector or Visitor may require. [2933]

PART IX

GUARDIANSHIP

66. Powers and duties of guardians.—(1) A person appointed to be a guardian shall, in exercising any powers conferred on him by the Act or these regulations, be subject to the direction of the Board.

(2) The guardian shall keep in the house a Guardianship Book.

(3) Except in the case of a patient who has been placed under the guardianship of an officer of the local health authority or in such other cases as the Board may permit, the patient shall reside with the guardian.

(4) Residence of patient.—The guardian may change his residence and remove the patient with him to any new residence in England or Wales, but before any such removal is effected the guardian shall give seven days' previous notice in writing of his intention and of the new address :—

(a) to the Board ;

(b) in the case of a patient (other than a private patient), admitted under order, to the responsible local health authority and to the relative or one of the relatives named in the statement of particulars accompanying the order;

(c) in the case of a patient placed under guardianship under section 3 of the Act towards whose expenses of guardianship a local health authority are contributing, to that local health authority and to the parent or guardian;

(d) in the case of a private patient admitted under order, to the person who made the last payment on account of the patient;

(e) in the case of a patient placed under guardianship under section 3 of the Act towards whose expenses of guardianship a local health authority are not contributing, to the parent or guardian. [2934]

67. Corporal punishment.—In no case shall corporal punishment be administered to a patient under guardianship. [2935]

68. Mechanical means of restraint.—(1) Mechanical means of bodily restraint shall not be applied to any patient, unless the restraint is necessary for the purposes of surgical or medical treatment, or to prevent the patient from injuring himself or others.

(2) In every case where such restraint is applied the guardian shall enter in the appropriate column in the Guardianship Book the date and form of the application of restraint and shall obtain, as soon as possible, from a medical officer of the local health authority for the area in which the guardian is resident, a report describing the mechanical means used and stating the grounds upon which the restraint was employed. Such report shall be entered by the said medical officer in the Guardianship Book in the column headed "Medical and Progress Reports". In the case of a private patient the report shall be obtained from the medical attendant of the patient and entered in like manner by him.

(3) The guardian shall, at the end of each quarter, send to the Board copies of all entries of mechanical restraint made during the quarter in the Guardianship Book.

(4) In this Regulation "mechanical means" means such instruments and appliances as are specified in the regulations made by the Board on the 7th day of January, 1925, under section 40 of the Lunacy Act, 1890, or in such other regulation under that section as may from time to time be in force. The local health authority shall, in the case of a patient for whose guardianship they are responsible for making provision, furnish the guardian with a copy of any such regulation for the time being in force.

(5) The maximum penalty for a breach of this Regulation shall be a fine of £50. [2936]

69. Care of patient.—The guardian shall provide, according to the means available, for the education, training, occupation and recreation of the patient and shall ensure that in these respects everything practicable is done for the improvement of his mental and physical condition. [2937]

70. Leave of absence to patient.—(1) The guardian may, with the previous licence in writing of the responsible local health authority, if any, and of the petitioner, not being an officer of the local health authority, or, if the patient was placed under guardianship without order, of the person who placed him under guardianship, take or send the patient under proper control to such place or places and for such period as may be specified in the licence or may grant leave of absence for a period not exceeding 14 days.

(2) Immediate notice of any such change of residence shall be given to the Board by the guardian. [2938]

71. Notice of reception and medical statement.—The guardian shall within 7 days after the reception of a patient into his guardianship send to the Board notice thereof together with a medical statement to be made and signed, when the patient has been received under an order, by the medical officer of the responsible local health authority or by a medical practitioner appointed by them, and when received without order, by a medical practitioner, together with copies of the order and documents or of the statement and certificates on which the patient was received :

Provided that if one of the certificates was given by the medical officer of the responsible local health authority, the notice need not be accompanied by a medical statement but the guardian shall send to the Board within three months after the patient's reception a statement showing the result of a complete physical and mental examination of the patient by the medical officer of the responsible local health authority or by a medical practitioner appointed by them. [2939]

72. Transfer, discharge, etc., of patients.—The guardian shall within 24 hours after the transfer, discharge, escape, or recapture of a patient give written notice thereof to the Board and to such of the authorities and persons specified in sub-paragraphs (b) to (e) of paragraph (4) of Regulation 66, as may be appropriate to the circumstances of the case. [2940]

73. Notice of death.—(1) The guardian shall before the expiration of the second day after the day of the death of any patient send on the appropriate form notice thereof and a statement of particulars relating thereto (which statement shall be signed by the patient's medical attendant) :—

(a) to the coroner of the district ;
(b) to the Board ;
(c) to the registrar of deaths for the district ;
(d) to such of the authorities and persons specified in sub-paragraphs (b) to (e) of paragraph (4) of Regulation 66 as may be appropriate to the circumstances of the case and to the person named in the statement of particulars accompanying the order or authority for the patient's detention as the person to whom notice of death is to be sent.

(2) The notice required under paragraph (1) to be sent to the Board shall be accompanied by a copy of any letter written or a written summary of any verbal report made to the coroner concerning the death.

(3) In any case in which mechanical restraint was applied within 7 days before the death of the patient particulars of its character and duration shall be given in the statement of particulars relating to the death. [2941]

74. Reports.—The guardian shall make such reports and give such information to the Minister or the Board in reference to the patient as he or they may from time to time require. [2942]

75. Medical and dental services.—The local health authority in the case of a patient for whom they are responsible and in any other case the guardian shall make arrangements for securing the provision of personal medical and dental services for the patient whether under Part IV of the National Health Service Act, 1946, or otherwise. [2943]

76. Visitation on behalf of responsible Local Health Authority.—The local health authority shall cause every patient for whom they are responsible to be visited in the following manner :—

(1) At least once in each year by a medical practitioner with experience in mental deficiency who shall at each visit enter in the Guardianship Book particulars of the mental and physical condition of the patient and any other observations that he may think necessary.
(2) At such intervals as the authority may decide but in any case at intervals of not more than six months by their officers or other approved persons (other than the medical practitioner referred to in the preceding paragraph) who shall enter in the Guardianship

Book particulars as to the patient's progress, circumstances and care.

(3) At every visit the medical practitioner, officer or person visiting under this Regulation shall sign and date his entry.

(4) Where the patient is resident in the area of a local health authority other than the responsible local health authority the obligations of the responsible local health authority under this and the preceding Regulation may, by arrangement between the two local health authorities, be discharged by the other local health authority. [2944]

77. Resignation of guardian.—A guardian who wishes to resign his appointment shall give previous notice in writing of his intention to the Board and to the responsible local health authority, if any, and to the petitioner, not being an officer of the local health authority, or, in the case of a patient placed under guardianship without order, to the parent or guardian who placed the patient or to the person who made the last payment on account of the patient's maintenance. [2945]

78. Patient unsuitable for guardianship.—If the patient is or becomes unsuitable for guardianship, the guardian shall give immediate notice of the circumstances in writing to the Board and to the responsible local health authority, if any, and to the petitioner, not being an officer of the local health authority, or, in the case of a patient placed under guardianship without order, to the parent or guardian who placed the patient or to the person who made the last payment on account of the patient's maintenance. [2946]

79. Visitation of patients by Commissioners and Inspectors.—(1) Every dwelling in which there is a patient under guardianship may at any time, by day or night, be visited by any one or more of the Commissioners or Inspectors.

(2) The visits of the Commissioners and Inspectors shall, unless there is reason to the contrary, be made without previous notice. [2947]

80. The guardian shall lay before the visiting Commissioners or Inspectors at each visit :—

(a) the Guardianship Book ;
(b) all documents relating to the patient ;
(c) all unforwarded letters written by and all undelivered letters written to the patient. [2948]

81. Duty of Visitors to visit.—(1) The Visitors shall visit the patient as often as may be necessary for the due performance of their duties under sections 11 and 12 (2) of the Act, and shall sign the Guardianship Book at each visit.

(2) Any one or more of the Visitors shall, upon the request in writing of the Board, visit any patient. [2949]

82. Correspondence.—(1) The guardian shall forward or cause to be forwarded unopened all letters written by the patient and addressed :—

(a) to the Lord Chancellor or to any Judge in Lunacy ;
(b) to the Minister ;
(c) to the Board or any Commissioner ;
(d) to the person who placed him under guardianship, or on whose petition an order for his reception was made ;
(e) to the Chancery Visitors or to any Chancery Visitor or to the Visitors or any Visitor ; or
(f) to the responsible local health authority, if any, or to any member of that authority.

(2) The guardian may also at his discretion forward to its address any other letter written by the patient. [2950]

83. Power of guardian to limit correspondence.—(1) Patients shall be allowed to write letters at reasonable intervals, but, except as hereinbefore provided, every letter to or from a patient may be read by his guardian, and if the contents are objectionable or if the guardian considers it undesirable that intercourse should be maintained between the patient and the person to whom the letter is addressed or from whom it is received it shall not be forwarded or delivered but shall be retained for a period of twelve months and produced at any time during that period on request to any Commissioner, Inspector or Visitor.

(2) No patient shall be permitted to sign any legal document without the knowledge of the guardian. [2951]

84. Visits.—(1) Subject to the provisions of section 18 of the Act, visits to a patient may be paid at such intervals as the person in whose guardianship the patient is placed may direct but the interval between any two visits by the nearest adult relative or guardian of the patient shall not be fixed at more than one month, and the special consent of the person in whose guardianship the patient is placed shall be obtained before the patient is visited by any person in connection with business transactions.

(2) If there is reasonable ground for suspecting that any person visiting a patient is exercising a bad influence on him, his right to visit may be suspended by the Board on the application of the guardian. [2952]

85. Power for Board to permit visits.—(1) The Board may at any time grant permission in writing for the admission of any person to visit a patient either on a single occasion or for a limited number of times or generally at all reasonable times and with or without restriction as to the presence of an attendant or otherwise.

(2) If the person in whose guardianship the patient is placed or in whose care he is residing refuses, prevents or obstructs the admission of any person duly authorised by the Board to visit the patient, he shall for every offence be liable to a fine not exceeding £20. [2953]

PART X

TRANSFER OF PATIENTS FROM ONE INSTITUTION TO ANOTHER

86. Transfer by Board of Control.—The Board may by order direct the transfer of a patient who has been sent by order to an institution or a certified house to any other institution or certified house. [2954]

87. The Board may by order direct the transfer of a patient who has been placed in an institution or certified house without order to any other institution or certified house. [2955]

88. Transfer by Regional Hospital Board.—A Regional Hospital Board may by order transfer any patient detained in an institution for defectives administered by them, whether by order or not, to any other such institution under their administration:

Provided that if the patient was placed in the institution without order, the transfer shall not be effected except on the application of the person who placed him in the institution or, in the absence of such application, unless the parent or guardian has been given an opportunity of making representations as to the proposed transfer. [2956]

89. Transfer to state institution.—The Board, if satisfied that a patient detained in an institution or certified house is of dangerous or violent propensities, may by order transfer him to a state institution. [2957]

90. Procedure.—The superintendent of the institution or house from which a patient is transferred shall :

(1) Provide a proper escort for the patient.

(2) Send forthwith to the superintendent of the institution or house to which the patient is thereupon admitted the order, certificates and other documents on which the patient was received. [2958]

91. The notice of admission sent to the Board in the case of any such transfer shall be accompanied by a copy of the order of transfer (if not made by the Board) and by a statement with respect to the mental and physical condition of the patient. [2959]

PART XI

TRANSFER OF PATIENT UNDER GUARDIANSHIP TO AN INSTITUTION OR CERTIFIED HOUSE OR TO ANOTHER GUARDIAN OR FROM AN INSTITUTION OR CERTIFIED HOUSE TO GUARDIANSHIP

92. Transfer to institution or certified house.—When a patient who has been placed under guardianship by order is or becomes unsuitable for guardianship, the responsible local health authority, in default of application by the guardian, shall, unless the Board otherwise direct, apply to a judicial authority for an order that the patient be sent to an institution or certified house. [2960]

93. Change of guardian.—The responsible local health authority, in default of application by any other person shall, unless the Board otherwise direct, apply to a judicial authority for an order—

(a) for the removal of any guardian whose removal they consider expedient ; and

(b) for the appointment of a suitable person in the place of a guardian who has been removed, has died or resigned or is about to resign his office. [2961]

94. When a patient who has been sent to an institution by order is or becomes suitable for guardianship, the committee of management of the institution shall notify the Board and the responsible local health authority to that effect. [2962]

PART XII

ABSENCE OF PATIENTS FROM INSTITUTIONS AND CERTIFIED HOUSES

95. Procedure on grant of licence to be absent.—(1) (a) The superintendent of an institution (other than a state institution), with the concurrence of two members of the committee of management of the institution ; or

(b) The superintendent of a certified house, with the concurrence of two of the Visitors ; or

(c) The Board in the case of a state institution ;

may grant to a patient detained therein a licence to be absent from the institution or house for such period and subject to such conditions as to residence or otherwise as may be therein specified :

Provided that, in the case of a private patient, a licence shall not be granted without the consent of the person who made the last payment on account of the patient's maintenance unless, in the case of such a patient in a state institution, the Board, and in any other case the superintendent and the persons who concur with him in granting the licence are of opinion that there is adequate reason for dispensing with such consent.

(2) A patient who is on licence shall reside with the person named for that purpose in the licence, unless the person or body granting and the persons (if any) concurring in the grant of the licence otherwise permit.

(3) A licence granted under this regulation may at any time be revoked, in the case of a licence granted by the superintendent of an institution or certified house by the Board or by the superintendent who granted it, or by the Board in the case of a licence granted by the Board, and may be renewed by, and with the concurrence and consent of, the like persons as are authorised to grant a licence or are required to concur in and consent to the grant thereof. [2963]

96. Leave of absence without licence.—The superintendent of any institution or certified house may on his own authority and without issuing a licence grant permission in writing to a patient to be absent on leave for a period not exceeding 14 days subject to such conditions as may be specified in the permission, if he is satisfied as to the suitability of the place to which the patient will be taken and as to the means of care and control which will be available. [2964]

97. Powers on expiration of revocation of licence or permission.—On the expiry or revocation of any licence or permission granted or renewed under either of the last two preceding Regulations the patient may be brought back to the institution or house by the superintendent or any officer or other person authorised by him in writing. [2965]

98. No licence or leave of absence without licence shall, except with the consent of the Secretary of State, be granted to a patient who has been transferred under an order made by the Secretary of State under section nine of the Act from a prison or other institution to which the Prison Acts, 1865 to 1898, apply or from an approved school or criminal lunatic asylum in which he was detained to an institution for defectives so long as the term for which he was committed to the prison or other institution from which he was transferred remains unexpired. [2966]

PART XIII

MISCELLANEOUS

99. Procedure on consideration or reconsideration of cases of patients by Visitors.—(1) The Visitors for the county or borough within which any patient is detained in an institution or certified house or under guardianship shall be informed by the superintendent or the responsible local health authority, as the case may require, of the date when the order or authority for detention will expire or the date at which the patient will attain the age of 21 years and shall arrange for the consideration or reconsideration of his case by not less than two of their number.

(2) Before making any decision, they shall consider a report as to the circumstances of the home of the patient and all matters relating to his previous history, present circumstances and present mental condition which it shall be the duty of the superintendent in the case of a patient in an institution or certified house, and of the responsible local health authority, in the case of a patient under guardianship, to supply. [2967]

100. If a patient is absent on leave or licence at the date when the order or authority for detention will expire or when he attains the age of 21 years he may be recalled for the purpose of the consideration or reconsideration of his case, or arrangements may be made for that purpose by the Visitors appointed for the county or borough within which he is temporarily residing. [2968]

101. Procedure on reconsideration of cases of patients attaining the age of 21 years.—The Visitors, before reconsidering the case of a patient on his attaining the age of 21 years, shall give not less than 14 days' notice of their intention so to do—

(a) in the case of a patient detained under order in an institution, to the responsible local health authority, to the petitioner, not being an officer of such local health authority, and to the parent or guardian;

(b) in the case of a patient detained under order in a certified house to the petitioner, to the parent or guardian and to the person who made the last payment on account of the patient;

(c) in the case of a patient detained under a guardianship order, to the responsible local health authority and to the petitioner, not being an officer of such local health authority, and to the parent or guardian;

(d) in the case of a patient detained in an institution, a certified house or under guardianship without order, to the parent or guardian and to the person, if any, who made the last payment on account of the patient; and shall afford any such authority or person an opportunity of being heard or of making representations in writing with reference to the case. [2969]

102. Visitors to inform Board, etc., of their decision.—The Visitors shall communicate their decision on the case to the Board, and also to the superintendent or guardian, who shall thereupon give notice of the decision to the persons to whom notice of the reconsideration of the case is required to be sent and to the patient and, in the event of the Visitors deciding not to order the patient's discharge, the notices to the patient and his parent or guardian shall be accompanied by an intimation that an appeal may be made to the Board within 14 days of the receipt of such notice. [2970]

103. Time of examination for purpose of special reports and certificate.—The examination of the patient by the medical officer of an institution or certified house or by a medical practitioner and by the Visitors for the purposes of the special reports and certificate mentioned in subsection (4) of section 11 of the Act shall be made not more than two months before the date when the order or authority for detention will expire. [2971]

104. Procedure in cases of defectives charged with offences.—The forms G1 to G6 in the Schedule hereto or forms substantially to the like effect may be used for the purposes of section 8 of the Act. [2972]

105. Medical certificate and statement of particulars.—Where under section 3 of the Act a patient is placed in an institution or under guardianship by his parent or guardian, a statement in the form set out in form P10 in the Schedule hereto shall be signed by the parent or guardian, and the statement of particulars and medical certificates required by that section shall be in the forms P3 and P5 in the Schedule hereto or in forms substantially to the like effect. [2973]

106. Notice of the reception of a defective into private care.—Where a person undertakes the care and control of any person who is a defective, or who is placed under care as being a defective elsewhere than in an institution, a certified house or an approved home, the notice of reception to be sent to the local health authority and to the Board pursuant to section 51 (2) of the Act shall be in the form N in the Schedule hereto or in a form substantially to the like effect. [2974]

107. Powers and duties of local health authorities with respect to defectives who are dealt with under the Lunacy and Mental Treatment Acts, 1890 to 1930.—(1) The powers conferred and the obligations imposed upon local health authorities by section 30 of the Act shall apply to a defective detained in an institution for persons of unsound mind if the Board certify to the local health authority that, having regard to the needs of the defective in the matter of care, training and employment, it is expedient that he shall be dealt with under the Acts.

(2) Any defective so certified shall, on being sent to an institution for defectives or placed under guardianship pursuant to an order under the Acts, cease to be a patient dealt with under the Lunacy and Mental Treatment Acts, 1890-1930. [2975]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

The amendments to the Mental Deficiency Acts, 1913 to 1938, effected by Part V of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and the Ninth Schedule to that Act, have necessitated corresponding amendments in the Mental Deficiency Regulations. These amendments are so numerous and extensive that rewriting of the whole of the Regulations has been found to be the only practical course.

The new Regulations follow the lines of the existing Regulations and all the major alterations are consequential on the amendments to the Mental Deficiency Acts referred to in the first paragraph of this Note.

MENTAL TREATMENT RULES, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1071

May 21, 1948

The Board of Control, in exercise of the powers conferred on them by subsection (1) of Section 338 of the Lunacy Act, 1890, as extended by Section 15 of the Mental Treatment Act, 1930 and amended by Section 50 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and with the approval of the Minister of Health and the concurrence of the Lord Chancellor, hereby make the following Rules.

PART I

General

1. Short title and interpretation.—These Rules may be cited as the Mental Treatment Rules, 1948. [2977]

2.—(1) In these Rules, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them—

"The principal Act" means the Lunacy Act, 1890, as amended by the National Health Service Act, 1946;

"The Act of 1930" means the Mental Treatment Act, 1930, as amended by the National Health Service Act, 1946;

"Minister" means the Minister of Health;

"The Board" means the Board of Control;

"Commissioner" includes Senior Commissioner and Commissioner other than Senior Commissioner;

"Hospital Management Committee" means a Hospital Management Committee appointed by a Regional Hospital Board under section eleven of the National Health Service Act, 1946;

"Medical Officer" in relation to a mental hospital means the Medical Superintendent, or if the Superintendent is not a medical practitioner the resident Medical Officer, or if none the medical practitioner who visits the mental hospital as the Medical Officer thereof; in relation to other premises vested in the Minister and designated by him for the purposes of the Act of 1930 means the resident medical practitioner, or if none the medical practitioner who visits the premises as the medical attendant thereof; in relation to a registered hospital means the Superintendent; in relation to a licensed house means the resident medical practitioner, or if none the medical practitioner who visits the house as the medical attendant thereof;

"Person in charge" in relation to a person received or about to be received under the principal Act into an institution means the medical officer of the mental hospital, the medical officer of the registered hospital or the resident licensee of the licensed house into which he is or is about to be so received; in relation to a person received or about to be received under the Act of 1930 as a voluntary or temporary patient (not being a person received or about to be received as a single patient) means the medical superintendent or other person in charge of the institution, hospital, home or place into which he is or is about to be so received; and in relation to a person received or about to be received as a single patient under the principal Act or the Act of 1930 means the person into whose charge he is or is about to be so received.

"Clerk" in relation to an institution means the clerk of a mental hospital or an institution vested in the Minister and designated by him for the purposes of the Act of 1930, but not of a registered hospital or licensed house.

"Health service patient" means a patient other than a private patient or a criminal lunatic.

(2) The forms set out in the Schedule to these Rules shall be used in all cases to which those forms are applicable.

(3) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these Rules as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [2978]

3. Date of commencement.—These Rules shall come into operation on the 5th day of July, 1948, on which day the Mental Treatment Rules, 1930, the Mental Treatment (Emergency Provisions) Rules, 1940, the Mental Treatment (Emergency Provisions) Rules, 1942, and the National Health Service (Mental Treatment) Amendment Rules, 1947, shall cease to have effect. [2979]

PART II

APPLICATION, WITH MODIFICATIONS AND ADAPTATIONS, TO VOLUNTARY AND TEMPORARY PATIENTS OF SECTIONS 55, 56, 58, 59, 61, 64, 66, 67 AND 70, AND SECTIONS 275, 319, 322 AND 324 OF THE PRINCIPAL ACT

Leave of Absence of Temporary Patients

4. Absence of temporary patients on trial or for health or on short leave.—(1) Subject to the provisions of Section 5 of the Act of 1930, the person in charge of an institution *, hospital or nursing home may permit a temporary patient to be absent on trial or for the benefit of his health for such period as the person in charge thinks fit:

Provided that before permission is granted to any patient, the approval in writing of the person having authority to discharge the patient shall be obtained unless, in the opinion of the person in charge, there is adequate reason for dispensing with such approval.

(2) Seven clear days before any such permission is granted to a temporary patient in a nursing home, notice of the impending absence shall be sent to the Board and similar notice with respect to any extension of the period of absence shall also be sent to the Board.

(3) The Hospital Management Committee of an institution vested in the Minister may make an allowance to a temporary patient absent on trial therefrom, not exceeding the amount of the expense of his maintenance in the institution.

(4) Where any temporary patient detained in a registered hospital or hospital in pursuance of a contract with a Regional Hospital Board is permitted under this Rule to be absent upon trial, two members of the managing committee or governing body of the hospital, as the case may be, may make an allowance to the patient during the period of his absence not exceeding the amount payable under the contract for his maintenance in the hospital and the allowance shall either be paid to him or for his benefit as the members of the managing committee or governing body may direct.

(5) The person in charge of a registered hospital, licensed house, hospital or nursing home may, of his own authority, permit any temporary patient to be absent from the registered hospital, house, hospital or nursing home for a period not exceeding forty-eight hours.

* The expression "institution" is defined by the Act of 1930 with the following meaning and in these Rules has the same meaning, viz., a mental hospital and other premises vested in the Minister and designated by him for the purposes of the Act of 1930, a registered hospital or licensed house.

(6) The person in charge of an institution vested in the Minister and designated by him for the purposes of the Act of 1930 may of his own authority permit any temporary patient to be absent from the institution for a period not exceeding four days. [2980]

Change of Residence and Leave of Absence of Single Patient

5. Change of residence of voluntary and temporary single patients.—(1) Any person having charge of a voluntary single patient or temporary single patient may change his residence and remove the patient to any new residence which he takes up in England or Wales.

(2) Seven clear days before a change of residence, the person having charge of the patient shall give notice in writing to the Board of the proposed change, and of the place of the new residence, and, in the case of a voluntary patient under the age of sixteen years and of a temporary patient, he shall also give the like notice to the person on whose application the patient was received. If a temporary patient residing in the jurisdiction of visitors has not been seen by them in accordance with the provisions of section 5 (9) of the Act of 1930, a like notice shall also be given to the clerk of the visitors, and on the arrival of the patient at his new residence, if such residence is within the jurisdiction of any other visitors, the clerk of the latter visitors shall be notified.

(3) Absence of temporary single patients on trial or for health.—The person in charge of a temporary single patient may, with the advice in writing of the medical attendant, permit him to be absent on trial or for the benefit of his health for such period as, subject to the provisions of section 5 of the Act of 1930, the person in charge thinks fit.

(4) Before any such permission is granted, the approval in writing of the person having authority to discharge the patient shall be obtained unless in the opinion of the person in charge there is adequate reason for dispensing with such approval.

(5) Seven clear days before any such permission is granted, notice of the impending absence of the patient shall be sent to the Board and similar notice with respect to any extension of the period of absence shall also be sent to the Board. [2981]

Removal of Temporary Patients

6. Removal of private temporary patient by person authorised to discharge.—The person having authority to discharge a private temporary patient from an institution, hospital or nursing home or to discharge a temporary single patient may, with the previous consent in writing of a Commissioner, by order in writing, direct the removal of the patient to an institution, hospital or nursing home or to the charge of any person named in the order. [2982]

7. Removal of temporary patient by Board or Commissioner.—(1) A Commissioner may by order direct the removal of a temporary patient from an institution, hospital or nursing home or from the charge of any person to any other institution, hospital or nursing home or to the charge of another person.

(2) Upon the death of a person having charge of a temporary single patient the Board may, upon the application of the person having authority to discharge the patient, or, if he does not apply within seven days after the death, upon their own motion, direct the patient to be removed to the charge of a person named in the order, or to an institution, hospital or nursing home. [2983]

8. Removal of temporary patient treated under contract.—Where a temporary patient is detained in a registered hospital, or hospital in pursuance of a contract with a Regional Hospital Board, that Board may make an order for the removal of the patient, and may direct the mode of removal, and on production to the person in charge of a copy of the order he shall forthwith remove the patient or permit him to be removed in accordance with the order. [2984]

9. Removal of temporary patient to mental hospital.—Any two members of the Hospital Management Committee of an institution vested in the Minister may by order authorise the removal of a temporary patient to that institution from any other institution, hospital or nursing home in which he may be detained. [2985]

10. Directions as to execution of order for removal.—The members of the Hospital Management Committee making an order for the removal of a temporary patient may by the order require the local health authority for the area where the institution is situated, or may authorise any other person, to execute the same. [2986]

11. Restriction upon removal of temporary patient.—A temporary patient shall not be removed under any order for removal made by two members of a Hospital Management Committee without a medical certificate signed by the medical officer of the institution from which the patient is to be removed, or in the case of a hospital or nursing home by the medical practitioner in charge of the case, certifying that he is in a fit condition of bodily health to be removed. [2987]

12. Removal orders to be in duplicate.—(1) Every order for the removal of a temporary patient from an institution, hospital or nursing home or from the charge of any person shall be made in duplicate and any written consent to a removal which is given by a Commissioner shall also be in duplicate. One duplicate shall be delivered to the person in charge of the institution, hospital or nursing home from which, or to the person from whose care, the patient is removed, and the other to the person in charge of the institution, hospital or nursing home into which, or to the person into whose care, the patient is removed.

(2) Authority for removal and reception.—Every such order, accompanied, where requisite, by the necessary consent, shall be sufficient authority for the removal and reception of the patient, in accordance with the order.

(3) Copy of documents to be delivered.—The person in charge of the institution, hospital or nursing home from which, or the person from whose care a temporary patient is removed under any such order, shall deliver, free of expense, copies of the application for admission and of the medical recommendation accompanying the same to the person executing the order for removal, to be by him delivered to the person in charge of the institution, hospital or nursing home into which, or to the person into whose care, the patient is removed.

(4) Every such copy shall be certified under the hand of the person whose duty it is to deliver it. [2988]

Notice to Coroner

13. Death of temporary patient.—If the person in charge of an institution, hospital or nursing home or of a single patient omits to send to the coroner within the time prescribed by Rule 65, Rule 86, or Rule 102, as the case may be, notice of the death of a temporary patient, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanour. [2989]

Ill-Treatment

14. Ill-treatment.—If any person in charge, officer, nurse, attendant, servant or other person employed in an institution, hospital or nursing home or in a place approved for the reception of voluntary patients, or any person having charge of a voluntary or temporary patient ill-treats or wilfully neglects a patient he shall be guilty of a misdemeanour and, on conviction on indictment, shall be liable to a fine or imprisonment, or to both fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court, or be liable on summary conviction for every offence to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds nor less than two pounds. [2990]

Abuse of Female Patient

15. Abuse of female voluntary or temporary patient.—If any person in charge, officer, nurse, attendant or other person employed in an institution, hospital or nursing home or in a place approved for the reception of voluntary patients, or any person having the care or charge of any voluntary or temporary single patient, or any attendant of any such single patient, carnally knows or attempts to have carnal knowledge of any female under care or treatment in the institution, hospital, nursing home or place or as a single patient, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanour, and, on conviction on indictment, shall be liable to be imprisoned with or without hard labour for any term not exceeding two years; and no consent or alleged consent of such female thereto shall be any defence to an indictment or prosecution of such offence. [2991]

PART III

APPLICATION, WITH MODIFICATIONS AND ADAPTATIONS, TO TEMPORARY PATIENTS OF SECTIONS 40, 41, 42, 49, 50, 51 AND 85 OF THE PRINCIPAL ACT

Mechanical Restraint

16. Mechanical means of restraint.—(1) Mechanical means of bodily restraint shall not be applied to any temporary patient unless the restraint is necessary for purposes of surgical or medical treatment or to prevent the patient from injuring himself or others.

(2) In every case where such restraint is applied, a medical certificate shall, as soon as it can be obtained, be signed, describing the mechanical means used, and stating the grounds upon which the restraint was employed.

(3) The certificate shall be signed, in the case of a patient in an institution by the medical officer, in the case of a patient in a hospital or nursing home by the medical practitioner in charge of the patient, and in the case of a single patient by his medical attendant.

(4) A full record of every case of restraint by mechanical means shall be kept from day to day; and a copy of the records and certificates under this rule shall be sent to the Board by the person in charge at the end of every quarter.

(5) In the application of this rule "mechanical means" shall be such instruments and appliances as are specified in the Regulation made by the Board on the 7th day of January, 1925, under Section 40 (6) of the principal Act or in such other regulations under that section as may from time to time be in force.

(6) Any person who wilfully acts in contravention of this rule shall be guilty of a misdemeanour. [2992]

Correspondence

17. Letters of temporary patients.—(1) The person in charge of each institution, hospital and nursing home and every person having charge of a single patient shall forward unopened all letters written by any temporary patient and addressed to the Lord Chancellor or any Judge in Lunacy, or to the Minister of Health, or to the Board or any Commissioner, or to the person who made the application for the reception of the patient or, if such person was not a relative, to the relative named therein, or to the person having authority to discharge the patient, or to the Chancery Visitors or any Chancery Visitor or to any other visitors or visitor, or to the Hospital Management Committee or any member of the Hospital Management Committee of the institution in which the patient writing such letters may be, and may also at his discretion forward to its address any other letter written by a temporary patient.

(2) If any person in charge of an institution, hospital or nursing home or of a temporary single patient makes default in complying with the obligation imposed on him by this rule, he shall for each offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds. [2993]

Notices

18. Notices as to letters and interviews.—(1) Whenever the Board so direct, there shall be posted up in every institution, hospital and nursing home, printed notices setting forth :—

(a) the right conferred by the last preceding rule on temporary patients in regard to the forwarding of their letters ;

(b) the right of every temporary patient to request a personal and private interview with any Commissioner or member of the Hospital Management Committee or visitor at any visit which he may make to the institution, hospital or nursing home.

(2) The notices shall be posted in each institution, hospital and nursing home so that every temporary patient may be able to see them.

(3) The visiting Commissioners or, in the case of a licensed house, the visitors may give directions as to the places in which such notices are to be posted.

(4) If the person in charge of any institution, hospital or nursing home makes default in posting such notices, or does not within ten days carry out any directions as to such notices given by any visiting Commissioner or visitors, he shall for each offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds. [2994]

Examination of Patients

19. Application for examination of temporary patient.—An order for the examination by two medical practitioners, authorised by the Board, of any temporary patient in an institution, hospital or nursing home or of a temporary single patient may be obtained from the Board upon the application of any person, whether a relative or friend or not, who satisfies the Board that it is proper for them to grant such order ; and on production to the Board of the certificates of the medical practitioners so authorised, certifying that after two separate examinations with at least seven days intervening between the first and the second examination, they are of opinion that the patient may, without risk or injury to himself or the public be discharged, the Board may order the patient to be discharged at the expiration of ten days from the date of the order. [2995]

Inquiries as to Property

20. Inquiry as to property of temporary patient.—(1) Where the Board represent to the Lord Chancellor that it is desirable that the extent and nature of the property of a temporary patient, and its application, should be ascertained, the Lord Chancellor may, if he thinks fit, through the Master in Lunacy, require that the person upon whose application the patient was received or other the person paying for the care and maintenance of the patient or having the management of his property, shall transmit to the Lord Chancellor a statement in writing, to the best of his knowledge, of the particulars of the property of the patient and of its application.

(2) The Board may also, whenever they think it expedient, make inquiries as to the property of any temporary patient. [2996]

Application for a Search

21. Information as to persons treated as temporary patients.—If any person applies to the Board in order to be informed whether any particular temporary patient is treated in any institution, hospital or nursing home or as a single patient and it appears that the patient is or has been so treated, the Board may, if they think fit, deliver to the applicant a statement in writing specifying the situation of the institution, hospital, nursing home or house in which the patient appears to be or to have been treated, and also (so far as the Board can ascertain the same from any register or return in their possession) the name of the person in charge, and the date of admission, and (in case of the patient's removal or discharge) the date of his removal or discharge. The applicant shall pay to the Board such sum not exceeding seven shillings as the Minister may fix. [2997]

Escape and Recapture

22. Escape and recapture.—If a temporary patient escapes, he may, subject to the provisions of section 5 of the Act of 1930, without a fresh application for admission and medical recommendation, be retaken at any time within fourteen days after his escape by the person in charge of the institution, hospital or nursing home in which he was detained, or any officer or servant thereof, or by the person in whose charge he was as a single patient, or by anyone authorised in writing by that person. [2998]

PART IV

APPLICATION, WITH MODIFICATIONS AND ADAPTATIONS, TO TEMPORARY PATIENTS OF SECTIONS 72, 73, 74, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 82 AND 83 OF THE PRINCIPAL ACT

Discharge of Temporary Patients

23. Discharge of temporary patient.—(1) A temporary patient detained in an institution, hospital or nursing home, or under care as a single patient, shall be discharged on a direction in writing given under his hand—

(a) by the person on whose application the patient was received as a temporary patient, other than an officer of the local health authority;

(b) if that person is dead or incapable by reason of insanity, absence from England and Wales, or otherwise, of signing an order for discharge, by the person who made the last payment on account of the patient, or by the appropriate relative.

(2) If there is no person qualified to direct the discharge of a temporary patient under this rule, or no person able or willing to act, the Board may order his discharge.

(3) In this rule the expression " appropriate relative " means the husband or wife, or if there is no husband or wife, or the husband or wife is incapable by reason of insanity, absence from England or Wales, or otherwise, of signing an order for discharge, the father, or if there is no father, or if he is incapable as aforesaid, the mother, or if there is no mother, or she is incapable as aforesaid, then any one of the next of kin. [2999]

24. Discharge of temporary patient treated under contract.—Where any temporary patient is detained in a registered hospital or hospital in pursuance of a contract with a Regional Hospital Board, that Board may make an order for the discharge of the patient and may direct the mode of discharge, and on production to the person in charge of a copy of the order, he shall forthwith discharge the patient or permit him to be discharged in accordance with the order. [3000]

25. Restriction on discharge of temporary patient.—A temporary patient shall not be discharged under the foregoing provisions if the medical officer of the institution, or in the case of a patient in a hospital or nursing home the medical practitioner in charge of the patient, or in the case of a single patient his medical attendant, certifies in writing that the patient is dangerous and unfit to be at large, together with the grounds on which the certificate is founded, unless two members of the Hospital Management Committee in the case of an institution vested in the Minister, or a Commissioner visiting the registered hospital, licensed house, hospital or nursing home, or the visitors of the licensed house, or, in the case of a single patient, a Commissioner, after the certificate has been produced, consent in writing to the patient's discharge. [3001]

26. Notice of order of discharge.—(1) The Board when they have made an order of discharge shall forthwith serve it upon the person in charge and shall give notice of such order, in the case of a private patient, to the person on whose application the patient was received or who made the last payment on account of the patient.

(2) Any person who has been duly served with any such order of discharge and detains a temporary patient after the date of discharge appointed thereby shall be guilty of a misdemeanour. [3002]

27. Discharge by members of Hospital Management Committee.—(1) Any three members of the Hospital Management Committee of an institution vested in the Minister may order the discharge of any temporary patient detained therein, whether he is recovered or not.

(2) Any two such members, with the advice in writing of the medical officer, may order the discharge of any temporary patient detained therein. [3003]

28. Discharge by visitors of temporary patients in licensed houses.—(1) If after two visits by two visitors to a licensed house, it appears to the visitors that any temporary patient is detained without sufficient cause, the visitors may make such order as they think fit for his discharge.

(2) In the case of visits under this rule, one of the visitors shall be a medical practitioner.

(3) The two visits shall be made by the same visitors with an interval of not less than seven days between the visits.

(4) Seven days' notice of the second visit shall be given to the person in charge either by post or by an entry in the patients' book, and he shall forthwith send by post a copy of the notice to the person on whose application the patient was received or by whom the last payment on account of the patient was made, and also to the clerk of the visitors.

(5) The visitors before making an order under this rule shall examine the medical officer of the licensed house as to his opinion respecting the fitness of the temporary patient to be discharged, if he tenders himself for examination.

(6) If, after such examination, an order for discharge is made, and the medical officer furnishes to the visitors a statement of his reasons against the discharge, they shall forthwith send the statement to the clerk of the visitors.

(7) Every order under this rule shall be signed by the visitors by whom it is made. [3004]

29. Discharge of temporary patient on application of relative or friend.—(1) When application is made to the Hospital Management Committee of an institution vested in the Minister by a relative or friend of a temporary patient detained therein, requiring that he may be delivered over to the custody and care of such relative or friend, any two of the members thereof may, if they think fit, discharge the patient upon the undertaking of the relative or friend, to their satisfaction, that the patient shall be properly taken care of and prevented from doing injury to himself or others.

(2) In the case of such a patient detained in a registered hospital or hospital in pursuance of a contract with a Regional Hospital Board, the provisions of paragraph 1 of this rule shall apply with the substitution of the managing committee or governing body of that hospital, as the case may be, for the Hospital Management Committee of an institution vested in the Minister. [3005]

30. Notice of impending discharge of temporary patient by Hospital Management Committee.—When the Hospital Management Committee of an institution vested in the Minister order a temporary patient detained therein to be discharged, except on the application of a relative or friend, they may, when they think fit, send, by post or otherwise, to the local health authority, a notice in writing, signed by the clerk of the institution or if there is no clerk on the staff by the person in charge, of their intention to discharge the patient. [3006]

31. Copy of reception documents to be furnished.—The Secretary to the Board shall, upon the discharge of a person who considers himself to have been unjustly detained as a temporary patient, furnish to him upon his request, free of expense, copies of the application for reception and of the medical recommendation accompanying the same. [3007]

32. Notice to be given on recovery of temporary patient.—(1) The person in charge of every registered hospital, licensed house, hospital and nursing home and of a temporary single patient, shall forthwith, upon the recovery of a temporary patient, send notice thereof, to the person on whose application the patient was received or by whom the last payment on account of the patient was made.

(2) The notice shall state that unless the patient is removed within seven days from the date of the notice he will be discharged.

(3) In case the patient is not removed within seven days from the date of the notice he shall be forthwith discharged. [3008]

PART V

APPLICATION TO HOSPITALS, NURSING HOMES, HOUSES AND PLACES RECEIVING VOLUNTARY OR TEMPORARY PATIENTS (NOT BEING HOSPITALS, HOMES, HOUSES OR PLACES FOR THE VISITATION AND INSPECTION OF WHICH PROVISION IS MADE BY THE PRINCIPAL ACT) OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE PRINCIPAL ACT RELATING TO VISITATION AND INSPECTION

Visitation and Inspection

Hospitals

33. Commissioners to visit.—One or more Commissioners shall once at least in each year visit every hospital receiving voluntary or temporary patients, and shall enquire as to any such matters relating to those patients as they think fit. [3009]

34. Books to be produced to visiting Commissioners.—The person in charge of each hospital receiving voluntary or temporary patients shall when so required by any visiting Commissioner lay before him :—

(a) a list of all voluntary and temporary patients then in the hospital ;
(b) the several books required to be kept by these Rules or by any other rules applicable to the hospital which may be made under the principal Act and may be for the time being in force. [3010]

Nursing Homes and Places

35. Commissioners to visit.—One or more Commissioners shall once at least in each year visit every nursing home and place receiving voluntary or temporary patients and shall enquire as to such matters relating to these patients as they think fit. [3011]

36. Inspection of premises by visiting Commissioners.—Any such nursing home or place may at any time of the day or night be visited by a Commissioner who may inspect any or every part of the buildings and grounds used by voluntary or temporary patients. [3012]

37. Person in charge to show every part and every patient.—(1) The person in charge of each nursing home or place shall when so required by any visiting Commissioner show to him every person residing therein as a voluntary or temporary patient, and any or every part of the buildings or grounds used by such patients.

(2) Any person in charge of a nursing home or place shall be guilty of a misdemeanour if he conceals or attempts to conceal from or refuses or wilfully neglects to show to any visiting Commissioner, or any person authorised under the Act of 1930 to visit and inspect the nursing home or place or the patients therein or any of them, any part of the buildings or grounds used by voluntary or temporary patients or any such patient therein, or if he does not give full and true answers to the best of his knowledge to all questions which any visiting Commissioner or other person authorised to visit asks in the execution of his office. [3013]

38. Books to be produced to visiting Commissioners.—The person in charge of each nursing home or place receiving voluntary or temporary patients shall when so required by any visiting Commissioner lay before him :—

(a) a list of all voluntary and temporary patients then in the nursing home or place ;
(b) the several books required to be kept by these Rules or by any other rules applicable to the nursing home or place which may be made under the principal Act and may be for the time being in force. [3014]

Houses receiving Voluntary and Temporary Single Patients

39. Annual visit to single patient.—One or more Commissioners shall once at least in each year visit every house in which a voluntary or temporary single patient is resident and inquire into and report to the Board on the treatment and state of bodily and mental health of the patient. [3015]

40. Power to visit and report.—(1) A Commissioner, on the direction of the Board, may at all reasonable times visit a voluntary or temporary single patient, and inquire into and report to the Board or to the Lord Chancellor on the treatment and state of health, both bodily and mental, of the patient, and as to the moneys paid on his account.

(2) Any one or more of the visitors appointed for any county or borough shall, upon the request in writing of the Board to visit, have the like power as regards any voluntary or temporary single patient in such county or borough.

(3) Upon every visit under this rule the medical journal shall be produced to the person making the visit, and he shall sign the same.

(4) A copy of any report under this rule shall, if the Board think it expedient, be laid before the Lord Chancellor. [3016]

41. Power to inspect.—(1) Any Commissioner visiting a house in which a voluntary or temporary single patient is resident may inspect any or every part of the house or grounds used by the patient.

(2) If the person having charge of a patient refuses to show to any Commissioner, at his request, any part of the house or grounds used by the patient, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanour. [3017]

PART VI

PROVISION PRESCRIBING THE EVIDENCE REQUIRED ON APPLICATION FOR EXTENSION OF TEMPORARY TREATMENT

42.—(1) In any case in which it is desired to extend the period of treatment for a temporary patient the application required under Section 5 (13) of the Act of 1930 shall be addressed to the person in charge, who shall transmit it to the Board not more than one month nor less than fourteen days before the expiration of the current period of treatment together with a statement as to the mental and bodily condition of the patient which shall be signed—

(a) in the case of a patient in an institution by the medical officer;
(b) in the case of a patient in a hospital or nursing home by the medical practitioner in charge of the case;
(c) in the case of a single patient by the medical attendant.

(2) The Board may also require a recommendation from the usual medical attendant of the patient or from a medical practitioner approved by the Board. [3018]

PART VII

PROVISIONS PRESCRIBING THE BOOKS AND RECORDS TO BE KEPT IN INSTITUTIONS

43. Application and interpretation.—(1) This Part of these Rules applies to institutions, that is to say, mental hospitals and other premises vested in the Minister and designated by him for the purposes of the Act of 1930, registered hospitals and licensed houses.

(2) In this Part of these Rules the expression "ward" in relation to a hospital or licensed house includes a suitable division or section of the hospital or house. [3019]

44. Books and records to be kept.—(1) There shall be kept in every institution the following books and records for voluntary, temporary and certified patients:—

(a) a visitors' book;
(b) a patients' book;
(c) an alphabetical register (which may, if desired, be kept by means of a card index);
(d) a general register;
(e) a register of mechanical restraint and seclusion;
(f) a post-mortem record;

(g) a casualty book for each ward ;
(h) a clinical record ;
(i) a dispensary book or medicine card or sheet ;
(j) caution cards for actively suicidal cases, tuberculous cases and intestinal infection cases.

(2) There shall be kept in every mental hospital a register of dysentery and diarrhoea. [3020]

45. Post-mortem record.—A member of the medical staff shall enter in the post-mortem record notes of all post-mortem examinations. [3021]

46. Nurses' reports.—In every institution vested in the Minister the nurse in charge of each ward shall make day reports and night reports and shall also keep a list of the patients in the ward. [3022]

47. Casualty book.—The nurse in charge of each ward shall keep the casualty book for that ward and shall enter therein a note of any injury or casualty to a patient immediately after its occurrence, and shall at the same time inform a member of the medical staff. [3023]

48. Clinical records.—(1) The clinical record shall be either in book form or in loose leaf form, and subject to the requirements of this rule the method of keeping the record shall be such as the medical officer may determine.

(2) The following entries shall be made by a member of the medical staff in the clinical record in respect of each patient admitted—

(a) the name ; date of admission ; general reference number ; age ; sex ; occupation ; civil state ; nationality ; whether subject to epilepsy, suicidal or dangerous to others ; whether voluntary, temporary or certified ; whether of the private, health service or criminal class, and the name of the local health authority in whose area the patient ordinarily resides ; whether a direct or indirect case ; and in the latter event the name of the institution from which transferred ; and religion ;
(b) a record of a complete physical examination of the patient ;
(c) a description of the phenomena of the mental illness ;
(d) a diagnosis of the case ;
(e) the family history of the patient, with special attention to the presence or absence of mental or nervous disorder in the relatives ;
(f) the personal history of the patient including the question of previous attacks of mental or nervous disorder ;
(g) the history of the present illness including the aetiological factors of the disease in so far as they are ascertainable.

(3) Copies of the following documents shall be made on or attached to the clinical record—

(a) in the case of voluntary patients under the age of sixteen, the medical recommendation ;
(b) in the case of temporary patients, the medical recommendation ;
(c) in the case of certified patients, the medical certificate or certificates accompanying the urgency or reception order, and the statement of particulars supplied by the relative or duly authorised officer at whose instance the order was made.

(4) In the event of the death of a patient, a copy of the death notice and statement is to be attached to, or entered on, the clinical record. [3024]

49. How often entries to be made.—(1) Subsequent entries describing the course and progress of the case and recording the medical and other treatment and its result shall be made in the clinical record by a member of the medical staff at the following times, that is to say, once at least in every week, or oftener, if necessary, during the first month after admission, and once at least in every month during the ensuing eleven months except in protracted cases in which cases entries shall be made as frequently as necessary. At the end of twelve months entries shall be made at least twice a year, and one of these entries shall contain the record of a complete physical examination.

(2) All special circumstances affecting a patient, including any special form of treatment given, and the results of bacteriological or other investigations made, shall be recorded in the clinical record by a member of the medical staff.

(3) All entries in the clinical record must be signed or initialled by the member of the medical staff making them, and a printed copy of this and the last preceding rule shall be issued to each member of the medical staff on appointment. [3025]

50. Medicine records.—All medicines, except simple aperients and occasional draughts shall be prescribed in writing by the member of the medical staff in charge of the case either by means of an entry in the dispensary book or on a separate card or sheet for each patient, and all repetitions shall be initialled by a member of the medical staff. A record of the prescription of simple aperients and occasional draughts shall also be kept in such form as the medical officer thinks fit. [3026]

51. Entries to be made and notices to be sent on admission.—(1) The clerk of an institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge, shall on the admission of a patient make the appropriate entries with respect to the patient in the alphabetical register and in the general register.

(2) The clerk of an institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge, shall before the expiration of the second day after that on which a patient was received send to the Board a notice of his admission and also—

(a) in the case of a voluntary patient under the age of sixteen, a copy of the medical recommendation ;

(b) in the case of a temporary patient, copies of the application for reception and of the medical recommendation ;

(c) in the case of a certified patient admitted on an urgency order, copies of the urgency order, and of the statement of particulars and medical certificate which accompanied the order ;

(d) in the case of a certified patient admitted on a reception order, copies of the reception order, and of the statement of particulars and medical certificate or certificates on which the order was made, and if the reception order was made on petition, a copy of the petition.

(3) Where a patient has been admitted on an urgency order which is followed by a reception order made on petition, a copy of the reception order together with copies of the petition and medical certificates shall, before the expiration of the second day after that on which the reception order was obtained, be sent to the Board by the person who under this rule is required to send notice of admission to the Board.

(4) Within the times prescribed by this rule a notice of admission and copies of the documents referred to in paragraph (2) of this rule shall also be sent—

(a) in the case of temporary patients, by the clerk of an institution which has a Hospital Management Committee to the clerk of the Hospital Management Committee, and by the person in charge of a registered hospital within the jurisdiction of visitors to the clerk of the visitors ;

(b) in the case of temporary or voluntary patients, by the person in charge of a licensed house within the jurisdiction of visitors to the clerk of the visitors.

(5) In the case of certified patients the person in charge of a licensed house shall also send a notice of admission to the clerk of the visitors.

(6) Where a criminal lunatic is admitted to an institution, the clerk or in the case of an institution having no clerk on its staff the person in charge, shall within the times prescribed by this rule send to the Board a notice of admission and copies of the Home Secretary's warrant and of the documents accompanying it. If the patient is subsequently detained under an order of a justice made under the Acts relating to criminal lunatics, the same person shall send notice thereof to the Board before the expiration of the second day after the day on which the patient has ceased to be a criminal lunatic, together with a copy of the justice's order* for continued detention, and shall after the expiration of the second day and before the end of the seventh day send to the Board a medical statement. [3027]

52. Medical statement.—The clerk of every institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge, shall, after the expiration of the second day and before the end of the seventh day after the day on which a temporary or certified patient, a person of unsound mind so found by inquisition, or a criminal lunatic was received, send to the Board a medical statement. [3028]

53. Form of report under s. 39 of principal Act.—The report which under section 39 of the principal Act is required to be sent to the Board at the expiration of one month after the reception of a patient under a reception order made on petition shall be in the form set out in Form 18 in the Schedule to these Rules. [3029]

54. Notice to relatives and friends.—The clerk of an institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge, shall—

(a) on the admission of every certified patient, send a notice of the times and conditions of visitation to all persons whose names appear as relatives or friends of the patient on the statement of particulars accompanying the reception order, and on the admission of every temporary patient send to the person (other than an officer of the local health authority) who made the application for reception, and also, if the application was not made by a relative, to any relative named therein, a similar notice. The notice shall embody the substance of Section 79 of the principal Act, or Rule 29 as the case may require.

(b) Notice to person having power to discharge.—On the admission of every certified or temporary patient to an institution, send to the person empowered to give direction for the patient's discharge a notice giving the substance of Sections 72 and 74 of the principal Act, or Rules 23 and 25 as the case may require. [3030]

55. Statement as to physical condition.—On the admission of every temporary or certified patient into an institution vested in the Minister, a written statement shall be furnished to the duly authorised officer of the local health authority, or other person bringing the patient, that a physical examination has been made by a member of the medical staff. The statement shall also describe the general physical condition of the patient and indicate whether bruises or other injuries or marks of violence or neglect were observed at the examination. [3031]

* For the purposes of s. 38 of the principal Act and s. 7 of the Lunacy Act, 1891, this order is the reception order.

56. Special reports and certificates.—In the case of patients detained by virtue of orders made under subsections (3) and (4) of section 24 of the principal Act or section 19 of the Act of 1930 which, by reason of the provisions of subsection (3) of section 50 of the National Health Service Act 1946 or any other enactment, have effect as if they were summary reception orders made on the 5th day of July, 1948, the special reports and certificates under section 38 of the principal Act and section 7 of the Lunacy Act 1891 shall be included in one list. In the case of all other patients detained under reception orders, a special report and certificate shall be made for each patient. [3032]

57. Record of seclusion.—(1) The total number of hours during which a patient in an institution is kept in seclusion shall be recorded every week in the register of mechanical restraint and seclusion.

(2) For the purposes of this rule a patient shall be deemed to be kept in seclusion if at any time between the period commencing at 8 a.m. and ending at 7 p.m. he is isolated in a room the door of which is fastened or held so that he is unable to leave the room at will, but not if he is isolated in a room in which the lower half of the door is so fastened or held but the upper half left open. [3033]

58. Register of mechanical restraint and seclusion.—The person in charge of an institution shall, at the end of each quarter, send to the Board copies of all entries of mechanical restraint made during the quarter in the register of mechanical restraint and seclusion. [3034]

59. Copies of records.—The person in charge of an institution shall, whenever so required by the Minister or the Board, send to them copies of all records or of any particular record relating to any specified patient, who is or may have been confined or resident in the institution. [3035]

60. Schedule of rates of payments for private patients.—(1) The clerk of an institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge shall prepare and keep lists of the private patients for the time being on the books of the institution, showing the rates of payment made for the maintenance and care and treatment of such patients. The lists shall be at all times accessible to the Commissioners visiting the institution, and, in the case of a house within the jurisdiction of visitors, to the visitors.

(2) The presence of any boarders lodged under Section 4 of the Act of 1930 shall also be recorded. [3036]

61. Transfer of patients.—When application is made to the Board for their consent to the transfer of a private temporary or private certified patient from one institution to another, or to a hospital, or nursing home or to single care, the medical officer of the institution from which the patient is to be removed shall furnish the Board with a report with regard to the patient's mental and bodily condition, and fitness for transfer, stating in particular whether he is suicidal or dangerous to others. [3037]

62. Leave of absence.—An application to the Board or to visitors for consent to leave of absence from a licensed house for a private certified patient whether for the benefit of the patient's health or on trial shall be accompanied by a recommendation from the medical officer. [3038]

63. Entries to be made on removal, departure, discharge or death.—The clerk of an institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge shall, before the expiration of the second day after the day of the removal, departure, discharge, death, or transfer from or to the private to or from the health service class, of any patient, make the appropriate entry thereof in the general register. [3039]

64. Notices to be sent on removal, departure or discharge.—(1) The clerk of an institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge shall, before the expiration of the second day after the day of the removal, departure or discharge of a patient, or his transfer from or to the private to or from the health service class, send written notice thereof to the Board and, if the patient was a health service patient, to the local health authority from whose area he was admitted, and also, in the case of a person of unsound mind so found by inquisition, to the Chancery Visitors.

(2) The clerk of an institution vested in the Minister shall within the same period after the removal, departure or discharge of a patient send written notice—

(a) in the case of a temporary patient to the clerk of the Hospital Management Committee and to the person (other than an officer of the local health authority) who made the application for reception and, if the application was not made by a relative, to any relative named therein; and

(b) in the case of a certified patient to the relative to whom notice of death is required to be sent.

(3) The person in charge of a licensed house within the jurisdiction of any visitors shall within the same period send a like notice to the clerk of the visitors.

(4) The person in charge of a registered hospital within the jurisdiction of any visitors shall in the case of a temporary patient send within the same period a like notice to the clerk of the visitors. [8040]

65. Notice and statement as to death of temporary or certified patient.—(1) The person in charge shall before the expiration of the second day after the day of the death of a temporary or certified patient in an institution send notice thereof, together with the statement relating thereto, to the coroner of the district.

(2) The clerk of an institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge, shall within the like time send a like notice and statement—

(a) to the Board;

(b) to the registrar of deaths for the district;

(c) to the local health authority from whose area the patient was admitted, if the patient was a health service patient; and

(d) in the case of the death—

(i) of a patient in a licensed house within the jurisdiction of any visitors, to the clerk of the visitors;

(ii) of a temporary patient, to the person (other than an officer of the local health authority) who made the application for reception and, if the application was not made by a relative, to any relative named therein; and, if the patient had been transferred from the health service to the private class, to the person who made the last payment on account of the patient;

(iii) of a temporary patient in an institution vested in the Minister, to the clerk of the Hospital Management Committee;

(iv) of a temporary patient in a registered hospital within the jurisdiction of any visitors, to the clerk of the visitors;

(v) of a certified patient, to the relative or one of the relatives named in the statement of particulars accompanying the order for the reception of the patient, or, if none is so named, to the person named for the purpose in such statement;

(vi) of a private certified patient, to the person who made the last payment on account of the patient;

(vii) of a person of unsound mind so found by inquisition, to the Chancery Visitors.

(3) The notice required under the last preceding paragraph to be sent to the Board shall be accompanied by a copy of any letter written or a summary in writing of any verbal report made to the coroner concerning the death.

(4) In any case in which mechanical restraint was applied within seven days before the death of a patient particulars of its character and duration shall be given in the statement. [3041]

66.* Notice and statement as to death of voluntary patient.—(1) The clerk of an institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge, shall before the expiration of the second day after the day of the death of a voluntary patient send notice thereof, together with the statement relating thereto, to the Board.

(2) The person in charge of a house licensed by justices shall also within the same period send a like notice and statement to the clerk of the visitors. [3042]

67. Copies to be sent of entries on visitation.—(1) The clerk of an institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge, shall within two clear days after the visit of any Commissioner send to the Board and, in the case of a licensed house within the jurisdiction of visitors, also to the clerk of the visitors, copies of all entries made by the Commissioner at such visit in the visitors' book or patients' book.

(2) The person in charge of a licensed house within the jurisdiction of visitors shall also within two clear days after the visit of any visitor send to the Board and to the clerk of such visitors copies of all entries made by the visitor at such visit in either of the last-mentioned books. [3043]

68. Notice of change in staff.—The clerk of an institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge, shall within seven days after the happening thereof send to the Board notice of the appointment or resignation of the superintendent or of any change in the medical staff, including the visiting and consulting staff and temporary medical staff, of the institution. Any change of clerk of an institution vested in the Minister shall also be notified within the same period. [3044]

69. Notice of dismissal of member of the staff.—The clerk of an institution, or in the case of an institution having no clerk on the staff the person in charge, shall within two clear days of the happening thereof send to the Board notice in writing of the dismissal or resignation to escape dismissal of any member of the staff who was or was about to be dismissed on the ground of misconduct in connection with a patient, and such notice shall state the circumstances giving rise to the dismissal or resignation. [3045]

* In addition to the requirements of this rule in the case of a voluntary patient dying in an institution, the registered medical practitioner who attended the patient during his last illness is required pursuant to the provisions of the Births and Deaths Registration Acts, 1836 to 1929 and regulations made by the Registrar-General thereunder to deliver to the registrar of deaths for the district a certificate of cause of death in the form prescribed by the said regulations and to sign and give to some person required to give information concerning the death notice in the form prescribed by the said regulations that he has signed the said certificate of cause of death.

70. Entries and returns.—All entries required to be made under these Rules shall be made in such a manner as to admit of being easily referred to and extracted whenever the Minister or the Board so require. [3046]

71. Institutions to furnish plans.—The Minister or the Board may require the person in charge to furnish at the cost of the institution such plans of any of the buildings or of the estate used for the purposes of the institution as the Minister or the Board may think fit. [3047]

72. Abstract of accounts of registered hospital.—(1) The superintendent of a registered hospital shall, within one month next after the accounts of the hospital shall have been submitted to the Charity Commissioners, or have been audited, as the case may be, send to the Minister an abstract of the accounts in such form as the Minister shall from time to time prescribe.

(2) Annual Report.—He shall also send to the Minister a printed copy of the annual report of the hospital within a month after its publication. [3048]

PART VIII

PROVISIONS PRESCRIBING THE BOOKS AND RECORDS TO BE KEPT IN HOSPITALS AND NURSING HOMES

73. Application.—This Part of these Rules applies to hospitals, other than registered hospitals, and to nursing homes. [3049]

74. Books and records to be kept.—There shall be kept in every hospital and nursing home receiving voluntary and temporary patients the following books and records :—

(a) a general register ;
(b) a register of mechanical restraint and seclusion ;
(c) a clinical record of the condition of each patient. [3050]

75. Clinical records.—(1) The medical practitioner in charge of a case shall keep a clinical record of the condition of the patient.

(2) A copy of the medical recommendation shall be made on or attached to the clinical record :—

(a) in the case of a voluntary patient under the age of sixteen ; and (b) in the case of a temporary patient.

(3) In the event of any change of classification or status, or of the departure, discharge or transfer of a patient the fact shall be noted on the clinical record with the date thereof and, in the case of departure, discharge or transfer, the destination of the patient.

(4) In the event of the death of a patient, a copy of the death notice and statement shall be attached to or entered on the clinical record. [3051]

76. Notices to be sent on admission.—(1) The person in charge shall, before the expiration of the second day after that on which a patient was received, send to the Board a notice of his admission and also—

(a) in the case of a voluntary patient under the age of sixteen, a copy of the medical recommendation ;
(b) in the case of a temporary patient, copies of the application for reception and of the medical recommendation.

(2) In the case of the admission of a temporary patient into a hospital not vested in the Minister or a nursing home within the jurisdiction of visitors the person in charge shall within the time prescribed by this rule send to the clerk of the visitors a notice of admission and copies of the application for reception and of the medical recommendation. [3052]

77. Statement as to physical condition.—On the admission of a health service temporary patient a written statement shall be furnished to the duly authorised officer of the local health authority or other person bringing the patient that a physical examination has been made by a medical practitioner. The statement shall also describe the general physical condition of the patient and indicate whether bruises or other injuries or marks of violence or neglect were observed at the examination. [3053]

78. Medical statement.—The person in charge shall, after the expiration of the second day and before the end of the seventh day after the day on which a temporary patient is received, send to the Board a medical statement to be made and signed by the medical practitioner in charge of the case. [3054]

79. Record of seclusion.—(1) The total number of hours during which a patient in a hospital or nursing home is kept in seclusion shall be recorded every week in the register of mechanical restraint and seclusion.

(2) For the purposes of this rule seclusion has the meaning assigned to it in Rule 57. [3055]

80. Register of mechanical restraint and seclusion.—The person in charge shall at the end of each quarter send to the Board copies of all entries of mechanical restraint in the register of mechanical restraint and seclusion made during the quarter. [3056]

81. Copies of records.—The person in charge shall, whenever so required by the Minister or the Board, produce to them, or send to them copies of, all or any of the records relating to any specified voluntary or temporary patient who is or may have been resident or detained in the hospital or nursing home. [3057]

82. Schedule of rates of payment for private patients.—The person in charge shall prepare and keep lists of the private voluntary and private temporary patients for the time being on the books of the nursing home, showing the rates of payment made for the maintenance and care and treatment of such patients, and such lists shall be at all times accessible to the visiting Commissioners. [3058]

83. Transfer of patients.—When application is made to the Board for their consent to the transfer of a private temporary patient, the person in charge shall furnish the Board with a report by the medical practitioner in charge of the case as to the patient's mental and bodily condition, and fitness for transfer. [3059]

84. Notices to be sent on removal, departure or discharge.—(1) Before the expiration of the second day after the day of the removal, departure or discharge of a voluntary or temporary patient, the person in charge shall send written notice thereof to the Board, and in the case of a temporary patient, to the person (other than an officer of the local health authority) who made the application for reception and, if the application was not made by a relative, to any relative named therein, and, if the patient was a health service patient, to the local health authority from whose area he was admitted.

(2) The person in charge of a hospital not vested in the Minister or a nursing home within the jurisdiction of any visitors shall in the case of a temporary patient send a like notice to the clerk of the visitors within the same period. [3060]

85. Notice of dismissal of member of staff.—The person in charge shall, within two clear days of the happening thereof, send to the Board notice in writing of the dismissal or resignation to escape dismissal of any member of the staff who was or was about to be dismissed on the ground of misconduct in connection with a voluntary or temporary patient, and such notice shall state the circumstances giving rise to the dismissal or resignation. [3061]

86. Notice and statement as to death of temporary patient.—(1) The person in charge shall, before the expiration of the second day after the day of the death of a temporary patient, send notice of death, together with the statement relating thereto—

(a) to the coroner of the district;
(b) to the Board;
(c) to the registrar of deaths for the district;
(d) to the local health authority from whose area the patient was admitted, if the patient was a health service patient;
(e) to the person (other than an officer of the local health authority) who made the application for reception and, if such person is not a relative, to any relative named therein;
(f) if the patient had been transferred from the health service to the private class, to the person who made the last payment on account of the patient;
(g) if the hospital, not being vested in the Minister, or nursing home is within the jurisdiction of any visitors, to the clerk of the visitors; and

(2) The notice required under paragraph 1 (b) of this rule to be sent to the Board shall be accompanied by a copy of any letter written or a summary in writing of any verbal report made to the coroner concerning the death.

(3) In any case where mechanical restraint was applied within seven days before the death of a patient particulars of its character and duration shall be given in the statement. [3062]

87.* Notice and statement as to death of voluntary patient.—The person in charge shall, before the expiration of the second day after the day of the death of a voluntary patient send notice thereof, together with the statement relating thereto, to the Board. [3063]

88. The notice of the death of a voluntary or temporary patient together with the statement relating thereto, shall be prepared and signed by the medical practitioner who attended the patient in his last illness. [3064]

PART IX

PROVISIONS PRESCRIBING THE BOOKS AND RECORDS TO BE KEPT IN HOUSES FOR SINGLE PATIENTS

89. Application.—This Part of these Rules applies to houses in which persons are received as single patients. [3065]

---

* In addition to the requirements of this rule in the case of a voluntary patient dying in a hospital or nursing home, the registered medical practitioner who attended the patient during his last illness is required pursuant to the provisions of the Births and Deaths Registration Acts, 1836 to 1929 and regulations made by the Registrar-General thereunder to deliver to the registrar of deaths for the district a certificate of cause of death in the form prescribed by the said regulations and to sign and give to some person required to give information concerning the death notice in the form prescribed by the said regulations that he has signed the said certificate of cause of death.

90. Medical journal.—A medical journal shall be kept in every house in which a voluntary, temporary, or certified patient is received. [3066]

91. Notices to be sent on admission.—(1) The person in charge shall before the expiration of the second day after the day on which a patient was received send to the Board a notice of his admission and also—

(a) in the case of a voluntary patient under the age of sixteen, a copy of the medical recommendation;

(b) in the case of a temporary patient, copies of the application for reception and of the medical recommendation;

(c) in the case of a certified patient, if admitted on an urgency order, copies of the urgency order and of the statement of particulars and medical certificate which accompanied the order, or if admitted on a reception order, copies of the reception order, petition, statement of particulars and medical certificates.

(2) Where a patient has been admitted on an urgency order which is followed by a reception order made on petition, a copy of the reception order together with copies of the petition and medical certificates shall be sent by the person in charge to the Board before the expiration of the second day after that on which the reception order was obtained.

(3) In the case of a temporary patient admitted to a house within the jurisdiction of visitors the person in charge shall within the time prescribed by this rule send to the clerk of the visitors a notice of admission and copies of the application for reception and of the medical recommendation. [3067]

92. Medical statement.—The person in charge shall, after the expiration of the second day and before the end of the seventh day after the day on which a temporary or certified patient was received, send to the Board a medical statement signed by the patient's medical attendant. [3068]

93. Form of report under s. 39 of principal Act.—The report which under section 39 of the principal Act is required to be sent to the Board by the medical attendant of a certified single patient at the expiration of one month after his reception shall be in the form set out in Form 18 in the Schedule to these Rules. [3069]

94. Special report and certificate.—The special report and certificate under section 38 of the principal Act, and section 7 of the Lunacy Act, 1891, shall be signed by the medical attendant of a certified single patient in the form set out in Form 20 of the Schedule to these Rules. [3070]

95. Record of seclusion.—(1) The total number of hours during which a single patient is kept in seclusion shall be recorded every week in the medical journal.

(2) For the purposes of this rule seclusion has the meaning assigned to it in Rule 57. [3071]

96. Copies of entries of mechanical restraint.—The person in charge shall at the end of each quarter send to the Board copies of all entries of mechanical restraint made in the medical journal during the quarter. [3072]

97. Duties of medical attendant of single patient.—(1) The medical attendant of a single patient shall, as soon as possible after the admission of the patient, enter at the beginning of the medical journal a sketch of the previous history of the case and full particulars of the mental and bodily condition of the patient on admission.

(2) Such medical attendant shall also at each visit enter in the medical journal the mental and bodily condition of the patient, and all the other particulars indicated in Form 26 in the Schedule to these Rules.

(3) If the Board allow a single patient to be visited less often than once in every two weeks, and the patient is in the house or in the charge of a medical practitioner, the practitioner shall once at least in every two weeks enter in the medical journal the particulars referred to in the last preceding paragraph together with the date of the entry.

(4) Every entry relating to the mental condition of a voluntary or temporary patient shall contain a statement as to the fitness of the patient to remain as such. [3073]

98. Transfer of patients.—When application is made to the Board for their consent to the transfer of a temporary or certified single patient, the medical attendant of the patient shall furnish the Board with a report as to the patient's mental and bodily condition, and fitness for transfer, and especially as to whether he is suicidal or dangerous to others. [3074]

99. Leave of absence.—An application to the Board for consent to leave of absence for a certified single patient from the house in which he is received, whether for the benefit of his health or on trial, shall be accompanied by a recommendation from the medical attendant of the patient. [3075]

100. Notices to be sent on removal, departure or discharge.—(1) The person in charge shall, before the expiration of the second day after the day of the removal, departure, or discharge of a patient, send written notice thereof to the Board and also, in the case of a person of unsound mind so found by inquisition, to the Chancery visitors.

(2) In the case of a temporary single patient residing within the jurisdiction of visitors, the like notice shall within the same period be sent to the clerk of the visitors. [3076]

101. Notice of dismissal of nurse or attendant.—The person in charge shall, within two clear days of the happening thereof, send to the Board notice in writing of the dismissal or resignation to escape dismissal of any nurse or attendant who was or was about to be dismissed on the ground of misconduct in connection with a patient, and such notice shall state the circumstances giving rise to the dismissal or resignation. [3077]

102. Notice and statement as to death of temporary or certified patient.—(1) The person in charge shall, before the expiration of the second day after that of the death of a temporary or certified patient, send notice thereof, together with the statement relating thereto—

(a) to the coroner of the district;

(b) to the Board;

(c) to the registrar of deaths for the district; and

(d) in the case of death—

(i) of a temporary patient, to the person who made the application for reception and, if the application was not made by a relative, to any relative named therein, or to the person who made the last payment on account of the patient;

(ii) of a temporary patient within the jurisdiction of any visitors, to the clerk of the visitors;

(iii) of a certified patient, to the relative or one of the relatives named in the statement of particulars accompanying the order for the reception of the patient, or if none is so named, to the person named for the purpose in such statement, and also to the person upon whose petition the order was made, or who made the last payment on account of the patient;

(iv) of a person of unsound mind so found by inquisition, to the Chancery Visitors.

(2) The notice required under paragraph 1 (b) of this rule to be sent to the Board shall be accompanied by a copy of any letter written or a summary in writing of any verbal report made to the coroner concerning the death.

(3) In any case in which mechanical restraint was applied within seven days before the death of a patient particulars of its character and duration shall be given in the statement. [3078]

103.* Notice and statement as to death of voluntary patient.—The person in charge shall, before the expiration of the second day after the day of the death of a voluntary patient, send notice thereof, together with the statement relating thereto, to the Board. [3079]

104. The notice of the death of a patient, together with the statement relating thereto, shall be prepared and signed by the medical attendant or the medical practitioner who attended the patient in his last illness. [3080]

PART X

PROVISIONS RELATING TO APPLICATIONS FOR LICENCES, ETC.

105. Applications for licences.—(1) Every person desiring to apply for a licence under the principal Act for a house in substitution for a house already licensed shall—

(a) if the house is within the immediate jurisdiction of the Minister, apply in writing to the Minister;

(b) if the house is situate elsewhere, give not less than 30 days' notice to the clerk of the peace for the county or borough in which it is situate, and to the Minister of his intention to apply to quarter or special sessions of the licensing justices, as the case may be.

(2) The application or notice, as the case may be, shall contain—

(a) the full names, place of abode, and occupation of the proposed licensee;

(b) the full names of the person who is to reside in the house; and a full description of the estate or interest therein of the proposed licensee.

(3) The applicant shall send with the application or notice the following documents:—

---

* In addition to the requirements of this rule in the case of a voluntary patient dying in a house, the registered medical practitioner who attended the patient during his last illness is required pursuant to the provisions of the Births and Deaths Registration Acts, 1836 to 1929 and regulations made by the Registrar-General thereunder to deliver to the registrar of deaths for the district a certificate of cause of death in the form prescribed by the said regulations and to sign and give to some person required to give information concerning the death notice in the form prescribed by the said regulations that he has signed the said certificate of cause of death.

(a) a general description of the property, including its situation, and total area, the character of the buildings, the method of warming and lighting, and the water supply and drainage ;

(b) an Ordnance or other map or plan showing the property, including the buildings, the exercise ground, gardens, and roads of approach, and indicating by colour the land and buildings which are to be included in the licence, and distinguishing those buildings which are to be occupied by patients ;

(c) a statement of the number of patients of each sex to be received, and of the means by which they are to be kept apart both in the house and in the grounds ;

(d) plans to a scale not smaller than sixteen feet to an inch of each floor of every building to be included in the licence, indicating the proposed use, height, and cubical contents of each room, and differentiating by colour the rooms to be occupied respectively by male and female patients and by the staff. [3081]

106. On renewal of licence, statement to be furnished of the number and class of patients detained.—Every person desiring to apply for a renewal of a licence shall—

(a) in the case of a house licensed by the Minister, apply in writing to the Minister, and shall send with his application a statement of the names and number of the patients and boarders of each sex then detained or residing in such house ;

(b) in the case of a house licensed by justices, give not less than 14 days' notice to the clerk of the peace for the county or borough and to the Minister of his intention to apply for a renewal and shall send therewith a similar statement of the names and number of the patients and boarders and copies of all entries made in the visitors' book by the Visiting Commissioners since the last renewal of the licence. NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (EMERGENCY MENTAL TREATMENT) REGULATIONS, 1948

May 14, 1948

The Minister of Health, in exercise of his powers under Section 12 of the National Health Service Act, 1946, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, hereby makes the following regulations :—

1. These regulations may be cited as the National Health Service (Emergency Mental Treatment) Regulations, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, 1948. [3087]

2. The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament. [3088]

3. The Hospital Management Committee of every hospital or part of a hospital (in these regulations referred to as " the hospital ") vested in the Minister and designated by him for the purposes of Section 20 of the Lunacy Act, 1890, shall make provision for and take all necessary steps to secure the carrying out of the following duties :—

(i) The keeping of a register in Form A in the Schedule to these regulations of the admission and discharge or death of every patient admitted to the hospital under the provisions of Section 20 or Section 21 of the Lunacy Act, 1890 ;

(ii) The examination by the medical officer of every such patient as soon as practicable after his admission to the hospital and also immediately before his removal to a mental hospital or other establishment, and the entry by the medical officer in the said register of a statement of the bodily condition of the patient at the date of the examination and of any bruises or marks of violence found on him ;

(iii) In every case in which such a patient is placed in a padded room, or is kept in seclusion (as defined by Rule 57 of the Mental Treatment Rules, 1948) between the hours of eight in the morning and seven in the evening, the recording thereof in a book in the Form B in the Schedule to these regulations, which may be included in the Register of Mechanical Restraint, and the production of the book or register to every Commissioner or Inspector of the Board of Control visiting the hospital ;

(iv) Within 48 hours of the death of any patient detained under the provisions of Sections 20, 21 and 21A of the Lunacy Act, 1890, the giving of notice thereof by the medical officer to the Coroner in Form C in the Schedule to these regulations. [3089]

SUMMARY JURISDICTION (MENTAL DEFICIENCY) RULES, 1948

S.I. 1948 No. 1353

June 22, 1948

I, William Allen Viscount Jowitt, Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, in exercise of the powers conferred upon me by section 29 of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879, and sub-section (5) of section 44 of the Mental Deficiency Act, 1913 and of all other powers enabling me in this behalf, do hereby make the following Rules :—

1. Whenever a court of summary jurisdiction has to determine the place of residence of a defective, it shall have the same powers as in the case of a complaint upon which an order can be made under the Summary Jurisdiction Acts, and the Summary Jurisdiction Acts shall apply to such proceedings accordingly. [3094]

2. The petty sessional court to which a local health authority aggrieved by a decision as to the place of residence of any person may apply for a transfer of the liability for the cost of the conveyance of such person to an institution or of making provision for his guardianship shall, where the decision was given by a judicial authority within the meaning of the Lunacy Act, 1890 or by a court of summary jurisdiction, be a petty sessional court acting in and for the place in which the decision was given, and in the case of an order made by the Secretary of State, shall be a petty sessional court having jurisdiction within the area of the aggrieved authority. [3095]

3. No order determining the place of residence of a defective or for the transfer of liability shall be made unless a summons has been served at least five days before the hearing thereof upon the local health authority which by virtue of the order will be responsible for the cost of the conveyance of the defective to an institution or of making provision for his guardianship. [3096]

4. The forms in the Schedule to these Rules may be used for the purposes of the Mental Deficiency Act, 1913, with such variations as circumstances may require. [3097]

5. These Rules may be cited as the Summary Jurisdiction (Mental Deficiency) Rules, 1948, and shall come into operation on the fifth day of July, 1948, on which date the Summary Jurisdiction (Mental Deficiency Act) Rules, 1933, shall cease to have effect. [3098]

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Rules, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These Rules replace the Summary Jurisdiction (Mental Deficiency Act) Rules, 1933, in a form designed to give effect to the changes in the law made by the National Health Service Act, 1946. After 5th July, 1948, the cost of maintaining a defective in an institution will no longer fall upon the local health authority, but the authority will still be liable to provide for a defective placed under guardianship and for the cost of conveying a defective to an institution. For these purposes, it will still be necessary to determine the defective's place of residence.

STATUTES

POLICE PENSIONS ACT, 1948

(10 & 11 Geo. 6, c. 24)

PRELIMINARY NOTE

The principal objects of the Police Pensions Act, 1948, which received the Royal Assent on March 24, 1948, are, first, to replace by a single code of law the Police Pensions Act, 1921 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 873), and a large number of other provisions relating to police pensions, and, secondly, to integrate police pensions with the benefits receivable under the National Insurance Acts, 1946. Minor provisions of the Police Pensions Act, 1921, supra, and the Metropolitan Police Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 631), are repealed as from the passing of the Act (s. 9 (2) and Sched. II), and the bulk of the Act of 1921, the whole of the Police Pensions Act, 1926 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 897), and other statutory provisions, rules and regulations are repealed as from July 5, 1948, the date of coming into operation of the national insurance schemes (s. 3 (4) and Sched. I).

A uniform code governing pensions, allowances and gratuities of members of police forces, their widows, children and dependants, was prescribed by the Police Pensions Act, 1921 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 873). This Act was from time to time amended and applied by various statutes and regulations with a view to adjusting the code to changing social conditions, and in the result there had grown up a somewhat complicated body of legislation on the subject. The coming into force of the National Insurance Acts, 1946, necessitated the making of arrangements for the integration of police pensions with the benefits under those Acts, and opportunity has, at the same time, been taken to repeal the existing provisions and to enable the Home Secretary to make regulations, within the framework of a single enabling statute, for dealing with police pensions.

Accordingly, s. 1 (1) of the present Act empowers the Home Secretary to make regulations as to (a) the pensions to be paid to and in respect of members of police forces; (b) the contributions to be paid by such members into the police fund; and (c) the times at which and the circumstances in which members may be required to retire otherwise than by reason of misconduct. Succeeding subsections specify other matters for which regulations may provide, and there is an express saving in sub-s. (6) for the provisions of the National Insurance Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 412), and the National Insurance (Industrial Injuries) Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 322).

Retirement pensions granted before July 5, 1948, are not to be affected by the regulations, and the existing law (see supra), except for ss. 4 and 5 of the present Act, will, accordingly, continue to apply in relation to such pensions. Apart from a number of other special cases, the regulations may, however, apply to any existing or future member of the police force, and also to the pension granted on the death of a person who had ceased to be a member of the police force before July 5, 1948, but who died on or after that date (s. 3 (1)).

A measure of protection is given to existing members of the police force in that they are not to be obliged to accept an earlier age of compulsory retirement or a less favourable scale of pensions than would otherwise have been applicable to them (s. 2 (1)). Regulations which fail to secure these objects are not thereby to be invalid, but provision is made for their retrospective amendment (s. 2 (2)).

Persons who left the police force before July 5, 1948, to undertake war service or compulsory national service are, subject to detailed provisions, to be treated as if they were still members of that police force (s. 3 (2)).

The events on the happening of which pensions may be forfeited are specified in s. 4, which is a re-enactment, with modifications, of s. 15 of the Act of 1921 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 881). The new forfeiture provisions apply in relation to all existing and future pensions, and it is expressly provided that, except in the events specified in the section, pensions are not to be subject to forfeiture. The validity of a forfeiture before the passing of the Act is unaffected by s. 4 and the existing provisions continue to apply thereto.

A right of appeal to a court of quarter sessions against the rejection of a claim for a pension or for an increase in pension under the regulations or against the forfeiture of a pension granted either under the regulations or the earlier provisions is given by s. 5 (1), while s. 5 (3) provides for appeal on a point of law to the High Court from any decision of a court of quarter sessions under the section. These rights correspond to those conferred by s. 17 of the Act of 1921 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 882).

On July 2, 1948, the Secretary of State made, under ss. 1, 3 and 5 of the Act, the Police Pensions Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 1531, post), which came into operation on July 5, 1948. These regulations were, as required by the Act, made with the consent of the Treasury and after consultation with the Police Council and they were approved under s. 1 (7) of the Act by both Houses of Parliament by affirmative resolution on June 24, 1948, and July 1, 1948, respectively (452 H. of C. Official Report 1497–1520; 157 H. of L. Official Report 173–178). These regulations were amended on December 22, 1948, by the Police Pensions (No. 2) Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 2802), which came into operation on January 3, 1949, having been similarly approved by parliamentary resolutions on December 15 and 8, 1948, respectively (459 H. of C. Official Report 1335–1340; 159 H. of L. Official Report 900).

Though members of a police force were exempted from earlier schemes of State insurance, they are all insurable under the new provisions for national insurance which took effect on July 5, 1948, and are contained in the National Insurance Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 412), and the National Insurance (Industrial Injuries) Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 322), known collectively as the National Insurance Acts, 1946 (see s. 80 (1) of the former Act; 39 Halsbury's Statutes 490). Accordingly, such members will qualify for retirement pensions under the former Act and for awards under the latter, so that some adjustment of the rules relating to police pensions became desirable to avoid overlapping, both police pensions and national insurance being subsidised by public money. Such adjustment is made in the 1948 Regulations, e.g., in regs. 7, 13, 41, and Scheds. I–III. New entrants to the police pensions scheme, for instance, are eligible for slightly reduced grants on account of the national insurance retirement pension, while members of a police force serving on July 5, 1948, may elect to take either (a) reduced police pension benefits, or (b) full payment of police pensions in addition to national insurance pensions.

The result works out something like this. Under the pre-1948 law each member of a police force was subject to a deduction for pension purposes at the rate of 5 per cent. of his annual pay (s. 19 of the Act of 1921; 12 Halsbury's Statutes 883, as amended by s. 1 of the Police Pensions Act, 1926; 12 Halsbury's Statutes 897). Under reg. 41 of the 1948 Regulations these deductions are reduced to an amount equal to 1s. 2d. per week less than 5 per cent. of his pensionable pay, the police pension being correspondingly reduced; but each member will be required to pay an additional 4s. 11d. per week under the national insurance schemes to secure the benefits of those schemes, which include pension rights at the age of sixty-five for a man and sixty for a woman. Members of a force serving on July 5, 1948, and certain pensioners, however, may elect either (1) to pay a higher contribution amounting to only 2d. per week less than 5 per cent. of their pensionable pay (the 2d. represents a sum in respect of the industrial injuries side of the national insurance schemes, some of the risks covered being already covered by the police pensions scheme) in which case no deduction of police pension will be made, or (2) to make the smaller payments and qualify for the reduced benefits.

Reductions in pension are provided for in Part III of Sched. I to the 1948 Regulations. Where a pensioner being a man attains sixty-five or being a woman attains sixty, the annual reduction is to be £1 14s. 0d., multiplied, in broad terms, by the number of years at which the member has paid contributions as a regular policeman at the lower rate mentioned above. Where, however, a serving member or a serviceman of certain types who has elected to pay the lower rate of contributions attains one of the same ages, a sliding scale set out in the Table in Part III of the said Sched. I applies.

Special provision is also made by the 1948 Regulations for widows and children entitled to national insurance benefit (see Scheds. III and IV thereto).

Before the 1948 Regulations were made, consultation took place with the Police Council as required by s. 1 (1) of the Act, and where the Council made unanimous recommendations on the proposed regulations their suggestions were accepted by the Government and incorporated in the regulations. Where, however, the Council were not unanimous in their recommendations but yet raised points of principle the Government remitted the questions to a Committee on Police Conditions of Service under the chairmanship of Lord Oaksey which was appointed by the Secretary of State and is examining the whole field of police pay and pensions (see 452 H. of C. Official Report 1497). [3100]

An Act to make provision as to the pensions to be paid to and in respect of members of police forces and as to the length of the period of their service, to amend and repeal with savings certain statutory provisions relating to the pensions to be paid to and in respect of members of police forces and as to the length of their service, and for purposes connected with the matters aforesaid. [3101] [24th March 1948.]

1. Police pension regulations.—(1) Regulations to be made by the Secretary of State, with the consent of the Treasury and after consultation with the Police Council, shall make provision—

(a) as to the pensions which are to be paid to and in respect of members of police forces, whether as of right or otherwise ; and

(b) as to the contributions in respect of pension rights which are to be made by members of police forces ; and

(c) as to the times at which and the circumstances in which members of police forces are or may be required to retire otherwise than on the ground of misconduct. [3102]

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the provisions of the preceding subsection, any such regulations shall provide for the payment subject to the provisions of the regulations—

(i) of pensions to and in respect of persons who cease to be members of a police force after having served for such period as may be prescribed by the regulations ;

(ii) of pensions to and in respect of persons who cease to be members of a police force after such shorter period as may be prescribed by the regulations by reason of infirmity of mind or body ;

(iii) of pensions to and in respect of persons who cease to be members of a police force by reason of injury received in the execution of their duty ;

(iv) of pensions to and in respect of persons who cease to be members of a police force on the ground of age ; and

(v) of pensions in respect of persons who die while serving as members of police forces, and may provide that where a person ceases to be a member of a police force in order to undertake compulsory national service, the period of his compulsory national service and such further period, if any, as may be specified in the regulations may be treated, in such manner, to such extent and on such conditions as to contributions or otherwise as may be so specified, as a period of service as a member of a police force. [3103]

(3) Regulations made under this section may contain such consequential or incidental provisions as appear to the Secretary of State to be necessary or expedient, including, in particular, provision as to the cases in which pensions are to be varied, suspended or terminated, or are to be applied otherwise than by being paid to the persons to whom they were awarded. [3104]

(4) Without prejudice to the generality of the preceding provisions of this section, regulations made under this section may contain such provision as appears to the Secretary of State to be necessary or expedient in relation to a person who transfers from or to service in a police force to or from other service or employment, whether in a police force or not, including provisions enabling that other service or employment to be reckoned in whole or in part as service in a police force and provisions authorising or requiring payments to be made by or to the person or into or out of the fund out of which a pension may become or might have become payable to or in respect of the person in question as a member of a police force, including payments of contributions, payments of transfer values, payments towards the burden of a pension payable by another person or out of another fund, or other payments directed to the creation or preservation of pension rights of the person in question. [3105]

(5) Regulations made under this section shall specify the persons by and to whom and the funds into or out of which pensions and contributions in respect of pension rights are to be payable, may provide for the establishment or continuance of special funds for the purpose, and, subject to the provisions of this subsection, may provide for payments of contributions or pensions, and such other payments as are mentioned in subsection (4) of this section, being made into the Exchequer or out of moneys provided by Parliament:

Provided that no regulations shall provide for payments into the Exchequer or out of moneys provided by Parliament except in relation to a person who is or has been such a person as is mentioned in subsection (1) of section one of the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945, or any other person whose salary or remuneration is or was wholly or partly payable out of moneys provided by Parliament, or who is or may become entitled to or eligible for a pension so payable, so, however, that regulations shall not be treated for the purpose of this proviso as providing for payments out of moneys provided by Parliament by reason only that, as a result of the making of the regulations, an increased sum may be payable out of moneys provided by way of a grant towards the expenses of a police force. [3106]

(6) Nothing in this section or in any regulations made thereunder shall affect any of the provisions of the National Insurance Act, 1946, or the National Insurance (Industrial Injuries) Act, 1946. [3107]

(7) Any power to make regulations under this section shall be exercisable by statutory instrument, and before any such instrument is made, a draft of the regulations shall be laid before each House of Parliament, and the instrument shall not be made until that draft has been approved by resolution of each House. [3108]

General note.—Sub-s. (1) requires the Secretary of State to make regulations, by statutory instrument (see sub-s. (7), supra, and the notes thereto, infra), subject to safeguards, as to police pensions and on the coming into force of the first of such regulations (see infra) the repeals specified in Sched. I, post, take effect except so far as the regulations themselves may provide to the contrary (s. 3 (4), post). In this way the great bulk of the existing legislation on police pensions is brought to an end (except as regards existing pensions) and replaced by the new pensions code.

The various kinds of pension for which the regulations are to provide are detailed in sub-s. (2), while sub-ss. (3) to (5) make further proivsion as to the contents of the regulations, and sub-s. (6) contains a saving for the provisions of the National Insurance Acts, 1946 (see infra).

Regulations.—The first regulations to be made under the present section, by statutory instrument with prior parliamentary approval, with due consent and after proper consultation, are the Police Pensions Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 1531; reproduced as amended, post), referred to hereafter as "the 1948 Regulations", which came into force on July 5, 1948, the same date as the National Insurance Acts, 1946 (see infra) took effect. With the present Act the regulations comprise a complete code as to awards to or in respect of persons serving in the police force, the precise application of the regulations being defined by s. 3, post, and reg. 1 of the 1948 Regulations. It is expected that additional regulations will be necessary under the present section, and s. 3, post, is careful to refer to the "coming into force of the first regulations" made under the present section.

Consultation.—There is no obligation upon the Secretary of State to consult personally (see the observations of Lord GREENE, M.R., in Carltona, Ltd. v. Works Commissioners, [1943] 2 All E. R. 560). As to the nature and fact of consultation, see Fletcher v. Minister of Town and Country Planning, [1947] 2 All E. R. 496.

Police Council.—Regulations are made after discussion with the Police Council for England or that for Scotland as the case may be. The various interests in the police force are represented on these Councils, which comprise representatives from the police federation, the police authorities, chief officers and superintendents of police, under the chairmanship of the Home Secretary or Secretary of State for Scotland, or an official from their respective departments.

The lower ranks of the police force are represented on the Council by the police federation, which was a body formed to enable the police forces of England and Wales to discuss and bring to the notice of the Secretary of State matters affecting their welfare and efficiency other than questions of discipline and promotion affecting individuals (s. 1 (1) of the Police Act, 1919; 12 Halsbury's Statutes 867).

Pensions which are to be paid to and in respect of members.—This is the subject of Parts I to III of, and Scheds. I, II and III to, the 1948 Regulations, reproduced, as amended, post.

Contributions in respect of pension rights.—This is the subject of Part V of the 1948 Regulations, post.

Retirement otherwise than on the ground of misconduct.—This is the subject of Part IX of the 1948 Regulations, post.

Sub-s. (2).—The matters here referred to are provided for in Parts II and III of, and Scheds. I, II and III to, the 1948 Regulations, reproduced as amended, post. As to compulsory national service, see Part IV of the 1948 Regulations, reproduced as amended, post.

Injury.—See s. 8 (1), post, and reg. 69 (1) of the 1948 Regulations, post.

To be varied, suspended or terminated.—See regs. 21 and 24 and Part VI of the 1948 Regulations, post.

Applied otherwise than . . . to the persons to whom they were awarded.—See reg. 53 of the 1948 Regulations, post.

Persons by whom pensions are payable.—See reg. 2 of the 1948 Regulations, post.

Persons by and to whom contributions are payable.—See reg. 41 of the 1948 Regulations, post.

Funds into or out of which pension contributions are to be payable.—See reg. 58 of the 1948 Regulations, post.

S. 1 (1) of the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945.—38 Halsbury's Statutes 363. This subsection provides for the payment out of public moneys of any expenses incurred by a Secretary of State, to such amount as may be sanctioned by the Treasury, in respect of persons engaged under his control in the performance of police duties in any foreign country for the time being in the occupation of His Majesty, or in the performance of police duties on behalf of the government of any country or territory outside the United Kingdom. As to the special police corps of the Control Commission for Germany (British Element), see S. R. & O., 1947, Nos. 1088 and 2194; as to the public safety branch of the Allied Commission for Austria (British Element), see S. R. & O., 1947, Nos. 1188 and 2198, and as to the Police Mission to Greece, see S.I. 1948 Nos. 313 and 1642. Certain provisions of these regulations are repealed by s. 3 (4) and Sched. I, Part II, post, and replaced by provisions of the 1948 Regulations, as amended.

Any other person whose salary or remuneration is . . . payable out of moneys provided by Parliament.—This refers to officers such as the commissioner and assistant commissioner of police for the City of London, whose pension contributions are paid to, and whose pensions are payable out of, the Exchequer.

National Insurance Act, 1946, and National Insurance (Industrial Injuries) Act, 1946.—39 Halsbury's Statutes 412, 322. The 1948 Regulations are designed to prevent the overlapping of police awards with pensions and benefits under these Acts (see the Preliminary Note, ante), but forfeiture, cancellation or withdrawal of a police pension is not to prevent the recipient from continuing to receive national insurance benefit where applicable.

Exercisable by statutory instrument.—Statutory instruments are governed by the Statutory Instruments Act, 1946 (39 Halsbury's Statutes 783), which came into full operation on January 1, 1948 (see S.I. 1948 No. 3). The practical effect of making the regulations referred to in sub-s. (7), supra, statutory instruments is to apply to them the provisions of ss. 2 and 3 of that Act, as to numbering, printing, publication and citation. Ss. 4 to 7 of the Act, however, are all inapplicable because the "affirmative resolution procedure" applies, that is to say, the present Act prohibits the making of the instruments without the approval of Parliament.

Approved by resolution of each House.—As to the approval of the 1948 Regulations by both Houses of Parliament, see the Preliminary Note, ante.

Definitions.—For definitions of "pension", "police force", "pension rights" and "compulsory national service", see s. 8 (1), post.

2. Protection of serving members.—(1) Any regulations made under section one of this Act shall be so framed as to ensure—

(a) that the times at which an existing member of a police force is or may be required under those regulations to retire on the ground of age do not, unless he at any time elects otherwise, differ from those which would have been applicable in his case if those regulations had not come into force; and

(b) that the scale of pensions payable under those regulations to an existing member of a police force who ceases to be a member of that police force either—

(i) after having served for any period prescribed by those regulations; or

(ii) by reason of infirmity of mind or body after having served for any shorter period so prescribed, not being infirmity due to injury received in the execution of his duty, is not, unless he elects otherwise within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed in those regulations, less favourable than the scale applicable in his case immediately before the coming into force of those regulations.

In this subsection, the expression "existing member", in relation to any police force, means a person who is serving in that police force at the date when the regulations in question come into force. [3109]

(2) Regulations made under the said section one shall not be invalid by reason that in fact they do not secure the results specified in the preceding subsection, but if the Secretary of State is satisfied, or it is held by the High Court or by the Court of Session, that any such regulations have failed to secure those results, the Secretary of State shall so soon as may be make under the said section one the necessary amending regulations, and any such amending regulations shall have effect as from the date of the coming into force of the regulations which they amend. [3110]

General note.—This section, which is mandatory, did not appear in the Bill as originally presented but was included on consideration in the House of Commons of the Bill as amended in Committee with the object of providing serving members of a police force with a statutory guarantee that their basic pension conditions would not be worse under the present Act and the regulations to be made thereunder than they would have been under the repealed provisions.

Regulations.—See the notes to s. 1, ante.

Elects.—See the proviso to reg. 54 (1) of the 1948 Regulations, post.

Held by the High Court.—It has been suggested in this connection that application may be made under R.S.C., Ord. 59, r. 1 (a), by way of certiorari directed to the Secretary of State as the maker of regulations to quash the offending regulation. This would not, however, seem completely to cover the situation for the opening words of the subsection expressly validate the regulations even if defective and therefore apparently they may not be quashed.

It would seem, therefore, that though the validity of such an instrument as a scheme, order or regulation can in practice be brought before the Court by application for certiorari in an appropriate case (as to procedure, see R. v. Minister of Health v. R., Ex parte Yaffé, [1931] A. C. 494), that remedy is unlikely to be appropriate in the present instance; the subsection seems to be directed to the case in which, in the course of determining that a certain right has not been conferred upon a particular person, the court might also hold that the regulations fail to secure the results referred to.

Definitions.—For definitions of "police force", "pension" and "injury", see s. 8 (1), post.

3. Application of regulations.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the last preceding section and of this subsection, any regulations made under section one of this Act may be so framed as to apply in relation to persons who, at the date when the regulations come into force are, or thereafter become, members of any police force, and also so as to apply to pensions granted on the death of a person who had ceased to be a member of a police force before the said date, where the death occurs on or after the said date and also so as to authorise or require the payment of pensions or increased pensions to widows and children of persons dying before the said date (whether before or after the passing of this Act) where the deceased had been a member of a police force and, in the case of a widow, where the marriage was in existence when he ceased (whether on death or otherwise) to be a member thereof:

Provided that nothing in any such regulations shall—

(a) affect any pension granted on the retirement of any person if the retirement occurred before the said date, notwithstanding that that person is on the said date, or thereafter becomes, again a member of a police force; or

(b) affect any pension granted by virtue of subsection (3) of section four of the Police and Firemen (War Service) Act, 1939, if the expiration of the period (or last period, if more than one) which, by virtue of subsection (1) of section two of that Act, is treated as a period of approved service in the case of the person in question is before the date of the coming into force of the first regulations so made as aforesaid; or

(c) apply to any pension to or in respect of a person to whom the National Fire Service (Preservation of Pensions) (Police Firemen) Regulations, 1941, apply; or

(d) apply to any pension to any person who, having formerly been a member of a police force, is at the date of the coming into force of the first regulations so made as aforesaid serving in any capacity mentioned in paragraph (i) of subsection (1) of section ten of the Police Pensions Act, 1921, and does not thereafter again become a member of a police force;

and the pensions enactments in force immediately before the coming into force of the first regulations so made as aforesaid shall (subject, in the case of the pensions mentioned in paragraph (c) of this proviso, to the provisions of any regulations made under the Fire Services Act, 1947) continue to apply in relation to such pensions as are mentioned in this proviso as though the provisions of this Act (other than the two next succeeding sections) had not been passed. [3111]

(2) A person who, before the date of the coming into force of the first regulations made under section one of this Act, has ceased to be a member of a police force in order to undertake any service by virtue of which he is a person to whom section one of the Police and Firemen (War Service) Act, 1939, applies, or in order to undertake compulsory national service, shall, in such circumstances and to such extent as may be provided by regulations so made, be treated as if he were at that date still a member of a police force. [3112]

(3) The provisions of this Act shall—

(a) have effect as if commissioners and assistant commissioners of the metropolitan police force and commissioners of the City of London police force were members of those forces respectively; and

(b) in relation to any person who at the date of the coming into force of the first regulations made under section one of this Act is or has been the surgeon of the City of London police force or a clerk or other person employed in or in connection with that force, have effect as if such surgeons, clerks or other persons employed in or in connection with that force were members thereof;

and references in this Act to membership of a police force shall be construed accordingly. [3113]

(4) On the coming into force of the first regulations made under section one of this Act, the Acts specified in Part I of the First Schedule to this Act and the rules and regulations specified in Part II of that Schedule, shall, save as provided in the proviso to subsection (1) of this section, cease to have effect to the extent specified in those Parts of that Schedule respectively, except so far as the contrary may be provided by the first mentioned regulations; and the enactments mentioned in Part III of that Schedule shall, save as aforesaid and except so far as the contrary may be so provided, have effect subject to the provisions of the said Part III, being provisions consequential on the repeals effected by the preceding provisions of this subsection. [3114]

General note.—This section determines how far new pensions regulations made under the present Act may supersede the pension scheme embodied in the Act of 1921, as amended. The first provisions of sub-s. (1) are enabling in character and the actual application is left to be determined in detail by the regulations (see reg. 1 of the 1948 Regulations, reproduced, as amended, post). Nevertheless, there are in the section detailed provisions for securing that existing pensions are not to be affected (sub-s. (1), proviso), and for ensuring that the rights of persons on war service or compulsory national service continue to be safeguarded (sub-s. (2)). Sub-s. (3), bringing certain persons within the scope of the term "members of police forces", repeats similar provisions in s. 26 (1) of the Police Pensions Act, 1921 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 886). Finally, provision is made for the replacement of the main provisions applicable to police pensions by the first regulations under s. 1, ante, as from the coming into force of the latter, which in fact took place on July 5, 1948.

Regulations.—See the notes to s. 1, ante.

So as to authorise . . . the payment of pensions.—This provision was included to enable police authorities to increase the pensions of police widows and children whose husbands or fathers have died before the appointed day (July 5, 1948), up to the rates of benefit for widows and children of insured persons, the intention being that supplementation shall be kept closely in step with the benefits under the National Insurance Acts, 1946 (447 H. of C. Official Report 1524). Power is included in sub-s. (1) to make some provision in the case of widows of men who die between July 5, 1948, and July 5, 1951, during which time the widows would not otherwise get the benefit of their husbands' payments into the National Insurance Schemes (ibid.). The subsection also enables the Secretary of State, if he thinks fit, to mitigate a number of cases of hardship, including cases where a widow was not entitled to a pension because her husband had not completed at least five years' pensionable service under the Police Pensions Act, 1921, and where a widow was not entitled to a pension owing to the death of her husband before September 1, 1918. To this extent the Act can be made to apply to past cases. As to the exercise of the power, see regs. 18 and 24 of the 1948 Regulations, reproduced, as amended, post.

Police and Firemen (War Service) Act, 1939.—32 Halsbury's Statutes 1149. Under s. 4 (3) of that Act (32 Halsbury's Statutes 1153) members of a police force thereby affected who were prevented by wounds or disease contracted during service in the Armed Forces from resuming police service were, subject to certain provisos, to be treated as incapacitated otherwise than in consequence of injuries received in the execution of their duty and as having retired on medical certificate. S. 2 (1) of the same Act (32 Halsbury's Statutes 1151) provided that periods of service in the Armed Forces during the emergency and any periods after such service during which payments were made in lieu of pay or allowances were to be treated as periods of approved police service subject to the persons concerned having attained the minimum age for such service.

S. 1 of the Act of 1939 (32 Halsbury's Statutes 1150), referred to in sub-s. (2), supra, applies, inter alia, to constables who ceased to serve as such during the period of the emergency in order to serve in His Majesty's Forces. The emergency that was the occasion of the passing of the Act of 1939 came to an end on December 31, 1946 (see S. R. & O., 1947, No. 152), though certain time limits (not including that last referred to) had previously been extended to one year after the emergency by s. 4 of the Police and Firemen (War Service) Act, 1944 (37 Halsbury's Statutes 406).

Coming into force of the first regulations.—July 5, 1948 (see Preliminary Note, ante).

National Fire Service (Preservation of Pensions) (Police Firemen) Regulations, 1941.—S. R. & O., 1941, No. 1271. These regulations, made by the Secretary of State under the Fire Services (Emergency Provisions) Act, 1941 (34 Halsbury's Statutes 223), as amended, apply to members of a police force transferred to the war-time National Fire Service; former members of a police force, who before becoming members of the National Fire Service had retired without a pension but who were nevertheless designated as being within the regulations; and members of a police force on war service who later became whole-time members of the National Fire Service. The general effect of the regulations was to make whole-time service in the National Fire Service equivalent to police service for pension purposes.

Police Pensions Act, 1921, s. 10 (1) (i).—12 Halsbury's Statutes 878. The capacities mentioned in this paragraph comprise service as a civil servant within the meaning of the Superannuation Act, 1887 (16 Halsbury's Statutes 566), or as an officer of the staff of the metropolitan police within the meaning of the Metropolitan Police Staff (Superannuation) Act, 1875 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 835).

Regulations made under the Fire Services Act, 1947.—For this Act, see 40 Halsbury's Statutes 984. An example of regulations so made affecting the position of persons to whom the National Fire Service (Preservation of Pensions) (Police Firemen) Regulations, 1941, supra, apply is the Fire Services (Pensionable Employment) Regulations, 1948 (S.I. 1948 No. 581; title FIRE PROTECTION, ante) (see particularly regs. 6, 9 and 12 thereof, and the Schedule thereto).

Definitions.—For definitions of "police force", "pension" and "compulsory national service", see s. 8 (1), post.

4. Forfeiture of pensions.—(1) Every pension granted under regulations made under this Act is granted, and every pension (whether described as a pension or as an allowance) granted under any of the enactments specified in Part I of the First Schedule to this Act shall be deemed to have been granted, only upon condition that it may be forfeited by the police authority in any of the following cases, that is to say, if the grantee—

(a) is convicted of any offence and is sentenced to penal servitude [preventive detention or corrective training] or to imprisonment for a term exceeding twelve months; or

(b) enters into or continues to carry on any business, occupation or employment which is illegal, or in which the grantee has made use of the fact of former employment in a police force in a manner which is discreditable or improper; or

(c) supplies to any person or publishes in a manner which is discreditable or improper any information which the grantee had obtained in the course of employment in a police force ; or

(d) solicits or, without the consent of the police authority, accepts directly or indirectly any testimonial or gift having any pecuniary value on retirement from the police force or otherwise in connection with his service in a police force ; or

(e) enters into or continues in any business, occupation or employment as a private detective, after the police authority have given him notice in writing requiring him on any reasonable grounds not to do so :

Provided that a pension shall not be forfeited under paragraph (b) of this subsection unless reasonable warning has previously been given in writing by the police authority. [3115]

(2) A forfeiture under this section may affect the pension wholly or in part, and may be permanent or temporary as the police authority may determine. [3116]

(3) Save as aforesaid, such a pension as aforesaid shall not be capable of being forfeited :

Provided that where a pension granted under any of the enactments specified in Part I of the First Schedule to this Act has been forfeited before the passing of this Act, nothing in this Act shall affect the validity of the forfeiture, and the provisions of the Police Pensions Act, 1921, shall apply in relation to the forfeiture as if this Act had not passed. [3117]

(4) The preceding provisions of this section shall apply in relation to the rules and regulations specified in Part II of the First Schedule to this Act as it applies in relation to the enactments specified in Part I of that Schedule, subject, however, to any necessary adaptations. [3118]

(5) Section fifteen of the Police Pensions Act, 1921, is hereby repealed. [3119]

General note.—Under the pre-1948 law a pension could be forfeited or withdrawn, wholly or in part, where the grantee : (1) was convicted of any offence and was sentenced to penal servitude or imprisonment for more than three months ; or (2) knowingly associated with thieves or reputed thieves ; or (3) refused to give assistance to the police for the detection of crime, the apprehension of criminals or the preservation of the peace ; or (4) engaged in any business, occupation or employment which was illegal or in which he made use of his employment in the police in a manner the police authority considered discreditable or improper ; or (5) supplied or published any information obtained in the course of his employment with the police in a manner which the police authority considered discreditable or improper ; or (6) solicited or accepted without the consent of the police authority a testimonial or gift on retirement or in connection with his police service ; or (7) engaged in a business or employment as a private detective after being prohibited from so doing by the police authority on reasonable grounds (s. 15 of the Act of 1921 ; 12 Halsbury's Statutes 881).

The existing provisions as to forfeiture have been modified by the present Act, which repeals s. 15 of the Act of 1921, supra. The new Act substitutes a period of twelve months for that of three months in condition (1), supra. Secondly, it is no longer a ground for forfeiture that the grantee associates with thieves or reputed thieves. Thirdly, it ceases to be a ground for forfeiture that the grantee fails to give information for the detection of crime, because there seemed no good reason why an ex-policeman should be under a heavier duty in this respect than an ordinary citizen. Next, reasonable warning against carrying on an illegal, discreditable or improper business must now be given before steps are taken to forfeit a pension. As regards the condition against carrying on business as a private detective, this has also been amended by replacing the former general clause by a provision that the prohibition must in each case be notified in writing to the policeman concerned. In any event forfeiture of a police pension will not prejudice any national insurance pension.

The present section applies to pensions granted both under the new and the old pension codes, subject to a proviso confirming existing forfeitures (sub-ss. (1) and (3), supra).

As to appeals against forfeiture, see s. 5, post.

Regulations.—See the Preliminary Note and the notes to s. 1, ante.

Penal servitude.—By s. 1 (1) of the Criminal Justice Act, 1948 (11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 58), penal servitude is abolished and relevant enactments are to be construed as conferring power to pass sentences of imprisonment for terms not exceeding the maximum term of penal servitude for which a sentence could previously have been passed.

Preventive detention or corrective training.—These words, which appear in square brackets in the text, were inserted in the Act by s. 79 of, and Sched. IX to, the Criminal Justice Act, 1948, supra. Sentences of these kinds may be passed upon adult persistent offenders by virtue of s. 21 of that Act.

As a private detective.—A former member of a police force could set up as a private detective unless the police authority prohibited him from doing so (see s. 15 (g) of the Act of 1921; 12 Halsbury's Statutes 882). Under the present Act the prohibition must be (1) in writing and (2) notified to the particular individual. This prevents an individual overlooking a general prohibition by the police authority.

Provisions of the Police Pensions Act, 1921.—The principal provision relevant is, of course, s. 15 of that Act (12 Halsbury's Statutes 881), supra.

Definitions.—For definitions of "pension", "police authority" and "police force", see s. 8 (1), post.

5. Appeals.—(1) If any person (other than a person such as is mentioned in subsection (1) of section one of the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945), is aggrieved by—

(a) the refusal of the police authority to admit a claim to receive as of right a pension, or a larger pension than that granted, under the regulations made under this Act; or

(b) the forfeiture, under the provisions in that behalf contained in this Act, of any pension granted to him, whether under the regulations made under this Act or under any of the enactments specified in Part I of the First Schedule to this Act, he may appeal to a court of quarter sessions and that court, after enquiring into the case, may make such order in the matter as appears to the court to be just:

Provided that—

(a) nothing in this section shall confer a right to appeal against anything done by the police authority in the exercise of any power which is conferred on them by regulations under this Act and is expressly declared by those regulations to be a power which they are to exercise in their discretion;

(b) regulations made under this Act may provide, in relation to questions arising out of those regulations, for the reference of any such matter as is specified in the regulations, either by the police authority or by the court, to a medical practitioner, whose decision thereon shall, subject to such rights of appeal as may be provided by the regulations to such tribunal as may be constituted thereunder, be final on the matter so referred. [3120]

(2) The court of quarter sessions to which a person may appeal under the preceding subsection shall be—

(a) if he last served in the metropolitan police force, the court of quarter sessions for the County of London;

(b) if he last served in the City of London police force, the court of quarter sessions for the City of London;

(c) if he last served in the police force of a borough having a separate police force and a separate court of quarter sessions, the court of quarter sessions for that borough; or

(d) in any other case, the court of quarter sessions for the county in which he last served in a police force. [3121]

(3) An appeal shall lie on a point of law from any decision of a court of quarter sessions under this section to the High Court in accordance with rules of court and the decision of the High Court shall be final. [3122]

(4) The Secretary of State shall by regulations made under sections one of this Act make provision as to the court or other person by whom appeals by persons such as are mentioned in subsection (1) of section one of the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945, who are aggrieved by any refusal of the Secretary of State to admit such a claim, or by any such forfeiture, as is mentioned in subsection (1) of this section are to be heard and determined, and the proviso to subsection (1) of this section shall with any necessary adaptations apply in relation to any such appeal. [3123]

(5) In the application of this section to Scotland, for any reference to a court of quarter sessions there shall be substituted a reference to the sheriff having jurisdiction in the place where the person concerned last served as a member of a police force, and for any reference to the High Court, there shall be substituted a reference to the Court of Session. [3124]

(6) Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section seventeen of the Police Pensions Act, 1921, is hereby repealed. [3125]

General note.—This section replaces, with modifications, s. 17 of the Police Pensions Act, 1921 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 882). In particular, the provisions of proviso (b) to sub-s. (1), relating to reference to medical practitioners, are new. Special provision is made by sub-s. (4) for appeals by persons affected by the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945.

S. 1 (1) of the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945.—38 Halsbury's Statutes 363. The persons mentioned in this subsection are those engaged under the control of the Secretary of State in the performance of police duties in any foreign country for the time being in the occupation of His Majesty, or in the performance of police duties on behalf of the government of any country or territory outside the United Kingdom. Police serving in Germany, Austria and Greece are affected (see the notes to s. 1, ante). As to the right of appeal in such cases, see sub-s. (4), supra.

Regulations.—See the Preliminary Note, ante.

Provisions . . . contained in this Act.—For the provisions as to forfeiture contained in the present Act, see s. 4, ante.

Reference to a medical practitioner.—See regs. 47 to 51 of the 1948 Regulations, post, for an exercise of the power to refer to a medical practitioner in the first regulations issued under s. 1, ante.

In accordance with rules of court.—The relevant Rules of Court have not yet been made, but analogous provisions will be found in R.S.C. Ord. 59.

Sub-s. (4).—See the notes, supra, as to appeals by persons subject to the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945 (38 Halsbury's Statutes 363). The present subsection is mandatory and reg. 51 of the 1948 Regulations, post, makes the necessary provision as to appeals by members of the overseas corps. In this case appeal is to a ad hoc tribunal of three members to be appointed by the Secretary of State for the particular appeal.

Police Pensions Act, 1921, s. 17 (1) (a).—12 Halsbury's Statutes 883. This paragraph relates to pensions and allowances which, after being granted, have subsequently in pursuance of that Act been declared to be forfeited.

Definitions.—For definitions of "pension" and "police authority", see s. 8 (1), post.

6. Amendment of Metropolitan Police Act, 1933.—Subsection (1) of section four of the Metropolitan Police Act, 1933 (which authorises the appointment of short service constables) is hereby repealed. [3126]

General note.—Under s. 4 (1) of the Metropolitan Police Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 632), the appointment of metropolitan police constables for a short-term maximum of ten years was authorised, and by the following subsection appropriate amendments were made in the Police Pensions Act, 1921, ss. 2, 9 and 10, and in Part I of Sched. I thereto (12 Halsbury's Statutes 874, 877, 878, 890) in order to allow short service of this kind to count towards pension or gratuity. No further short-service constables are to be appointed.

7. Miscellaneous provisions.—(1) Every assignment of or charge on a pension granted under the regulations made under section one of this Act, and every agreement to assign or charge such a pension, shall, except so far as it is made for the benefit of the family of the pensioner, be void, and on the bankruptcy of the pensioner such a pension shall not pass to any trustee or other person acting on behalf of the creditors. [3127]

(2) If any person obtains or attempts to obtain for himself or any other person any pension under any such regulations as aforesaid by means of any false declaration, false certificate, false representation, false evidence or personation, or by malingering or feigning disease or infirmity, or by maiming or injuring himself, or causing himself to be maimed or injured, or otherwise producing disease or infirmity, or by any other fraudulent conduct, he shall be liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years, or on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or to a fine not exceeding twenty-five pounds. [3128]

General note.—The pre-1948 law prohibiting a police pensioner from alienating his pension by assignment or charge, except for the benefit of his family, and providing that on bankruptcy the pension should not pass by operation of law to a pensioner's trustee in bankruptcy or to his creditors, was contained in s. 14 (1) of the Act of 1921 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 880) and is substantially re-enacted by sub-s. (1), supra. Nevertheless, the court may order part of the pension to be paid to the trustee for the benefit of creditors (Re Garrett, [1930] 2 Ch. 137),

Under s. 16 of the Act of 1921 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 882), it was an offence for any person to seek to obtain a pension by false declaration, certificate, misrepresentation or evidence, or by personation or pretended infirmity, and the offender was liable to forfeit the pension, allowance or gratuity so obtained; these provisions also are substantially reproduced in sub-s. (2), supra.

The reason for including these two provisions in the Act rather than leaving them for inclusion in the regulations is to avoid any possibility that the terms of the existing law might be replaced by more onerous provisions in future regulations.

Pension.—For definition, see s. 8 (1), post.

Regulations.—See the Preliminary Note and the notes to s. 1, ante.

Imprisonment . . . not exceeding three months.—Note that the imprisonment and the fine on summary conviction are alternative. As the maximum term of imprisonment on summary conviction does not exceed three months, the accused has no right to claim trial by jury under s. 17 of the Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879 (11 Halsbury's Statutes 329), as amended by s. 79 of, and Sched. IX to, the Criminal Justice Act, 1948 (11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 58).

8. Interpretation.—(1) In this Act, except so far as the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them, that is to say—

"compulsory national service" means service in any of the armed forces of the Crown undertaken by virtue of an enlistment notice or a training notice served under the National Service Acts, 1939 to 1947, or work or training in pursuance of an order of a tribunal under section five of the National Service (Armed Forces) Act, 1939 (which relates to conscientious objectors);

"injury" includes disease;

"pension", in relation to a person, means a pension, whether contributory or not, of any kind whatsoever payable to or in respect of him, and includes a lump sum or a gratuity so payable and a return of contributions;

"pension rights" includes, in relation to any person, all forms of right to, or eligibility for, the present or future payment of a pension to or in respect of that person;

"police authority". in relation to any regulations made under the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945, means the Secretary of State, and in any other case has the same meaning as in section thirty of the Police Pensions Act, 1921;

"police force" means any police force maintained for any police area mentioned in the Third Schedule to the Police Pensions Act, 1921, or maintained by virtue of any scheme under the Police Act, 1946, or under the Police (Scotland) Act, 1946, and, in respect of persons such as are mentioned in subsection (1) of section one of the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945, any body in which such persons are serving. [3129]

(2) Except so far as the context otherwise requires, any reference in this Act to any other Act or to any rules or regulations shall be construed as a reference to that Act or those rules or regulations as amended by or under any other Act, including this Act. [3130]

"Compulsory national service."—As from January 1, 1949, the National Service Acts, 1939 to 1947, are consolidated in the National Service Act, 1948 (11 & 12 Geo. 6, c. 64) from which date s. 5 of the National Service (Armed Forces) Act, 1939, is replaced by s. 17 of that Act.

"Injury."—The definition here given confirms the existing case law on the subject. See Garvin v. City of London Police Authority, [1944] K. B. 358; [1944] 1 All E. R. 378, (tuberculosis held to be an injury); Huddersfield Police Authority v. Watson, [1947] K. B. 842; [1947] 2 All E. R. 193 (duodenal ulcer held to be an injury); and Gordon v. Barnsley Police Authority, [1948] 2 All E. R. 79, post (heart disease). See further reg. 69 (1) of the 1948 Regulations, reproduced, as amended, post, as to the definition of the term for the purposes of those regulations.

Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945.—38 Halsbury's Statutes 363.

Police Pensions Act, 1921, s. 30, Sched. III.—12 Halsbury's Statutes 888, 894.

Any scheme under the Police Act, 1946.—39 Halsbury's Statutes 616. This is a reference to voluntary and compulsory schemes for the amalgamation of county and county borough police forces (ss. 3 and 4; 39 Halsbury's Statutes 619, 620).

S. 1 (1) of the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945.—38 Halsbury's Statutes 363. The persons referred to in this subsection are those engaged under the control of the Secretary of State in the performance of police duties in any foreign country for the time being in the occupation of His Majesty, or in the performance of police duties on behalf of the government of any country or territory outside the United Kingdom. The bodies in which such persons are serving are the special police corps of the Control Commission for Germany (British Element), the public safety branch of the Allied Commission for Austria (British Element) and the Police Mission to Greece (see also the notes to s. 1, ante).

9. Short title, repeals and extent.—(1) This Act may be cited as the Police Pensions Act, 1948. [3131]

(2) The enactments specified in the Second Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule with effect from the passing of this Act. [3132]

(3) This Act shall not extend to Northern Ireland:

Provided that this subsection shall not be construed as preventing any regulations such as are referred to in subsection (4) of section one of this Act from requiring payments to be made to a person or into a fund in Northern Ireland. [3133]

General note.—Only very minor repeals are effected by this section and Sched. II, post. The enactments repealed as from the passing of the present Act are s. 15 of the Police Pensions Act, 1921 (12 Halsbury's Statutes 881), relating to forfeiture of pensions, which is replaced by s. 4 of the present Act, ante; s. 17 (1) (a) of the same Act (12 Halsbury's Statutes 883), relating to appeals against forfeiture, which is replaced by s. 5 (1) (b), ante; and s. 4 (1) of the Metropolitan Police Act, 1933 (26 Halsbury's Statutes 632), relating to the appointment of short-service constables, which is also repealed by s. 6, ante.

The bulk of the repeals by the present Act are effected as from July 5, 1948, by s. 3 (4), ante, and Sched. I, post.

FIRST SCHEDULE

Section 3.

REPEALS TO COME INTO EFFECT WITH SAVINGS ON MAKING OF REGULATIONS AND PROVISIONS CONSEQUENTIAL ON THOSE REPEALS

General note.—In Parts I and II of this Schedule appears the bulk of the existing legislation on the subject of police pensions, the repeal of which took effect from July 5, 1948 (see the notes to s. 3, ante). The phrase "with savings", supra, should, however, be noted: this refers, first, to the proviso to s. 3 (1), ante, whereby in effect existing pensions are to continue to be governed by the old law except that ss. 4 and 5 of the present Act are to apply; and secondly, to the provision in s. 3 (4), ante, whereby the first regulations under s. 1, ante, may by special provision preserve all or any of the existing provisions.

Consequential provisions are contained in Part III of this Schedule.

II to this Act, where it has in error been referred to as Sched. II.

PART III

Provisions consequent on repeals

1. Regulations under this Act may amend subsection (4) of section four of the Police and Firemen (War Service) Act, 1944 (which relates to the period within which a constable may resume service without making a fresh declaration on accepting office as a constable) by substituting for the reference to any period which is to be treated as a period of approved service in his case by virtue of subsection (1) of section two of the Police and Firemen (War Service) Act, 1939, a reference to such other period as may be prescribed by or under the regulations.

2. The reference in subsection (1) of section two of the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945, to a pension, allowance or gratuity becoming payable to a person out of moneys provided by Parliament by virtue of regulations made under that Act shall be construed as including a reference to a pension (as defined for the purposes of this Act) payable by virtue of regulations made under this Act, being a pension which becomes payable in such circumstances as may be specified for the purposes of this paragraph by the last-mentioned regulations.

ORDERS, CIRCULARS AND MEMORANDA

POLICE (OVERSEAS SERVICE) (GERMANY) (NO. 2) REGULATIONS, 1947

S. R. & O., 1947, No. 2194

October 11, 1947

General note.—These regulations amend S. R. & O., 1947, No. 1088.

In pursuance of the powers conferred on me by section one of the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945, I, the Right Honourable Ernest Bevin, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, hereby make the following Regulations :—

1. At the end of paragraph 5 of the Second Schedule to the Police (Overseas Service) (Germany) Regulations, 1947, there shall be added the following sub-paragraph :—

" (3) Where a reversionary member of a home police force has been notified that for the purpose of reducing the numbers of the Corps it is desired to vary the period of his overseas service by advancing the date of its termination and the period has been so varied by advancing the date of its termination from a date (hereafter in this sub-paragraph referred to as the " former date of termination ") at which the member would have been entitled without a medical certificate to retire and receive a pension and the member gives written notice to the Secretary of State of his intention to receive a pension under this sub-paragraph, he shall be entitled on retiring at the end of the period from the Corps without a medical certificate to receive a pension, and the Act of 1921 shall have effect subject to the modifications hereafter in this sub-paragraph set out :—

Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section 2, paragraph 1 of the First Schedule, Scale No. 1 set out in the Table subjoined to Part I of the First Schedule and paragraphs 6, 8 and 11 of the said Schedule shall have effect as if there were added to the amount of approved service completed by the member at the end of his period of overseas service the time between the end of that period and the former date of termination, and proviso (i) to sub-paragraph (a) of paragraph 20 of the First Schedule shall have effect as if the average annual amount of pay received by the member during the three years therein referred to were the average of the amount that he would have received in the three years before the former date of termination if he had continued to serve until that date without alteration in the amount of his pay." [3138]

2. At the end of sub-paragraph (3) of paragraph 6 of the Second Schedule to the said Regulations there shall be added the following words :—

" and as if, where a reversionary member of a home police force retires under sub-paragraph (3) of paragraph 5 of this Schedule, without having completed twenty-five years' approved service, the Secretary of State were not entitled to call upon any other police authority to contribute any part of any grant in respect of the member which accrues due between the date of retirement and the date on which, if he had continued to serve, he would have completed twenty-five years' approved service." [3139]

3.—(1) These Regulations may be cited as the Police (Overseas Service) (Germany) (No. 2) Regulations, 1947.

(2) These Regulations shall come into force on the twentieth day of October, 1947. [3140]

* * * * *

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

Regulation 1 deals with the award of a pension on a basis of added years to a reversionary member of a home police force who, by reason of the shortening of the period of his engagement with the Corps, is not entitled to the pension he would have received if his engagement had not been shortened.

Regulation 2 relieves the home police authority of contributing towards the pension before the date on which the pensioner would ordinarily have been entitled to retire on pension.

POLICE (OVERSEAS SERVICE) (AUSTRIA) (NO. 2) REGULATIONS, 1947

S. R. & O., 1947, No. 2198

October 11, 1947

General rule.—These regulations amend S. R. & O., 1947, No. 1188.

In pursuance of the powers conferred on me by section one of the Police (Overseas Service) Act, 1945, I, the Right Honourable Ernest Bevin, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, hereby make the following Regulations :—

1. At the end of paragraph 5 of the Second Schedule to the Police (Overseas Service) (Austria) Regulations, 1947, there shall be added the following sub-paragraph :—

" (3) Where a reversionary member of a home police force has been notified that for the purpose of reducing the numbers of the Corps it is desired to vary the period of his overseas service by advancing the date of its termination and the period has been so raised by advancing the date of its termination from a date (hereafter in this sub-paragraph referred to as the " former date of termination ") at which the member would have been entitled without a medical certificate to retire and receive a pension and the member gives written notice to the Secretary of State of his intention to receive a pension under this sub-paragraph, he shall be entitled on retiring at the end of the period from the Corps without a medical certificate to receive a pension, and the Act of 1921 shall have effect subject to the modifications hereafter in this sub-paragraph set out :—

Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section 2, paragraph 1 of the First Schedule, Scale No. 1 set out in the Table subjoined to Part I of the First Schedule and paragraphs 6, 8 and 11 of the said Schedule shall have effect as if there were added to the amount of approved service completed by the member at the end of his period of overseas service the time between the end of that period and the former date of termination, and proviso (i) to sub-paragraph (a) of paragraph 20 of the First Schedule shall have effect as if the average annual amount of pay received by the member during the three years therein referred to were the average of the amount that he would have received in the three years before the former date of termination if he had continued to serve until that date without alteration in the amount of his pay." [3141]

2. At the end of sub-paragraph (3) of paragraph 6 of the Second Schedule to the said Regulations there shall be added the following words :—

" and as if, where a reversionary member of a home police force retires under sub-paragraph (3) of paragraph 5 of this Schedule, without having completed twenty-five years' approved service, the Secretary of State were not entitled to call upon any other police authority to contribute any part of any grant in respect of the member which accrues due between the date of retirement and the date on which, if he had continued to serve, he would have completed twenty-five years' approved service." [3142]

3.—(1) These Regulations may be cited as the Police (Overseas Service) (Austria) (No. 2) Regulations, 1947.

(2) These Regulations shall come into force on the twentieth day of October, 1947. [3143]

POLICE (NO. 3) REGULATIONS, 1947

S. R. & O., 1947, No. 2844

December 31, 1947

General note.—These regulations amended S. R. & O., 1947, No. 1603, which were further amended by S.I. 1948 Nos. 229 and 855, post, but with those regulations they were revoked as from July 5, 1948 by S.I. 1948 No. 1216, post, with a saving for acts, etc. done thereunder.

I, the Right Honourable James Chuter Ede, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, in pursuance of the powers conferred on me by section four of the Police Act, 1919, hereby make the following Regulations :—
